„REFLECTIONS“ „REFLECTIONS“ „REFLECTIONS“

BY RICHARD C. THOMAS

There is the old saying, among Texans—especially when they're away from home—that Texas has the "best" of anything and everything. The Texas Monthly magazine runs a feature called "The Best of Texas Hall of Fame," to emphasize Texans' beliefs.

In the July issue of the magazine, along with the "Best Breakfast," the "Best Tree," etc., is the "Best High School Mascot." Well, the Hutto "Hippos" (they must be something else again) took first place in this category . . . and the Winters "Blizzards" took second place.

Franklin O'Dell, Winters' Animal Control Officer, says there still are many dog owners in town who insist on ignoring the ordinance calling for penning up of dogs, and of the section which states that dogs not penned up must be on leashes at all times. Some people don't seem to understand that there is a reason for this ordinance, and the enforcement thereof. It is for the protection of the population as a whole, and not a device thought up to harass pet owners.

O'Dell says he has enough trouble picking up actual strays, without having to go through the hassle of picking up known owned dogs, and then getting them out of the pound for the owners. He is starting to hand out citations to dog owners who insist on letting their animals run free, however. And it's going to cost some people a nice sum if conditions remain the same, he said.

There have been at least two cases of rabies reported in the community within the last few months, and the enforcement of the "dog" ordinance just may save someone's life, he said.

For those who may be interested in such trivia, thought I'd mention that I had a private meeting with four representatives of General Telephone Tuesday morning. This was an opportunity to "lay it on the line" about the sorry service Winters telephone subscribers have been receiving. During the course of the conversation, two other citizens happened in, and recognizing the subject being discussed, voluntarily added some of their own thoughts. Which served to underline what I had been pointing out to the phone reps.

I don't know how much good that little meeting will do, but at least no harm—or worse service—could come from it. The meeting was a low-key affair, and everyone was congenial.

The group left with promises to see that something is done about getting Winters better phone service. Perhaps this time . . .

Winters' population at 3,000 mark

JENNIFER LEIGH HARRISON

Local girl named State Miss La Petite

Jennifer Leigh Harrison, 6, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Phil Harrison of Winters, was named Texas "Miss La Petite" in the Universal Our Little Miss Pageant held in San Angelo June 28. She had previously won the county contests.

Miss Harrison will go to Las Vegas to compete in the World Pageant in August.

As the state Miss La Petite in San Angelo, Jennifer was awarded a three-day trip to Las Vegas, where the national contests will be held. Following the Las Vegas contests, all state winners will make an expense-paid trip to Los Angeles, where they will stay aboard the "Queen Mary" in Long Beach Harbor, and will make a tour of Universal Studio and Disneyland in Anaheim.

Siles Fisher, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Les Fisher, also of Winters, was a county winner in the Our Little Miss contest in Ballinger, and was a competitor in the state contests at San Angelo. She was awarded a trophy in the talent section of the state contest.

Trayce Binder, this year's Runnels County Miss La Petite and daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edmund Binder Jr., of Ballinger, was among the top 10 in her division, and also won a photogenic award.

Laurie Cole, the 1978 Runnels County Ideal Miss and daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Cole of Ballinger, was selected as first alternate in the state Ideal Miss contest.

Winters has gained in population, officially, since the 1970 census, according to a pre-preliminary report released by the Census Bureau last week.

From the 1970 count to 2,907, population for Winters jumped 93 to an even 3,000 for 1980, according to the report.

The increase for Winters coincides with an overall increase for the county of 424, from 12,108 to 12,532.

Miles also experienced an increase in population, according to the pre-preliminary figures, from 631 to 695, a jump of 64 persons. Ballinger saw a decrease of 42, from 4203 to 4161 for the period.

It has been pointed out that these are only the first figures to be released by the Census Bureau, and could change to some extent when the final figures are in.

Figures for Winters do not include those persons who are considered living in Winters, but actually live outside the city limits of the town. If these persons were counted, the total for the city would be considerably more than the official count.

Voters KO local option

For the second time this year, voters in Justice Precinct 2 have turned thumbs down on the legal sale of alcoholic beverages in the precinct, in any form.

In voting last Thursday on a local option proposition, voters in all boxes except one voted against the sale of alcoholic beverages, either for one-premises or off-premises consumption. The proposition was defeated by 85 votes, according to an unofficial count.

Voters casting ballots in the Winters Community Center were for the proposition, 412, and against 397.

The proposition was defeated in the other three boxes: City Hall, 157 for, 179 against; Norton, 39 for, 56 against; Wingate, 49 for, 100 against; Absentee, 14 for, 24 against.

This proposition was for the legal sale of alcohol beverages, except mixed beverages, which, if it had carried, would have allowed sale of beer and wine for on- or off-premises consumption.

A proposition for the sale of alcoholic beverages for off-premises consumption was defeated by eight votes in an election April 3.

Vacation Church school begins 28th

St. John's Lutheran Church and the First United Methodist Church will co-sponsor a vacation church school for children of the community beginning July 28 and continuing through August 1.

Classes will be held in the fellowship hall of the Lutheran Church, from 9 to 11 a. m.

A nursery will be available.

Classes will be held for children through the sixth grade.

Parents who plan to enroll their children in this summer church school are asked to call the office of either church so plans can be completed.

George Beard to Ballinger

The board of trustees of Winters Independent School District Tuesday night accepted the resignations of George M. Beard and Mrs. Ruthie Beard. Beard has been principal of Winters Elementary and Junior High Schools, and Mrs. Beard had been a high school instructor.

According to The Ballinger Ledger, the Ballinger school board July 2 employed Beard as principal of Ballinger Elementary School, and Mrs. Beard has been named a teacher in the Ballinger Junior High School.

Tommy Lancaster, superintendent of Winters ISD, said Tuesday that the local board is interviewing persons for the Elementary and Junior High principal position.

Beard is a 1939 graduate of Ballinger High School, and had served as principal of Winters Elementary and Junior High schools for 19 years.

He was in the Army from 1940 until 1945, serving in Company C of the 36th Division during World War II. He earned a bachelor of arts degree from Hardin-Simmons University in 1948, and a master of arts degree in 1952. He received a supervisor's certificate from Abilene Christian University in 1964.

Beard has served as high school principal and business instructor for Mattson Rural High School, and as elementary principal at Mrs. Beard is a 1940 graduate of Ballinger High School, and received a bachelor of science degree from H-SU and her master's degree from ACU. She has 20 years teaching experience, in Eula and Winters.

Museum to elect officers

A meeting to elect officers for the coming year will be held Monday, July 14 at 5:00 p.m. in the Z. I. Hale Museum building.

All interested persons are encouraged to attend and lend their support.

No water problems in Winters

Although Sweetwater and other towns in this area of the state are experiencing water shortages, and forecasts indicate that the heat wave probably will continue for some weeks, Winters is fortunate.

According to city spokesmen, Winters has adequate water in the lake east of town. Following heavy rains some weeks ago on the watershed which feeds the reservoir, the lake was filled so that water ran around the spillway for several days.

Winters now has several months' supply of water, it was said, even if no appreciable rains fall on the watershed.

New construction

Walls go up on the new home for the priest of Mt. Carmel Catholic Church. Much of the work is being done by parishioners.

Poe's Corner
 BY CHARLES POE

When I attended the Kobert Paschal's 25th wedding anniversary celebration at Shep several years ago, Kobert told me about an historic spot near where he lived and of course, I investigated.

The marker designating the place was about a mile northwest of Shep and over in the edge of Taylor County. It was erected in 1968 by the Texas Historical Commission.

The Valley Creek Station marker was on the roadside near the creek and stated that the station site was located 300 yards north.

It was a facility at the Falls and crossing of Valley Creek, 1858 to 1861, as a stage stop for the Butterfield Overland Mail.

The twice weekly mail and passenger line stretched from San Francisco to St. Louis, crossing the northwest corner of Taylor County and passing six miles west of present Abilene.

The Valley Creek Station is described by Waterman Ormsby, the New York Herald feature writer, who accompanied the first stage west. "Leaving Abercrombie Peak, our road led through a rugged pass in the mountains, and up rather a steep hill, which I supposed, of course, had an incline on the other side. But what was my surprise on reaching the top to find a broad plain stretching before us. The keeper of the next station (Valley Creek) as well as that of Abercrombie Peak was appropriately named Lamshead, for he had a drove of 300 sheep grazing, and increasing, and increasing, without Director to attend hearing on Aging Services

Mrs. Rosemary Bennie, director of the Senior Citizens' Activity Center in Winters, will attend a public hearing on aging services.

The hearing on the proposed Area Agency on Aging Services Plan, developed by the West Central Texas Council of Governments for the period October 1, 1980 through September 30, 1983, will be conducted in Abilene at 10:30 a.m. on Tuesday, July 15, 1980.

The meeting will be held at the administrative offices of West Central expense to him, while he was attending his other duties.

A few hours ride brought us to Chadbourne, a military station on the bend of the little Colorado River, where we arrived on Thursday afternoon, the 23rd of September, nearly 24 hours ahead of table time, having traversed 955 miles of our journey without accident or delay."

From the Handbook of Texas, we find the following information: The Butterfield or Southern Overland Mail, which operated from September 15, 1808, until March 1, 1861, was a semi-weekly stage mail and passenger service extending from St. Louis, Missouri, and Memphis, Tennessee, across northern Texas to San Francisco, California. The routes from the two eastern terminals united at Fort Smith, Arkansas. From St. Louis to San Francisco the distance was 2,795 miles, probably the longest route of the system using horse-drawn conveyances in the history of the United States.

An Act of Congress, effective on March 3, 1858, authorized a mail contract calling for the conveying of letter mail, twice weekly, both directions used four horse coaches or spring wagons suitable for carrying passengers; it was further specified that each trip should be completed within twenty-five days.

Awarded to John Butterfield and associates, the contract provided for a compensation of $600,000 per year, in addition to receipts for passengers and express.

"Stations were located at the average of 20 miles apart with a maximum of 60 miles in the Pecos Tiver country. They were built of logs to Texas, and stone or adobe the rest of the way.

The fare for passengers was $200 each way for ten cents per mile. Each passenger was allowed 40 pounds of baggage. The postal rate was ten cents a letter.

The conductor was in charge of the mail. He carried a stubby brass bugle which he blew for several miles before reaching a station so food and fresh teams could be made ready." (from Rannels is My County)

The mails went through almost without exception in the 25 days allowed. Sherman was made a distribution point through which settlements in the interior of Texas were given postal service.

Passengers, with firearms ready to meet Indian attacks, generally endured the ordeal of the trip without rest; for if a traveler laid over, he forfeited his seat, and he might be marooned for a month before he could secure another.

The last run of the Butterfield Overland Mail reached Fort Chadbourne on March 12, 1861, early in the morning. With Texas already in the ranks of the Confederacy, the Boys in Gray stopped the coach. The tradition of "the mail must go through" strongly prevailed, but for Texas, this was the end of the Butterfield Overland Mail.

Fredrick Harry Craig, a marketing major; Duane Walter Geistman, a business major; Joyce Michelle Hamner, a health and physical education major; Fran Denise Hoppe, an undecided major; and Carey Jobe, an undecided major.

Those listed on the 3.50 to 4.00 honor roll include Eva Cogsoil Culp, a nursing major from Norton; Jmaes Gregory Black, a finance major; and Terry Robert Gerhart, an undecided major; both of Winters.

VISITORS

Recent visitors in the home of Mayola Cathey in Wingate, were her children and families.

Visiting were Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Reese and children Tracy, Kelly, Brad and Curt of Evergreen, Colo., and Mr. and Mrs. Ernest (Moon) Cathey, Macky and Kriste of Burleson, Tex.

Also, other visitors in the home were her brothers, Mr. and Mrs. E. B. Jacob of Austin and Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Jacob of Abilene.

Macky and Kristen Cathey have remained for an extended visit.

Growing numbers of Americans see leasing of automobiles as a viable alternative to car ownership, says Nancy Granovsky, a family resource management person with the Texas A&M University System.

STATE CAPITAL HIGHLIGHTS

By Lyndell Williams

Beleagured House Speaker Bill Clayton wanted an early trial to clear himself of Brilab charges — and he is getting one.

A Houston federal judge last week set July 21 as the date for the trial of Clayton and his co-defendants.

Speaker Clayton says he is ready anytime his lawyers are, but they say the defense case may not be completed by then and may seek a delay.

Clayton wants the trial over with as soon as possible so that he may be clear to run for a fourth term as speaker when the Legislature convenes in January. He is charged with accepting a bribe, among other counts, to award the state's multimillion dollar health insurance contract to a particular insurance company.

Castration Urged

The chairman of a Jouse committee now investigating child-abuse and pornography told a hearing he would like to see persons convicted of incest and vicious rape offenses given a choice between castration or imprisonment as punishment.

"I'd neuter every one of them," said Rep. Doyle Willis, D-Fort Worth.

A Dallas prosecutor told the panel that children are often sold as prostitutes to clients who order them through a catalog that features nude photographs.

As Willis' comments might indicate, the committee is seeking a crack-down on crimes against children.

Public-Funded Abortions

Following a U.S. Supreme Court ruling outlawing federal funding of abortions, the Texas Department of Human Resources will restrict public-funded abortions in Texas to comply with the law.

The high court had ruled to uphold a restriction on Medicaid spending for abortions and will allow the use of funds only in extremely limited cases.

The TDHR board may meet this month to restructure its abortion policy.

Trucking deregulation

A lobbyist for the trucking industry told the House Subcommittee on Trucking Industry Deregulation that removal of controls would hamper motorist safety on the highways and limit service to small cities.

He said deregulation would favor independent truckers who are more likely to "Take chances and go further than the law allows." The highways would be crowded with truckers more concerned with profits than safety to Texas motorists.

Deregulation would also harm trucking services to small cities and communities, making it undependable and more costly.

Panel chairman Lanny Hall, D-Fort Worth, said Texas officials will keep their eye on developments in Florida where trucking was deregulated last week.

Anderson Stumps Energy

Trying to gather enough petition signatures before July 4 to get on the state's presidential ballot, Independent candidate John Anderson told reporters he favors placing a limit on the taxes that energy-producing states such as Texas place on their natural resources.

He offered statistics to show that eight oil-rich states will raise $120 billion from their severance taxes by 1990 at the expense of consumers in non-producing states.

Texas has a relatively moderate tax, 4.6 percent on crude oil and 7.5 percent on natural gas, which raises about one billion dollars annually.

Coal Hauling Rates

Texas Attorney General Mark White and Congressman Bob Eckhardt, D-Houston, met with Vice President Walter Mondale last week, seeking an amendment to a railroad deregulation bill which would protect Texas against excessive coal hauling rates.

White said passage of the bill without the Eckhardt-Udall amendment would undermine a recent court victory reducing the rate of hauling coal from Wyoming to San Antonio by as much as 25 percent.

Mondale said he would try to bring the opposing forces together for a compromise.

Jacob family holds reunion

The family of the late Mr. and Mrs. O. K. Jacob met in the Ballinger Community Center for their first annual reunion on June 28.

Jacob of Abilene; Mr. and Mrs. Roy Jacob of Ballinger; Mrs. Mayola Cathey of Wingate; Tommy Jacob of Dallas; Mr. and Mrs. Johnny Jacob and Kelly of Austin; Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Edwards, Mindi and Matt of Abilene; Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Cathey, Macky and Kristen of Burleson; Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Reese, Tracy and Kelly, Brad and Curt of Evergreen, Colo.; Mr. and Mrs. Allen Mills, Sherri and Kyla of Goldthwaite. One visitor, Mrs. Catherine Carson of Abilene attended.

The next reunion will be held in Ballinger on June 20, 1981.

Blackwell

Mrs. Becky Jo Andrews and Mr. Donald Ray Fulton, both of Blackwell were united in marriage at 7:00 p.m. June 28 in a ceremony at the Blackwell First Baptist Church.

The Rev. Buddy Trull officiated in the single ring ceremony.

The bride is the daughter of Johnny Hall of Blackwell and the bridegroom is the son of Mrs. Alice Fulton of Rowena. The pianist was Miss Rhonda Trull.

The bride wore a light pink street length dress, accented with a silver cross necklace. She wore pink silk flowers in her hair and carried two single white silk roses.

Her bridesmaid was Pamela Jones, niece of the bride. Best man was Donnie Fulton, son of the bridegroom.

Immediately following the ceremony, a reception was held in the Fellowship Hall of the church.

The cake, trimmed in pink flowers and adorned with wedding bells and miniature doves, with the Bride and Groom's names on it was served with lime punch, colored mints and nuts.

Serving the cake and punch were Mrs. Calvin Hoppe of Winters, Mrs. Johnny Barnes and Mrs. Charity Pursell both of Blackwell.

The bride is a graduate of Blackwell High School and attended Commercial College of Abilene. She is presently employed at Dry Manufacturing in Winters.

The groom is a graduate of Ballinger High School and attended Odessa College. He is the owner of the Oak Creek Exxon Service Station and F & E Anchor Service in Blackwell.

The couple will make their home in Blackwell.

Family night supper was held Tuesday night in the Methodist Church Fellowship Hall with 45 attending. Mrs. Abe Lanier welcomed them and then Dr. John English made a short talk on anniversaries.

The women from the Blackwell United Methodist Church met Wednesday morning, July 2, in the Fellowship Hall of the church for a regular work day. There were 9 ladies there and they were working on items for the Bazaar which is to be in December. A covered dish luncheon was served.

UT attracts merit scholars

Large strides have been made at The University of Texas at Austin in the number of National Merit Scholars it has attracted.

For 1979-80, UT enrolled 190 such scholars — an increase of 57 per cent over the previous year. The increase moved UT Austin from 26th to 15th place nationally.

UT ranks third in Texas (behind Rice and Texas A&M) in the number of Merit Scholars. UT has been an institutional sponsor (that is, providing financial support) for National Merit Scholars only since 1978.

In addition, UT ranks first in Texas in the scholarship program for Outstanding Negro Students.

LITTLE LEAGUE News and Notes

Little League Tournament players and fans will hear the familiar "play ball" starting July 14 at the Northeast Little League fields in Abilene.

Both the 13-year old Seniors and Senior League All Stars will compete against Big Spring teams in this first round.

The Major League boys will try to outscore Merkel.

Major League girls will go against a team to be announced at a later date.

All games will start promptly at 6:00 p.m., except girls' teams which will commence at 8:30 p.m.

Plan to attend and support our local teams.

DIAMOND DOINGS

In 1976, shortstop Toby Harrah played a double-header for the Texas Rangers during which he had no putouts, assists, or fielding plays.

Cincinnati pitcher Joe Nuxhall was the youngest player ever on a major league roster. He joined the Reds in 1944 when he was 15 years old.

Don Larsen pitched the only perfect game in World Series history when the New York Yankees beat the Brooklyn Dodgers 2-0, October 8, 1956.

Ron Hunt, former National League infielder, holds the record for being hit by pitched balls. According to A-T-O Inc.'s Rawlings Sporting Goods Company, manufacturers of official American and National League baseballs, Hunt was hit 243 times in his career.

MRS. BEN MICHAEL WALKER

Miss Krause and Mr. Walker were wed

Karen Kay Krause and Ben Michael Walker were married at four o'clock in the afternoon, June 21, in the First Baptist Church. The Rev. Fred Thomas officiated for the double-ring ceremony.

The bride is the daughter of Mrs. Joyce Teague Krause and Mr. Fred Krause of Driftwood. Parents of the bridegroom are Mr. and Mrs. George Walker of Lamesa.

The church was decorated with twelve branch candelabra flanked by two seven-branch candelabra, all entwined with baby's breath and greenery and large white satin bows with a unity candle in front of the altar area.

Vocalists were Doug and Moira Waggoner, Mike Stinnett, Janet Ivery, Becki Burch and Chuck Robinson. Terri Rosson accompanied at the piano.

Wendy Warren was flower girl and Chris Fennell of San Angelo was ring bearer.

Best man was Chester Sparks of Dallas, and groomsmen were John Krause of Midland and Doug Walker of Lamesa.

Cherie Krause was maid of honor, and bridesmaids were Sheila Paschel and Jill Walker of San Angelo. The bride's attendants wore blue floral chiffon evening gown over blue satin, featuring ruffled capes marking the rounded necklines and gathered at the waist with tie sashes. They carried bouquets of silk flowers matching the floral designs of the dresses.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a lace and organza gown with fine pleated ruffles marking the cameo neckline and yoke, lavished with pearls, and cuffs on bishop sleeves. The semiflow skirt featured pleated ruffles on the hemline and chapel train. Her lace Juliet cap touched in pearls held her chapel length illusion veil with lace marking the edges. She carried a cascade bouquet of white silk carnations and red silk roses with streamers of wide lace and satin ribbons.

Following the ceremony a reception was held in the fellowship hall of the church hosted by the bride's mother.

The bride is a graduate of Winters High School and Angelo State University and is employed by Hemphill Wells in San Angelo.

The bridegroom is a graduate of Big Spring High School and Angelo State University. He is employed at Furr's Family Center in San Angelo.

This year's Senior Queen, Jana Brown, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Freddy Tyree, will give up her crown to one of three contestants: Karen Hohensee, Marla Fant or Melody Murphy.

The reigning Junior Queen, Becky Lange, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. David Lange, will relinquish her crown to: Kim Craig, Benda Niehues or Karen Carter.

Ed Cumbie, District 7 area fieldman, will act as master of ceremonies for the contest which will be held in the Ballinger office of the Runnels County Farm Bureau.

Doyle Condra, president of the Bureau said all Farm Bureau members as well as the general public are invited to attend the contest.

Jerry Lackey's Country Folk

Former Texas governor Dolph Briscoe was walking up the sidewalk alone as I crossed the street to the San Antonio Convention Center.

Like me, he was going to the 6th Annual Convention of the Independent Cattlemen's Association. We walked together and visited about the cow business, the mohair industry and his lifestyle after leaving Austin.

"Retirement is very dull," stated Briscoe. "About the greatest joy I have these days is speaking at these meetings and seeing my rancher friends." He said South Texas was very dry again. As I visited around the ICA convention, I learned conditions were approaching the same peak as the drought of the 1950's.

Briscoe, who is perhaps the largest single landowner in the Lone Star state, told ICA members that inflation and excessive government interference are the greatest problems facing the nation today.

The former governor asked cattlemen to demand a balanced federal budget and to support an amendment to the constitution requiring the balancing of the budget.

Bill Dyer of San Saba, also attending the ICA meeting, said his area could use another rain "TO cool things off if nothing else."

Raymond Hicks of Bandera stated: "What we need is a good rain, but we need less days at 110 degrees. These hot days can ruin us faster than anything because we lose what we already have."

Frio County Agricultural Agent Brett Highland said: "This area is known as a place of perpetual drought interrupted by occasional floods, but this is really bad."

He said Frio County farmers — like those throughout South Texas — must depend on costly irrigation to get moisture to their crops. About 95 percent of that county's peanut crop is under irrigation.

In Tahiti the temperature rarely rises above 94°F., even in the summer months of February and March.

Martha SS class met recently

The Martha Sunday School Class of the First Baptist Church met recently in the home of Mrs. Eula Cooke, with Mrs. Perrie Carwile in charge.

Mrs. Allie Jones led the opening prayer.

Mrs. Charlsie Poe installed new officers for 1980-81.

Roll call was answered with Bible verse, and Diversion was given by Mrs. Erna Marks.

A Yearbook committee was formed with Mrs. Perrie Carwile as chairwoman. Serving on her committee are Mrs. Allie Jones, Mrs. Erna Marks.

Present at the meeting were Mesdams Pearl Jackson, Erna Marks, Margarite Gideon, Eula Cooke, Charlsie Poe, Effie Kornegay, Thelma Mayo, Perrie Carwile, Flora McWilliams and Miss Eunice Polk, and one visitor, Mrs. Merle Bango.

The Veterans Administration celebrates its first half century on July 21, 1980, as an independent agency established to help America's veterans, their dependents and survivors of deceased veterans. The VA and its previous agencies have spent more than one-third of a trillion dollars supporting that mission.

Joe Couch of Ozona says his area is getting dry again.

And listening to Bill Whitehead, who ranches south of Sonora — he says that part of the country received over eight inches of rain in May and early June. "It still looks pretty good," he added, "but these hot days of over 100 degrees will stop that pretty fast."

Heat and drought in South Texas have already forced many ranchers to sell off their breeding stock and transfer what's left to feedlots or to adequate pastures. A dry winter and spring in South Texas only helps to make the current situation less bearable.

Well, the countryside has really taken a change in a week of perhaps the worst heat wave in 20 years. Several weeks ago while we danced on the tennis courts of the Bill McNutt Ranch in Eastern Kimble County, it appeared as if spring was here through mid-July. However, just a few days with temperatures soaring to 110 and 115 degrees, the terrain has taken on a different looking perspective.

First, we will need a good general rain to cool the country off. Second, we need a good general rain to break the state drought and fill the stock tanks. And third, and most of all, we need for the livestock prices to increase with the other costs of inflation.

If all those things come about, we probably could care less who would be the next president come fall... because we "would be in hog's heaven anyway."

ON THIS IS DRY, BUT AT MY PLACE I HAD TO SOAK MY PIGS IN WATER FOR TWO DAYS SO THEY COULD HOLD SLOP!

Cooler attics mean cooler houses.

An attic-ventilating fan installed near the roof peak — with air intakes in the eaves or in the gable sidewall — will reduce attic temperatures and ultimately the interior of the home, says Sue Young, a housing and home furnishings specialist.

Deregulation: Essential But How We Achieve It Is Equally As Important

Getting government off our backs and out of our pocketbooks is an objective many of us in Congress are working hard to achieve.

If there is one common complaint heard all over the country, it is that government is strangling us to death with its intrusion into our daily lives, and its ruinous impact on our free market economy.

Loosening government's grip on us individually, and collectively as a society, is an objective to which this Congress has given a high priority. It is doing so through attempted deregulation of various industries.

No one who truly believes in a free market would deny this objective is a most important one. I believe it to be essential. But the question is whether deregulation works in every instance, in every industry.

Congress must answer this question in every instance, for every industry.

The real goal of deregulation is increased competition, unfettered by ineffective and unnecessary government intervention.

Competition provides the very best product or service at the lowest possible price to the consumer. Those with the best goods and services will attract the most business. Allocation of goods and services is determined by the marketplace, not by a set of government mandates and regulations.

As a result, each of us as individuals, as families, as business-people, would be able to exercise freedom of choice in determining what we wish to purchase.

This Congress is laying the groundwork for deregulation in a number of industries. During June, the House Interstate and Foreign Commerce Subcommittee on Communications, on which I am privileged to serve, considered a very important deregulation measure. It concentrates on deregulation of the telecommunications industry, a critically important undertaking. Advances in modern telecommunications technology have far exceeded the scope of the 1934 Act, which established the original regulatory framework for the industry.

The full Committee also reported out a deregulation measure for the railroad industry.

There have been others. Earlier this year, Congress passed, and the President signed into law a sweeping set of banking reforms. They modified Federal controls, and made other changes meant ultimately to benefit the consumer. And just last week, the House passed legislation deregulating the trucking industry.

Deregulation must do one thing. It must insure competition and incentive — otherwise we may lose essential goods and services, and merely perpetuate monopoly.

Let me cite a few examples.

A major thrust of communications legislation is increased competition in the telephone industry — to be achieved through deregulation.

New businesses are entering the marketplace daily. The basic telephone system we have known in the past is facing competition from specialized data transfer systems, and two-way voice transmission, which actually amounts to regular long-distance service.

As we change from the old system to the new, we must ensure equity to the industry, while continuing to provide telephone service at reasonable rates to consumers in both rural and urban areas.

More deregulation of the telephone industry would not assure this goal.

The City of San Antonio is another example. For years, San Antonio consumers have been forced to pay ever higher energy bills. The reason is only one railroad carries coal to San Antonio, and the City is therefore forced to pay whatever rate the Burlington Northern establishes.

Under pending deregulation legislation, the Burlington Northern could raise its rates even higher, affecting consumers even more drastically. In this instance, the difference between deregulation in theory, and deregulation in practice, is substantial. It would result in an exorbitant and unfair cost to San Antonio consumers. It would also clearly perpetuate monopoly.

If equity and fairness coupled with true competition and incentive cannot be assured, then deregulation has not achieved its intended objective.

Getting government out of the business of regulation is important and essential to this country's free market economy. But just how we achieve it is equally as important.

Class of 1960

Class of '60 celebrated 20th reunion Saturday

The Winters High School Class of 1960 held a 20th reunion in the school cafeteria Saturday, July 5, with approximately 145 class members and family members present.

A special award was presented to Bill Pumphrey for having traveled the farthest to attend the reunion; he came from Honolulu, Hawaii. Another award was for the two couples who had the most children, won by J. B. and Kay Guy and Charlotte Dunivan Estep. The youngest grandmother awards were presented to Cassie Barron Minzenmayer, Ft. Stockton, and Edna Lewallen Landreth of LaGrange.

Among special guests recognized were W. T. and Betty Stapler of Sweetwater; Eula M. Kruse and Pearl Jackson, former teachers, both of Winters. Visiting parents were also recognized, along with members of the Class of '58 who were introduced.

A sandwich supper was held at 5 p. m.

Gloria Isaacks of Winters is attending the 10th annual summer high school band camp at Abilene Christian University, Abilene, this week.

Approximately 200 students participating in the camp are receiving individual instrument instruction as well as instruction in several classes of their choice, including twirling, drum major, flags, ensemble, marching, conducting and rhythm.

More than two dozen instructors from throughout Texas, including professors from the ACU and Baylor University music departments, are conducting the classes and giving private lessons.

The band will present a concert on the last day of the camp. The concert, which is scheduled for 6:30 p. m. in ACU's Cullen Auditorium, will be free to the public.

The high school camp, for students who will be in grades nine through 12 this fall, began Sunday and ends July 11. The junior high camp, for band students in grades six through eight, is scheduled for July 13-18.

New DOL regs on migrant workers

The United States Department of Labor has published new regulations dealing with migrant farm workers in settlement of a suit brought against the department by the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, the United Farm Workers union and 12 other groups.

The suit has contended that the civil rights of migrant workers were being violated by actions of the Employment and Training Administration and its federal-state job service programs, the Employment Standards Administration and the Occupational Health and Safety Administration.

The new regulations, which deal mainly with staffing, language problems and outreach programs, will have to be complied with by state employment agencies participating in federal-state job service programs.

Under the regulations, each state employment agency shall be required to operate an outreach program made to contact migrant farm workers and inform them of the services available from the state employment service. These outreach workers will contact migrants at non-public job haul locations and at the work site.

Because of numerous complaints during public hearings held by the department on the new regulations, workers of outreach are specifically prohibited from engaging in pro or anti union activities.

State agencies will be required to staff both outreach programs and employment offices dealing with migrants with Spanish-speaking personnel in areas with a "significant need" for bilingual services. These areas will be determined by the Secretary of Labor.

Additionally, the staff of the employment agency must be representative of the racial and ethnic characteristics of the work force and this representation must apply to all job groups within the agency.

State agencies which have significant dealings with migrants will also be required to make special efforts to hire staff from migrant workers backgrounds. These efforts are to include advertisements on radio and in newspapers as well as contacts with groups serving the migrant population.

Affirmative action records must be kept by the state agency for review by the Department of Labor and the Equal Employment Opportunity Commission. According to Labor Department sources, state agencies will have approximately one year to develop the affirmative action plans.

State agencies are also prohibited from operating day-haul systems unless prior approval is obtained from the regional administrator of the United States Employment Service. The agencies must also get prior approval before referring migrants to private day-haul operators.

A National Farm Labor Coordinated Enforcement Committee to review enforcement procedures, suggest legislation and resolve enforcement conflicts among the various agencies dealing with migrants will be established.

Local employment offices must provide each applicant, in Spanish if necessary, with a copy of the worker's rights developed by the committee.

The regulations, which were published in the Federal Register June 10, became effective July 1.

Avoid making checks out payable to "cash" unless you're in the bank or at the drive-in window. Otherwise, anyone can cash them, warns Lillian Chenoweth, a family resource management specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

ADOBÉ WALLS — BONGER
You will find this Highway Junction up in the Panhandle, just a few miles north of Stinson. Fifteen miles east on the Canadian River is the site of the two battles of Adobe Walls. The largest Indian battle of the entire Civil War at ruins of Bent's Old Fort. On November 25, 1865, 3,000 Comanches & Kiowas, allies of the South, met 372 Federals under Col. Kit Carson, famous scout and mountain man. Though Carson made a brilliant defense, called the greatest fight of his career, the Indians won. Some of the same Indians last in the 1874 Battle of Adobe Walls, though they outnumbered 700 to 29 the Buffalo Hunters whose victory helped open the Panhandle to settlement.
