"REFLECTIONS," "REFLECTIONS"

BY RICHARD C. THOMAS

Some farm-reared folks may still remember the old sulky rake — a hay rake pulled by a pair of mules or horses, and used to rake hay into "windrows," and then into piles to be picked up with a "buck" rake and hauled to the baler parked in the middle of the field.

I remember one hay rake in particular, and one farm cat in particular. This cat was nobody's cat — as independent as a hog on ice. He lived in the barn and subsisted on a diet of rats, mice, ground squirrel, grasshoppers, and occasionally a bowl of fresh milk. Every morning when the teams were harnessed and hitched to the plow or whatever, this cat would wait by the gate and tag along to the field. What a place for a cat, following a plow or other implement which usually turned up a nest of field mice or some other rodent. The cat would have a field day, playing with his catch for a while before dispatching it.

One day this cat — he didn't have a formal name, as I recall, but was known only as "The Cat" — followed the hay rake to the alfalfa patch. He was going great guns for a while, chasing everything the rake stirred up from the hay which had been mowed the day before; then he made his mistake — he went for a mouse which headed for a pile of hay the rake was about to roll over. The mouse ran into the hay which was being tossed and tumbled by the tines of the rake, and the cat followed. The hay tumbled around him, he was rolled over with the hay and the mouse several times. Finally he managed to get out of that rolling hay. The last time he was seen he was headed for a wild plum thicket, looking as if he'd just been caught in a hay rake!

I can equate with that cat! Every time I pick up a sheaf of government forms to be filled out, or every time I read in the papers of some other nonsense thought up by the government bureaucrats, I can equate with that cat! I feel as if I have been caught in a hay rake!

Computer causes late mailing of tax notices

Problems with the computer used by the company designated by the Winters Independent School District to prepare 1980 school district tax notices have caused a delay in mailing of the notices, it was announced this week by the business office of the school district.

One of the problems this year has been entering of the qualified exemptions on the tax rolls, it was indicated.

District officials said the notices should be in the mail within a few days, and the regular deductions allowed for early payment of taxes will be honored, regardless of when the notices go out. For example, it was said, if the notices do not get out until November, the October deductions will be honored.

September rains totalled 11.18

Rains received during September totaled 11.18 inches for Winters proper, according to Roy Rice, official recorder for the weather service.

Total for 1980 now is 22.80.

Monarchs

Swarms of monarch butterflies stopped over in Winters last weekend, on their annual pilgrimage south. Limbs of many trees in Winters were literally covered with the big butterflies, said to migrate south to Mexico every year.

Livestock Assn. barbecue scheduled October 18

The annual barbecue sponsored by the Winters Livestock Association will be held in the Winters Community Center Saturday, Oct. 18, beginning at 6:30 p. m.

Family Livestock Assn. membership cards will serve as admission tickets. Family membership fees are $8. Membership cards may be obtained at the door, or from any member of the board of directors of the association prior to the night of the barbecue.

Proceeds from the barbecue will be used to help finance the annual Junior Livestock Show

Blizzards go to Albany

"We're impressed with Albany," Blizzard Coach Les Fisher said Monday afternoon as the Winters Blue team prepared for workouts, aiming toward the bout with Albany at Albany Friday night.

Albany has an impressive scoring record for this season, chalking up 131 points to opponents' 52.

Coming off the 0-0 standoff with Merkel last week, the Blizzards will be working this week to improve on their game concentration and add some determination, which they lacked last week, according to the coach, in order to make a match for Albany.

The two teams are sized about even, according to scouts. Albany fields a well-balanced squad, which works from a Slot I formation. Fullback Jones, No. 37, has speed which the Blizzards must contend with. In a district track meet last spring, Jones won both the 100 meter and the 400 meter events.

Albany's leading ground gainer is No. 25, Tailback Jenkins. He runs 90 percent of the time. QB Garcia, No. 10, has good speed, throws exceptionally well, and will be cause for some concern on the part of the Blizzards. No. 21,

C-Council suspends action

The Winters City Council Monday night suspended for 120 days action on a request by West Texas Utilities Co. for a general rate increase for electric power consumers in Winters.

The company had filed a request with the city secretary Sept. 30, and F. R. (Phil) Anderson, local manager for the utility company, appeared before the council Monday night during a regular meeting to explain the request and the adjustments in the rate structure which the company had proposed.

The increase, if granted in its present form, would mean a jump of about 8.27 percent for local consumers, it was explained.

It was pointed out that the city had four options in responding to the utility company's request: It may approve the increase, deny the increase, or suspend action for a certain period of time; and then if no action is taken, ceding future jurisdiction to the Public Utility Commission.

This rate adjustment would be only the second general retail rate increase in the company's entire history, Anderson said, which goes back more than 50 years. The other increase was in 1973 and amounted to about six percent across the board.

The requested rate increase has nothing to do with the "fuel clause" cost which is added to the regular rate for consumers, it was explained. The "fuel clause" rate also is controlled by the PUC.

Tax rate adopted

by Council

Winters City Council Monday night adopted an ordinance setting the tax rate for 1980, and fixing percentage of property value.

The rate was set at $1.20 per $100 valuation, which was fixed at 75 percent of true value.

Tax notices already have been sent out by the City Hall to Winters property owners.

Nine answers to bid call for dam work

Nine contractors already have requested plans and specifications for construction of Winters' proposed dam and water reservoir, and the pipeline, following publication a few days ago of the call for bids by the City of Winters. Contractors will submit bids following study of the plans and specifications.

Present plans are to receive and open bids Oct. 28, according to city officials. A study of all the bids submitted will be made prior to acceptance and awarding of contracts.

City officials and engineers will host a "site visit" for interested contractors on Oct. 21, at which time contractors will visit the site of the proposed lake and dam, to be built immediately south of the present Lake Winters five miles east of town on Elm Creek.

Following awarding of contracts, actual work should begin within a few weeks, it was estimated.

Museum board will meet next Monday

The board of directors of Z. I. Hale Museum Foundation will meet at 5 p. m. Monday, Oct. 13, Joyce Bahlman, chairman of the board, has announced.

Plans will be made to open the museum during the upcoming Arts and Crafts Show.

School out early Friday for Albany football game

Classes in Winters Public Schools will be dismissed at 2:30 p. m. Friday, so that buses can make regular runs and return to the school in time to leave for Albany for the football game Friday night.

Reports from Washington

Our Intelligence Personnel Deserve Every Protection We Can Give Them

American intelligence operations have been compromised — and the lives of our personnel jeopardized — over and over again in recent years by the identification of our key agents.

Congress now is attempting to clamp a tighter lid over the protection of our intelligence personnel by applying criminal penalties to those who willfully breach security by naming names or otherwise exposing U.S. intelligence agents.

It is long overdue. The exposure to harm of individuals who are performing a delicate and dangerous task in hostile foreign countries — and who are outside the protection of the law and the police power of the United States — simply must be minimized.

We have seen what happens in too many instances when the veil of secrecy has been lifted. Following the disclosure of his name, his home address, and his telephone number in a Peruvian newspaper in 1975, alleging CIA connections, an American was murdered in front of his home. Just last July, the home of a U.S. Embassy employee in Jamaica was fired on only days after a highly publicized news conference disclosed the names, addresses, license plate numbers, and descriptions of cars of embassy employees alleged to be CIA officers in Jamaica.

Effective intelligence gathering is an essential component of the national security interests of the United States. Those who risk their lives to do the job required deserve every protection we can provide them.

Currently, no statute clearly or specifically makes it an offense to disclose the identities of undercover intelligence personnel. This has left the door open for disaffected agents, or others working in concert with them, to undertake a deliberate campaign aimed at destroying our intelligence gathering capabilities by exposing as many undercover intelligence officers and assets as possible.

Legislation we are now considering will make such actions a violation of law, punishable by fines and prison terms. Persons who have authorized access to classified information, and who intentionally disclose the identities of our intelligence personnel, are subject to a $50,000 fine, and a ten-year prison term.

Those who deliberately disclose classified or unclassified information which then leads to the identification of our undercover agents are subject to lesser fines and prison terms — depending on the circumstances.

This legislation also recognizes the importance of guaranteeing first amendment protections. It is narrowly drawn so as not to overstep constitutional limitations.

The burden of proof still rests with the government. It must prove the exposure of our undercover personnel was the result of a deliberate effort to "identify and expose covert agents with the intent to impair or impede the foreign intelligence activities of the United States."

The legislation strikes the proper balance, it seems to me, between doing everything we can to protect our intelligence personnel, and at the same time, recognizing the importance of the rights of those in a free society to information about the activities of government.

Of overwhelming importance, this legislation represents a major step forward in assuring the effectiveness of an activity vital to American security interests.

In today's troubled international environment, few concerns are more important.

"Expanding Horizons" challenge to 4-H youth

Seeking new knowledge and skills to become better citizens and leaders — that's the challenge extended to all youth by the theme of this year's National 4-H Week, "Expanding Horizons." The weeklong observance is set for Oct. 5-11.

More than five million youth between the ages of 9 and 19 are currently enrolled in 4-H throughout the United States, Puerto Rico, Guam and the Virgin Islands. Texas boasts a 4-H enrollment of some 140,000 boys and girls.

"4-H is the nation's largest out-of-school educational youth organization," points out Dr. John T. Pelham, state 4-H and youth leader with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, the parent organization of 4-H in Texas.

"4-H continues to offer unique learning experiences for youth through its time-tested 'learning-by-doing' approach," says Pelham. "4-Her's become involved in a variety of practical, real-life activities that range from agriculture and clothing to health and wood science. Programs vary according to youth needs and community resources."

The theme, "Expanding Horizons," challenges all 4-H members to seek new knowledge, acquire life skills and build on personal strengths. Members are encouraged to strengthen their citizenship and leadership abilities and to assume positive roles in a free democratic society, notes the 4-H leader.

"The 4-H program involves youth from all social and economic backgrounds and gives them an opportunity to key in on such vital issues as energy conservation, better human nutrition, wise use of natural resources and combating inflation.

In addition, 4-H helps youth gain knowledge and skills for their future careers," adds Pelham.

While 4-H is still a mainstay with rural youth, participation of urban youth has tripled in the past 10 years. Today, 23 percent of all 4-H members nationwide live in suburbs or cities of more than 50,000 population. Nineteen percent live on farms, 40 percent live in small towns, and 18 percent live in towns and cities of 10,000 to 50,000 population.

The 4-H program garners much of its support from a legion of volunteer leaders who give unselfishly of their time and resources to help youth grow and develop, points out Pelham. More than a half million volunteer leaders across the nation play a key role in the total 4-H program; almost 22,000 of these are in Texas.

Texas boasts a total of 1,973 organized 4-H clubs and 886 special interest clubs. The largest group of Texas 4-Her's live in towns under 10,000 population — 43,244. The next largest group is in cities over 50,000 population — 39,104, while 29,018 live on farms and ranches and 21,866 live in towns and cities between 10,000 and 50,000 population. Organized television groups include 7,459 members.

What are the most popular project areas among Texas 4-H members? Foods and nutrition leads the top 10 by a large margin with an enrollment of 37,860. Second is electric with 13,017; followed by clothing, 10,390; horse, 9,751; creative arts, 9,442; safety, 8,422; swine, 8,083; beef, 7,914; and sheep, 7,626.

Fire-resistant boxes, safes

Buy fire-resistant boxes and safes to protect valuable papers in case of fire, advises Linda McCormack, a family resource management specialist.

The typical lock-box or filing cabinet won't burn, but the papers inside will char at 400 to 420 degrees F. and burn to ashes at 450 degrees F., she explains.

Mrs. McCormack is with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System.

Fire-resistant lock-boxes and safes are designed to prevent such losses, she points out.

However, they won't stop a burglar since some are easily carried, but they will safeguard valuables against any home fires.

How They Work
These resistant containers protect their contents with steam, essentially, the specialist explains.

Water is incorporated in the insulation which turns to steam when exposed to high temperatures of fire, an action that absorbs a tremendous amount of heat.

As steam forms between the walls of the container, it is released through seams or holes to the outside, forming a protective halo around the box.

The contents are kept well below the charring point, Mrs. McCormack continues.

All fire-resistant boxes and safes are effective for only one fire because the moisture is used up and cannot be replaced.

Besides, the door or top is usually jammed shut by heat expansion and must be pried open.

Selection
U.S. manufactured fire-resistant safes and insulated record containers carry an Underwriters Laboratories (UL) label, indicating they have been tested and results verified as to withstand extreme temperatures for fire endurance and stress. Models are also on the market from other countries that do not carry the U.L. label, the specialist adds.

What a joy to drive in just about any direction in West-Central Texas and the Hill Country and view green grass waving at you. The rivers and creeks are running again and most stock tanks have captured some water.

Bobbie Sayles of Tuscola, president of the bank there, was all smiles the other day as he watched the rain fall. "This is what we have been needing for a long time," he said. "Since I run a country bank, it helps my business because it helps my customers."

Weldon Davis, another bank president over at Coleman, stated the rains of the past several weeks were just right. "Everything went into the ground."

Edsel Newsom with Producers Livestock Auction in San Angelo said the cattle market took a jump forward following all the rains in West Texas. "We still have some time to grow some winter grass before frost," he added. "And there is no telling how many thousands of dollars in feed bills this old rain is going to save."

I overheard some stock farmers in the Ailene Livestock Auction the other day talking about their grain fields. It seems as they were among a few of the lucky ones who planted wheat and oats between rains. "With three weeks of good autumn sunshine, I'll be able to start getting some off those patches," said one. "Why, I believe I will be set up for Winter."

Other farmers and ranchmen across the country are anticipating planting of small grain in a week or so when topsoil dries out. Of course, they will be looking for another rain after that.

Already, the oldtimers around the auction rings and coffeeshops are predicting what kind of winter we have in store for us. Will it be a hard or mild one? Will it be wet or dry?

For several years, some years back, I heard from one of those oldtimers out in the Davis Mountains. He predicted all these things by the length of a horse's hair. Also, I used to hear from a little lady down in the Hill Country who would make her prediction from the color of a caterpillar's hair or coat in the fall.

Well, at any rate, the old timers tell us if the first cold front of the season comes in the form of a duststorm, we are in for a dry winter. I did notice the first two cold fronts were wet!

Jack Herring of Ballinger says his county is in top shape. Well, in the last week or so, everyone is saying that...and that's what makes driving across the country such a joy.

Time to cull cows for winter feed

Although the cattle market is strong at the present time, it's wise to "clean up" herds by culling open cows and giving more attention to a controlled breeding program by culling late-calving cows.

There's no need to put expensive winter feed into unproductive cows, points out Allen Turner, county agent with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, Texas A&M University System. Culling the cow herd now will also help you plan on hay and feed supplies for the winter months.

Also, pregnancy testing cows this fall may be a more profitable management tool than ever before.

Since it's difficult for a cow to produce a calf large enough to pay her annual maintenance bill and leave some profit for the producer, we know an open cow is surely losing money, emphasizes Turner. In addition, cows calving during the summer months wean calves 30 to 90 pounds lighter than their herd mates which calve at other times. For this reason it's advisable to cull cows which will calve late next year and buy a replacement which will calve early.

Whoever does the pregnancy diagnosis (usually your veterinarian) will be able to estimate the calving date on each animal and make it easy to identify next year's late-calving cows. Your definition of a late-calving cow should change every year until your calving season has been reduced to 60 days preferably, and certainly no longer than 90 days.

Removing barren and late-calving cows from the herd will increase both the herd's reproductive potential and pounds of calf weaned, contends the Agent.

Besides his $200,000 taxable salary, the U.S. President gets $100,000 in nontaxable travel and entertainment expenses, plus a $50,000 a year taxable expense allowance.

College Night to be sponsored by Cooper and Abilene High

Junior and senior students of high schools in the Big Country who are planning to go to college and the parents of these students will have an opportunity to meet and talk with representatives from various colleges, universities, and vocational training schools at a college night program at Cooper High School on Monday, Oct. 27, at 7:00 p.m. Representatives from thirty-six institutions have been invited. In addition, representatives from the Army, Navy, Air Force and Marine ROTC programs and a representative to discuss Financial Aid will participate in the program.

The evening program will begin in the auditorium where Chris Taylor, President of Cooper High School Student Council, will preside. Mrs. Marie Denham, coordinator of Guidance and Counseling for the Abilene Independent School District, will welcome the students and parents.

Following the meeting in the auditorium, each student and parent will have an opportunity to attend three discussion groups of thirty minutes each to obtain information about three different colleges in which they are interested.

College representatives will discuss entrance requirements, application procedure, estimated yearly cost, courses of study, types of housing available, financial aid, and other topics of concern to students and parents.

The colleges and universities which will be represented are: Abilene Christian University, Abilene Intercollegiate School of Nursing, Angelo State University, Austin College, Baylor University, Cisco Junior College, Hardin-Simmons University, Howard Payne University, Incarnate Word College, McMurray College, Midwestern University, North Texas State University, Rice University, Southern Methodist University, Southwest Texas State University, Southwestern University, St. Mary's University, Sul Ross State University, Tarleton State University, Texas A&M Engineering Extension Services, Texas A&M University, Texas Christian University, Texas State Technical Institute (Sweetwater), Texas State Technical Institute (Waco), Texas Tech University, Texas Women's University, Trinity University, University of Texas at Arlington, University of Texas at Austin, University of Texas at El Paso, University of Dallas, University of Houston, West Texas State University, Western Texas College, Air Force ROTC, Army ROTC, Marine ROTC, Navy ROTC, and Financial Aid for College.

By Dr. George Purvis, Director of Nutrition Gerber Products Company

Q: My daughter is four months old, and growing rapidly. She's very energetic and has almost doubled her weight since birth. Could you give me some tips on starting her on solid foods?

A: Infants starting on solids should be fed a small amount, not more than a few teaspoonsful of food at each feeding. Single ingredient foods should be introduced one at a time. This minimizes the possible development of food sensitivities. Small samples of different kinds of food at each meal allow your baby a variety of new tastes and the nutrition she needs. Make sure that the vegetables and protein food groups are offered before fruits and desserts. Be careful not to overfeed your daughter as she grows and her appetite increases. It's best to put the proper amount of food in a dish instead of feeding out of a jar to avoid the natural inclination to get baby to "finish up" what's left in the jar.

Contract let for construction of sewer line

Winters City Council Monday night awarded a contract to Mullin Construction Co. of San Angelo for construction of 1276 feet of sewer line, to begin at the corner of Floyd and South Arlington streets, and connect with a line on FM 53 south of the city. Cost of the project will be $21,170.22, according to the contract.

Construction of this sewer line will be one more step in the "loop" which was recommended several years ago by an engineering company which presented a comprehensive survey of the water and sewer situation in Winters.

WHAT TO DO IF YOUR LIGHTS GO OUT

We'll do our best to keep it from happening, but let's face it. Even with the miracles of modern technology, it sometimes occurs in the best of systems.

So, if your power goes off, we hope you'll help us get it back on as quickly as possible.

HERE'S WHAT YOU SHOULD DO:

1. Check your neighbors. Call them or go outside and see how widespread the outage is.
2. If your house is the only one affected, check your breaker box.
3. If the trouble is not on your side of the meter, call us - your local WTU office - and give us the following information:
  - Your name and address
  - Time of the outage
  - The area affected (as many addresses as possible)

We'll take it from there. Please don't prolong the call with questions that can't be answered. We'll be getting many other calls, depending on how widespread the outage is. And, if you're answered by a recorded message, it means that the dispatcher already has been swamped with calls and that we're working on the problem.

Remember, our goal, as always, is to provide reliable electric service at the lowest practical cost. And if an outage does occur, we aim to restore service without delay. We appreciate your help.

REAL ESTATE

WHAT GOES WITH HOUSE?

Real estate is usually defined as the land and everything attached to it, such as: buildings, trees, shrubs, etc. The buyer normally gets all of the real estate, but none of the owner's personal property. The problem arises when personal property has become a part of the real estate. This is called a fixture and does pass with the real estate.

There are three usual tests which must be satisfied. Has the personal property been permanently annexed to the real estate? And finally, what is the local custom? Usual fixtures might include: shades, heaters, ranges, screens, storm windows, lighting fixtures, etc.

It is important that the seller spell out specifically in his sales agreement exactly what he intends to give to the buyer as part of real estate. This will save misunderstanding at the closing, and sometimes save a sale.

LIKE YOU, THEY'LL HAVE ALL OF THE NATURAL GAS THEY'LL NEED.

Just as you do today, your children will have a dependable supply of natural gas for their homes — if they're served by Lone Star Gas Company.

In other words, we aren't about to run out of natural gas. The facts are strong and very reassuring.

Our supply is based on purchase contracts for the gas from more than 19,000 wells in Texas and Oklahoma. And because no well lasts forever, we prepare for your future needs by steadily buying new long-term reserves.

The fact that we're well established in Texas and Oklahoma also works in your favor. Nine basins in these two states are estimated to contain 50% of the nation's remaining onshore gas reserves.

And Lone Star's pipeline system gives us excellent buying opportunities in eight of them.

Producers drilled thousands of wells in these major basins last year. They're drilling more this year. And we'll be shopping hard, just as we always have, for the best energy values for your future.

Mrs. Fryar died at Coleman last Tuesday

Services were held at 2:30 p. m. Thursday at Stevens Memorial Chapel in Coleman, with Gerald Stockstill, minister of Coleman Church of Christ, officiating.

Burial was in Gouldbusk Cemetery.

Born Nov. 30, 1908, in Gouldbusk, she married Jesse Fryar, March 19, 1935 at Gouldbusk. He died in 1975. She moved to Coleman in 1976. She was a member of Elm Street Church of Christ in Coleman.

wood — recently returned from a two week fishing and camping trip in the Gila National Forest of New Mexico. They had two horses and a pack mule.

After a reasonable amount of time, with grub running low and the fish uncooperative, they moved on to Monta Vista, Colo. Phillips' son, Jimmie, lives. He saddled up and joined them in exploring the San Juan National Forest on horseback.

After a few days, Huddleston and Phillips moved on to the Uncompahgre National forest, pushing into the high country. They fished in Crystal Lake, which is on top of a mountain, riding in snow. They saw lots of game and reported sighting at least 100 elk in one afternoon.

Both Huddleston and Phillips are employees of Exxon, and lived in Winters many years.

Mrs. Huddleston says that to her amazement, James got so carried away with the adventure, he picked up a live rattlesnake. When asked why he did that, he replies, "just always wanted to do that, but never had enough nerve before."

During a telephone conversation with a son, Rodney, in New Orleans, about the pack trip, Rodney said, "Well, Dad has just watched too many 'Gunsmoke' movies."

More than one-third of our food spending goes for eating out, says Dr. Rose Tindall Postel, a foods and nutrition specialist.

That bill reached $87 billion in 1978 — 35 percent of the total.

This was up from 26 percent of the total food spending in 1960.

Dr. Postel is on the home economics staff of the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

STATE CAPITAL HIGHLIGHTS

By Lyndell Williams

Tax reform is hot in Texas, but there will be days in the next session of the Texas Legislature when the issue will have to take a back seat to public education.

Although Texas ranks low among other states in funding for public education, the state has its fair share of parents and teachers.

Both groups are concerned with quality education, but right now the teachers are more concerned with making what they call a decent wage.

The teacher pay raise issue may well be the fulcrum upon which other legislation may rise or fall.

In the past, the public education bill has been one of the last to be passed in each session. Some critics argue that is it held hostage until the last hour...and that's why Texas funding is low. By the time it comes for a vote, the bill is pocked with the sniper shots from every feud in both chambers. Some legislators have asserted publicly that the public education bill, like the women and children on a sinking ship, should be saved first by an early passage in the Legislature. Then the other issues can fight for passage like a seat in a lifeboat.

Still, the Governor

They're assuming that the governor, whoever it is at the time, will rubber stamp the Legislature's early action. If the governor chose to veto part of it, the bill could still find itself locked in debate on the last day of session.

That's not an unlikely scenario with the present Gov. Bill Clements, especially if the bill contained a pay raise for teachers which is higher than he wants.

Charles Smith died in Amarillo

Charles O. Smith Sr., 98, of Amarillo, formerly of Wilmeth, died at 7:45 a. m. Wednesday of last week in Northwest Texas Hospital in Amarillo.

Services were held at 10:30 a. m. Friday in Winters Funeral Home Memorial Chapel, with the Rev. Temple Lewis, pastor of Wilmeth Baptist Church, officiating.

Burial was in Wilmeth Cemetery under direction of Winters Funeral Home.

Born March 8, 1882, in Roan County, Tenn., he moved to Gamaliel, Ark., as a child. He taught school there for several years. In 1919 he moved to Oklahoma and in 1921 he moved to Wilmeth in Runnels County. He operated a grocery store at Wilmeth until 1940 when he moved to Odessa. In 1973 he moved to Amarillo.

He married Buella Ann Ellison in 1907 in Gamaliel, Ark. She died in 1973.

Survivors include two sons, W. W. (Chick) of Needles, Calif., and Charles O. Jr., of Gary, Ind.; two daughters, Stella Trull of Dallas and Ann Watkins of Vega; three sisters, Annie Mefford of Concord, Calif., Abbie Grisso of Seminole, Okla., and Virgie Parks of Jacksonville, Ark.; 12 grandchildren; 23 great-grandchildren, and five great-great-grandchildren.

Although Lubbock is one of the youngest major cities in Texas, in terms of human habitation it is one of the oldest in the world. From the prehistoric mammoth hunting Llano Culture 12,000 years ago, through the Folsom Culture of 10,000 years ago, the Lubbock Lake Site now, well within the confines of the city, has yielded up many secrets of the past.

This was probably a stop on Coronado's Expedition in 1541. The area was known to Spanish Explorers in the 17th and 18th centuries and was described by Albert Pike who visited in 1832. The first commercial building was built by George W. Singer, almost on top of the ancient lake sight in 1880. Incorporated in 1909, Lubbock now has about 175,000 people and is a major education, trade, agricultural and medical center.

Blizzards-Badgers tie 0-0

It wasn't an offensive night for either the Winters Blizzards or the Merkel Badgers last Friday night, as the two 8-AA teams knocked heads for 48 minutes without anyone crossing the goal line. The scoreboard showed the same figures at the end of the time limit that were lighted at the beginning — 0-0.

The Badgers came close to crossing into counting territory at least twice, as they moved down to the one-yard line once, to be held by the Blizzards, and then down to the six-inch line, only to have Winters hold them up again.

At the opening whistle, there were indications that it would be a wild night, as Jeff Butts took the initial kickoff and almost got loose, gaining 45 yards on the return. But then the game settled down to a long 48 minutes of defensive action.

Coach Les Fisher said, "We had some good plays, offensively, but couldn't get off the ground. We were not as consistent Friday night as we had been in previous games." Merkel played as expected, he said, but "a probable lack of determination on our part, offensively," was the cause of not scoring.

"Overall, offensively and defensively," the coach said, "we played poorly. We're capable of better playing."

"Merkel's defense kept us in the hole a big part of the night," Fisher said. The Blizzards lost two fumbles which came close to putting numbers on the scoreboard for the Badgers, had not the defense held. "Our defense was probably the best we've had all year."

The Badgers' two greatest threats came in the second half, as they edged toward the goal line. But attempts at field goals failed.

The Blizzards' Toby Gerhart, who has chalked up ground gainers in previous games, was held to 39 yards Friday night. This was the first time anyone has done that to him. Scott Billups was held to 31 yards rushing. Robert Johnson cashed in 22 yards rushing, and 44 yards on pass receptions. He caught one pass just before the midway intermission for 21 yards. In the third quarter, he caught for another 23 yards.

Gerhart completed two of four pass attempts. Scott Billups had 0 for 4, with one interception.

Joe Escalona, RG, received the highest lineman grade for the evening from the coaches. Ricky Torres also had a good grade for offensive backfield work. Bryan Davis had the "hit of the week," Davis and Gerhart each got 10 tackles; Scott Hall, 7 tackles; and Robert Johnson, 6. Johnson was leading ground gainer, with 66 yards on the evening.

Coming-Home Queen, Homecoming Queen named Friday night

Mrs. George (Lura Lee) Tinkle Garrett, WHS Class of '31, was named "Coming-Home Queen," and Tammy Gibbs, a senior in Winters High School, was crowned "Homecoming Queen," during halftime activities at the Winters-Merkel football game last Friday night.

Things have really changed since the days of "barber shops" for men and "beauty shops" for women.

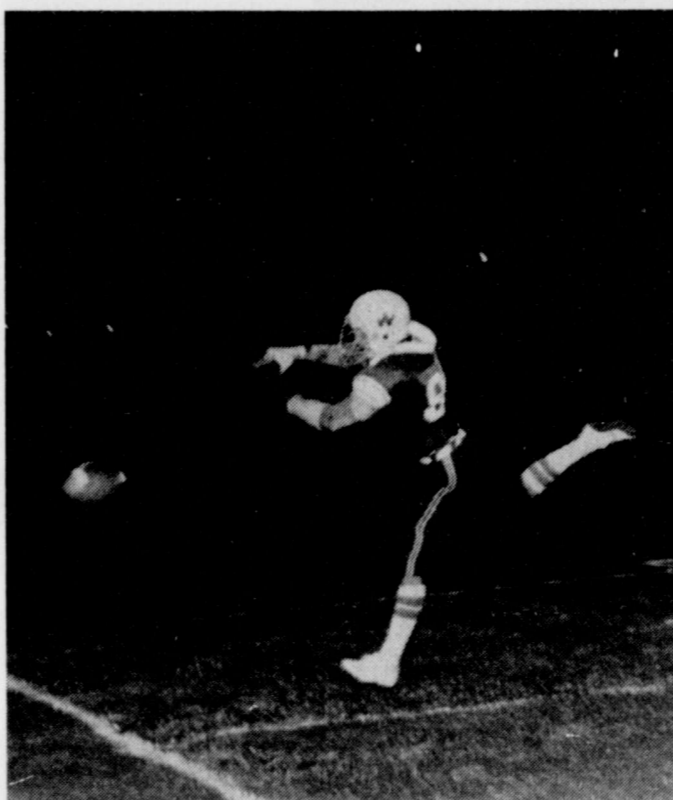

Today, 40-50 percent of all patrons at unisex hair-cutting centers are men, says Beverly Rhoades, a clothing specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System.

Jayvee, 8th grade tilts Thursday

Winters High School junior varsity will meet Albany junior varsity at 7:30 Thursday night, here. The eighth grade team will meet Albany at 6 p. m.

The seventh grade game was cancelled by Albany.

Winters JV has a 1-3-1 record for the season. The eighth grade has a 2-2 record; and the seventh grade team has a record of 0-2-1.

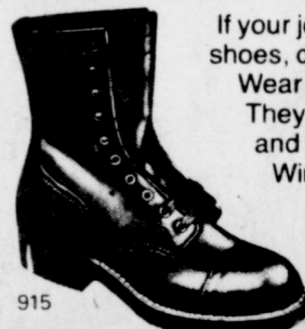

Make a small room look larger by painting it a cool color, such as a light blue, suggests Dr. Jane Berry, a housing and home furnishings specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System.

This works, because cool colors recede and light values contribute to this impression of distance, she explains.
