Council names new secretary, tax collector

The Winters City Council Monday named LaMoyné Moore to succeed retiring Buford Baldwin as city secretary and Sheila Paschal as city tax collector.

Mrs. Moore had been serving as assistant city secretary prior to her appointment as city secretary. Mrs. Paschal also has been employed by the city and for some time has been handling the tax collecting duties.

In other action by the council, administrator Glenn Brown was given the okay to proceed with the filing of an application for a community development block grant. Brown told the council that planning and consulting firms in Abilene were experienced in the steps and had agreed to handle Winters' application for a total fee of $200. The city administrator said that of the four grants awarded in the 18 county West Central Texas Council of Governments area last year, the consulting firms recommended had handled the grant applications.

There is no assurance that Winters will receive the grants, but the city administrator told the council there is no chance for the grant is the city does not apply for it.

Recently grants of about $1.5 million have been awarded cities in the same population category as Winters. The grant money would be spread over a three year period and would be administered through the West Central Texas Council of Governments.

If the City of Winters is successful in receiving the block grant, the money could possibly be used to improve the water and sewer lines, to pave dirt streets, in community-wide cleanup and rehabilitation, and possible uses in lower income areas.

The council agreed after some discussion to remove the large, lighted sign in front of City Hall. The item was placed on the agenda by Mayor Lee Colburn who said the sign was "unsightly and distracting," and suggested the sign be removed and placed in storage. The council gave the request unanimous approval and city officials said the sign would be removed late this week or early next week.

The council gave its approval to the purchase of a new copying machine for use in the city offices. City Administrator Glenn Brown had asked for authority to purchase a new copy machine. He said that the present copy machine did not work as well as it should and that the cost per copy from the machine was about six cents.

Brown proposed the purchase of a Pitney-Bowes copier and said that with trade-in and discounts the amount of money involved in the purchase would be about $2,250.

Following a brief executive session concerning the appointments of LaMoyné Moore as City Secretary, and Sheila Paschal as City Tax Collector, the council gave approval to routine items ending the regular meeting.

City will fence area west of old city lake

Winters City Administrator Glenn Brown said Monday that the area west of the old city lake will be fenced off. Brown said the action was deemed necessary because of the large amount of trash that has been dumped at the lake recently.

Street department workers using a front-end loader and a dump truck carried four loads of trash from the lake to the city landfill. Among the items picked up were household garbage and old furniture.

The city administrator said, "I can see no reason why anyone needs to be down in there (near the lakebed) anyway." The east side of the lake was closed off several years ago and Brown said that by fencing the west side off, it will prevent any further dumping at the old lake.

With the city-owned landfill open at least four days a week, the city administrator said he was puzzled at why someone would dump their refuse at the lake, there is no charge for using the landfill.

Brown said that so far no charges have been filed in connection with this most recent incident of dumping trash, but that officers were continuing their investigation. He did not rule out the possibility of charges being filed later.

County accepts resignation

The Runnels County Commissioners, meeting Monday afternoon agreed to accept the resignation of County Treasurer Bobby Bryan. The resignation becomes effective on October 1.

Bryan said he was leaving office to re-join a local insurance firm with which he had been associated before being appointed treasurer in 1978.

City hosts reception honoring Baldwin

The City of Winters hosted a reception Wednesday afternoon in honor of retiring city secretary Buford Baldwin. Along with city officials and employees a number of local residents also attended the reception.

Baldwin's retirement became effective this week. The retiring city official said that he had no definite plans but that he "did not have time to go fishing."

City officials presented Baldwin with a gift and a proclamation in honor of his many year's service to the City of Winters.

Winters Construction sold to Dallas firm

It was announced this week that Winters Construction Company has been purchased by American Well Servicing Company of Dallas.

Officials of the Dallas-based paraffin servicing company says that no changes of personnel or service policies are anticipated.

Winters Construction first began operations in February of 1957 and was owned by Bill Bean, Earnest Brown, and Griff Brown.

Bean sold his interest in the company to Griff Brown in 1971 and Earnest Brown followed suit in 1979.

Winters Construction moved into new office and service facilities in 1979 and continued operations with 50 employees. The well service company began its operations with only six workers. Walter Kraatz, who was one of the original six employees, continues to handle part-time duties for the company.

Marijuana, assault charges filed on local brothers

Two Winters men were taken into custody over the weekend on charges of aggravated assault in connection with an incident that sent a Mexican alien to North Runnels Hospital for treatment of head injuries and release.

Assistant police chief Winfred Reel said that the Mexican National, Fidel Rincon, was allegedly struck in the head with a bumper jack. Reel said that Richard and Juan Ortiz were charged in connection with that incident and that additional charges of possession of marijuana were filed against one of the brothers.

Both men appeared before Runnels County Judge Bill Stultz Monday and entered pleas of guilty to the charges.

 Congressman
 The Lone Star State

Reports from Washington

On Being Home

No matter where Texans live or travel in the world, we look forward to heading home to the Lone Star state. And whether it is watching the gently flowing Guadalupe River's south fork near my home, or following a busy schedule to squeeze in as many visits as possible, I find myself refreshed and renewed from having had the experience.

The month-long congressional recess allowed me an occasion to spend quality time with Kathy and the boys. And it also provided me the opportunity to travel throughout the 21st Congressional District. Your letters and telephone calls are an accurate and essential barometer of your thoughts and attitudes; nothing, however, can replace the importance of personal contact.

Congress left town on a political high in August, taking pride in the fact that it had moved legislative mountains in passing the biggest spending and tax cut bills in history. We made a greater impact in a few months than many congresses have done in a two-year lifetime.

Time and again I heard words of praise and encouragement for President Reagan and the success shared with Congress in passing the first phase of the program for economic recovery.

Across the many miles — at service clubs, public events, private tours, constituent meetings and more telephone calls — I found people genuinely interested in Mr. Reagan and full of good wishes in his effort to lead the country.

I found universal support for the President's firm stand on the air traffic controllers' strike — even from people who experienced minor delays in air travel as a result.

In talking about the Libyan incident I found a new expression of national pride that this country had stood its ground and repelled the attack with the appropriate force.

I found people with a genuine concern about the status of social security and how it affects older Americans. With the understandable apprehension, I found a mature willingness to help find the solution for which we must all search and work.

As might be expected, the toughest and most frequent questions came on the economy. Those of us who worked hard to pass the program for economic recovery are proud of the victory and believe in it. Interest rates are high now. In passing the program which goes into effect October 1st, we have crossed the initial hurdle and we are now at work again to continue to repair the economy.

Our economic recovery will not be measured in miles; it will be in inches and feet. We have to begin somewhere and we have now begun. The first steps are important. As the journey proceeds, if our initial programs need mid-course corrections, we are prepared to make the necessary adjustments.

The "road," however, is not all politics. There are occasions like the swearing-in ceremony for Ed Prado as the first Hispanic to serve as U.S. Attorney for the Western District of Texas, and speaking to a group of men and women of all ages, creeds and national origins who sought and earned their right to become naturalized American citizens.

There are the touching moments, also. In San Angelo, I spent time with youngsters at the West Texas Boys Ranch where some really great people are devoting an incredible amount of time and energy to shape the lives of those denied childhood experiences we sometimes take for granted.

In San Antonio, I sat down with doctors and nurses who work with children stricken with often incurable diseases, whose only hope for treatment and possible survival depends on the public services available at the Santa Rosa Hospital outpatient clinic. Both the ranch and the hospital need our support.

I'm back at work now. Congress is already gearing up for another flurry of activity that may well equal some of the tough legislative battles behind us. Thanks to a good visit at home and a personal mandate reinforced; I approach the challenges with a new and directed energy.

Cattlemen expanding herds despite poor livestock market

Despite poor prices and market uncertainty, cattlemen continue to expand their herds.

That observation comes from Dr. Ed Uvacek, Jr., economist in livestock marketing with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, Texas A&M University System.

Uvacek notes that the latest figures show the total number of cattle and calves on farms and ranches in the United States up 2 percent or almost 2 million head from a year ago. That puts the nation's cattle herd at 125 million head, as of July 1.

Beef cow numbers rose 1 percent and heifers being held for beef cow replacement rose 7 percent from a year ago.

Dairy cows also were up 1 percent, with 6 percent more dairy replacement heifers, reports Uvacek.

While most figures show increased cattle numbers on July 1, steers 500 pounds and over were down 2 percent from a year ago, reflecting reduced cattle feeding and increases in calf and non-fed cattle slaughter.

The big surprise was this year's short calf crop, says Uvacek, which was up only 257,000 head over the 1980 figure. This evidently was due to the severe drought last year which substantially lowered calving rates.

This small increase in calf numbers plus big increases in calf slaughter and non-fed cattle kill so far this year could result in tight feeder cattle supplies this fall, speculates the economist.

"Best Little Whorehouse" due at Abilene C-Center

The famed Chicken Ranch in LaGrange, Texas, closed in 1973 by a vigilante TV broadcaster in Houston, comes to life again when the Broadway musical hit, "The Best Little Whorehouse In Texas" comes to the stage of the Abilene Civic Center for five performances, October 2-4. Performances are scheduled at 8 p.m. Friday, Oct. 2; 5 p.m. and 9:30 p.m. Saturday, Oct. 3; and 3 p.m. and 7:30 p.m. Sunday, Oct. 4.

Abilene's Carol Hall wrote the award winning music and lyrics for this rousing musical comedy that has been playing on Broadway for 3 1/2 years. The composer/lyricist was awarded two 1977-1978 Drama Desk Awards for her contributions to the show, and was also nominated for a Grammy Award for "Best Cast Show Album".

Produced by Stevie Phillips in association with Universal Pictures, "The Best Little Whorehouse In Texas" is based on a real incident involving the closing of the famed Texas brothel. It was co-authored by Larry L. King and Peter Masterson. For this touring edition, Masterson has recreated his original direction of the show with Tommy Tune, who is also responsible for the critically acclaimed choreography.

"The Best Little Whorehouse In Texas" began its life as a Playboy magazine piece by Larry L. King, in 1973. It was not until 3 years later that actor Peter Masterson, then appearing on Broadway in "That Championship Season", came upon the article and talked King and Miss Hall into turning it into a musical comedy. It became an instant hit and has become one of the longest running musicals on Broadway during the past decade. It has since spawned three national touring companies, two of which are still playing to packed houses across the country and Canada. A London edition opened last February, and the motion picture version will begin filming this Fall for a late 1982 opening.

While the musical has encountered some controversy from time to time (CBS-TV at one time refused to take its commercials and an occasional local television station will bleep out the "offending" portion of the title), "The Best Little Whorehouse In Texas" has long since proven that its bark is worse than its bite. Audiences from coast to coast have applauded its delightful score, dazzling dances, and raucous humor. The writers and producers of the musical view it as an entertaining indictment of hypocrisy. In their view, the Chicken Ranch, which coexisted peacefully with the populace and law enforcement agencies for a century, was finally closed down not by public or moral indignation, but for political expediency.

Francie Mendenhall heads the large cast as Miss Mona Stangle, the madam who runs the Chicken Ranch. Christopher Wynkoop portrays the sympathetic sheriff; Steven Edwards is the television newsman who forces the closing of the brothel; and Susan Beaubian is Jewel, the Chicken Ranch maid. "Whorehouse" travels with its own country and western band.

Clive Barnes (N.Y. Post) declared that "Whorehouse" is "a fun new musical, full of gusto and wealth of comic detail, and music with a bustle." Douglas Watt of the N.Y. Daily News agreed, noting, "A whale of a good time! A smartly tailored book, lively and engaging songs, delightfully staged." Time Magazine hailed it as "the best new musical of the season."

Tickets for the musical went on sale Sept. 13, and are available by mail, at the Civic Center box office, and other locations. Ticket prices range from $16.50 to $10 for Friday and Saturday performances, and from $15 to $8.50 for Sunday performances.

San Angelo teenagers die in wreck

Two San Angelo teenagers died and a third was seriously injured Saturday in a one-car accident on U.S. 67, seven miles east of Ballinger according to Highway Patrol Trooper Scott Warren.

Joey Johnson, 18, the driver, and Clinton Lee Johnson, 17, died when they were thrown from their vehicle. Trooper Warren said that a second passenger, James Beardsly, 17, was taken to Angelo Community Hospital with possible neck injuries.

Trooper Warren said the teenager's small foreign car was westbound on Highway 67, apparently traveling at a high rate of speed when it struck a delineator pole and crashed into a guard rail. Warren said the vehicle then flew through the air a short distance before hitting the ground and overturning at least two times.

Both Joey Johnson and Clinton Johnson were apparently thrown from the car when it hit the ground and both were pronounced dead at the scene by Justice of the Peace Wilbur Davis.

Historical group to hold meeting in Menard

The Edwards Plateau Historical Association will hold its annual meeting Saturday, October 3, in Menard.

The 1981 meeting will be hosted by the Menard County Historical Society and will be held in the Menard Museum beginning at 9 a.m. with a courtesy coffee. The Menard Museum is located in the old depot, next to the Compton Warehouse on Highway 83 in Menard.

According to association president Marcella Weiershausen, the meeting will be like a reunion or homecoming since the association was founded in Menard in 1962. She said that charter members of the association will be honored at the meeting.

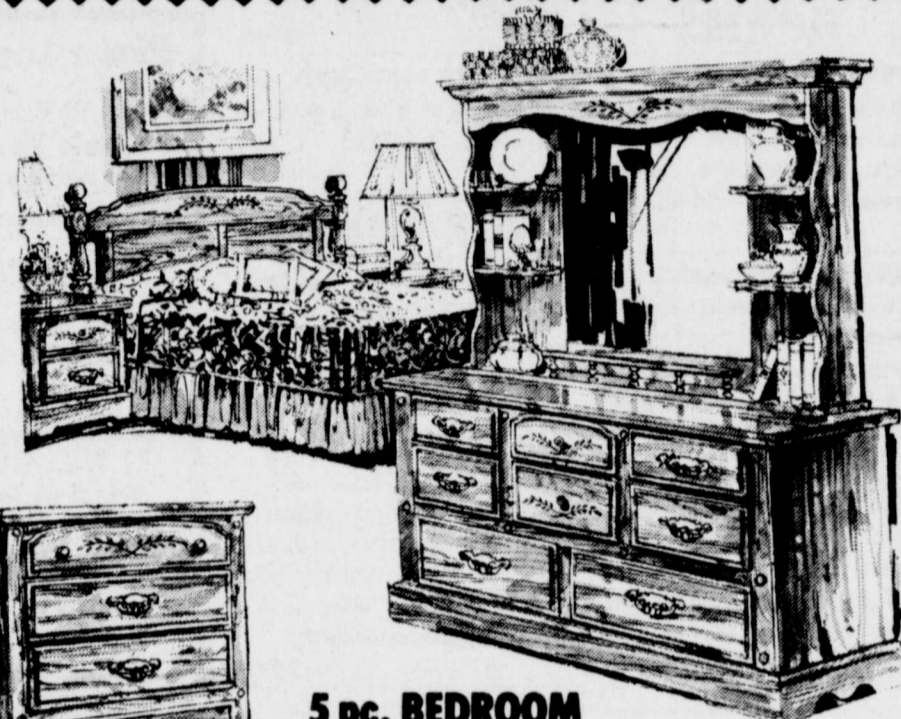

The program will be the history of the schools of Menard County and Menard's part in Texas.

BACK TO SCHOOL WITH OATMEAL ENGLISH MUFFIN BREAD

Here's a novel idea for delicious lunchbox sandwiches and after school snacks—English Muffins in a loaf with the fresh wheaty aroma of oatmeal. Kids love the taste of oatmeal and you'll love the ease and convenience in preparing this loaf. This bread tastes like real English Muffins and it even has nooks and crannies. It is a batter bread which requires no kneading and only one rising. It can be baked via microwave or the conventional oven in a snap! Try it with any type of sandwich or by itself with butter and jam!

OATMEAL ENGLISH MUFFIN BREAD
Makes 2 loaves

4 1/4 cups unsifted flour
1 cup old fashioned oats, uncooked
2 packages Fleischmann's Active Dry Yeast
1 tablespoon dark brown sugar
2 teaspoons salt
1/4 teaspoon baking soda
2 cups milk
1/2 cup water
Cornmeal

TO BAKE IN CONVENTIONAL OVEN
Stir 1 cup additional unsifted white flour into batter to make a very soft dough. Spoon into two 8-1/2 x 4-1/2 x 2-1/2-inch loaf pans that have been greased and sprinkled with cornmeal. Sprinkle tops with additional cornmeal. Cover; let rise in a warm place, free from draft, for 45 minutes. Microwave each loaf on high power for 6 minutes, 30 seconds. Surface of loaf will be flat and pale in color. Allow to rest 5 minutes before removing from dishes. To serve, slice and toast.

QUICK TIPS SOLVE LUNCH BOX BOREDOM

It's the same old challenge—how to make a home-packed lunch more exciting. Whether they're for the children's lunch boxes or the office "brown bagger," home-packed lunches can be made exciting and tasty by following these four basic rules: (1) good nutrition (2) good taste (3) portability and (4) an occasional element of surprise.

How To Pack Foods
Lunches can be packed in a variety of containers—everything from an elaborate insulated lunch box to a brown paper bag. An "official" lunch box does offer some advantages. It is a better insulator, keeping cold foods cool and hot foods warm (which not only taste better but also are safer). A lunch box is also easier to keep clean and sanitary.
If you do use paper bags, buy them specifically for lunches and don't reuse them. Food leakage and other items which might be placed in the bags can cause food contamination or insect infestation.
Liquid foods like soups or stews can be packed in wide-mouthed vacuum jars. Solid foods like vegetable dips, cottage cheese or salads can be packed in small containers like margarine tubs or in those designed for lunch box use. A freezer pack also helps keep lunches cold when there's no refrigerator available. Buy one designed for this purpose or improvise by filling a tight-closing container with water and freezing it.
New treatment of food can also solve packing problems. For instance, split unfrosted cupcakes horizontally and put the frosting in the middle, sandwich-style. This allows cupcakes to be wrapped without disturbing the frosting.
Foods that are packaged in individual servings can be a boon to lunch packers.

What's There To Eat?
Sandwiches are a good start. To save time in the morning, make a week's worth of sandwiches ahead of time and freeze them. When ready to use, just take a frozen sandwich and pack. It will thaw by noon. In the meantime, it will help keep other foods cool.
When freezing sandwiches, keep these tips in mind:
• Spread bread with a thin layer of butter or margarine to prevent the filling from soaking into the bread.
• Beware of mayonnaise and salad dressing. They soak into the bread and also may spoil in warm weather.
It's The Little Extras That Count
But what turns the lunch box ordinary into the lunch box extraordinaire are the special surprises. Tuck in foods like celery stuffed with peanut butter, beef jerky or pepperoni sticks, small packages of nuts or snacks like Light & Crunchy.
Use rye, pumpernickel, sourdough breads, bagels or buns for sandwiches. Blend butter or margarine for sandwiches with curry, mustard or minced parsley to liven them up.
Brighten lunchtime settings by tucking in colorful paper napkins, plastic utensils and plates.
It is easy to make an appealing home-packed lunch quickly when following these simple suggestions.

BALDWIN SCHOOL HOMECOMING

The Baldwin School Homecoming will be held Saturday, Oct. 3, at the Community Center. The program will begin at 10 a.m. and a basket lunch will be served at noon. The activities will be climaxed with a tour of the Z. I. Hale Museum.

Edna England is president of the organization, Hortell McCaughan is vice president and Henrietta Lewis serves as secretary-treasurer.

Since this is the first reunion of the Baldwin school ever held, some may want to know where the school was located. It was built six miles north of Winters in the northwest corner of what is now the W. L. England farm. The building was moved to Winters and at present serves as the St. Luke's Baptist Church.

There is a short history of Baldwin in the Rural View, published in 1920. The first school house was built at Baldwin in the fall of 1902. At that time it was part of the Winters district, but in the spring of 1906 was made a separate district.

The school house was built by the people of the community, the promoters being O. J. Hines, Tom Davis, J. M. Johnson, and Dr. F. J. Craddock. Grounds were donated by L. R. Richardson, Dr. Craddock, and Mr. G. W. Harper, each one contributing two acres.

The old building was found, in 1915, to be inadequate for the needs of the community, and it was decided to build a larger house. Two rooms were erected at this time, and in 1916 a third room was added. The enrollment for the past term was only fifty-seven, although it stood at one time close to a hundred.

The teachers during the year just closing were R. H. McCasland and Miss Zaza Chenowith. Due to the fact that two of the trustees moved away during the term, the teachers relied solely upon the remaining one, J. S. Neely, for assistance during the latter part of the term.

Mary Neely Capps, daughter of Walter Neely, writes an interesting letter in response to an invitation to attend the homecoming. She lives in Snyder, Okla., and is now 81 years old. She says she was ten-years-old when they moved to Baldwin from Pumphrey, and was in the fifth grade. "I believe Leona Rounay was the first of my Baldwin teachers. Scarlet fever broke out in the school and we did not have a full term that year."

Verna Bucher was the next teacher and taught in 1911, the year that Johnnie (Patterson) Woodfin went to Baldwin.

Mrs. Capps said that Barney McCasland was her sixth grade teacher and taught eight grades in one room. "We learned to draw maps in rough outline without looking at the pictures. He taught muscular penmanship. He made history live. We played shinny with tin cans and sticks for golf clubs. Mr. Barney hit a can (beaten into a ball shape) that hit my brother's nose and broke it. We had spelling bees, debates, and literary societies with plays and readings, prophecies, arithmetic matches — and plenty of fun."

Lucille Spann came her first year out of Texas University. "She corrected our English in class and in conversation. I'll always be grateful to her," said Mrs. Capps. "Vera Patterson, (Mrs. T. V. Jennings) came her first year out of normal school at Denton. She was a very thorough, kind and interested teacher. She introduced us to Latin and biology. Ruth Hall of Winters taught one year. I believe she taught the lower grades when Vera taught us."

Mrs. Capps has taught school 27 years, has written three books and has three children.

Gattis Neely said that Lucille Spann was his teacher when he started to school in 1913. All his brothers and sisters began at Baldwin but Sidney and James were coming to school at Winters in the buggy so Gattis transferred to Winters in 1922. The next year they decided to use the car and all of them came to town.

Beatrice (Mitchell) Schrader started to school at Baldwin in 1915 and remembered that Juanita Cooke and Juanita Durham were the teachers. She recalled that Tom Taylor brought out the goodies for their Christmas party in his new Ford. Miss Cooke later became Mrs. Taylor and Miss Durham married Clyde Davis and lives in San Angelo.

Mr. and Mrs. A.M. Sprinkle taught in 1916-1917 and they were followed by Susie Reams. Mrs. Eva Kelly taught in the 1920's and Willie Bell (Virden) Cornett taught several years.

W. J. Gardner was perhaps the first teacher that Baldwin had. He came to Runnels to teach at Antelope and later taught at Baldwin where all of his children attended, John, Jim and Bernice and Eunice, who were twins. The school had other twins, two sets from the Charlie Woods family, Lavena and Virginia and Allen and Alvis, also Bud and Pete Hicks.

Edna (Williams) England recalls that they always had a seven months school term because the children picked cotton until the crops were gathered. It was also understood that a teacher lost her job if she got married. Married teachers were not hired, except in the case of the Sprinkles where they were employed together.

Some of the families in the community were Tom Dorsetts, Lee Downings, W. J. Gardner, T. O. Williams, J. S. Neely, Kirby, Ratliff, Sowell, Patterson, Davis, Curington, Young and Jordan.

J. S. Neely's son, Sidney, was principal in the mid-20's, also he was the girls basketball coach. Members of the team were the other two teachers, Geraldine Gammaway and Mabel Downing, Gertie Milliron, Ena Williams, Irene Morgan, Mary Graham and Velva Moreland. Mabel (Downing) Williams remembers that this team could beat any school in the county except Drasco, and it was because of their tall guard, Opal Griffin. The uniforms were black bloomers, white middie blouses, black stockings and shoes. Mrs. E. M. Moreland usually took the team to the games in her car. They were traveling to Dale for a game as fast as the Model T would go and the top blew off.

Most of the children walked to school, the more fortunate rode a horse or donkey. "There was lots of excitement the day the boys booed Maurine (Osborne) Davis' horse and he stopped so suddenly that Maurine went off over his head," Edna England recalls.

Miss Vera Patterson was a teacher when the youngest Williams girl was born and the family was so fond of her that the baby was named Vera Lee, now Mrs. L. Q. Sneed. All of the Williams children finished at Baldwin and went on to Winters to graduate. Pearl and her husband, Fred Davidson, became teachers, also Ena's husband, O. D. Montgomer and A.T.'s wife, Mabel Downing, T.O. and A.T. Williams and W. L. England were trustees at different times.

Earl Dorsett served as a trustee for many years and Claude Mills was another trustee.

Friday afternoons were the special times — if the weather was pretty they played ball. In bad weather they had spelling and arithmetic matches. Once a month the county music teacher came. "We called him 'Honey from the Rock' for that was his favorite song and we sang it every time," said Edna.

Social life revolved around the school and church. After doing all the chores on a farm it was great fun being together — to have a sing song, a candy pulling or riding calves. While the big kids played ball the little ones built a play house in the old coal bin or played such games as "Annie Over" and "Needle's Eye." Edna England remembers the good times.

The big times were the Christmas programs, box suppers, school plays and programs. On April Fool's Day, all the big boys played hooky. Rather than try to find them, the teachers dismissed school every April 1 and had a community picnic on Johnson's creek.

Raymond Lewis' memories of his school days in the '40s was when the boys wrote four letter words (the kind we hear on TV now) in the boys outhouse. Since both teachers were women they knew they wouldn't get caught. But when the trustees and inspectors came they were in big trouble.

Mrs. Lula Green Steele was the last teacher at Baldwin when it was consolidated with Winters in 1948. The building was moved to the east of Winters and used as a school for black students. It is now a church.

Blackwell

The Women's Missionary Union of the Blackwell First Baptist Church started their program Friday for the new year, 1981-82, with eight ladies attending the meeting at the church.

Mrs. Thelma Smith presided for the meeting. She called the meeting to order with a song, "When We Walk With The Lord," sang by the group.

Opening prayer was given by Mrs. Ben Noble. The goal for the Mary Hill Davis Offering was set at $250.00.

Mrs. Olin Corley presided for the "Week of Prayer" program, entitled "Shall They Be His People". She was assisted by Mmes. Pat Douglas, Noble, Thelma Smith, Ninnie Kinard, and Lanelle Montgomery.

Prayers were given by Mmes. Douglas, Thelma Smith, Eula Nabors, and Willie Burwick.

Dismissal prayer was given by Mrs. Verle Smith.

The ladies enjoyed a covered dish luncheon at noon in the Fellowship Hall of the church with all those mentioned and a visitor, Mrs. Ruby Corley of Shep.

The ladies will meet each Tuesday afternoon from now until next summer.

The women of the Blackwell United Methodist Women met Monday in the Oak Creek Lake home of Mrs. Margaret Stout with ten members and one visitor attending, and with Mrs. Stout as hostess.

Mrs. T. J. Oden called the meeting to order with prayer, given by Mrs. John English.

The secretary, Savannah Thompson, gave her report of the last meeting, and it stood approved as read.

A short business meeting was held and Mrs. Oden showed the calendar towels for 1982. A motion was made and seconded that the society order two dozen of them.

Old business was taken care of and no new business was mentioned.

Mrs. Oden adjourned the meeting with prayer, given by Mrs. Mary Louise Alderman. The program was then turned to Mrs. Cecil Smith, who gave the program, "Review of Angels" by Billy Graham.

Mrs. Smith read from her book, "The Lord and Angels". She had given the review before and everyone had enjoyed it.

She closed her program with a prayer.

Mrs. Juanity McRorey, treasurer gave her report.

A refreshment plate was served by the hostess to Mmes. T. J. Oden, Thompson, McRorey, English, Smith, Alderman, Ida Oden, Terry Barrett, R. Q. Spence and a visitor, Mrs. Faye Ford, from Bells, who is the sister of Mrs. T. J. Oden.

The next meeting will be Sept. 28 in the Oak Creek Home of Mrs. John English with Mrs. English as hostess and Mrs. Terry Barrett will begin the Bible study, "The Buddhist Religion."

The guest speaker at the Blackwell United Methodist Church at the 11:00 morning service was Luis Veagra, a missionary from Panama.

He gave a good description of Panama, the number of people from the United States, the work the Methodists are doing to help the people there. He was well educated and very easy to understand.

After the service, a covered dish luncheon was held in the fellowship hall of the church with twenty attending. They were Rev. Max Burkhead, Luis Veagra, Mr. and Mrs. Herman Seale, Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Smith, Mr. and Mrs. R. Q. Spence, Larry Oden, Frank Greathouse, and Mmes. T. J. Oden, Terry Barrett, Juanita McRorey, Ida Oden, Josie Craig, Mary Louise Alderman, Savannah Thompson, and one visitor, Faye Ford.

Max is getting married next Saturday, Sept. 19, so he won't be with us for two more weeks.

Funeral services for Julia Hays, 97, were held Wednesday at 10:30 a.m. in the Rains-Seale Funeral Home Chapel in Ballinger.

Miss Hays died at 12:15 a.m. Tuesday in the Park Plaza Nursing Home after a lengthy illness.

She was a resident of San Angelo for 30 years after having lived in Blackwell for over 30 years, and was born May 18, 1884 in Reagan County.

Her father, J. A. Hays was Blackwell postmaster and she worked with him in the post office, and was also a school teacher.

She was a member of the Methodist Church. Survivors include a cousin and several nephews and nieces.

The women of the United Methodist Church met Tuesday in the fellowship hall of the church to quilt for aazaar to be held in November, with seven members and one visitor attending.

A covered dish luncheon was held at noon. Those attending were Mmes. T. J. Oden, Cecil Smith, Terry Barrett, R. Q. Spence, Savannah Thompson, Margaret Stout, and one visitor, Mrs. Faye Ford.

After lunch, another visitor, Mrs. Olin Corley, a very good quilter, came, and she has been asked to come back next Monday and to bring a friend.

The women plan to meet each Monday and quilt except on the Mondays that the society meets.

The Blackwell Community Center is really progressing along nicely as all of the doors have been hung, all of the outside walls and the table ends are up and now they are ready to put the roof on. It is something to be proud of so drive by and look at it.

Blackwell had six-tenths of an inch of rain last Monday afternoon with a pretty bad electrical storm, but no wind nor hail.

Annual Fall countdown for the Cattlemen's Round-Up for Crippled Children is underway. The cattle sale is next week...Sept. 28, starting time, 1:00 p.m. at Abilene Auction.

"Cattle and cash donations are still needed," says CRCC general chairman Jim Alexander of Abilene and he urges participation from the ranching industry throughout the Southwest. The way to do so is to get in touch with your county chairmen. If they are not available you may call this writer at 915/655-0001 or by mail, by addressing P.O. Box 1542, San Angelo, Texas 76902.

"When people think of the West Texas Rehabilitation Center, they think of the Cattlemen's Round-Up for Crippled Children," continues Alexander.

And that's as it should be. Alexander sees the Cattlemen's Round-Up as the backbone of the Rehab Center's fund-raising, responsible for the grass roots support that is still vital to WTRC.

WTRC campuses in San Angelo, Abilene and Snyder are visited by over 8,000 handicapped people annually to receive treatment.

"It's (CRCC) what got the Center off and going. These area people working for the Round-Up are still what keeps it working. I don't want these people ever to feel like they are not important. They are important," he said. "We need for them to feel they are a vital part."

Alexander said, as he has said since assuming the chairmanship of the CRCC in 1979, that this year's sales will be the biggest and the best.

By county and area chairman talking to his or her friends and neighbors, Alexander believes the livestock donations will come in. "People give to people. That's how the area chairmen make it work," he said.

I visited with Willard Jordan the other day concerning the special Rehab Sheep & Goat Sale scheduled for Junction Stockyards Oct. 5. "You know we sell cattle there too," he smiled. "A lot of times ranchmen in our area will donate cattle but they want to sell them at home. That's why we have the Hill Country at Junction."

Besides the horse sale, Oct. 3, at Abilene Auction; there will be a special CRCC sale Oct. 7 in Coleman; Nov. 4 in Brownwood and a farm equipment sale Nov. 7 at Sweetwater.

"We try to involve every facet of our business in the Cattlemen's Round-Up," explained Alexander. He is involved in cattle operations including a feedlot as well as other businesses.

Alexander believes that most people getting into the cattle business are those who have some back ground in it.

Jim Franklin of San Angelo is one of those people. Serving as co-chairman for CRCC, Franklin is owner of M.L. Leddy Boots of Texas with stores in San Angelo, Midland and Fort Worth. He is also involved in ranching.

"The ones who make it in the cattle business are the ones who have the staying power to get through the bad periods — or are crazy enough to want to," laughs Alexander.

There will be no problem getting a market for the cattle at the series of CRCC sales this fall.

"There is always someone to buy. They may stretch some to give a little more, but there's always a market."

Re-emphasizing the tradition behind the CRCC, Alexander said: "Remember the area chairmen. They are the ones that make it work and we need for them to feel they are a vital part of everything we're doing."

Gen-Tel to give local support to Helping Hand

An emblem with a bright orange silhouette of a spread hand displayed in windows is becoming a familiar sight in many cities.

They represent the Helping Hand program inaugurated by some local schools and Parent-Teacher Associations with the help of volunteers. General Telephone Company of the Southwest supports the program as one of its community service projects.

Vice President-Public Affairs for GTSW Joe H. Collins said, "We share the concern of the communities we serve and are always willing to extend a 'helping hand'. Although the program is not foolproof, it is a positive approach to helping children in need. We feel the program illustrates our interest and social responsibility to all segments of society."

Helping Hand decals and program guidelines are supplied by General Telephone free of charge.

The telephone company initiated the program in August 1980. Currently 176 schools in 53 communities in General Telephone's four-state operating area in Texas, Oklahoma, New Mexico, and Arkansas utilize the program.

Resident's father died in Comanche

Sam Clough, 79, died Sunday at the Western Hills Nursing Home in Comanche.

Funeral services were held Tuesday at 2 p.m. at Clements-Wilcox Funeral Home Chapel in Burnet, with burial in Burnet Cemetery.

Clough was born August 6, 1902. He had been a resident of Comanche for about 1 1/2 years. Before that, he had lived in Burnet for approximately 35 years.

He is preceded in death by his wife, Ann Belle, who died December 5, 1978, and three children.

He is survived by one son, Jack Clough of Winters; seven grandchildren, and nine great-grandchildren.

"Helping Hand" is designed to visually identify homes, businesses, or offices willing to serve as a refuge and provide assistance to school children encountering problems as they go to and from school," Collins said.

Students are told if they are approached or threatened by an unknown person or have a problem such as being chased by a dog or becoming lost, they should seek immediate help from the location displaying the "Helping Hand" symbol.

There are four "Helping Hand" guidelines that participants follow. The participants learn why a youngster knocked at his door, look for a person on the street or in a vehicle who may have frightened the child, call the local police with a report and call the school principal with a report.

Schools and PTA groups interested in the program, or those currently conducting the program who need materials offered by General Telephone, can write to: Charles Watkins, Community Relations Manager, General Telephone Company of the Southwest, P. O. Box 1001, San Angelo, Texas 76901.

Rotan defeats Blizzards in Friday night ballgame

Rotan took advantage of a second quarter fumble recovery by turning it into a 29-yard scoring drive that resulted in the 13-7 defeat for the Winters Blizzards in their District 8-AA opener.

Blizzard Head Coach Dan Slaughter summed the Friday night loss up like this, "The ballgame against Rotan reminded me of an old saying. The statement everyone has heard is: 'Same verse, same song, same ending.' The Blizzards continue to lose ballgames because they just don't play good football the first half of every ballgame. In two out of three games so far this year the Blizzards have outscored their opponents the second half, but they have been down at least two touchdowns before half-time, which makes winning a game extremely tough."

"The same was true in the Rotan game," Slaughter said. "Winters trailed 13-0 by half-time, but

Three from Winters made Tech deans' list

More than 2,300 students at Texas Tech University qualified for the deans' honor rolls in the six colleges during the second term of the 1981 summer session. Included on the list were three Winters residents, William B. Billups, Michael C. Davis, and Steven C. Esquivel.

To qualify for a dean's honor roll a student must have a grade point average of 3.0 or more on a 4.0 scale and must have taken at least six semester hours of work. Texas Tech has an enrollment of more than 23,000 in six colleges: Agricultural Sciences, Arts and Sciences, Business Administration, Education, Engineering and Home Economics.

could not overcome a tough Rotan defense and they lost by a score of 13-0. Winters had two good chances to score in the second half, but mistakes on their part and a good defense by Rotan kept the Blizzards out of the endzone." At half-time, Winters had 69 yards of offense and Rotan had 76 yards of offense. In the second half, the Blizzards toughened up and held Rotan scoreless, but Winters just could not seem to get the ball in the endzone for a touchdown.

Late in the fourth quarter Winters scored on a 75-yard touchdown pass from Jeff Butts to Bret Mikeska. Donnie Daily kicked the extra point to make the score 13-7. The Blizzards had several players do an excellent job on defense. Andy Smith, Ronnie Lujano, Brett Mikeska, Brent Lancaster, Ralph Austin, and Don Kvapil made the defense tough in the second half, but the Blizzard just couldn't get their offense untracked.

Winters got down to the Rotan three yard line once, but two penalties in a row (one for 15 yards and one for five yards) set them back. Later the Blizzards got down to the 10 yard line but then again were penalized 15 yards. Coach Slaughter said. "The Blizzards have not jelled as a football team as of yet. Winters has several individual players doing an outstanding job each week, but as a whole team they have just not gotten it all together. If the team starts playing together, they will be very tough to beat."

The Blizzards are still in the district race, but another loss will just about put them out of it. Winters plays Hawley this week at 7:30 p.m. here in Winters. Hawley is 0 and 3 on the season, and so are the Blizzards. It should be a good game and one the fans will enjoy watching.

Coach Slaughter said, "Come out Friday and help encourage our team to start playing together. Lets get our team untracked and become a winner."

The seventh, eighth, and junior varsity teams play in Hawley this week beginning at 5 p.m. Last week the seventh grade won 6-0. The eighth grade tied their second game in a row 6-6, and the junior varsity was defeated 13-6. All three teams played well.

The seventh grade has a record of 1-0-0, the eighth grade is 0-0-2, and the junior varsity is 0-2-0 for the season.
