Gunfire injures one, ends high speed chase

One Ballinger man was wounded early Sunday morning by law officers near Coleman at a road block set up to stop a reported stolen vehicle that already had run two road blocks near Winters and eluded officers on a 100 mile-per-hour chase from south of Winters to the city limits of Coleman.

The two men were taken into custody on charges of unauthorized use of a motor vehicle after leading Runnels County officers on a chase in a stolen car from just west of Ballinger to the city limits of Coleman.

Sheriff Hershall Hall said that a 1963 car was reported as being stolen from Dale's Lounge on U.S. 67 west of Ballinger just before 1 a.m. Sunday morning. Hall said the car, belonging to Eddie Ortega of Winters, was thought to have been taken from the nightspot by two men.

Sheriffs officers along with Winters and Ballinger police officers were notified of the stolen car and Sheriff Hall and deputy Hal Jones spotted the suspect car headed toward Winters near Hatchel on the old Winters highway. The sheriff said that the driver of the stolen car did not stop when the red lights on the patrol car were turned on along with the siren. The sheriff then contacted Winters patrolmen Tom Allen and Dick Ryan to advise them he was in pursuit of the stolen vehicle and was approaching the south Winters city limits.

The Winters officers then attempted to block the highway and stop the suspect vehicle. The car broke that roadblock and turned onto the Coleman highway at a high rate of speed.

With both the sheriff and Winters officers now in the chase the speeds approached 100 miles per hour. Deputies Odell Denton and Moe Salinas along with Ballinger police officer Joe West proceeded across a different road in hopes of intercepting the fleeing vehicle at Crews.

Authorities in Coleman were notified of the high speed pursuit and dispatched officers to highway 53 just west of Coleman to set up a road block to stop the vehicle.

As the stolen car and its occupants attempted to run the Coleman roadblock, officers opened fire on the car blowing out the left front tire, the radiator, the rear window, and leaving several other bullet holes in the car. Sheriff Hall said that the driver of the car, Steven Richards of Ballinger was wounded in the left shoulder with a slug from a .45 cal. weapon when officers opened fire on the fleeing car.

A passenger in the stolen car, Joseph Gomez of Ballinger, attempted to flee officers on foot after the car was finally stopped and was quickly captured.

The two men were first taken to the Coleman Police Department and then transferred to the Runnels County Jail in Ballinger. Officers said that after it was learned that Richards had been wounded, he was rushed to Ballinger Memorial Hospital where he was treated and released before being placed in the county jail.

The Runnels County Sheriff said that both men were charged with unauthorized use of a vehicle and that other charges against the pair are pending. Hall said that the cases would be presented to the next session of the Runnels County Grand Jury.

Coleman County officers participating in the capture of the two were Deputy Sheriff Wade Turner, Police Captain Billy Faries, and patrolman Mark Phillips.

Winters girls to Vegas for competition

Three Winters girls were crowned during the Texas State Our Little Miss Pageant and the Universal Beauty Pageant, both held in Corpus Christi last week, and all eight girls who attended from Runnels County took honors entitling them to advance to national competition in Las Vegas in August.

Sherry McKnight, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Troy McKnight of Winters, was named the Texas State Talent Winner for her vocal solo. Sherry also took a trophy for first place in Command Performance during the early stages of competition, with her performance of "The Rose".

Jennifer Matthews, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jim Matthews of Winters, took the crown for the Miss La Petite division in the Universal Beauty Pageant, and also placed first alternate to the crown in the La Petite pageant.

Jennifer Harrison, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Phil Harrison of Winters, received the "mini-crown" in the Our Little Miss pageant, and was first alternate to the crown in the Universal Beauty Pageant. Jennifer was also named Most Photogenic in the Our Little Miss division.

Janya Jackson and Stacey Lindemann, both of Ballinger, both placed in the top ten of the Our Little Miss groups, with Stacey Lindemann receiving the award for the best 8-year-old.

Sarah Meeker, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Danny Meeker of Winters, was first alternate to the crown in the Miss La Petite Division of Universal Beauty.

J'Lynn Russell, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Tommy Russell of Winters, placed in the top ten of Universal Beauty Ideal Miss, and also received an award for best 14-year-old.

Jackye Connor, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Michael Connor of Winters, placed in the top ten in both the Ideal Miss and the Universal Beauty Ideal Miss pageants. Jackye also received the first place trophies for pro-am modeling (evening gown), and for Command Performance Baton.

The girls will be competing in Las Vegas in National Competition August 2 through August 6.

Runnels County graduates receive Carr scholarships

A number of 1982 graduates in Runnels County are among over 150 West Texas area high school graduates who have been named as Carr Academic Scholarship recipients for 1982-83 at Angelo State University in San Angelo.

The 1982-83 figures are part of approximately 325 enrolling freshmen and 350 currently enrolled students at ASU who will benefit from the near $1 million in academic scholarships provided by the Robert G. and Nona K. Carr Scholarship Foundation.

The 1982-83 figures are the largest totals ever expended in a scholarship program at ASU. Last year, the Carr Program produced an excess of $400,000 in awards.

Students selected for the scholarship program were chosen from approximately 1,200 candidates and awards were based on the student's academic achievements, extracurricular activities and financial need.

The scholarship program was founded in 1978 by the late Robert G. Carr to provide assistance to students pursuing their education at ASU.

The scholarship awards for 1982-83 ranged in value from $600 to $3,000. The awards are for a period of one academic year with half the award to be given in the fall semester and the other half for the spring semester, provided the student maintains at least a "B" average on all academic work.

Area graduates who received the Carr Scholarships included William R. Austin, Winters, $600; Jerry L. Davis, Winters, $1,500; Tawnya C. Murray, Winters, $2,000; Donnie R. Daily, Wingate, $600.

Justice Bob Shannon agreed with the LCRA and filed a dissenting opinion.

The project, which would serve a 17-county area including the cities of San Angelo, Midland, Odessa, Stanton, Snyder, and Big Spring, has already been held up for three years because of legal battles.

LCRA attorney Fred Werken was attending the state bar convention and was not available for comment, but he has said in the past that the case "almost certainly" would go to the Texas Supreme Court.

Rate hike advised for General Telephone

General Telephone Company's $110.6 million rate-hike request will be cut to $49.1 million if a hearings examiner's report is adopted next month by the Public Utility Commission.

Released last Wednesday, the report recommends rates for most cities that are within a few cents of those that went into effect June 4 as part of GenTel's so-called bonded rates.

A utility is allowed to institute new rates under bond if the PUC has not reached a final decision on its rate request within four months.

A major portion of the increase is expected to come from customers served by Extended Area Service—the ability to phone nearby cities or communities without paying long-distance rates.

Currently, the additional cost of such services is figured into one monthly charge and spread among all rate-payers, GenTel officials said.

The phone company, however, wants to begin charging separately only those customers who use Extended Area Service, and commission hearings examiner Jacqueline Holmes has agreed with that concept.

"Extended Area Service (EAS) costs more to provide and it is reasonable that those exchanges which do not have EAS should not be required to subsidize those which do," Ms. Holmes wrote in her recommendation.

Depending on the size of the customer's city, residential one-party rates under the recommendation would range from $7.60 to $8.10 a month, while one-party business rates would range from $20.20 to $21.40 a month.

On top of that, those cities with Extended Area Service would have to pay an additional charge ranging from $1.25 to $8.80 a month for residential customers and $3.25 to $23.25 per month for businesses.

The more phones in nearby cities or communities that can be reached with a long distance charge, the higher the monthly fee for the Extended Area Service.

For some cities that have the Extended Area Service and are near large metropolitan areas such as Houston, the monthly phone line rate could go as high as $16.90 for residential customers and $44.75 for business customers.

However, a final decision on the rate request will not be made until the three-member commission considers the case in its July 14 meeting.

General Telephone president E.L.(Buddy) Langley declined any extensive comment until he has had an opportunity to study the recommendation.

Langley noted, however, that "when you do your utmost to substantiate an absolute need and the recommendation comes in

(See GTE page 8)

Court upholds GTE decision

The Texas Supreme Court last week upheld a 1980 decision by the Public Utility Commission to trim General Telephone Company's rate of return from 14 to 12.72 percent.

The PUC justified the change by using an accounting principle commonly called "double leveraging." Double leveraging, essentially, is an accounting theory used by the commission to reduce a company's rate of return to reflect actual cost of obtaining working capital from a parent company.

In its appeal, General Telephone claimed the 3rd Court of Appeals made 13 errors in upholding an Austin District Court decision and the commission's ruling.

The Supreme Court made no comment on the phone company's arguments, but merely noted that it could find no reversible error in the lower court rulings.

During the drawn-out legal battle, PUC attorneys argued that if General Telephone had been in the position of having to sell stock to the general public, the commission would have allowed the full 14 percent rate of return.

Winters graduate named marketing representative

Tony Dry has been named Pool Well Servicing Company's marketing representative for its North Central Region, according to Gerald Tinney, vice president of West Texas Operations in San Angelo.

Working out of Pool's regional headquarters in Abilene, Dry is responsible for customer contracts for more than 50 well servicing rigs based in Abilene, Breckenridge, Bridgeport, Mineral Wells, Snyder, and Winters.

A native of Bronte, Dry is a graduate of Winters High School. He joined Pool as a derrick worker in Winters and later assigned to one of two rigs which opened Pool operations in Mineral Wells where he became operations coordinator.

Emergency rules concerning LP-gas vehicles adopted by RRC

The Texas Railroad Commission this week adopted emergency rules to insure that vehicles converted to use LP-gas as fuel are safe. Existing rules regulating conversions were repealed. The new rules become effective immediately.

The popularity of LP-gas vehicles has increased the number of conversions taking place in Texas. Technological advances in the LP-gas industry made existing rules inadequate to protect the public, according to Hugh Keepers, director of the Liquefied Petroleum Gas Division. Twenty four independent school districts, for instance, converted their buses to use LP-gas before the emergency rules were adopted. Existing rules did not take school bus conversions into consideration.

According to Keepers, the new rules equal or exceed standards set by the National Fire Protection Association. In many cases the new minimum standards for equipment are higher than standards under the old rules.

Emergency rules are effective for 120 days. During that time, the Commission will publish the rules in the Texas Register for public comment so that they can be considered for permanent adoption.

Stacy Dam gets go-ahead from appeals court

The Stacy Dam project in Runnels County won the approval last week of the 3rd Court of Appeals, though opponents are expected to take the case to the Texas Supreme Court.

In 1979, the Texas Water Commission granted the Colorado River Municipal Water District a permit to build the dam on the upper Colorado River. The project, near Ballinger, was to have been completed in 1984.

But the Lower Colorado River Authority and other downstream water users dammed up the project in the courts, arguing it would deplete their own water resources.

The permit would allow the water district to impound 554,340 acre-feet of water and use 113,000 acre-feet of water a year. An acre-foot of water equals 325,851 gallons.

After a state district judge in Austin upheld the permit, the LCRA and the other opponents appealed on an argument over the definition of "unappropriated waters."

The commission ruled that "unappropriated waters" does not necessarily mean waters not assigned under other permits, but rather water being used "beneficially."

The trial court and the appeals court agreed.

"If large quantities have in fact not been used, though their permits entitled them perhaps to a larger quantity, and quantities of water have flowed unused into the Gulf of Mexico, that is strong evidence that its use was not economically necessary," the appeals court said.

LCRA and the other downstream users argued that although they were not now using all the water they hold rights to, they might in the future. If the dam were built, they argued the water might not be there when they need

Wisconsin Dells

The Magic Travelers left Canada in a pouring rain. At the border we were asked only if there was anyone on board who was not a U.S. citizen. We said, "We're Texans!" and they let us go without looking at a single proof of citizenship. There was one Californian on the coach, Irene Smalley of Santa Rosa, but we claimed her as she was visiting her friend, Florence Balch of Colman when she embarked.

There were heavy clouds and continued rain all across northern Michigan on the way to Wisconsin. Dean took us on one of his famous "short cuts" over a scenic route through the Hiawatha Forest. Box lunches had been prepared and they were eaten on the shore at Gladstone, Michigan. A cold wind kept many of us on the coach. We reached our destination, the Chula Vista Resort at 4:30 p.m. The name means "Beautiful View", Fred Kominske, the manager told us. He said they had been under construction for the last nine months and much of the lodge was new.

Dinner was late and service was slow in the dining room as an anniversary dinner was being served for a local priest with a large crowd attending. But the food was tasty and after a good night's rest we were ready for a day of sightseeing. That is, all but Mildred Finley who had lived in St. Paul, Minnesota before moving to Rio Concho Manor in 1976. Her son drove over to see her and they spent the day together.

Helen Taylor and I had a chat about Oregon after I learned that she operated a summer resort hotel at oceanside for 27 years, near Tillamook where I often visit my daughter, Jeannine.

Melba Whitehorn said that she lived in Little Rock, Arkansas until 11 years ago when she moved to San Angelo to be near her son who works for General Telephone.

Our tour began Wednesday morning with a visit to the Winnebago Public Indian Museum. The Little Eagle family owns and operates the Dells Indian Center which carries Historic weapons, clothing and beadwork of all kinds. The father is dead but his wife, Bernadine, operates the museum with the help of her sons, Lance and Randy, and daughter, Melanie.

Winters Outlaws take third in two-day Cisco Tourney

The Winters Outlaws traveled to Cisco recently to take third place in a two-day tournament.

The Outlaws defeated the Cisco Old Pro's by a score of 12-6. In the first inning, Winters took a 4-3 lead with Roy Torres, Joe Martinez, Ricky Davis and Kenny young all crossing homeplate.

In the second inning, Cisco took the lead with two runs, while the Outlaws failed to score, making the score 5-4. Ricky Davis and Kenny Young brought in runs during the third inning, bringing the score to 6-5. David Esquivel added a run in the fourth inning, with Cisco also adding a run to make the score 7-6. Fifth inning play liv-

Melanie had just returned home from her travels as Miss Indian America XXVI. Her Indian name, which means Princess Little Eagle, finds her duly qualified to represent the million or more Indian people of this country. She enjoys sports of all kinds and believes physical well-being is as important as mental well-being.

Next on the agenda was a boat tour of the upper Dells on the Wisconsin River. Our boat was the LeRoy Gates and our pilot-guide was John. Our first point of interest was on the east bank, where the swallows make mud nests under the overhanging ledges and occupy them from early May until late August. Their departure is watched with regret as they eat 1 1/2 times their weight in insects. On the right we saw a High Rock that soared 80 feet above our boat. Nature has carved an alligator lying prone on the face of the cliff. Across the river, facing High Rock, is Romance Cliff. Together these towering sentinels form the Gateway to the Upper Dells.

Passing through the Gateway, ahead of us and to our right was Chimney Rock, one of the most unusual rock formations to be found in the Dells area. Chimney Rock stands alone, as if a mason had piled stone upon stone to build a chimney for an outdoor fireplace.

The entire Dells area is covered with a form of sandstone known as Cambrian or Potsdam sandstone. (This sandstone is found in only two other places in the world, Germany and Switzerland). It was deposited here millions of years ago when a large ocean covered most of Wisconsin. As sand and silt settled to the bottom of this ocean, currents and eddies caused it to be deposited in layers of various thicknesses and at varying angles. When the ocean receded, the sand hardened up for the Outlaws with Joe Martinez, Ricky Davis, David Esquivel, and Kenny Young adding up points to widen the lead, 11-6. Final run was made in the 7th inning by Jimmy Guevera to make the final score, 12-6.

The second game played by the Outlaws brought strong competition from the Abilene Eagles. Abilene won 12-2. David Esquivel added the first run for the Outlaws during the second inning. Jack Davis added the final run in the fourth inning.

The third game was taken by the Cisco A's by a score of 10-0. The Outlaws were unable to score, but accounted for 12 hits during the game. The team's next game will be July 11, at the Winters Park against the Abilene Cardinals.

Mrs. Snuffer, 56, is a native of Shep, and has served as Clerk in the Wingate Post Office for 9 1/2 years.

A formal installation will be held at 1 p.m. July 12, and all friends are welcome to attend.

Postmaster selections are made on the basis of merit from a list of qualified candidates submitted to the Sectional Center Manager by a Review Committee. The Review Committee, composed of sectional center director from the same sectional center, a postmaster from the same sectional center, and a sectional center director from a different sectional center, review the applicants for the position and recommend to the sectional center manager into stone, maintaining the angles and giving the appearance of having been tilted at one time or another. This tilted effect is called crossbedding.

Ahead of our boat a green rock cliff formed the profile of an Indian's face and John, our guide, said it was named for Chief Black Hawk who made raids in Wisconsin for two years, 1832-34.

Traveling down the right channel, our guide pointed out the formations jutting out into the water that have been named the Navy Yards because they resemble the bows and sterns of ships. Next was Devil's Elbow, a narrow channel ranging from 50 to 60 feet in width, it takes a sharp 90-degree turn. The loggers of the past century called it the most treacherous stretch of water on the Wisconsin River. One of the early rafters was Leroy Gates. Mr. Gates carved an inscription reading "Leroy Gates, Dells and River Pilot 1849-58". This inscription marked the high water mark of 1858.

"Coming up is Coldwater Canyon," said John. "It is very narrow and I haven't driven a boat for 10 months - life preservers are $10 each. Do you still want to go?"

No one backed out and so John took us into the cool, green glade through a narrow opening barely wide enough to turn the boat. The spot is called "Dark Rushing Waters" by the Indians. The brown color comes from the tamarack trees on the bank. Fishing is good here for bass, catfish, Northern Walleye, sturgeon and others.

Above the mouth of the Canyon, a large slab of rock lies propped against the bank Giant's Shield broke off an overhanging ledge to its present position. A record high water mark was set in 1938, when it reached a point of 4 feet above the Giant Shield.

The boat tour was finished in time for us to eat lunch in the resort town of Wisconsin Dells, population just over 2100. Then we visited Xanadu, a foam house of tomorrow. It had an unusual balloon-form construction with circular and bubble windows. It had 12 contiguous domes and was advertised as an example of low-cost, energy-efficient housing. Most of our comments were uncomplimentary from "it looks like the dark ages," to "I'd call it the house of day after tomorrow." To me, it looked like a giant caterpillar.

As we left Chula Vista, Mr. Kominske came on the coach and wished us a safe journey home. And said how pleased he was to have "you wonderful Texans."

Of course, his farewell made us feel good and then we had a lot of fun as we followed a plumbing truck for miles and took pictures of the inscription on the back "A flush beats a full house."

Coleman to hold 45th annual PRCA Rodeo

Coleman's 45th Annual PRCA Rodeo will be held nightly, Wednesday, July 14 through Saturday, July 17.

The Coleman Rodeo Association owns 33 acres of land that adjoins the city limits of Coleman on the south. It seats 6,000 people and has free parking adjoining a dust-free arena.

The Coleman Rodeo has been approved by the Professional Rodeo Cowboys Association and the Women's Professional Rodeo Association. This insures that some of the top cowboys and cowgirls in the nation will be competing for some $4,200 added prize money.

Stock will be furnished by the Mesquite Championship Rodeo Co. of Mesquite, owned by Mr. Neal Gay. Gay has long been one of the best known names in the sport of rodeo and for years has turned out some of the very best rodeo stock in the business.

Clowns for the 1982 rodeo are Quail Dobbs and Frank McIlvain. Dobbs has been referred to as the "funniest man to ever walk in a rodeo arena." Frank McIlvain Jr. is one of the best upcoming clowns in the PRCA.

Rodeo announcer will be Tom Hadley of Mason. Events included in this year's rodeo include bareback and saddle-bronc riding, calf roping, steer wrestling, bull riding, girls' barrel racing, and the kids' goat scramble.

Dances will be held at the Rodeo Dance Pavilion those candidates who best meet the position requirements. The sectional center manager then selects and recommends to the Postmaster General the best qualified person for appointment to the vacancy.

Mrs. Snuffer graduated from Blackwell High School and completed a post graduate course in business. She is a member of the Methodist Church and is active in community affairs. She has 4 children: Mrs. Mary Cocoran, Greenville; Gary Snuffer, Winters; Allen Snuffer, Conroe; and Michael Snuffer who is a senior at Blackwell High School. She also has 8 grandchildren.

Miss Sowders, Mr. Cooper exchange wedding vows

Johnita Sowders, daughter of John Sowders of Durango, Colo. and Barbara Everett of Winters, and Douglas Bruce Cooper, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ronald Gene Cooper of Winters, were married at 8 p.m., July 2, in a double ceremony performed by the Rev. Fred Thomas. The ceremony took place in the home of the groom's parents. Music was provided by Glenda Shields of Bedford, sister of the groom, who played "We've Only Just Begun" and the traditional "Wedding March". The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a floor length sunders of eyelet with lace and pearl bodice, and carried a bouquet of spring flowers, with daisies and gardenias. Flower girls were Kim and Amy Shields, nieces of the groom, both of Bedford. Ring bearer was Shane McCaslin of Wingate, nephew of the groom. A reception was hosted by parents of the bride, and held in the home of the groom's parents. The couple made a wedding trip to San Angelo. The bride is a graduate of Winters High School, and is employed at Ben Alexander Motor Co. in Ballinger. The groom graduated from Winters High School and Western Texas College, and is a self-employed farmer.

Mrs. Erwin Schroeder, program chairman for July, opened the program with the song, "God of Our Fathers". Mrs. Ellis Ueckert played the accompaniment. Mrs. Robert Gerhart read the devotions and led in prayer.

Mrs. Walter Gerhart and Mrs. E. E. Thormeyer were Bible study leaders. Others participating in the program were Mrs. John Hiller, Bonnie Ueckert and Mrs. W. F. Minzenmayer.

Aid project for this year will be getting four individual communions set for the New Guinea Mission, to be taken to the mission by pastor and Mrs. Al Flathmann and family when they return to the mission later this year.

viewpoint

When you see a motorcyclist on the road what kind of image do you have in mind? Many drivers—who aren't familiar with motorcycles—have a mistaken image of what riders are like. It's built from old movies from the 50s, tales of outlaw motorcycle gangs and, in some cases, the actions of a few irresponsible riders.

The Motorcycle Safety Foundation suggests, however, that riders are more likely to be like you and your neighbors than you imagine. The average age of today's riders is 29 years. He (97 percent are male) probably works at a white collar job and has a couple years of college behind him. And, he's interested in the same things as you—fuel economy and rising transportation costs. The only difference is he's chosen a different means of transportation than you—a motorcycle.

Sharing the road is a little easier when you know what the person under that helmet and leather jacket is like.

GOOD CITIZENSHIP

The work of eleven budding young artists enrolled in Fruehauf-Y.M.C.A. recreational programs went into the corporation's annual report cover.

When a group of children were recently asked for their views by a major corporation, they gave the company some pretty interesting pictures of itself. The corporation, Fruehauf, headquartered on Detroit's East side, has long been recognized as a company that looks to the future, and it wanted to know how the

TO BE MARRIED

Dalia DeLeon, Mike Wetsel to be married August 7

Mr. and Mrs. Raymond DeLeon of Santa Anna have announced the engagement and approaching marriage of their daughter, Dalia, to Mike Wetsel, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Wetsel of Santa Anna.

The couple will be married on August 7 at 4 p.m. in the Sacred Heart Catholic Church in Coleman.

The bride-elect is a 1980 graduate of Santa Anna High School and is employed by the Coleman County Extension Office as a secretary.

The prospective groom is a 1982 graduate of Santa Anna High School and is employed by Western Auto of Santa Anna. He is the grandson of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Wetsel of Wingate and Mrs. M.G. Roper of Winters.

INFLATION-FIGHTING FOOD IDEAS

Rice has such varied uses that it combines beautifully with food from any country for exciting, eye-catching, outdoor meals. Rice grown in the U.S.A. is probably the world's finest. Delicious yet inexpensive, it can meet your family's nutritional needs year round but is especially useful when you prepare international dishes for backyard or patio meals, or for steak barbecues. To begin your thinking and planning this year, you might consider a colorful menu built around the national dish of another country. Whether it's a chicken, seafood, lamb, pork or beef entrée, rice can be its perfect accompaniment. Detailed recipes are available in magazines and cookbooks, but these suggestions from experts at the Rice Council may help:

Try Spanish or Spanish-American cuisine, in which rice plays a bigger part than potatoes or pasta. Paella, the Spanish national dish, originated in Andalusia. It's rice well seasoned, often with saffron and mixed with a variety of meat or sausage, seafood, or poultry. The Spanish often add sherry to their chicken and pork dishes. Mexican cookery—a mixture of Indian and Spanish—features a number of meat and rice dishes. Arroz con Cerdo, rice and pork, is a typical casserole suitable for outdoor dining, as is Arroz con Pollo, rice with chicken. In both dishes, onion—and sometimes garlic—is cooked in olive oil. Rice is added and cooked until clear and golden but not browned. Water or broth, and then diced and ground pork or chicken (and sometimes sausage for extra seasoning), is added next, along with cubed, sweet green peppers, hot peppers, raisins, cumin and tomatoes, fresh or canned. The tomatoes are peeled, if fresh, and may be pureed. Oriental dishes you might try call for steamed rice. These may be Chinese, Japanese, Vietnamese or Thai. Rice served with a meat or vegetable curry is popular. Season shrimp or ground beef with curry powder, a little garlic, salt, onion, black or white pepper and butter, and serve the flavorful mixture over fluffy, long-grained rice. Indonesian Rijsttafel, a buffet meal, usually features coconut in the preparation

Of rice dishes seasoned with chicken stock or bouillon cubes. Bay leaf is the herb frequently used. If lamb is featured in the market, try a savory Greek classic such as Souvlaki or Shish Kebab, made by marinating lamb cubes and alternating them on a skewer with peeled boiling onions and whole mushrooms with stems removed. Grill the kebabs and serve over hot rice, plain or seasoned. Or a Greek casserole can be prepared by sauteing onion in butter or margarine and adding rice with boiling water and bouillon cubes. Dried or fresh mint adds flavor. Cook slowly until rice is tender and the liquid absorbed. Cooked, cubed lamb and raisins are added and the mixture cooked about 10 minutes longer to blend flavors. Sprinkle with chopped parsley and serve hot.

For a USA barbecue meal, nothing beats a thick steak, cooked as you wish served with Rice-Vegetable Salad.

ICE-VEGETABLE SALAD
3 cups cool cooked rice
1-1/2 cups sliced celery
1 package (10 oz.) frozen green peas, cooked and drained
1/4 cup minced onion
1/2 cup diced pimientos
1 cup cubed American process cheese (1/4-inch cubes)
1 cup mayonnaise
1 teaspoon lemon juice
1/2 teaspoon each salt and seasoned pepper

Combine all ingredients and toss lightly. Chill. Serve in lettuce cups and garnish with sliced hard-cooked eggs and tomato wedges, if desired. Makes 6 cups or 6 servings.

Proper tooth care should start early

Toothbrushing and proper dental hygiene need to begin even before a baby has teeth.
"After each feeding, a baby's mouth should be wiped with a clean washcloth, a piece of gauze, or the gums should be gently brushed with a soft toothbrush even before the teeth erupt," says dental hygienist Mrs. Dee C. Salmon.
Mrs. Salmon is with the Bureau of Dental Health of the Texas Department of Health. She said brushing is necessary to remove dental plaque. Plaque is a sticky, colorless film of bacteria that attaches to teeth and gums and causes dental disease in both.

The primary (baby) teeth start to come in at about six to 12 months and flossing should begin as soon as two teeth are side by side. By the age of three, all 20 primary teeth have usually erupted. "Many parents think primary teeth are not worth being concerned about," Mrs. Salmon said. "That is a misconception. A child's primary teeth are important for chewing, speaking, appearance, and most importantly for saving space for permanent teeth."
"A child should never be put to bed with a bottle containing anything but plain water. Liquids such as milk, juices, sodas, and formulas pool around the new teeth and cause dental decay to start," Mrs. Salmon said. "This is called nursing bottle mouth."
If the parents are living in an area with flouridated water, they may want to buy a concentrated formula that can be mixed with the flouridated water, instead of buying one that is ready to use.

Mrs. Salmon said thumb sucking is a natural reflex that may make a child feel secure and happy. "Thumb-sucking should gradually disappear after the age of two," she said. If it doesn't, see your family dentist. But don't scold the child since this may cause increased anxiety." She said parents may want to provide an orthodontic pacifier. "Do not buy the long, firm pacifiers, because they will influence the shape of the mouth," she said. "Instead, shop around for the shorter and broader models."

Green potatoes — A no no

Green potatoes? DO NOT EAT. They could poison you, warns Dr. Cass Ryan-Crowe, a food and nutrition specialist.

Don't eat the green spots on potatoes, either, she cautions. Be sure to trim them away.

These spot areas, usually found around the sprout-formation sections of potatoes, contain solanine — which, even in small amounts, is poisonous, the specialist explains.

Solanin will cause stomach pains, diarrhea, vomiting, and, in large doses, paralysis and even death, she says.

Joint services held for mother and daughter

Joint services were held at 10:30 a.m. Wednesday for Mrs. Carl Bahlman, 87, a longtime Runnels County resident, who died at 6:20 p.m. Sunday at the Senior Citizens Nursing Home, and her daughter, Hilda Marie Bahlman, 66, who was dead on arrival at North Runnels Hospital at 9:55 a.m. Tuesday, following a sudden illness.

Services were held at First United Methodist Church in Winters, with the Rev. Bob Holloway, pastor, officiating. Burial for both was in Lakeview Cemetery under the direction of Winters Funeral Home.

Mrs. Carl Bahlman was born Elizabeth Stehle on May 10, 1895, in Golia, and married Carl Bahlman, Nov. 11, 1914, in Gonzales County. After their marriage, they moved to Runnels County, settling on a farm west of Winters. In 1929, they moved to the Drasco community north of Winters, where she had lived since. She was a member of First United Methodist Church.

Her husband preceded her in death on Oct. 11, 1971. Survivors include two sons, George of Littlefield and Elder of Winters; two sisters, Lena Bahlman of Winters and Carrie Siebeneicher of Gonzales; and a granddaughter, Georgia Ann Bahlman of Earth, Texas.

Hilda Marie Bahlman was born February 4, 1916 in Winters, and had lived in Winters all her life.

She is survived by two brothers, George of Littlefield and Elder of Winters; and a niece, Georgia Ann Bahlman of Earth, Tx.

Pallbearers for both women were M.L. Dobbins, O.C. Hill, Calvin Helm, Rankin Pace, D.W. Williams, Elmo Mayhew, Thad Traylor, and F.R. Anderson.

Autopsy may offer aid to relatives, medical science

The idea of an autopsy bothers some people. But a medical examination of a body's internal organs after death may affect insurance policy payments, workers' compensation cases or criminal investigations. Sometimes an autopsy can tell physicians a lot about a disease and help future patients, the Texas Medical Association (TMA) said.

But doctors cannot do autopsies without authorization. The next of kin authorizes an autopsy in most cases. A justice of the peace can order an autopsy if the cause of death is unclear or if suicide or murder is suspected, according to an article in Texas Medicine, TMA's monthly journal.

Texas law says someone can authorize donation of his or her own body or various organs. But since no Texas law permits someone to authorize his or her own autopsy, the nearest relative often must decide. Under the stress of grief, the subject might not be easy to consider. Consulting an attorney may clear up any legal questions about authorization. Getting the full facts from a physician may help clear up any other apprehensions.

For instance, some people fear that an autopsy will disfigure the body, especially the head. Autopsies usually are performed so that any incisions are not visible at the funeral. But if the idea of a full autopsy is unpleasant, a relative may want to consider limiting the examination to one or a few parts of the body.

If a relative permits an autopsy, it may help other people. TMA said what doctors learn about a disease from an autopsy

BOB G. DRAKE

Winters native promoted by Halliburton

A native of Winters, Bob G. Drake, has been named division manager at Oklahoma City for Halliburton Services, the world's largest technical oil field service organization.

Drake graduated from Winters High School in 1949 and is the son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Jasper Drake.

He began his Halliburton career at Winters in 1950 and has worked throughout the Permian Basin and the Gulf Coast. Most recently he was assistant manager at Houston for Halliburton.

may help treat other patients because doctors can get clues about how the disease attacks the body. Sometimes relatives themselves benefit directly because an autopsy will find an inheritable disease or defect.

An autopsy may have economic as well as medical consequences. For instance, a life insurance policy may say that an autopsy must determine if a person died of certain diseases before the policy will pay. Even if the policy authorizes the autopsy, Texas law says the next of kin still has the option of permitting the examination, although preventing it may mean survivors lose policy benefits. An autopsy also may be the best or only way to determine if survivors are eligible for

Brother of Winters man died June 21

Garland G. Bissett, 59, of De Soto, died June 21 in a Dallas hospital following a lengthy illness.

Services were held at the Calvary Baptist Church in De Soto with graveside rites and burial in the Valley Memorial Gardens in McAllen.

Bissett was a veteran of World War II, having seen active combat in Okinawa where he received the Purple Heart.

He was a member of the Masonic Lodge in Vernon, and the Hella Shrine in Dallas.

Prior to his death, Bissett was engaged in leasing land for oil and gas exploration for the Paul Malone Co. of Texas City.

He is survived by his wife, Shirley; two sons, Geoffrey of Brownfield and Scott of Dallas; two grandsons, Clayton Chase and Jerry Tod of Brownfield.

He was the youngest brother of Clayton Bissett of Dublin, C.A. Bissett of Ballinger, and Derward Bissett of Winters. He is also survived by a sister, La Verne McDonald of Brady.

workers' compensation payments because the person died of a problem caused by his or her occupation.

There sometimes are other ways to determine cause of death so an autopsy may not be necessary. An insurance agent can give advice about what will satisfy insurance policy provisions and a doctor can discuss the medical need for an autopsy.

America's first life insurance company was incorporated in Philadelphia in 1812.

PROGRESS IN MEDICINE

Dramatic Change

A recent breakthrough in technology is partially responsible for a dramatic change in the ways diabetes is managed.

This breakthrough is a blood glucose (sugar) test, which patients can do anywhere, quickly, easily and inexpensively. Doctors all over the country are now teaching their patients how to check their own blood sugar levels and then how to make the necessary adjustments. Knowledge of the sugar level in blood enables the diabetic to alter his food, exercise or insulin intake immediately and bring his body back into balance.

Prior to the development of this new test, the only convenient test available for use at home was the urine test, which can be inaccurate.

This new test is simple enough for even youngsters to do.

First, they prick their finger and squeeze out a drop of blood (this is virtually painless), then they transfer the drop to the chemically treated pads on the test-strip called Chem-strip BG, developed and produced by Bio-Dynamics, a Boehringer Mannheim company. After 60 seconds, they wipe the excess blood off the strip. After another minute, they match the colors on the strip to the colors on the package. The blood glucose level is read by comparing the colors on the strip to the color chart on the container.

The color results remain fixed for as long as seven days. Thus a diabetic can do several days of testing and then bring the strips to the doctor for observation of the trends in the patient's lifestyle.

Among the benefits of this test is the fact that pregnant diabetics can bring their babies to full-term without complications, whereas previously there were many problems involved in the diabetic pregnancy. Now diabetics of all ages are living more normal lives.

Every Diabetic Needs Annual Eye Exam

The leading cause of new cases of blindness among adults under 75 is a diabetes-linked eye disease. Medical eye specialists urge annual eye examinations for all diabetics, even those with no symptoms of visual difficulties.

According to the National Society to Prevent Blindness, the longer a person has been a diabetic, the greater the chances of developing the disease. Early diagnosis is the best defense. Laser therapy to seal the blood vessels and other treatments are available. Even those with advanced diabetic retinopathy have real hope for retaining useful vision.

To learn how to take care of your eyes, write your state Society to Prevent Blindness or the National Society to Prevent Blindness, 79 Madison Avenue, New York, N.Y. 10016.

E. R. GONZALES

DHT promotes E. R. Gonzales

Emiliano "Emil" R. Gonzales of Eden has been promoted to Maintenance Construction Supervisor II in charge of the Runnels County Office for the State Department of Highways and Public Transportation (DHT).

A native of Menard, Emil began working for the Department in May of 1970. He has served as crew chief of the asphalt section working out of the Eden Maintenance Section office. In his new capacity he will be supervisor of the 20 people who are responsible for maintenance of U.S., State, and F.M. highways in Runnels County.

Emil's family includes his wife Katherine, son Adrian, 6, and a daughter, Ana Karina, 3. The Gonzales family have already moved to Ballinger.

Emil was active in several organizations. At the time of this move he was Vice-President of the Catholic Council in Eden, was associated as a coach with Texas Teenage Baseball Association in the Junior Division and was serving his second term as City Councilman for Eden. He and his wife were serving as co-chairman of the Cystic Fibrosis Foundation in Eden. Katherine is attending Angelo State University as an Education Major.

"This will certainly be a new experience for me, but I'm looking forward to meeting and working with the people in Runnels County," said Gonzales. "It will be a challenge to me, but with the crew Arrott has developed we will continue to serve the county," he continued.

"With Emil's previous experience, I feel confident in his ability to continue and improve the maintenance operations in Runnels County," said Charlie Low, District Maintenance Engineer for the DHT in San Angelo.

Legal problems in converting single-family homes

Homeowners thinking of converting single-family homes to two-family dwellings, investigate the legalities first, says Dr. Jane Berry, a housing and home furnishings specialist.

Some cities and towns prohibit modifying homes to take in renters.

On the other hand, if this arrangement is legal, it's a good means of coping with home ownership's rising costs, she says.

Berry is on the home economics staff of the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, the Texas A&M University System.

Her own credit record — a 'must' for widowed, divorced

Her own credit record is a "must" for the woman who is widowed or divorced, so it's important to establish one early, advises Linda McCormack, a family resource management specialist.

"Because some women have no independent credit history, they may find credit accounts they've shared for years with their husbands suddenly terminated upon death or a divorce," the specialist explains.

"This sudden loss of credit, often when they need it most, can create a tremendous strain on the budget and the emotions," she adds.

Mrs. McCormack is on the home economics staff of the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System.

Build Credit Record Here are her suggestions for building a credit record:

Start your credit history in your own name — for example, Carol Bryan White, rather than Mrs. William White or just Carol White.

Open a savings account and a checking account in your own name. Add to the savings account regularly, and don't overdraw your checking account. These two steps will demonstrate your ability to manage money.

Apply for a charge account at a local store. Pay bills promptly and in full so no finance charge will be assessed.

In addition, apply for a gasoline or national credit card and use other accounts as references.

Understand Credit History

Your credit history is a record of your payments on credit cards, charge accounts, installment loans and mortgages. It's important to keep all payments current so your credit history will show you to be a responsible financial manager.

Many creditors rely on this credit history — or "track record" — in deciding whether to approve credit for you when you request it.

In most cases, a local credit bureau gathers credit information about you and sends it to creditors for you when you request it.

Here's another step to protect yourself: ask your creditors to report credit information in both spouses' names. Ask your credit bureau for a form requesting this be done on accounts opened before June 1, 1977.

Accounts opened after that date usually are reported in both names, although it's a good idea to check with your credit bureau occasionally to make sure this is being done.

Another Fine Texas Recipe

SWEET AND SOUR SAUSAGE WITH RICE

- 1 lb. smoked country-style link sausage
- 1/2 cup water
- 1 can (20 oz.) pineapple chunks
- 1 large green pepper, thinly sliced
- 1 Tbsp. butter
- 1/3 cup honey
- 3 Tbsp. soy sauce
- 1 Tbsp. vinegar
- 2 Tbsp. cornstarch
- 2 tsp. ginger
- 1/2 tsp. garlic powder
- 3 cups hot cooked rice

Cover and simmer sausage in water for about 10 minutes. Drain. Cut in 2-inch pieces. Drain pineapple, reserving liquid. Add water to liquid to make 1 1/2 cups. Sauté green pepper and pineapple in butter about 2 minutes. Add sausage, honey, soy sauce and vinegar. Mix cornstarch with ginger and garlic; blend in measured liquid. Pour over sausage. Cook and stir over medium heat until thickened. Serve over rice. Yield: 6 servings.

by Mark White
Attorney General

AUSTIN—Dogs can be a wonderful addition to a family and can provide years of pleasure for everyone if they are properly cared for.

The care you give to a dog once you get it is certainly important but the care a dog gets before it comes to your home is also important.

Unfortunately, there are some individuals who only see dogs for their profit potential and are not concerned with the dogs' health.

The SPCA warns of individuals who search ads in the papers for free puppies. When such persons come across puppies that could pass for purebreds, they take them home where they keep the dogs together in unsanitary conditions. Some of the other dogs may be sick or even dying. Adequate care such as fresh food and water, shots to protect puppies from diseases to which they are susceptible, proper shelter, and play area are not provided.

These "individuals" then place ads in the paper advertising purebreds. Prospective purchasers are told that these puppies, even though they are purebreds, are being sold at a discount because they don't have their papers. The cost averages about $40-$50 which appears to the prospective dog owner to be a good price.

All too often these puppies become sick from the kind of conditions they have lived in. Many times the signs of diseases such as parvo, distemper and kennel cough are not immediately recognizable, however. Proud dog owners get home with their new puppy, get attached to it, and then discover a few days later that their puppy is very sick or even dying.

This tragic story for both the dog and the owner can be avoided by carefully selecting a puppy for the right reasons—health considerations first and monetary considerations second. Here are some tips for helping to assure you are getting a healthy puppy:

1. Check the living conditions where the puppy has been. Is the house and yard sanitary? Does it appear that there is enough food and water? Are there too many dogs crowded together in a small space? Do any of the other dogs look sick or listless?

2. Check to see what type of precautions have been taken to protect your dog from various diseases to which he could be susceptible. Has he had the shots that he needs?

3. Have the puppy examined by your own veterinarian prior to purchase. If the kennel or individual is reputable, they will not mind you taking this precaution.

If you should find anyone you suspect of this type of practice, please contact your local SPCA or the nearest Consumer Protection Division of

Stir-Fry For Quick Elegance

Elegant cuisine needn't mean long hours in the kitchen. With today's emphasis on quick and easy, you can stir-fry this delicious shrimp dish in just minutes after the company arrives. Have plenty of hot rice ready as a tasty, nutritious accompaniment.

SHRIMP STIR FRY

- 1/2 cup creamy Italian salad dressing
- 3 tablespoons soy sauce
- 12 ounces peeled, deveined raw shrimp, cut in half lengthwise
- 1 large onion, sliced
- 1 large green pepper, cut in 1-inch pieces
- 1 can (4 oz.) sliced mushrooms, drained (or 1/4 pound fresh mushrooms, sliced)
- 1 tablespoon vegetable oil
- 1 can (15-1/4 ounces) pineapple chunks (drain; reserve syrup)
- 1 tablespoon cornstarch
- 3 cups hot cooked rice

Pour salad dressing and soy sauce over shrimp; set aside. Cook onion, green pepper, and mushrooms in oil until tender crisp. Add pineapple, shrimp, and the marinade. Blend pineapple syrup with cornstarch. Stir into shrimp mixture. Cook and stir 2 to 3 minutes, or until thickened. Serve over rice. Makes 6 servings.

Drop love handles, fitness expert says

Hate those "love handles", those ugly rolls of fat that make your swimsuit look like the Pillsbury Doughboy lives there?

It's enough to make you jump into a fad diet and starve until the rolls drop off. The advice from Robert L. Kaman, Ph.D., of Texas College of Osteopathic Medicine: Watch it.

"Effective and safe weight loss is a matter of simple arithmetic," the associate director of the medical school's Institute for Human Fitness said. "You have to burn more calories than you take in. And that gives you a choice: eat less or be more active or both. With few exceptions, gradual weight loss is the only kind that stays with you."

How many calories do you need. Dr. Kaman gives a formula. To maintain current weight, multiply your weight by 11.43. Then multiply the answer by 1.3 if you get no exercise, by 1.4 for moderate exercise and by 1.5 for vigorous exercise. To lose weight, take in fewer calories than your final answer.

But don't forget nutrition. "You still need a diet of three meals well balanced in the four major food groups," he said.

CRIME STOPPERS

One vehicle is stolen every six minutes in Texas. The motives for these thefts vary from joyriding, stripping and reselling the vehicles, to a means of committing additional crimes.

Auto theft rings steal over 80,000 cars annually in our state. Last year alone, 350 million dollars worth of vehicles were reported stolen. Car thieves, like home burglars, generally have an easy time of it. Their thievery is made simple by car owners who obligingly leave doors unlocked, which occurs in four out of five cases of auto theft, or who leave keys in the ignition, which occurs in one out of five cases.

Vehicle theft is a serious crime that affects the entire community and results in higher insurance rates, property damage, injuries and loss of life from accidents. This crime has reached such serious proportions that it can no longer be controlled by law enforcement alone. Every citizen must exercise greater care over their property, thus preventing unnecessary crimes caused by carelessness.

For the month of July, 1982, the Crime Stoppers Advisory Council is focusing its statewide "Crime of the Month" on auto theft. Any citizen having information about auto theft rings is encouraged to call the anti-crime hotline at 1-800-252-TIPS. Cash rewards are available for information leading to the arrest and indictment of these criminals.

Help meet this problem head on by locking your car and pocketing the key. This can greatly reduce your chances of losing your vehicle to these thieves. Call 1-800-252-TIPS today and put an end to this activity in Texas.

Female veteran population notes marked increase

The total number of female veterans climbed to 742,000 by last September 30 — an increase of 26 percent during the last five years alone, according to a Veterans Administration report.

Women now total 2.5 percent of all living veterans.

The report, "The Female Veteran Population" noted that while the number of male veterans has declined recently, the female veteran population is growing rapidly.

The report, which didn't give a breakdown by states of residence, is the first in a new series of brief studies being prepared by the VA's Office of Reports and Statistics.

However, another recent VA report, "Women Veterans' Use of Educational Benefits under the GI Bill," noted that a total of 9,766 women veterans had trained in Texas institutions of higher learning or other residence schools by Sept. 30, 1978, the latest figure available. Nearly 62 percent of them were full-time students. That report also showed 2,074 women veterans were in training in institutions of higher learning in Texas as of 3 1/2 years ago, said Jack Coker, director, Waco VA Regional Office.

Those studies are essential in allowing the VA to address the needs of all veterans, said VA Administrator Robert Nimmo, since "effective management of the wide range of VA programs is greatly enhanced when a detailed profile of the veteran population is available." According to "The Female Veteran Population" study, the number of women on military active duty is also on the rise, indicating a continued increase in female veterans in the coming years.

The ratio of male veterans to female veterans stood at just over 50 to 1 during the first half of the 1970s but dropped to 39.5 to 1 by the end of last September.

Other findings: — As of September 1981, the median age for female veterans was 46.2 years compared to 50.3 years for male veterans.

— The distribution by period of military service was fairly similar to that of males at the end of 1981. The major difference is that a much greater proportion of women (17 percent) than of men (4 percent) had served in the armed forces during the post-Vietnam era only.

— The number of women in the armed forces will very likely continue to grow by significant numbers, and the female veteran population will maintain steady growth in future years.

Coker stressed that as the number of female veterans grows, an increasingly vital aspect of VA's mission will be the special consideration given to the problems of female veterans with respect to the administration of various types of veterans' programs, such as medical care, counseling, loan guaranty and education.

Jerry Lackey's Country Folk

A record $1,275 was paid for the champion half-bushel of peaches at the 21st annual Stonewall Peach Jamboree this year.

Just another example that the famous "Georgia Peaches" have nothing on Gillespie County, Texas peaches.

Henry Weed Archer of Stonewall grew the basketful of Harvester variety which sold to Fredericksburg National Bank.

The heaviest peach in the show was a Keystone grown by George Pehl. The peach weighed 16 ounces and sold for $525 to a Honda farm equipment firm. Pehl won nine places in the 22-place show.

Jack and Carol's Orchard had the best individual peach entry which brought $450. The plate of 12 peaches championship went to E. W. Hallford. His plate of Swanee peaches sold for $500. First place peach pie baked by Jerome Jenschke, sold for $550. Top peach cobbler baked by Janice Baethge sold for $275.

The 22 top entries in the peach show sold for a total of $10,550 breaking the old record of $8,725 set a year ago.

Despite a dry spell at the wrong time and a late freeze which combined to reduce fruit set in the Gillespie County area, "there are still lots of peaches for sale here," according to officials. "We experienced some hail damage in scattered orchards this spring, too."

Texas peach growers are expected to harvest 395,833 bushels this season, a 44 percent decline from last year when 615,000 bushels were picked.

If you are a "Fredericksburg peach lover" like this writer, you may want to take a weekend drive to the Hill Country. All the little roadside stands in and around Fredericksburg and Stonewall are in full swing now. Annual marketing season runs through August.

Among the 40 Texas newspapers which carry Country Folk columns each week is The Fredericksburg Standard. I was entertained by reading a special section on peaches a week or so back.

Taking some of their copy from the Fredericksburg Community Cook Book, the newspaper publishers included a number of recipes suggesting the many, many ways to prepare peaches. Some samples: Peach Cobbler (Quick and Easy); Peach Pickles; Peach Ice; Buttery Baked Peaches; Peach Pecan Shortcakes; Spiced Peaches; Tangy Peach Pie; Fresh Peach Ice Cream; Peach Salad; Peach Pudding; Peach Cream Pie and a drink called Peach Cooler which sounds much like a peach shake.

Well, I gained five pounds from just reading the ingredients. Nonetheless, I will likely be among the many motorists driving to Fredericksburg several times this summer to purchase peaches and try all those tasty delights.

Coke County schedules rodeo

The annual Coke County Rodeo is scheduled for July 16-17, and everyone is invited to go out and join the fun.

Anyone wishing to participate can pick up entry forms at several different locations. In Bronte, forms may be picked up at White's Auto, Gallaway's Grocery, or Roadrunner Grocery. In Robert Lee, at Key Feed Store or at the Sheriff's Office. In Winters, at Pioneer Veterinary Clinic (Jimmy Smith). In Ballinger, entry forms may be picked up at Gate No. 1 Western Wear, and in San Angelo, at the two Ashley Store's and at Donahoe's. Deadline for entries will be Wednesday, July 14, and absolutely no entries will be accepted after this date!

A parade is scheduled for 5 p.m. Saturday, July 17 with everyone gathering at the depot.

A concession stand will be open both nights of the rodeo.

The Rodeo Association has decided to have a county steer-roping because of the large turnout at last year's rodeo. Therefore steer-roping will not be offered as an event at the County Rodeo. Tentative date set for the roping is the last weekend in July. More information will be made available later on that.

Anyone needing more information on the Coke County Rodeo can contact Brendi Gentry, 786-4482.

United States accept well-behaved pets as guests. Including members of the country's largest chains!

Airlines allow dogs and cats to fly their friendly skies as well. And if your pet can fit comfortably into a small kennel, it can travel in the cabin with you. Be sure, however, to double-check all airline arrangements before you board the plane.

Dogs and cats also like to see the sights from the backseat of the family stationwagon. Make sure, however, that your cat is not allowed to frolic too freely in the backseat. It may dart out a crack in the door or window and disappear forever. Also, make sure that you never leave your pet(s) alone in a locked car—it can be extremely dangerous.

Finally, before you take off on that long-awaited vacation, consult a veterinarian to make sure Fido and Fluff are fit for the trip; bone up on the do's and don't's of traveling with pets and be sure to make plenty of stops for fresh water and to pack a doggie bag of food.

For further information on traveling with pets, write the Pets Are Wonderful Council, 500 N. Michigan Avenue, Chicago, Illinois 60611.

Reports from Washington

Agreements And Peace

The heart of our foreign policy has always been easy to state. We are for peace, first, last and always for very simple reasons. Only in a peaceful atmosphere — with justice and confidence — can America prosper as we have in the past.

But more than a hundred disputes have disturbed the peace among nations since the end of World War II and today the threat of nuclear confrontation is ever present. So far, peace has eluded this generation of mankind.

This nation condemns aggression, yet the tide of belligerence continues to rise. The time has come to resume the struggle for peace in the world.

Our historical record is clear. Citizens of this nation resort to force only when challenged. At the end of World War II our military supremacy was unquestioned. We could have achieved world domination but that was contrary to the character of our people.

Instead we used our power and wealth to rebuild the war-ravaged economies of the world, both East and West, including those nations who had been our enemies. America has no territorial ambitions. We occupy no countries and we have built no walls to lock our people in. Our commitment to self-determination, freedom and peace is the very soul of America. That commitment is as strong today as it ever was.

One of the historical lessons of this century is that tyranny cannot be stopped with words alone. That is why we have sought to renew our strength as a nation while we search for peaceful solutions to today's problems.

We know that men and women of every race and creed can and must work together for peace. And this nation stands ready to take the next steps toward cooperation through verifiable arms reduction. Arms control agreements are useful in reinforcing peace, but they are not magical. Likewise, we should not confuse the signing of agreements with the solving of problems. Peace will not come simply by collecting agreements among various nations. Only when they are kept do agreements reinforce peace.

Since the end of World War II the United States has been the leader in serious disarmament and arms control proposals. We remain deeply committed to those proposals today and to strengthening the nonproliferation framework. This is essential to international security.

In the early 1970s, at United States urging, agreements were reached between the United States and the Soviet Union providing for ceilings on some categories of weapons. They could have been more meaningful if Soviet actions had shown restraint and commitment to stability at lower levels of force.

The United Nations designated the 1970s as the first disarmament decade. But good intentions were not enough. During that 10-year period we saw an unprecedented buildup in Soviet military weapons and the flaring of aggression and use of force in almost every region of the world.

We are now in the second disarmament decade. The task now is to assure civilized behavior among nations and to unite behind an agenda of peace. Over the past seven months the United States has put forward a broad-based, comprehensive series of proposals to reduce the risk of war. The President recently went before the United Nations — a body with its own problems — to announce America's support of a comprehensive program of disarmament.

We do support the effort to chart a course of realistic and effective measures in the quest for peace while maintaining our national security.

When more and more lawless acts are going unpunished, as some show a growing disregard for the goals of peace-loving nations, we must condemn aggression and pledge again to act in a way that is worthy of the ideals we have endorsed for generations.

Ice Cream Clowns Make Kids' Parties Special

Make a child's birthday celebration extra-special by serving a fun-to-eat dessert like Cookie and Cone Clowns. The smiling ice cream clowns sit on a base of chocolate chip cookies, made with refrigerated cookie dough. The refrigerated dough makes the large-sized, even-shaped cookies you need and saves time too. To eat, children simply pick up the clowns by their ice cream cone "hats."

COOKIE AND CONE CLOWNS

- 1 roll (16-oz.) refrigerated ready-to-slice chocolate chip cookie dough
- 1 1/2 gallon ice cream, any flavor
- 15 sugar cones or cone cups
- Decorator icing, any color
- Small candies, string licorice

Heat oven to 350° F. Slice well-chilled cookie dough into 1 1/2-inch slices. Place 2 inches apart on ungreased cookie sheet. Bake at 350° F. for 10 to 13 minutes or until golden brown. Cool on cookie sheet 2 minutes. Remove. Cool completely.

Place 1 large rounded scoop ice cream in center of each cookie. Press down lightly to secure. Place cone, wide-end-down, on top of ice cream; arrange to make hat. Freeze until firm. Remove from freezer; add candies to form eyes, nose and mouth. If desired, using decorator icing make collar around ice cream with star tip.

Freeze until serving time. (Each child can pick up cone and eat starting with cookie base.) 15 servings.

Engine Tune-Up Can Make Car Sing On Key

If your car engine is singing a song of woe to your pocketbook, it's probably time for it to be tuned.

The Safe Driver Association of America (SDAA) suggests the following tune-up tips to keep your car at peak performance:

- Check thermostat if your engine fails to heat up (more gas is burned by a cold engine).
- Clean spark plugs and make sure they're properly gapped.
- Tune carburetor for the leanest satisfactory mixture.
- Make sure distributor and timing meet manufacturer's specifications.
- Keep battery terminals free of corrosion.
- Go over gas line, fuel pump and tank for leaks.
- Replace dirty oil, gas and air filters.

For further information on driver safety, please write: SDAA Info, P.O. Box 1093, Skokie, IL 60077.

HEALTH HINTS

Thanks to the effective management of mild high blood pressure thousands of lives are saved each year. About 17 percent of all Americans between the ages of 25 and 74 are estimated to be suffering from mild high blood pressure. Until recently, this generally symptomless condition was believed to require no treatment.

To rule out the possibility that you have this disease, the best thing to do is to visit a doctor.

Very often, diuretics, or "water pills" are used to control this uncomplicated form of the disease. Increased loss of potassium is a frequent result of diuretic therapy. Low blood levels of potassium or hypokalemia has long been associated with muscular cramping, lethargy and weakness. Potassium-sparing diuretics which combine a drug to prevent loss of the mineral with a diuretic are often prescribed to deal with this problem.

Now available to doctors who treat patients with high blood pressure is a new diuretic / antihypertensive drug product that is highly effective in reducing high blood pressure while helping to prevent the loss of potassium. Called Moduretic, it was developed by Merck Sharp & Dohme, the pharmaceutical manufacturer. The new drug is used for patients with high blood pressure who develop hypokalemia. Not everyone can take this drug. Notable exceptions are those who are hypersensitive to it or to other sulfonylurea drugs, have high potassium levels, are using other potassium-conserving agents, or are on a potassium-rich diet.

The once-a-day dosage form also means patients are more likely to take the medication as prescribed by the doctor.

The first textbook printed in America was Thomas Dilworth's A New Guide to the English Tongue, printed in 1747 in Philadelphia Pa.

Blackwell

The United Methodist Church of Blackwell had a good attendance of 35 last Sunday, with four visitors from Abilene.

The District Superintendent from Abilene, Dr. Darris Egger, was the guest speaker for the group.

Before the 11 a.m. service, special congratulations were given to those who had earned their God and Church awards. They were Brad Hood, Amy Hood and James Lee Sanderson.

Then another special feature before the service was special music by the pastor and his wife, Max and Polly Burkhead, accompanied by her mother, Mrs. Mary Mills at the piano.

At noon a covered dish luncheon was served in the fellowship hall of the Church with 31 attending.

After the luncheon and visiting hour of fellowship, an old-fashioned "pounding" was presented to the pastor and his wife.

Attending were Mr. and Mrs. Billy Hood, Brad, Amy and Kathy; Mr. and Mrs. Bobby Sanderson and James Lee; Roy Sanderson; Mr. and Mrs. Tinker Parsons and children, Doyle Lee, Robert and Carrie; Dr. and Mrs. John English; Mrs. T. J. Oden and Larry; Mmes. Mary Louise Alderman, Juanita McReory, Esther Smith, Mrs. Lucille Taylor and children, Karen and John; Best Vest; Savannah Thompson; Mr. and Mrs. Gene Cole; pastor and his wife, Max and Polly Burkhead; and out-of-town visitors, Dr. Darris Egger, Mr. and Mrs. Mills, all of Abilene, and Mr. and Mrs. Jack Blanchard of Sweetwater.

The Vacation Bible School will be held at the Methodist Church July 7, 8, and 9 from 8:30 a.m. until 11:30 a.m. Refreshments will be served each morning at 10 a.m. by the ladies of the church. All children are invited to attend.

THE MICROWAVE COOK

Spicy Barbecue Sauce Cooks In The Microwave

Ready to brush on burgers, this spicy sauce microwaves in less than 10 minutes.

All across America — in parks and backyards, on decks or patios — people are barbecuing up a storm. One of the fastest ways to whip up a flavorful and spicy sauce is to use the microwave oven. Here's a brush-on for burgers, chicken and ribs that's especially easy thanks to a convenient and tasty head start — Campbell's Condensed Onion Soup.

SWEET AND SPICY BARBECUE SAUCE

- 1 can (10 1/2 ounces) Campbell's Condensed Onion Soup
- 3/4 cup chili sauce
- 2 tablespoons wine vinegar
- 2 tablespoons honey
- 1 small clove garlic, minced
- 1 teaspoon Worcestershire sauce
- 1/4 teaspoon dry mustard
- 1/8 teaspoon ground ginger
- 1 tablespoon cornstarch

In 1-quart microwave-safe casserole, combine all ingredients. Cover. Microwave on HIGH 6 to 8 minutes or until hot and slightly thickened, stirring frequently. Let stand, covered, 2 minutes. Use as a barbecue sauce for chicken, beef or pork. Makes about 2 cups.

Self-employed people have special tax concerns

If you're a wage earner, you probably pay most of your federal income tax and social security tax through the convenient, pay-as-you-go tax withholding system.

If you're self-employed, you still have income tax and social security tax obligations, but you don't have the convenience of the withholding system to help you meet those obligations.

Self-employed individuals are required to "pay as they go" just like wage earners, but instead of using the withholding system, self-employed persons file quarterly estimates of their income tax and social security tax liability, and pay their estimated tax four times a year.

Self-employed individuals pay their social security taxes at a different rate than wage earners, too. For the self-employed, social security is paid through the Self-Employment Tax at a rate of 9.35 percent. Wage earners pay social security tax of only 6.7 percent through withholdings, but that amount is matched by the employer. Whether you pay social security tax through wage withholdings or Self-Employment Tax, the maximum income on which you pay social security is $32,400. Estimating requirements and self-employment tax provision apply to those who earn sideline income through self-employment to supplement wage income. Selling home care products in the evening and painting houses on weekends are two examples of part time self-employment income.

The IRS has two free publications that may be useful to you if you're self-employed or contemplating self-employment. Publication 533, "Self-Employment Tax," and Publication 505, "Tax Withholding and Estimated Tax," are available on request. Write: Internal Revenue Service Center, P.O. Box 2924, Austin, Tx. 78769 and ask for the publications by number.

The Internal Revenue Service along with local colleges and universities also sponsors Small Business Tax Workshops. The 7-hour workshops provide new businesspersons with information on business taxes, employer tax responsibilities, and recordkeeping requirements. For information on the dates and locations of the Small Business Tax Workshop in your area, call 1-800-492-4830, extension 1428.

Income received after retirement may not affect social security

Income from self-employment received in a taxable year after the year of entitlement, but earned in a year before entitlement to social security benefits, may be excluded from gross earnings for such taxable year. This may sound confusing, but will help self-employed social security beneficiaries when they retire, stated Frank Upp, manager of the San Angelo Social Security Office. The exclusion will be for certain self-employment income for the annual earnings test only.

This exclusion became effective for taxable years after December 31, 1977. It was put in the law to assist the following types of retired persons:

1. Farmers who sell carryover crops in a year after retirement.
2. Insurance salesmen who receive renewal commissions after retirement for policies sold before retirement.
3. Retired partners who receive a share of the partnership income after retirement.

Think twice before accepting insurance 'to pay off loan'

Think twice before accepting insurance that "will pay off a loan" in case of death, advises Bonnie Piernot, a family resource management specialist.

This kind of insurance — credit-life insurance — pays off the debt if the debtor dies before the loan has been paid off.

However, if you have other life insurance, you probably do not need the credit-life insurance, the specialist says.

In most cases, credit-life insurance is a needless expense, and it is rarely a good buy, Piernot says.

In some cases, the survivors may have to pay the cost of the insurance before they can collect, she adds.

Credit-life insurance is expensive for two major reasons, Piernot explains. "One, it is usually an extremely small life-insurance policy.

"Secondly, there's no real competition among the sellers. Usually buyers don't shop around, and it is really not practical to do so. Thus, credit insurance companies do not offer the lowest price to buyers but offer the highest commission to lenders," she adds.

You are the one who decides if you want credit-life insurance or not, Piernot points out.

"Most credit contracts say that credit-life insurance is optional and will be provided only if you sign a separate statement asking for it," she says.

"The Truth-in-Lending Act strongly encourages that optional provision for the very reason that credit-life insurance is rarely a good buy.

"Creditors like to sell it, however, because they earn a commission on it," Piernot notes.

On the other hand, real security for survivors can be achieved by a complete estate plan, the specialist says. Included in the plan

New Detector Helps Effort To Determine Age Of The Universe

"One of the most powerful new astronomical tools in the world," is the way scientists are describing a new proven "detector" and sensitive photodiodes that, with large telescopes, can measure the light spectra of very faint galaxies and quasars throughout the known universe.

Built by the Smithsonian Astrophysical Observatory, the detector and its associated spectrographs use a sensitive EG&G Reticon photodiode array coupled to a high-gain image intensifier package to count individual photons from the very faint celestial objects. The resulting spectra are yielding important astronomical information about the expansion of the universe, its age and history.

Installed two years ago on the Multiple Mirror Telescope (MMT) atop Mt. Hopkins near Tucson, Arizona (the world's third largest telescope), the Smithsonian detector has been instrumental in the spectacular discoveries of distant quasars (known as gravitational lenses) whose point-like images have been split into multiple spots of light by intervening galaxies.

Besides these discoveries, the Reticon system is being used to study the dynamic behavior of distant galaxies.

These studies are expected to have significant impacts on calculations of all the mass of the universe — a key factor in the long-standing controversy over theories as to whether it will go on expanding or eventually draw back in on itself.

retirement.

4. Silent partners who may never have worked in the partnership but receive a share based on their investment in the business.

The intent of the law is that self-employed persons should not be penalized for income earned before retirement but paid after retirement.

If you feel that you may be entitled to benefits because of this exclusion, get in touch with the San Angelo Social Security Office, located at 2214 Sherwood Way, phone 949-4608.

Langley added that now the company must depend on the full commission to protect the customers' and the company's well being.

Other than recommending new rates, Ms. Holmes praised the phone company's efforts at improving customer service.

She concluded, however, that quality of service was still in the patchwork stage; the are fixing problems as rapidly as they arise, but they have not corrected many of the underlying problems causing the troubles in the first place.

The hearings examiner also recommended:

-Allowing GenTel to include in its rate base 100 percent of the cost of construction work in progress in order to "maintain General's financial integrity."

-An increase from $5 to $10 in returned check charges.

-Rejection of a company plan to institute an additional charge for sending a repair-man to check your phone. GenTel suggested that customers could forgo the charge by bringing their phone to a so-called GTE Phone-Mart for any repairs.

Ms. Holmes said many customers might bring their phones in, only to find nothing wrong with them. She suggested waiting for a similar GenTel experiment in Arkansas.

-Changing the company's request to begin charging for calls to directory assistance. GenTel's plan calls for three free calls to directory assistance before instituting a 20 cent-a-call charge.

-Rejection of a company plan to charge customers served by the most modern electronic telephone equipment an additional $2 a month.
