Flood damage minor at new city lake

Last week's heavy rains and flooding caused only minor damage at the new city lake according to officials of the J.H. Strain Construction Company and the city engineers.

The heavy runoff caused the most damage at the 72 inch concrete pipe that was recently installed. Spokesmen said that four 20 foot sections of the large pipe were damaged and most likely would have to be replaced. Representatives of the Gifford-Hill Company, manufacturers of the pipe will have to inspect the pipe and the contractor said he would absorb the cost of the damage.

Along with the four sections of pipe being damaged, the base supporting the pipe also suffered, but the full extent is still not known.

City Administrator Glenn Brown said that the engineers estimated that some 10,000 yards of sand was washed from the drainage blanket and will have to be replaced. A number of cement forms were washed down the creek by the rushing water as it overflowed the construction site.

The construction foreman at the site said that the only equipment damaged by the flood waters were pumps that were used to haul water to the site of the dam.

Early this week work was underway at the lake replacing the drainage blanket and other areas damaged by the water.

Officials say the high water would have very little effect on the rapid progress at the new city lake.

New 20-cent postage rates on Nov. 1

The cost of mailing a First-Class letter will rise to 20 cents beginning Sunday, November 1, when new postage rates go into effect, Postmaster Ann McDorman said this week.

The 20 cent first-class rate and increases for other classes of mail, approved last month by the Governors of the Postal Service, take effect at 12:01 a.m. local time on November 1.

"However," Postmaster McDorman said, "customers should not wait until next month to make their stamp purchases. Now is the time to buy to avoid unnecessary lines once the new rates become effective."

A new "C" stamp is on sale at the local post office. The stamp bears the letter "C" instead of a denomination and has a postage value of 20 cents, the new rate for one ounce of first-class domestic mail.

The brown and white stamp features an eagle with the legend "US Postage" beneath it. The letter "C" appears beside the eagle.

Also included in the design are the words "Domestic Mail" to remind mailers of its intended use.

"The 'C' stamp cannot be used on international mail," Postmaster Ann McDorman cautioned. "Mail destined for foreign countries and bearing 'C' stamps will be returned to the senders."

The "C" stamp is available in sheets, coils, and booklets. Embossed stamped envelopes, bearing a "C" in lieu of the 20 cent denomination, also are on sale. A nondenominated postal card, also available, sells for 13 cents, the new postal card rate.

"Any remaining supply of 18-cent stamps that mailers have on hand may, of course, be used," Postmaster McDorman said, "as long as they are combined with one or two-cent stamps to meet the new first class rate."

"An ample supply of these lesser-value stamps are on hand," Postmaster McDorman said.

"There should be no shortage of stamps and no long lines at our offices if customers begin making their purchases now," she added.

More water!

Winters firemen battled a raging fire last week until they ran out of water. The frame home, known as the old Curry Place, on the Drasco Road was completely destroyed by the blaze. There were no injuries, but all the belongings inside the home were destroyed. When firemen arrived flames were evident through the roof. The fire apparently started on a sleeping porch on the south side of the structure.

Commissioners approve salary increase for JP

The Runnels County Commissioners, in their regular meeting last week, gave their approval to a $50 per month salary increase for Justice of the Peace J.C. Hodnett.

Judge Hodnett had requested a pay increase of $100 but received only half that amount.

In other business the commissioners tabled a request from the Ballinger Industrial Committee seeking help from the county in hauling fill material to the construction site of a new industry in Ballinger. Commissioner Robert Virden made the motion to table the request in order for the county to consult with the county attorney on the legal aspects of the request. The Kent Company is building a plant on the west side of Ballinger and the Industrial Committee was asking that the county to help by hauling caliche or gravel to get the building site in shape for construction.

The Commissioners also tabled a suggestion from Bob McDaniel, operator of the ambulance service in Ballinger, to locate an old ambulance in the City of Miles. McDaniel told the commissioners that he would train the emergency personnel to operate the ambulance as well as help to provide the necessary equipment for the vehicle.

The Commissioners approved the bond for James S. (Bud) Everett as County Treasurer, and gave approval to purchase a Minolta copy machine for the County Auditor's office. The purchase of a new lawn mower was approved. Winters Farm Equipment was awarded the bid that called for the trade in of the old mower plus $1989 for the new mower.

New members were named to the Runnels County Child Welfare Board by the commissioners. The new members include Jane Allcorn and the Rev. Larry Keene of Winters, Dottie Smith, Marie Stone and John McGregor of Ballinger, Maxine Pritchard of Wingate, and Chairman Carol Asbill of Miles.

The commissioners agreed to advertise for the purchase of a new car for the sheriff's department and called for the bids to be opened in the January 12, 1982 meeting of the Commissioners Court.

Commissioner Robert Virden was named to be a member of the Police investigating local stabbing, assaults

Winters Police say one man was hospitalized last week with knife wounds and several assault charges were filed during the past week.

Onofre Ortiz was rushed by ambulance to North Runnels Hospital where he was treated for knife wounds to the abdomen. The injuries were received in a fight late last week. Police say the victim refused to identify his assailant and so far no charges have been filed.

Police say that a total of seven assault charges have been filed in the past week. Five charges of simple assault were filed as the result of a disturbance last Wednesday morning near the Post Office. Also four charges of disorderly conduct were filed in connection with the affray.

Two more charges of simple assault were filed after an incident in the 100 block of Roberts street Saturday night. Police said that that incident sent one man to the hospital with minor injuries.

In other activity police responded to a number of calls involving family disturbances and five citations were issued for speeding, two of them for excessive acceleration.

Council OK's new fire radios

The Winters City Council Monday gave approval to the purchase of two radios for use by the fire department. The new radios will replace an old radio in one of the fire trucks and one in the 'swat wagon', the department's support vehicle. The present radios are old, and do not work properly and have caused a break-down in communications several times. The new radios will be purchased from an Abilene firm at a cost of about $550.

An increase of $100 per month was granted to Municipal Court Judge J.D. Hodnett. The judge had requested increase after being offered a position in another community. Council members noted that Hodnett was on call 24 hours a day and that his office was the only one in the city that brought in more money than it cost to operate.

After a lengthy discussion the council referred back to the city administrator and the city attorney a new set of rules governing the community center and a new lease for use of the center. The council noted a need for definitions of some of the terms of the contract and a need to further refine the proposed new rules of the center. The council was in full agreement that an increase in the amount charged for the use of the center was needed to at least allow the city to meet the expenses of maintaining the center and to cover the utilities.

The council approved an ordinance increasing retirement benefits for city employees through the Texas Municipal Retirement System. City Administrator Glenn Brown said that under the new plan, the retirement benefits for an employee would be based on the rate of pay during the most recent years which would mean larger retirement benefits..

No action was taken on a proposed no parking zone near the Dairy Queen on North Main Street. The council said that a public hearing would be set in mid-November on the issue. The no parking zone was requested by Winters School officials who said that trucks and other vehicles parking parallel in front of the restaurant blocked the view of autos attempting to turn on to Main from two side streets and created a hazard.

After a brief executive session, the council gave its approval to bidding on a used fire truck to be auctioned by the City of Odessa. The city administrator said that members of the fire department would inspect the vehicle before the bid is submitted to see if it would meet the needs of the fire department. City Administrator Brown said that the vehicle would have to be eligible for certification by the state for a 20 year period in order for it to be acceptable to the city.

The fire truck is one of a number of vehicles and other equipment owned by the City of Odessa and will be offered on the auction block in a couple of weeks.

New state law to require liability insurance proof

Starting January 1, 1982, Texas drivers contacted by Department of Public Safety Highway Patrol Troopers during traffic stops and accident investigations will be required to furnish proof of compliance with the new compulsory liability law.

Under House Bill 197, an amendment to the Safety Responsibility Act, all drivers must carry minimum liability coverage for bodily injury expenses ($10,000 per person, $20,000 for two or more persons), and property damage ($5,000).

Col. Jim Adams, DPS director, said, "Troopers will accept as proof of insurance coverage, the policy for the vehicle being operated or the document issued by the insurance company."

"Such a document must contain a statement that the liability coverage for the motor vehicle is the minimum prescribed by law," Adams said. "The document must also include the name of the insurance company, the name of the insured person, the policy period, and the policy number." The document can be either a letter or a card depending on the preference of the insurance company.

The DPS director said he did not expect Highway Patrol Troopers to stop vehicles just to check for the insurance coverage, that troopers will be enforcing the 55 MPH speed limit and possible criminal activities. "At traffic stops," Col. Adams said, "troopers will check for a valid driver's license along with a computer check for driver's license history and outstanding arrest warrants. Also to be checked is the motor vehicle inspection sticker, the registration validation sticker on the license plate, and the proof of liability insurance." Adams also said that driver's license officers will not administer the driving test unless the applicant has the proof of insurance at the time of testing.

Local police officers and sheriff's deputies also have the authority to request this information from drivers. Col. Adams said, "I am sure most law enforcement agencies in our state will also be enforcing this statute in their respective jurisdictions."

Drivers who do not maintain the specified coverage risk being fined at least $75 for the first offense and a minimum of $200 for subsequent violations. In addition, a conviction under this new law will result in the suspension of the violator's driver's license and motor vehicle registration unless the violator establishes and maintains proof of financial responsibility for five years from the conviction date.

The DPS director predicted that more Texans will obtain the required liability coverage when the new law goes into effect.

"Current figures show that approximately 74 per cent of the drivers involved in accidents carry liability insurance," Adams said. "This indicates that a substantial number of people must secure the required coverage or face the possibility of heavy fines and the loss of driving privileges."

Out-of-state, government owned, and self insured vehicles are exempt from the insurance requirements of the new law. However, drivers of self-insured vehicles will be asked by DPS officers to produce evidence of self-insurance.

C of C needs lease info

The Winters Area Chamber of Commerce is in need of the names of persons who have land to lease for hunting.

Naida Barker at the Chamber office says that she has been contacted by a number of persons and companies in other areas who want to lease land for hunting deer, quail, and turkey.

Mrs. Barker says that both season leases and day leases are needed.

Anyone having land to lease and would like to list it with the Chamber is asked to call Naida Barker at the Chamber of Commerce office at 754-5210. It would also be helpful to know if the landowner would like to lease by the day, week, or season and if for deer, turkey or quail.

Editorial by Kerry S. Craig

Was quite pleased to learn the city is looking into the purchase of another fire truck. They need it or something to haul a lot of water in.

At a house fire late last week the fire department responded with their rural truck and another truck to fight the blaze and upon their arrival called for the county water truck to bring more water. By the time the county water truck was filled both fire trucks had exhausted their supplies of water and the house was being rapidly consumed by flames after the fire had almost been contained.

One fire truck found a place to take on more water and returned to the fire by the time the county water truck arrived. By then there was no chance to save anything but the lot and the owner suggested it go ahead and burn completely since it was already gutted.

The two fire trucks that responded to the fire carried a total of about 1200 gallons of water and that is not a lot when fighting a roaring house fire.

It would add to the safety of our community and make the job of fighting fires a bit easier if the firemen knew there was adequate water to fight a fire when no fire plugs were close by. It could be the deciding factor in saving a life.

Reports from Washington

Anwar El-Sadat 1918-1981

I grieve in the loss of Anwar Sadat, for he was a man I greatly admired, a personal hero, a man of rare vision in a world sadly lacking leaders of selfless courage.

In a relatively short time he has done more than most people would have thought possible to bring his people toward the benefits of the twentieth century and, more recently, to bring peace to his part of the world.

It is sadly ironic that Sadat, a worthy Nobel laureate of peace, died in uniform at a parade of the weapons that sustained his dream.

But Sadat, the man, never lost sight of his dream, of his destiny. I well remember the first time that I met President Sadat in one of those formal White House occasions where one can expect, at best, only a fleeting encounter. But I will never forget those moments. Although a slight man, he had about him a commanding physical presence, an aura of confidence, a quiet noble elegance of carriage. Then, there was the voice, at one moment full of strength and defiance; at another, soothing and reflective of inner serenity. One cannot always define greatness, but you can recognize it when you see it. Sadat was.

As we pause and reflect on this fallen world leader I am reminded of Sadat's own words that his life and that of the Egypt he loved and died for was mainly the story of a search for identity. They were one and the same because from his childhood he identified himself with his country, the land and the people.

He saw his life as a journey in search of identity.

He was a son of the fertile Egyptian soil and the honor and independence of Egypt were the purpose of his life.

As a soldier, political leader and world figure Sadat was always the consummate nationalist. Until he was struck down by assassins' bullets, he led a life as rich in drama, daring, intrigue and fame as any political leader in modern times.

Sadat showed in his 11 years of ruling Egypt that he had staying power, political skill and an ability that transformed him into a world statesman so vividly manifested when he paid his historic visit to Jerusalem in his search for peace.

Now with his sudden and violent death many questions about the future of Egypt and its role in the world are beginning to be raised in this saddened capital and in many other countries.

Let us hope that the legacy of peace he wanted will be, in time, chisled out of the monument he leaves to his people and his region. Recall for a moment his words at the White House peace treaty signing in 1979 between Israel and Egypt:

"In all the steps I took I was not performing a personal mission. I was merely expressing the will of a nation. I am proud of my people and of belonging to them. Today, a new dawn is emerging out of the darkness of the past.

"Let us work together until the day comes when they beat their swords into plowshares and their spears into pruning hooks."

It was the special genius of Sadat that he made people believe the historian Thomas Carlyle's observation that "the history of the world is but the biography of great men." Mr. Sadat did not just make peace with Israel, he made himself the personification of it.

Just as Sadat in his life gave an impetus to peace and reconciliation, we would hope that the region's remaining leaders will be challenged by his death to undertake new efforts to negotiate and compromise.

In my judgment, he is the greatest world leader I will ever know. But life must go on. His physical being is no longer with us but his spirit, courage, determination and sense of purpose must prevail and become a lasting epitaph.

NEWS OF HEALTH

Your Blood Has a Story to Tell

There's a lot of information about you and your health in just a few drops of your blood. There are many reasons why one of the first things a hospital does after you're admitted is take a blood sample. You may never learn to love the needle, but taking a small amount of blood to determine your blood type, and to conduct necessary tests, won't hurt you. Your blood is living tissue, just like your brain or skin, and it undergoes constant change. One source estimates that even in a healthy person, some one million red blood cells are destroyed every second. Fortunately, you're well-equipped to replace those cells. Blood is a distributing agent. It carries food and oxygen to all parts of the body. Blood is also a good communicator. Through various blood tests, doctors and technicians can learn a great deal about your liver, kidneys and spleen. Blood yields clues about your heart. It reveals disorders or diseases of the blood itself.

A vast amount of vital information is contained in just a few drops of your blood.

Automation is helping speed up the process of learning what your blood has to tell about your physical condition. Manual methods of analyzing blood are becoming outmoded as new, automated equipment performs tests in a fraction of the time with greater accuracy. As the adage says, time is money. This increased efficiency helps laboratories and hospitals control their costs. You benefit with a faster diagnosis which can lead to a speedier recovery, saving you both time and money.

Jerry Lackey's Country Folk

Well, the fall rains finally arrived! Glenn Richardson, an Edwards County ranchman, said it was like the old days of being marooned in the country, when 15 inches of rain came in a matter of hours last week.

Walter Pfluger reported 17 inches on his ranch, south of Rocksprings.

Over five inches fell west of Junction, according to my day, Stanley Lackey, and "all the water gaps washed out." Copperas Creek was on a rise of perhaps six feet over the road.

Bill Shurley of Marfa, said the Highland Country and Big Bend received a good soaking rain last week.

Andy Smith said his ranch at Big Lake and the one in Water Valley received good rains. John Dublin reported good rains at Barnhart.

Rain gauges ran over on many ranches, in pastures, near windmills and pens, so it's hard to know for sure how much some areas received, but one thing's for sure...West Texas for the most part did receive general rains.

Like every good rain before, this one caused some jubilation at the livestock market centers. Feeder lambs were from $2 to $4 higher in San Angelo at Producers.

At the Lampasas market center, feeder steers and bulls were quoted firm to $1 higher, with heifers mostly $1 lower, slaughter cows steady to $1 higher and cow-calf pairs steady.

At Junction Stockyards in a special sale, steer calves and yearlings were from $2 to $4 higher, with heifers calves steady to strong. Co-owner Willard Jordan spoke of "choice light steers ranging from $70 to $78 and a few at $80, with medium weights $70 to $72.50. We sold some heavy calves from $62 to $68 and steer yearlings from $60 to $64."

Jordan reports a pen of five Hereford steer yearlings sold by Henry Keyser, Jr. of Mason weighing 615 pounds bringing $63.25 cwt. Another lot offered by the Bratton Ranch of Rochelle, five Brangus crosses averaging 623 went for $6.25 cwt.

Jack and Nancy Walker of Junction sold five Brangus, 577 pounds, for $61.75 cwt. A pen of five Angus heifer calves from the Rafter B Ranch in Kimble County, weighing 437 pounds each brought $50 cwt.

Another special sale of interest to all, would include the Isa Cattle Company's sixth annual Beefmaster sale in San Angelo recently. Laurie Lasater, owner, states "it was the largest offering of bulls in our history, to sell for the highest average price, since the fall ale event was originated. A total of 150 bulls averaged $2,206 per head, going to buyers from five states and Mexico.

So things are beginning to look up in the ranching business!

FFA Sweetheart

It's time again to change time again...again

Here we go again, 2 a.m. Sunday morning marks the end of this year's edition of day-light savings time.

The best way to handle this is to simply set your clocks back one hour before you retire for the evening. That way you can make it to the church on time Sunday.

Now with most conventional clocks and watches and time pieces it is a very simple procedure to make this change, but for those of us who have fallen victim to digital clocks and watches it is another story, we have to dig out the instruction books and search through page after page until we can find just how to set the time back one hour without fouling up the date, the stop watch, the alarm, the whatever else these electronic marvels do.

Don't worry about losing that hour, it is the same one we gained last spring and unless congress decides to change the time, go to day light savings time year round, or do away with it altogether, we will gain the hour back next spring.

Road fund nets county $97,153.34

State Treasurer Warren G. Harding announced last week that $25,770,675.15 will be distributed to the 254 Texas counties. These funds are the Lateral Road Fund administered by the State Treasurer's office as allocated by the sixty-seventh legislature.

The Runnels County allocation is $97,153.34, and the funds will be used for the construction and improvement of county roads. The lateral road fund is comprised of monies derived from gasoline taxes collected at the pump. The county allocations are based on the county square mile area, the rural population and the county lateral road mileage. Expenditures of the funds are reported by the counties to the State Treasurer.

Treasurer Harding stated that the distribution includes money appropriated for fiscal years 1980, 1981 and 1982, as well as interest earned on these funds. The 1982 funds are being distributed now rather than at the completion of the fiscal year.

Pfc. T. Garcia stationed at Camp LeJeune

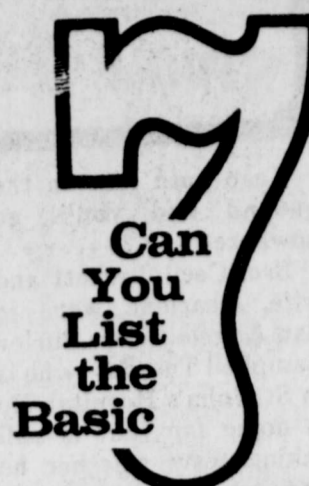

Marine Pfc. Tony Garcia, son of Mr. and Mrs. Tony Garcia of Winters, has recently completed recruit training at the Marine Corps Recruit Depot in San Diego, and is now stationed at Camp LeJeune, North Carolina.

During his 11-week training cycle, he learned the basics of battlefield survival. He was introduced to the typical daily routine that he will experience during his enlistment and studied the personal and professional standards traditionally exhibited by Marines.

He participated in an active physical conditioning program and gained proficiency in a variety of military skills, including first aid, rifle marksmanship and close order drill. Teamwork and self-discipline were emphasized throughout the training cycle.

He became Private 1st Class during boot camp.

Tony is the grandson of Mrs. Ophelia Lopez of Winters and Mrs. Antonia Garcia of Yorktown, and is also a 1981 graduate of Winters High School.

Never let your children lean over closely to the candles as these children are doing. Hair or clothing could easily catch fire.

Have an adult place the candles on the cake and light them. If an older child lights the candles, an adult should watch. Always watch for full sleeves or other parts of clothing that could catch on fire and keep them away from lit candles. The candles should be placed firmly so they can't fall over and start a fire. The candles should be near the center of the cake so children can't get burned by sitting or standing near the cake. The candles should be blown out quickly.

Keep young children well away from the candles when the candles are lit. Follow these suggestions, and you're more likely to follow the wishes of Snuffy® and all your friends and have a HAPPY BIRTHDAY!

Proposition Five is positive step

When the interpretation of our state Constitution causes inequities and more problems than aids, it is time to change or clarify that law. Such is the case concerning Proposition Five, one of seven proposed Constitutional Amendments on the November 3 ballot.

The Texas Constitution says, in part, "farm products in the hands of the producer are exempt from all taxation." We agree with this concept, both in theory and practice, as it tends to hold down production costs for food. However, a 1976 Texas Attorney General's opinion held that neither livestock nor poultry constituted "farm products" and were therefore subject to property (ad valorem) taxation.

Some taxing entities, such as school districts, have imposed a tax on some livestock and poultry. Others have not. Some have studied the situation and, because of the difficulty of accurately counting livestock on the open range, have concluded that it would cost them more to administer the program than they would receive in additional tax revenues.

At the very least, an inequity exists when some producers are taxed while others are not.

At most, this is an important consumer issue. Approval of Proposition Five will mean that no meat producers will be taxed for either livestock or poultry, thereby decreasing their cost of production. In the long run, this is one positive step we can take which will help hold the line on increases in the cost of groceries we all buy.

For those school districts who decry losing these revenues, we point out that when their state aid formula is adjusted to omit livestock, on the average, they will be compensated for one-half the lost revenues, and some will even gain more revenues than they lose. In addition, this inequitable tax, as now applied, amounts to only an insignificant one-fourth of one percent of total revenues. In the final analysis, no one truly gains when revenues are generated by means which are not universally applied.

Surely it is worth it to all just-minded Texans to approve a measure which will assure fair, equitable taxation for all food producers.

We strongly urge you to go to the polls November 3 and vote FOR Proposition Five.

Effective Self-Medication

Patient: Heal Thyself (Sometimes)

Intelligent self-treatment has a major role in health care today, notes consumer leader Sarah Newman. We can neither afford, nor do we have access to, unlimited professional health care for our minor ailments.

American consumers now spend more than $5 billion per year for nonprescription medicines. Under Secretary for the Department of Health and Human Services Nathan Stark said at a recent symposium on self-medication, "9 percent of these expenditures are for drugs, and of that only one dollar in three is paid for nonprescription products. That may seem like a small fraction, but the proper use of over-the-counter drugs yields a huge saving by enabling people to manage for themselves minor health problems that might otherwise result in an unnecessary visit to a doctor or hospital." A recent study indicated that 98 percent of American adults know they should read the labels on nonprescription drugs before taking them, reports The Proprietary Association—a trade association representing the manufacturers of nonprescription medicines.

Pediatric expert Dr. Jay M. Arena suggested that parents and other responsible adults see themselves as captains of the child health-care team, using their physician as coach. They should become more knowledgeable and adept at self-medication. (For more information, write for The Proprietary Association's booklet, Medicine Labels and You—1700 Pa. Ave., N.W., Washington, D.C. 20006, attn: Public Affairs. Please include 25 cents for handling.)

Son of Pioneer Family Returns Home

Carroll Bell returned to Texas from Placerville, California in February. He is living in the Housing Project at 312 North Grant.

He continued living in the same house after his wife died in 1977, but the loneliness soon became too much for him. His neighbors all worked and the only time he saw anyone was when he went to the grocery store and to the post office twice a week.

When he called his son, Jones, and told him that he was leaving, Jones rushed over to see what was the matter. But he complied with his father's wishes and helped him move back to Texas.

"I came back looking for something and I haven't found it, yet," said Mr. Bell. "Nothing looks the same, most of the old landmarks are gone and I've seen only three or four people that I remember."

He drove out to his parents' farm, 2 1/2 miles east of town, and said that it didn't look the same. Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Bell came to Runnels County from Bell County in 1899 and bought the farm. Carroll was one year old at the time.

After Mr. Bell retired from farming, the family moved to Winters and lived in a house across the street from the First Baptist Church. The house has now been torn down.

Carroll attended school here and served in the army during World War I. He was in Battery C of the Coast Artillery in Galveston and went overseas with TMB's (Trench Mortar Battalions).

Returning home, he was married to Luda Jones of Ballinger August 17, 1920. The couple lived in Winters where he was employed at the City Drug and at the H. H. Hardin Lumberyard before they moved to Ballinger in 1930. He worked on a ranch.

The Bells started going to California in 1941 for his wife's health, and when she was better of her allergies they returned to Ballinger. However, they moved to California permanently in 1950.

There is 10 years difference in the ages of the Bell's two sons, Jones, the older, grew up in Ballinger, and Bob in California. Both sons were in the Navy, Jones in the second World War and Bob in the Vietnam War.

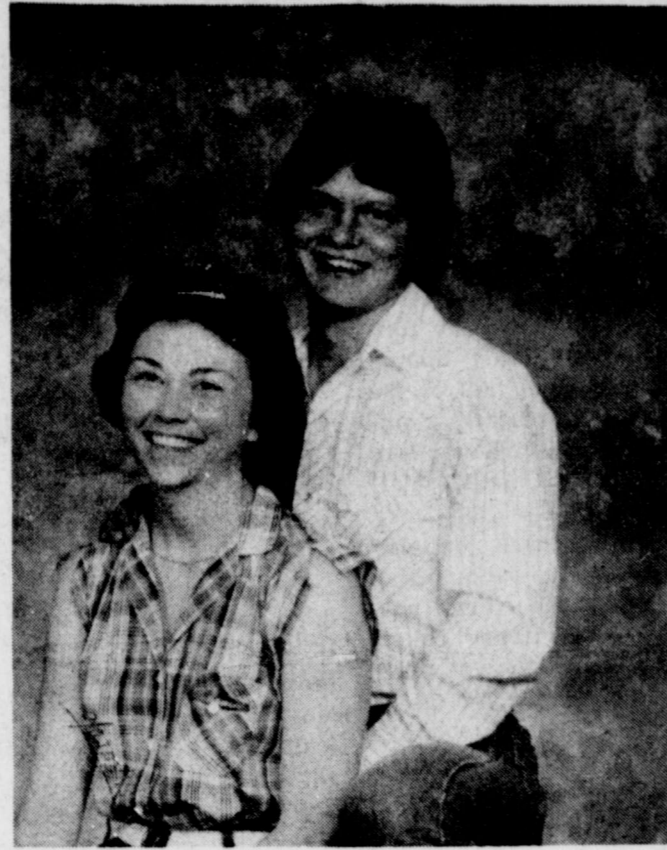

Jones is now construction superintendent for a company in Sacramento. He is married and has two children. Bob and his wife are missionaries in Guadalajara, Mexico. They have three children.

When they first went to California, the Bells lived at Richmond where Carroll was employed in the shipyard a year or two before World War II. His principal work was with the Douglas Aircraft Company.

They lived in the same area but in several different towns before going to Placerville. They had homes in Fresno, Long Beach, Anaheim, Compton, Bell Flower, and Lakewood.

There is one bit of history that is of interest. Carroll's sister, Lottie Alice, was married to Lonnie Hoyt Suggs in the first church built by the Baptists. It was the first marriage held in the "new" church and took place on Sunday, September 20, 1908 at 4:30 p.m. The Rev. L. S. Smith officiated. Mrs. T. W. Murray provided music; Miss Kate Speer and Mr. Lawrence Roberts "stood up" with the bridal couple.

We welcome Carroll Bell back to the old home town and hope he soon feels at home.

Cindy Cargal, Steven Hall to marry in December

Miss Cindy Marie Cargal and Mr. Steven Wayne Hall will be married December 4 at 7 p.m. at Immanuel Baptist Church in Abilene.

The bride-elect is the daughter of Mrs. Bonnie Elkins of Abilene. The prospective bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. James D. Hall of Winters and Mrs. Jeanette Arnold of Bay, Arkansas. He is the grandson of Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Spears of Malvern, and the late Mr. and Mrs. Troy Holt of Bay, Ark.

Miss Cargal is a graduate of Clyde High School and is employed by Piggly Wiggly in Abilene.

Hall is a graduate of Winters High School and is employed also by Piggly Wiggly of Abilene.

The couple plan to make their home in Abilene.

Nursing Home

Our calendar for Oct., Nov., and Dec. is filling up with activities that those of us who live here can enjoy.

Margurite Mathis brought our Columbus Day Party with a story, a quiz, and patriotic music. Some of us were surprised at how much (or how little) history we could remember.

The Winters String Band comes to our home each 2nd Friday night, and Melba and Joe Emmert play the organ for us on the 3rd Friday night.

Our Halloween Party is being planned for Friday evening, Oct. 30, from 6 to 7 o'clock. Prizes will be awarded to the best costumes, and the most ugly face. Refreshments will be served to all, and families and friends of the residents and personnel are invited.

Three new residents have come to live in our home. They are Minnie T. Weems, Chester A. Wilkerson, and Mike Krause. We hope their stay with us can be a pleasant one.

Fumble

One of the mistakes that doomed the Blizzards.

Winters 6
Jim Ned 29

The Winters Blizzards played what was probably their best football game of the year last week against the Jim Ned Indians, according to coach Dan Slaughter. The Blizzards completely dominated the first half of the game statistically, but found themselves trailing at the end of the first half 7-0.

The Blizzard defense held Jim Ned to four first downs in the first half while the offense rolled up nine first downs. The Blizzards, however, gave up a 64 yard touchdown run to the Indians and then fumbled while they were on the Jim Ned one yard line to scratch a scoring opportunity.

The ball game was very physical, both teams were hitting hard and numerous players were in on every tackle. It was the big plays by Jim Ned and the crucial mistakes by the Blizzards that spelled doom for the Blue.

Winters had seven turnovers, four pass interceptions and lost three fumbles, which caused the game to get completely out of reach for the Blizzards.

The Blizzards trailed 15-0 when Ronnie Lujano scored from the two yard line. The point-after try failed leaving the score at the end of the third quarter 15-6 in favor of the Jim Ned Indians.

Coach Dan Slaughter said, "The fourth quarter saw Winters making too many mistakes and Jim Ned added another 14 points to the score to take the win."

The head coach said, "The Blizzards played hard and never gave up in their efforts to try to win the game. Blizzard fans should be proud of the effort their team showed during the contest." The Blizzards have Baird, Hamlin, and Anson left to play this season. "The team has a goal now to try and finish the year at 5-5, they are now 2-5," Coach Slaughter said.

Coach Slaughter invited everyone to attend the games to help the Blizzards as they continue their rebuilding of the Blizzard Pride of past years.

The Blizzards play the Baird Bears this Friday at home. Baird has one loss in district play, but this game should be a good match-up and a thriller to the final second.

STRAIGHT TALK on Teeth

A PUBLIC SERVICE OF THE AMERICAN ASSOCIATION OF ORTHODONTISTS

THE THUMB AND ORTHODONTICS

X-rays have shown that babies sometimes begin thumb-sucking even before birth.

Thumb sucking during infancy may be considered normal and usually stops at about 1 1/2 to 2 years. Up to 3 1/2 or 4 years this habit usually isn't considered a serious orthodontic problem.

So far, so good.

But, if around age 5 a child continues prolonged and intense thumb sucking, the habit may disturb the pliable bone structure of his or her mouth. This, in turn, may cause permanent tooth buds (which are developing beneath the "baby teeth") to be pushed forward. If this happens, the permanent upper front teeth, which usually appear about age 6 1/2 or 7, may come in out of place.

If the thumb sucking habit persists, parents are advised to consult an orthodontist who will recommend a method of treatment to break the habit. The orthodontist will also be able to determine whether the teeth or jaws have been adversely affected by the habit.

In some cases, he may recommend early treatment to reduce the severity of the problem. This early treatment may prevent the need for more extensive orthodontic treatment as a teenager or adult.

There are two basic causes of crooked, crowded or poorly-aligned teeth. One of these is heredity—a cause that doesn't lend itself to prevention. The other is habits such as thumb sucking. In this instance, your orthodontist can help.

To learn more about thumb sucking and orthodontics, you are invited to write to The American Association of Orthodontists, 460 North Lindbergh Blvd., Saint Louis, MO 63141, asking for the free booklet, "It's Just a Habit."

Hints For Homeowners

HOME IMPROVEMENT, SAFETY AND ECONOMY KEEPING TOOLS SHARP

Before you start on this season's fix-up projects, it's a sharp idea to consider this fact: sharp cutting tools are not only faster and easier to use, they are also safer. Because dull blades on cutting tools have to be pushed harder, they are more likely to slip.

These hints on sharpening are from Cooper the Toolmaker, the maker of such quality tools as Boker knives, Wiss snips and Nicholson saws and files.

To sharpen most hand tools you'll need only a ten-inch Home and Garden file. For heavy-duty work, a grinding wheel and an oilstone may be necessary.

The cutting edge on a wood chisel or plane blade has a bevel ground along one edge. When sharpening, the cutting edge is filed or ground to the original shape of that angle or bevel.

Mastering the knack of maintaining a uniform angle against the tool blade isn't difficult, though it may take some practice. Before starting to sharpen the tool, study its bevel. Then, apply the file, or place the tool at the proper angle against the grinding wheel and maintain this angle.

Once you master the knack of sharpening tools, it's a snap!

With a sharpening file, you're now done. If using a grinding wheel, next lubricate an oilstone with a liberal amount of oil and let it soak in. Place the beveled face of the blade flat against the stone, then lift the handle slightly until the edge is in full contact with the stone. Move the tool back and forth with even strokes without varying the angle of contact. Do this first on the coarser side of the stone, then on the fine side.
