Trapped inside

Winters firemen and emergency personnel work to free Donald Prine of Winters from his overturned pickup truck late Sunday. Firefighters (left to right) Jack Davis, Jr., Chief Johnny Merrill, and Ralph Whittenberg prepare to use the "Jaws of Life" in an attempt to free Prine from the vehicle. The accident occurred just west of Winters on FM 53 about 7:30 Sunday evening. Prine was eastbound when his pickup ran off the roadway and overturned 2½ times.

Emergency aid

Emergency Medical Technician Jack Davis, Sr. administers treatment to Dwayne Valentine, a passenger in the Prine pickup. Valentine reportedly was thrown clear of the vehicle while Prine was trapped inside. Both men were taken to North Runnels Hospital by Runnels County Emergency ambulance for treatment.

Prine was then transferred to Hendrick Medical Center in Abilene for further treatment, and Valentine was released from the Winters hospital. Prine's injuries were not serious and he was back home by Tuesday.

New Winters water rates to become effective November 15

November 15 is the effective date for the increase in water rates for Winters residents following action last week by the city council.

City Administrator Glenn Brown said that along with an increase in water rates, some businesses will also see an increase in the rate charges for sanitation.

The council, last week, approved a five-year contract with Tony's Disposal Service for trash pick up in the city. Under terms of the new contract, some businesses will get an increase in their rates, some will remain the same, and some rates will go down. Residential rates will remain the same.

The city administrator said that businesses whose rates will increase will be notified by mail of the increase and the amount. Brown said that if an individual business rate goes down or remains the same, that business will not be notified.

The new rates for commercial sanitation service and city-wide water rates will go into effect on November 15, and will be reflected on the city statements which will be received about November 28.

School to administer PSAT/NMSQT

On Tuesday, Oct. 19, Junior class members who desire to, may take the Preliminary Scholastic Aptitude Test/National Merit Scholarship Qualifying Test.

The test is taken voluntarily, but school counselor Mrs. Lee Harrison encourages any student who thinks they may go to college or to a post-secondary school to take the test. The scores may be used to estimate a student's performance in a college entrance examination.

The PSAT/NMSQT is the qualifying test for students who wish to participate in the nationwide scholarship competition conducted by National Merit Scholarship Corporation, and will be given at a cost of $4.25.

Winters students will be bused to the First Baptist Church where the test will be administered.

Reminder

Donations to the Tree Fund for the W. Lee Colburn Park at the new city lake can be made at the Chamber of Commerce office, 118 West Dale Street. Now is the time to plant fall trees and visitors to the park will enjoy them for years to come.

Blizzards take first win of season

The Winters Blizzards offense untracked last Friday night in Hawley, as they gained 475 total yards. But, while the offense looked impressive, the Blizzard defense was nearly non-existent as it gave up a total of 359 yards in a game landing them their first victory of the season.

The Winters team went to the pass very sparingly last Friday as they completed 1 of 4 for 6 yards, but the running was sensational as it gained 469 yards on 54 tries, for an average of 8.7 yards. Dwight Hubbard carried the ball 30 times for 203 yards and two touchdowns; Ronnie Lujano carried 13 times for 173 yards and one touchdown; and Jeff Butts carried 7 times for 93 yards and one touchdown.

The Blizzards scored first on a 5-yard run by Ronnie Lujano. Ronnie also kicked the extra point. Jeff Butts scored late in the second quarter on a 23-yard option play, and Ronnie Lujano kicked the extra point, making the halftime score, 14-0.

In the third quarter, the Winters team scored the first two times they had the ball. Dwight Hubbard scored on a 4-yard run, with Lujano kicking the extra point. Hubbard then scored again from 2-yards out. The extra point attempt failed, leaving the score an impressive 27-0.

The Blizzards, who had a chance to put the game away, did not do so, and Hawley almost came back to win the game. The opposing team broke touchdown runs of 61 yards and 81 yards and scored on a 9-yard pass play. They then converted two of three two-point conversions, to bring the game tight. With 2½ minutes left in the game, and the score 27-22 in favor of Winters, Hawley tried an onside kick, but did not make the required 10 yards, leaving Winters to run the clock out.

The Blizzard defense gave up way too many yards, and must get stronger if they intend to finish second in the district behind Eastland.

Texas DPS issues crime report for Runnels Co.

The Texas Department of Public Safety has issued its Uniform Crime Report for the State of Texas for the first six months of this year. The report indicates an overall increase in major crimes of 5.4 percent.

The largest increase was in the category of aggravated assault, 15.4 percent, followed by motor vehicle theft, and robbery.

The report indicated that rape was the only offense which showed a decrease from the same period of last year, dropping 0.3 percent.

In Runnels County, the report showed a total of eight incidents of aggravated assault, four being handled by the Winters Police Department and four handled by the Sheriff's office. There were 29 burglaries of which eight occurred in Winters, eight in Ballinger, and 13 in the rural areas of the county. There were 26 larceny cases reported in Runnels County including 10 in Ballinger and 16 in rural areas, and none in Winters. There were no cases of theft of motor vehicles in Runnels County for the first six months of this year according to the Uniform Crime Report.

On a state-wide observation, a major crime occurs every 34 seconds. One murder is committed in Texas every 3 hours and 46 minutes while the frequency of rape is one every one hour and 19 minutes. The state wide average shows a robbery occurring every 17 minutes, an aggravated assault every 12 minutes, a burglary every two minutes, a theft every 67 seconds, and one vehicle stolen every six minutes.

The summarized report on crime in Texas during the first six months of 1982 is made up of data submitted to the Texas Department of Public Safety Uniform Crime Reporting Bureau by 749 Texas Sheriffs and Chiefs of Police whose jurisdictions represent 99.9 percent of the state's population.

LCRA fights Stacy Dam

The Lower Colorado River Authority, the major opponent of the proposed Stacy Dam project has followed through on its promises to legally block the construction of the lake.

The LCRA, last week, filed an application to take its case before the Texas Supreme Court. Despite objections from the LCRA and other opponents of the project, the 3rd Court of Appeals decided, in a split decision in June, that the Texas Water Commission properly issued a construction permit for the project. The proposed Stacy Dam is to be built on the Colorado River in south Coleman County, about 24 miles southeast of Ballinger.

The Lower Colorado River Authority is basing its appeal on the same grounds that have been used all along — that the Colorado River's water rights are already

Pet poisoning cases reported

A number of incidents of poisoning of pets in Winters have been recorded by the animal control officer. The animals reported poisoned included both dogs and cats with a total of five incidents involving dogs and a number of incidents involving cats.

City officials said that it is not known just what type of poison is being used or how the pets come into contact with the poison. Animal Control Officer James Staggs said that it was thought the poison was given to the animals in some type of food.

Officials pointed out that if the poison is placed in some bit of food or candy or something edible, there is the possibility that it may be picked up by children.

Any information concerning the pet poisonings should be given to the animal control officer or the Winters Police Department.

Winters Chamber of Commerce lists board candidates

Candidates to fill positions soon to be vacant on the Winters Area Chamber of Commerce board of directors for the 1983-84 year include Lanny Bahlman, Winters State Bank; Lee Blackwell, American Well Servicing; Betty John Burns, Winters Elementary School; Brenda Killough, Flowers, Etc.; Gary Price, Taylor's #2 Restaurant; Edna Ruth Self, Security State Bank; Bunny Sullivan, Strickland Real Estate;

Of these eight candidates, six will be elected to fill positions of retiring directors Randall Boles, Kenneth Slimp, Kay Colburn, Bob Holloway, Royce McDorman, and Randall Conner.

Naida Barker, Chamber of Commerce secretary, stated that ballots need to be returned by Oct. 31.

Going, Going...

Ronnie Lujano, No. 41, heads toward the goal line, but was tackled just short of a touchdown. Lujano's run set up the play for No. 22, Jeff Butts to go in for the score as the offense for the Winters Blizzards got in gear to roll up a total of 475 yards rushing, and defeated the Hawley Bearcats, 27-22 last Friday night. Lujano carried the ball 13 times for a total of 173 yards and 1 touchdown, and Butts carried the ball 7 times for 93 yards and one touchdown. Dwight Hubbard led the offense carrying the ball 30 times for 203 yards rushing, and two touchdowns.

Pictorial View of Early Winters

Virginia Heath Draper, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J.L. Heath who built the Rock Hotel, has financed the purchase of a historic marker for the building. Mrs. Heath now lives in Corona Del Mar, California and owns seventeen exclusive dress shops in California and Arizona.

Mr. and Mrs. Heath moved their family to Winters late in 1905 when Virginia was ten and her sister, Clifford, was four. Their brother, Wade, was born the next year.

The move was made after Mr. Heath had gone to West Texas prospecting and found just what he was looking for in the little town of Winters. It was a small white two room house, with a hall between the rooms. He assured his wife that the house could be added on to. He also told her that Winters would soon have a railroad and that the town would prosper.

Mrs. Draper sent me some pictures of those early days.

Picture No. 1 — Some of our guests at our old home back of the Rock Hotel.

As soon as the necessary task of enlarging the home had been completed, Mr. Heath opened a general merchandise store in partnership with Ira Beard. A store of this kind carried a combination of groceries and dry goods. The groceries were on one side and the dry goods on the other. Dry goods was a term that described all kinds of clothing.

Picture No. 2 — Heath and Co.
 Just as Mr. Heath had predicted, the Abilene and Southern Railroad Co. built a railroad to Winters in 1909, and the station was a block from their home.

Picture No. 3 — Building the depot.

Picture No. 4 — Mr. Heath takes a ride on the new train.

Since the Heaths had an acre of land and the railroad was only a block from their house, Mrs. Heath conceived the idea of building and operating a hotel. It was two stories high and had 14 guest rooms, a manager's apartment and lobby. It was built of native stone and they called it the Rock Hotel.

Picture No. 5 — Mr. Heath leaves the new hotel for a train trip.

Picture No. 6 — Little brother Wade takes his own kind of a ride in front of the hotel.

Among the regular boarders at the hotel were several young single men. One of them was Don Meeks who owned and operated the only barber shop in town. Virginia and Don eloped and were married in 1911.

Picture No. 7 — Front of the hotel with my mother, myself and Don, also some of our guests and my sister, Clifford.

Picture No. 8 — A corner of the Rock Hotel with my husband and I and guests riding a new planter.

Picture No. 9 — It wasn't long until the thriving little city had a new bank. We were so proud of it.

The Abilene and Southern continues its freight service to Winters and the Rock Hotel continues its service, looking very much like it did when it was built.

Coleman man wins award for beautification

A veteran highway maintenance construction supervisor from Coleman, Gene Christian, has won the 1982 Lady Bird Johnson Award for Highway Beautification.

During ceremonies held Oct. 8 at the Lyndon B. Johnson State Park near Stonewall, Mrs. Johnson presented Christian with a plaque and her personal check for $1,000.

Another West Texan, Louis Olenick of Sonora, was named runner-up, and received a certificate of commendation and $500.

Christian's maintenance office at Coleman is in the Brownwood district of the highway department. He attributed his nomination to the extra work his crew did to beautify a roadside park on US 84 between Santa Anna and Coleman. They drained and landscaped a turnaround area that had become an eyesore and converted a section of the park into an attractive cactus garden.

Payment for blood may be met by Medicare

The cost of blood and blood components, and the cost of blood processing and administration, can add appreciably to the cost of medical care. For patients covered by Medicare, however, the program can help meet these costs. With one exception, the hospital insurance portion of Medicare can pay for the cost of blood received by an individual while a patient in a hospital or skilled nursing facility. The one exception is the nonreplacement fees charged in each benefit period for the first three pints of whole blood or units of packed red cells. The nonreplacement fee is the charge that some hospitals and skilled nursing facilities make for blood that is not replaced. The patient is responsible for the nonreplacement fees for the first three pints of blood furnished by a hospital or skilled nursing facility. However, a patient who is charged nonreplacement fees has the option of either paying the fees or having the blood replaced. If he or she chooses to replace the blood, it may even be done through a blood assurance plan such as is sponsored by a number of employers and religious and fraternal organizations.

The medical insurance part of Medicare can help pay for blood and blood components a person receives as an outpatient or as part of other covered services, with the

Report changes that may affect SSI payments

If you are receiving Supplemental Security Income (SSI) checks, you, or someone acting for you, must notify Social Security when certain things happen that may affect your payments.

If you report changes promptly, it will help Social Security pay you correctly and as soon as possible. Failure to report may result in an overpayment which you will have to pay back. You could also miss out on a raise on your payment amount.

The amount of your SSI check depends on how much other income you have, your resources and your living arrangements. Among the changes you must report to Social Security are:

- *A change in your address.
- *A change in the number of people living in your immediate household.
- *A move in or out of an institution.
- *A trip out of the country that would last more than 30 days.
- *If you get married or your marriage ends.
- *If your parent's income changes (and you are under age 18).
- *If you or your spouse's income changes.
- *If there are changes in what you own (land, automobiles, etc.)
- If you are a legal alien being sponsored by a U.S. resident and applied for SSI after Sept. 30, 1980, your income and resources, plus your sponsor's income and resources must be reported for the first 3 years.
- If you are receiving SSI disability and your condition improves, you must notify Social Security immediately.
- Sometimes a person getting SSI cannot manage funds due to mental or physical impairment. When this happens, the person taking care of the claimant should notify Social Security. Arrangements will be made for the checks to go to a relative or other person to act as a representative payee.
- If you prefer, you can report your change by telephone, by mail or you can visit your nearest local Social Security office.

An unused swing set can turn a backyard into an eyecore... unless you hang flower baskets from the frame, attach a bird feeder to the overhead bar and plant climbing vines to trail up the legs. A thing of beauty!

Check out heaters before cold weather sets in

If you are one of thousands of Texans who use heaters fueled by liquefied petroleum gas, it's time for pre-winter maintenance. According to Hugh Keepers, director of the Railroad Commission's liquefied petroleum gas division, a heater is safer and more efficient when well maintained.

The first step is a thorough cleaning. Keepers warns not to use lp-gas to blow out heaters or radiants. While you're cleaning the heater, check the name plate to make sure it is approved for use with lp-gas. It's dangerous to use lp-gas with a heater designed for other fuels, Keepers says.

When you connect the appliance, use only approved connectors. Slip on hose connectors are prohibited by state law. "Many house fires have resulted when a child or animal ran across a room and pulled off a slip-on connector," Keepers says.

Cool weather signals rye planting time

Many homeowners overseed lawns or barren areas without established turf with rye to prevent erosion of topsoil during fall and winter. Of course, rye enjoys cold temperatures and remains green and growing throughout the winter when bermuda and St. Augustine are dormant.

Because many nurseries are selling ryegrass, gardeners should understand that annual rye used for lawns is not the rye which should be planted in gardens. Annual rye remains small; cereal or Elbon rye grows much taller and provides much more organic matter. Neither of these ryes should be seeded before cool temperatures arrive.

Always use a flair-type, fitted lp-gas hose with metal threads.

If your home has any gas outlets where no appliance will be attached, make sure the gas-cock is capped to insure against accidental opening of a valve.

Never place a heater directly facing curtains, furniture or bedding. Consider the traffic flow in a room when placing heaters. Avoid placing heaters in congested or narrow areas. Someone passing may trip or clothes may brush against the heater and catch fire. Don't place an unvented heater in bedrooms or rooms normally kept closed. This type heater may burn the oxygen out of a room quickly and asphyxiation can result.

Finally, check the vents on any vented appliances. Vents should be cleared from obstructions and those damaged by the elements or that are corroded should be replaced.

best organic matter available to the garden soil, and this type of "green manure" crop decomposes rapidly. As if these benefits were not enough, cereal rye roots serve as a "trap crop" for nematodes.

Once nematodes enter cereal rye roots, they cannot escape and will perish. When cereal rye decomposes as does most organic matter, it releases organic acids which tend to help reduce soil alkalinity.

Cereal rye can be planted by merely seeding directly on top of the garden soil and raking in. Apply seed at a rate of one pound per 100 square feet of garden area to insure good coverage. Raking may not even be necessary. Be sure to water rye regularly (once a week) and fertilize for maximum growth. Always shred rye before it forms seed heads since sprouting rye seed in early spring may become a nuisance. Rye seeded in the fall will not become a weed problem during the spring since rye plants cannot withstand hot temperatures and will die.

Services held Friday for Jessie Nabers

Jessie Ruth Nabers, 69, of Blanket, died at 1:20 p.m. Thursday in a nursing home.

Services were held at 4 p.m. Friday at First Baptist Church in Blanket, with the Rev. Billy Camp officiating. Burial was in Blanket Cemetery.

Born March 19, 1913, in Blanket, she married Edward Nabers Nov. 21, 1932, in Brady. He died in 1979. A lifelong Blanket resident, she was a homemaker and a member of First Baptist Church.

Survivors include a son, Kenneth of Blanket; a grandson, Kenneth Nabers of Round Rock; three granddaughters, Pamela Cleveland of Rising Star, Janna Hogg of Winters and Beverly Nabers of Blanket; and three great-granddaughters.

There were 2,159 deaths of infants under 28 days of age for a neonatal death rate of 7.7 deaths per 1,000, another record low for Texas.

Texas established a new record - for the third straight year - in the number of babies born to Texas residents with 281,558. Even though the number of births continued to increase, the rate of 19.1 births per 1,000 population is a decrease over the 1980 rate of 19.2.

Of the babies born last year, 144,312 were males and 137,246 females, with

Texas' infant mortality rate steadily declines

The infant mortality rate in Texas continued its steady decline during 1981, reaching a new low of 11.6 deaths per 1,000 births.

It was the third straight year that the infant mortality rate was below the national average. It was four percent less than the previous record low of 12.1 set in 1980, according to Dr. Robert Bernstein, Commissioner, Texas Department of Health. The provisional 1981 infant mortality rate for the United States is 11.7 deaths per 1,000 live births, 6.4 percent lower than the provisional rate of 12.5 for the previous year.

As recently as 1976, 21 percent of the birth total was to mothers under 20 years of age. During the same period, births to mothers 30-34 years of age increased from 22 percent of the total births in 1976 to 13.9 percent in 1981.

a ratio of 105 males for every 100 females. The largest number of births last year occurred in August when 26,267 births were recorded, exceeding the 25,718 reported in September. Fewest number of births for the year - 20,704 - were in February.

Teenage mothers accounted for a lesser percentage of births during 1981. The 49,752 births to teenage mothers were 17.7 percent of all births reported in the state, compared to 18.4 percent in 1980. There were less than a thousand (987) births to mothers 15 years of age and under.

As adults grow older, less energy is needed to keep the body functioning.

No need to baste a roasting chicken if you drape it with slices of bacon. It'll do the job itself in a very flavorful manner.

Work-study program available by VA

Veterans pursuing full-time training on the GI Bill or Vocational Rehabilitation Program may apply for the VA's work-study program, advised the Director, Waco VA Regional Office.

The work-study program offers an additional allowance to veteran students in return for their employment in VA-related activities.

Congress authorized the program to give needy veterans an opportunity to earn additional money to assist them in paying their own way during their school attendance and to accomplish necessary work for the VA.

Work-study program veterans can earn $3.35 per hour (minimum wage) tax-free for work performed.

Interested persons wanting more information should telephone the Waco VA Regional Office toll-free number listed in your telephone directory.

Harris County is 'marriage capital'

Harris County was the marriage capital of Texas during 1981. It also had the most divorcees.

There were 31,672 marriages and 21,743 divorcees for a ratio of 69 divorcees for every 100 marriages, reports the Bureau of Vital Statistics of the Texas Department of Health in its 1981 report.

NOTICE

IF YOU SMELL NATURAL GAS, FOLLOW THESE 3 STEPS TO SAFETY.

The natural gas industry has an excellent safety record.

The fact that you can smell natural gas is because we add a harmless chemical to it as a safety feature. Otherwise, it would be completely odorless.

If you are outdoors and smell gas, call your local Lone Star Gas office.

If you are indoors and detect faint whiffs of what you think may be gas, investigate. It may be that a pilot light has gone out or a burner valve has been left partially open. These are corrective steps you can take yourself.

If your equipment seems to be working properly and the odor persists or intensifies, please follow these precautions:

1. Do not switch anything electrical on or off. Do not use the telephone in your own home. Do not strike a match. Do not do anything that might cause a spark.
2. Have everyone leave the house immediately, leaving doors open to help ventilate.
3. Go to a nearby telephone and call Lone Star Gas Company. Wait until we have found the source of the odor to determine whether it's safe for you to return to the house.

You may never have a natural gas leak, but we want you to be informed in case one does occur. Please make sure your family is aware of these precautionary steps. And we suggest that you keep this message for future reference.

Jerry Lackey's Country Folk

The good people of West Texas have always measured up to be above average in this writer's mind. It's always rewarding when they reassure our belief, and that is exactly what has happened four times in the past three weeks.

In every direction one travels these days, it is depressing to observe the terrain. In a time when normally we would enjoy cool autumn weather and general rains to put pur pastures and winter crops in good shape, we are not. Cattle and sheep prices are down almost 50 percent at the market place. The economy continues to slump.

Despite all this gloom, West Texans have opened their hearts and pocketbooks to raise money for the crippled children at the West Texas Rehabilitation Centers. It's true, there are no less handicapped just because the country is in a recession. The cost to care for 10,000 handicapped annually remains the same, if not higher.

At the first sale of this 23rd annual Cattleman's Round-Up for Crippled Children, cattle sold raised $163,031 in Abilene. Around $16,000 was raised in a special horse sale.

The fourth annual Sheep and Goat Sale at Junction raised $10,000. Junction being my hometown, I take special pride in this sale. I handled Willard Jordan's advertising at Junction Stockyards for eight or nine years. When I started raising funds for the Rehab Center some five years ago now, I went to Willard and told him about WTRC.

Together, we started organizing the Hill Country. We enlisted the help of David and Marc Dobbins, who had a son treated at WTRC. We found E.S. and Jean Herring in Kimble County. They had known about the center from living in Runnels County.

Over in Mason County, banker Mike Dail had a son go to WTRC for treatment. Now, we have put together an annual roping over in Mason every February. We raise a little money there.

On with my story. In Coleman the other day, the good people raised $16,000, and $7,500 of that was by Chinese auction of a small pig. Fay Gill ran a quilt up to $600 before calling it hers.

Of course, German Chocolate Cakes and Mississippi Mud Cakes sold for $50 and $100 apiece. "And the good thing about buying a cake with this money rather than giving it to a politician, is that the cake stays with you," laughed one bidder.

All proceeds raised at CRCC sales go to West Texas Rehabilitation Centers in San Angelo, Abilene and Snyder for payment of treatment of patients. WTRC is a private, non-profit treatment and diagnostic facility. There is no charge to patients for services.

Allen Davis, a Kimble County ranchman, said he was looking at another feeding everyday. Johnny Underwood of Mason shook his head. Yet, both dug down a little deeper to support CRCC. That's what makes West Texans a little bit better because they believe in helping and caring for their own.

Improve profits through wiser marketing

Major challenges and opportunities for improving profits in the cattle industry still lie in the area of marketing, as they have during the past decade, contends a Texas A&M University economist.

Dr. John A. Hopkin, Stiles professor of agricultural finance and head of Texas A&M's Agricultural Economics Department, says that production related issues are quite important but that cattlemen who have done well during the past 10 years "have not necessarily been the most efficient producers, but rather those who 'sold right' or 'bought right', or did both."

"These cattlemen have gained an advantage by understanding forces affecting the market of their products and collecting and evaluating information concerning those markets. They use the pricing tools of forward contracting and futures markets, and they are aware of their costs," Hopkin says. "The name of the game is financial management and marketing," he adds.

He also emphasizes that they know when they can lock in a profit and are willing to do so rather than "be forever gambling on striking it big."

Hopkin says several options exist for cattlemen to improve their marketing.

Electronic marketing is now technically feasible and provides cattlemen the benefits of flexibility and the opportunity to reduce handling and transportation costs. The marketing system known as CattleX, developed at Texas A&M, is about ready for commercial use, he says.

"Cattlemen can also organize into county or multi-county associations to sell their calves. When cattlemen band together to hold an annual calf sale, more buyers are attracted from wider areas to inspect and bid on calves which are sorted, classed and graded into relatively large uniform lots," Hopkin explains.

In organizing a sale of this type, producers become more aware of the marketing function and of what makes up quality, Hopkin adds.

Also, producers and buyers can take advantage of economies of size in buying and selling, and costs of assembling an adequate volume of calves for uniform classing can be reduced, he notes.

"This system should work well in areas like Central and East Texas where many smaller herds prevail," Hopkin says.

Addressing the issue of demand for beef, Hopkin says there are strong indications that some basic dimensions of demand for beef may be changing.

"Beef demand originates with consumers and is passed back through the marketing system to producers through continual negotiations of buyers and sellers at every stage. Demand for beef can be affected by consumer perceptions which influence their preferences, such as attitudes on health and diet. Also affecting demand for beef are the average level and distribution of per capita real income, which may mean a drop in purchasing power for many people," the economist says.

Hopkin says the new state check-off programs that are getting underway in many states may be the start of a system for funding a program of market research and promotion that can help reverse the seeming down trend in demand for beef.

In the area of financing, Hopkin says the effect of high interest rates places more emphasis on the need for financial analysis and planning, and on sound financing for survival in the cattle industry.

Several things can be done by individuals to get each financial analysis house in order, he emphasizes.

Ranchers can subject all purchase decisions to a vigorous test of profitability and repayability; and can subject their overall business to profit analysis in order to know which components are making money and which are losing money. Each cattleman also can make careful cash flow projections and follow through with careful record-keeping and analysis to assess the accuracy of the projections, an essential element to survival, Hopkin says.

Cull open,
late-calving
cows soon

Despite a weak cattle market, it's wise to "clean up" herds by culling open cows and giving more attention to a controlled breeding program by culling late-calving cows.

There's no need to put expensive winter feed into unproductive cows, points out Allen Turner, County Extension agent with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service. Culling the cow herd now will also help you plan on feed supplies for the winter months.

Also, pregnancy testing cows this fall may be a more profitable management tool than ever before.

Since it's difficult for a cow to produce a calf large enough to pay her annual maintenance bill and leave some profit for the producers, we know an open cow is surely losing money, emphasizes Turner. In addition, cows calving during the summer months wean calves 30 to 90 lbs. lighter than their herd mates which calve at other times. For this reason, it's advisable to cull cows which will calve late next year and buy a replacement which will calve early.

Whoever does the pregnancy diagnosis (usually your veterinarian) will be able to estimate the calving date on each animal and make it easy to identify next year's late-calving cows. Your definition of a late-calving cow should change every year until your calving season has been reduced to 60 days preferably, and certainly no longer than 90 days. Removing barren and late-calving cows from the herd will increase both the herd's reproductive potential and pounds of calf weaned, contends the agent.

Runnels SWCD re-elects
Douglas Cole to board

Douglas Cole of Winters was re-elected to the Runnels Soil and Water Conservation District board of directors Oct. 6. Cole represents Zone 4 of the district.

The purpose of the Runnels SWCD, with headquarters in Ballinger, is to promote sound soil and water conservation programs on farm and ranch lands within the district and to serve as a voice for farmers and ranchers on conservation matters and other issues affecting private property rights of land owners.

The board of directors coordinates the conservation efforts of various local, state and federal agencies and other organizations and has the authority to enter into working agreements with these government agencies and private concerns to carry out its purposes. As one of five individual serving on the district board of directors, Cole will be responsible for district policies and procedures for carrying out the district program within the framework of the Texas soil conservation district law. In Texas, there are over 200 soil and water conservation districts. Each is a legal subdivision of state government organized by local agricultural landowners with the assistance of the Texas State Soil and Water Conservation Board. Unlike most other legal subdivisions of state government, SWCDs do not have the power of taxation or eminent domain. All conservation programs managed by the districts are of a voluntary nature to the landowner or operator.

The Runnels Soil and Water Conservation District was organized on August 10, 1949.

Joe Wright, Distinguished Hedging Cattle Specialist of Conti-Commodity Services, Inc. of Dallas, will lead a free seminar on cattle pricing at the Kiva Inn in Abilene on October 26 at 7:30 p.m. He will demonstrate a special cattle pricing program which limits the risks of lower cattle prices, without limiting profit potential for higher cattle prices. If your business at all relates to the cattle market, you won't want to miss this seminar opportunity.

WASHINGTON, D.C. 20510

This week (October 10-16) is National Newspaper Week. I would like to join my friends in the press as they observe the occasion with the theme "A Free Press -- Your Key to Freedom."

A free press is guaranteed in the First Amendment of our Bill of Rights. The founders of our nation believed that it was an essential right -- not for newspapers or their editors -- but rather for the people. They realized that it was impossible for even the best-informed citizen to know firsthand of everything that happened in government. Only through newspapers, and later other forms of mass media, was it possible for citizens to keep track of their representatives and their government. It was essential that the press be free of government control if it was to perform this function.

Newspapers thus have a proud heritage as guardians of democracy. Our entire system of government rests on the premise that an informed electorate will make decisions that lead to good government. Government officials have a primary obligation to keep their constituents informed, but must depend upon the press as the primary vehicle through which to meet that obligation.

Throughout my 21 years in the U.S. Senate, I have been proud of my association with Texas newspapers. They have not always agreed with my actions. They have not always written stories the way I would like to have seen them written. But, by and large, they have been fair and have served their readers well. That is all that any public servant can ask.

I would also like to say a word about community journalism. As communication and transportation have improved during this century, the world seems to have grown smaller. National news networks, nationally circulated magazines, easier travel and commuting have brought us closer together as a people. This has made us a stronger nation. Yet, we have lost some of our roots, our sense of community, in the process.

Community newspapers serve a special role in helping people feel a part of their town as well as their nation. As I travel throughout the state, I see many towns in which the newspaper is a substantial factor in the preservation of a community's sense of identity. This is a valuable service, particularly in Texas where diversity is one of our great resources.

So as a reader and a public servant, I would like to use the occasion of National Newspaper Week to thank the newspapers in Texas for their outstanding service, and for their unceasing dedication to their role in preserving our traditions of freedom and democracy.

Rights of Parents and Students Family Educational Rights & Privacy Act 20 U.S.C.

The Winters School District maintains general education records required by law. The District makes available to parents and guardians information concerning their child enrolled in school. Until parental rights are legally terminated, each parent or guardian has access to the records unless the student is 18 years of age and no longer dependent. After that time, only the student has access to his records.

Parents, guardians, the student, and officials of the District with legitimate educational interests are the only persons with general access to the records. The District also forwards education records on request to a school in which a student seeks or intends to enroll.

Certain other officials from various governmental agencies may have limited access to the records.

Some items of information are directory in nature and may be released to anyone, without consent, unless a parent or student objects to its release in writing within 10 days after the issuance of this notice. The following is directory information: a student's name, address, telephone number, date and place of birth, participation in officially recognized activities and sports, weight and height of members of athletic teams, dates of attendance, awards received in school, most recent previous school attended, and other similar information. Objections to release of any or all directory information should be directed to the principal.

Records may be reviewed during regular school hours. The Superintendent of Schools is legal custodian of all records; however, a parent may usually review his child's records by contacting the school principal.

If, after reviewing the records, a parent or student believes that the contents include misleading or incorrect information, an informal hearing will be conducted to give that individual the right to challenge the record's contents. The principal should be contacted for this hearing.

After following the administrative procedures under Board policy, the parent, guardian, or student has the right to file a complaint if (s)he feels that the district is not in compliance with the law regarding student records.

Copies of all items in the records are available at a cost of $1.00 cash, payable in advance.

Please contact the principal or Superintendent if you have questions regarding this notice.

Tips For Homeowners

Tips YOU Can Use From The Garage Door Council

A good garage door, especially a modern new door, will improve the appearance and security of your garage and help keep intruders outside.

You can enjoy maximum convenience and safety from your garage door if you follow some useful tips from Frank S. Fitzgerald, president of the Garage Door Council.

The Council, formed just a few months ago, has proclaimed October as Garage Door Care Month. Council actions are planned to stimulate nationwide interest in the campaign.

Here are the tips from Fitzgerald:

- DON'T neglect a damaged garage door. If a door is damaged or malfunctioning in any way, Fitzgerald cautions, it can become hazardous. Call for qualified repair immediately. Check the Yellow Pages under Doors for your nearest garage door dealer. Look especially for dealers who display the emblem of the Far Western Garage Door Association or the Door and Operator Dealers of America.

- DON'T add an electric opener to an existing door without proper counterbalancing of the door. An automatic door that doesn't work properly has a reduced life expectancy, and can be dangerous.

- DO be sure that the tracks and other moving parts are properly lubricated.

• NEVER let children handle or play with the automatic garage door controls. Wall buttons and portable remote controls must be kept out of children's reach.

- REMEMBER, if the opener is not functioning properly, call for qualified service immediately.

Your garage door is the largest piece of moving equipment in your home. A good door is both safe and energy efficient. When properly operated and maintained, it can open the door to more convenience and savings.

If you have questions, send them to GARAGE DOORS, Frank Fitzgerald, 3950 Lake Shore Drive, Chicago, IL 60613.

NEWS OF STAMPS

Roses Bloom On Israeli Postage

Some of the hundreds of varieties of roses that bloom in profusion in the land of Israel also decorate the country's postage stamps.

Just three varieties of the many roses that bloom in profusion in Israel are seen on these three issues of the country's postage stamps.

Modern Israel prides itself on its cultivation of roses. Horticulturists say there is no variety that won't bloom in Israel. Today they form one of the country's major export crops.

Roses have been known in the Holy Land as far back as anyone can remember. Experts believe that the roses seen by the ancients might be the Rosa Phoenicia, the wild rose with clusters of white blossoms, that still blooms conspicuously today.

Today, rose lovers and stamp lovers can share the beauty of these lovely blossoms through postage issues that proclaim one of the on-living glories of this ancient land.

Prepare to start early to prevent teen suicide

Suicide is second only to accidents as the leading cause of death in 15 to 24-year-olds, says Cindy B. Wilson, family life education specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, Texas A&M University System.

The Suicide Prevention Center in Los Angeles, Calif., estimates 50 percent of teen suicides are disguised as accidents. Adolescent females make 15 to 20 percent of all suicide attempts. "Since there are many more attempts to commit suicide by adolescents than by adults, experts see this as a cry for help," Wilson says.

Many suicides can be prevented if parents, families, peers, teachers, school counselors and children themselves take some preventive measures, she adds.

Research indicates the following factors are involved in the teen suicide problem:

1. A home environment in which the teen feels unloved, unwanted, and a burden on parents and the family.
2. Parent/child difficulties which result in a loss of love and parental approval.
3. Some research reports that a confusion of role identity caused by the current blurring or blending of roles by males and females and divorce of parents plus the blending of several families to form stepfamilies are influences on potential teen suicide.
4. Loss of someone — especially a parent — through death, divorce, separation, or the breakup of an adolescent romantic relationship precipitates suicide.
5. Stress of school competition and actual or anticipated failure contributes to suicide.
6. Depression and problems in dealing with sexual identity.
7. The normal process of growing and developing through the adolescent life stage can sometimes be so stressful that teens will try to commit suicide. However, most suicides are due to multiple factors, not just being an adolescent.

Prevention of teenage suicide should begin early in the child's life, Wilson says.

Some things families can do are:

1. Provide opportunities for gradual acceptance of responsibilities and experience in making decisions and solving problems so teens are not overwhelmed with suddenly learning to do these things while going through one of the most stressful life stages.
2. Establish positive lines of communication, encouraging the child or teen to talk with you about anything, especially their feelings, values, and problems.
3. Provide healthy opportunities to deal with death so the death of a parent will not be quite so stressful.
4. Encourage children to do well in their school work, but refrain from stressing the competitive aspects. Let children and teens know you accept them and not just their grades.

If there is a divorce, assist the child in having as stable a home life as possible. Provide the child with experience in having an opposite gender parental figure. This may be accomplished through a relative, volunteer organization, church or remarriage.

6. Understand your child/teen well enough so that you become aware of any noticeable changes in behavior, moods, grades, emotional and peer relationships, eating, sleeping, and personal hygiene habits. A combination of these changes can indicate depression, a prime factor in suicide.

"Teen suicide is probably one of the most difficult crises a family can experience. Prevention is a key and the family is the most important factor in providing an environment in which a teen can develop in ways which will lead toward their desiring life, not an escape from it through death," Wilson says.

Events To Remember

On April 23, 1968, the Army Reserve became the first federal military reserve to be organized.

The value of a strong reserve was demonstrated during the Korean Hostilities when a record 240,500 Army Reservists were called to active duty. In the first year of the conflict, when military activity was the heaviest, Army Reservists won six of the 27 medals of honor and a quarter of other top combat decorations.

In 1970, the Department of Defense unveiled a new "Total Force Concept" which gave the Army Reserve a starring role in our National Security Strategy. The Army Reserve today is better able to support the active force than at any time in its history. In this regard, it contributes to the Total Army 68 percent of light equipment maintenance units, 56 percent of Army security agency units, 44 percent of medical units and 33 percent of special forces.

Think Steak! Affordable Steak!

A simple chuck steak brushed with oil and lemon juice and broiled as-you-like-it. Serve with broiled tomatoes, crusty bread and red wine.

Ask anyone what his favorite meal is; the answer is likely to be steak. Good restaurants feature it and it is most often served at home when there's something to celebrate.

Celebrating or not, think steak, affordable steak! Chuck and round steaks can be just as delicious as the expensive kind when you know how to cook them. Broil or pan-broil until nicely browned on each side, but still rare inside. This is important — long cooking at this point can toughen the meat. Then, carve in thin diagonal slices.

Beef is a bargain nutritionally, too. Along with high quality protein (all the essential amino acids), it provides B complex vitamins like riboflavin and niacin and the essential minerals iron, copper and phosphorus in the cheapest as well as the costliest cuts of beef. A hidden plus of the lean round steaks is the small amount of fat.

During the special Beef Round Up try this IGA® Tablette® recipe for Chuck Steak, Italian Style. It's simple enough for family; delicious enough for company.

STEAK, ITALIAN-STYLE

- 2 lb chuck steak, 1 1/2-in thick
- Lemon juice
- Olive or salad oil
- Salt, cracked black pepper
- Chopped parsley

Place steak on rack in broiler pan. Mix 1/4 cup lemon juice and 1/4 cup olive oil. Brush top of steak with some of mixture. Sprinkle lightly with salt and a few turns of the pepper mill.

Broil 3 to 4 inches from heat 15 minutes. Turn steak; brush with olive oil mixture; sprinkle with salt and pepper. Broil 12 to 15 minutes for rare.

Place on hot platter; spoon on any leftover oil mixture, sprinkle with chopped parsley. Slice thinly on the diagonal with sharp carving knife. Serves 6.

For well done steak: sprinkle each side with unseasoned instant meat tenderizer following package directions; broil as above.

REPORT FROM
SECRETARY OF STATE
DAVID A. DEAN

Elections Update

The Secretary of State Election Central (SSEC) project involving vote tabulation beginning with the November general election is well under way. The formats of the ballots to be reported on election night are in final testing stages. Clerks across Texas have been contacted, and an overwhelming 251 of the 254 clerks will report vote totals to the SSEC on election night. In addition, volunteer election inspectors will be available in many county clerks' offices throughout the State to assist in the reporting of votes to the Secretary of State Election Central. To date, 17 separate news media will be on hand in the Secretary of State's Office on November 2 to receive first-hand vote totals and in turn pass on these most up-to-date totals to the citizens of Texas. In addition, the Associated Press and United Press International will be making reports available to the Texas media via their direct computer hookup to the Secretary of State's computer.

All registered voters are reminded that the absentee voting period by personal appearance for the November 2 general election is October 13 through October 29th. Voters should contact their county clerks to confirm the time and location for absentee voting in their county.

On election day, polls will be open from 7:00 a.m. to 7:00 p.m. In Harris and Dallas counties, polls will open one hour earlier at 6:00 a.m. and remain open until 7:00 p.m.

The Elections Division of the Secretary of State's Office will be fully staffed on election day and throughout election night. Any citizen having an election question may call toll-free at 1-800-252-9602. Bilingual assistance will be available.

Texas voters are encouraged to determine and confirm in advance of election day the location of their polling place. A list of polling places by address will no doubt be printed in your local newspaper.

Any citizen observing an election irregularity on election day is encouraged to contact the Elections Division toll-free at 1-800-252-9602. It is the goal of the Secretary of State's Office to have over 300 volunteer election inspectors across the State to assist election officials on election day.

All eligible voters are strongly encouraged to fully exercise their right to vote. The November 2, 1982, general election will determine the outcome of the seven statewide executive offices, up for election and Texans will also vote for several seats on the Supreme Court, Texas Court of Criminal Appeals, for various district and appeals courts posts around the State, and Amendments to the Texas Constitution. In addition, votes will be cast for one U.S. Senator, our 27 Congressmen, and all of our State Senators and Representatives.

Veterans should review life insurance policies

Veterans should review their life insurance policies periodically to assure that the beneficiary designation is correct, advises the Director, Waco Veterans Administration Regional Office.

Experience shows that the designated beneficiary may turn out to be a deceased spouse or parent or a divorced spouse. An insurance policy is a contract with which the VA is required to comply. No one, including the courts, can change it after the veteran's death.

For further information, telephone the Waco VA Regional Office toll-free number listed in your telephone directory.

Fire Prevention Week

Youngsters at the St. John's Lutheran Preschool received a visit from the Winters Volunteer Fire Department last week during the National Fire Prevention Week. Firemen Mike Meyer and Glenn Hoppe instructed the children in basic fire prevention, and what to do in the event of a fire. Following the classroom session, the youngsters went for a ride on the firetruck.

Planning to retire? Apply for Social Security benefits

People planning to retire in early 1983 should start making serious plans right now if they have not yet done so. A part of this planning should be applying for Social Security retirement benefits, Frank Upp, Social Security District Manager in San Angelo, said recently.

Applying for benefits at the proper time is very important, Upp said. This is because benefit payments are geared to the month of application.

For example, a person applying after reaching 65 generally can receive benefits for up to 6 months before the month of application, but not before the month he or she reaches 65. A person applying between 62 and 65 cannot generally get any benefits for months before the month of application.

In addition, a person can receive benefits only for months he or she meets eligibility requirements for the entire month. Generally, this means that unless a person was born on the first day of a month, he or she cannot get a benefit for the month of his or her 62nd birthday. The first benefit payable is for the following month.

Before applying, a person should gather together the required evidence. This includes his or her social security card or a record of the number, birth or baptismal certificate, and forms W-2 or self-employment tax returns for the past two years. If this evidence is not available, the people at the Social Security office may be able to suggest substitutes.

An application can be made either in person or by telephone, whichever is most convenient. The application process can be started by phone and completed by mail.

More information about Social Security benefits can be obtained at the San Angelo Social Security Office, located at 2214 Sherwood Way, phone 949-4608.

Inflation-Fighting HOME MAINTENANCE IDEAS

The very best time to reroof your house is BEFORE you have to. Putting it off can spell trouble. A badly worn roof, leaking during a rainy season, may cause severe structural damage to your house costing thousands of unnecessary dollars.

Roofing is a big job, but like most things it's not as difficult as it looks, once you know how. The professional labor cost savings may make it well worth learning how to do it yourself.

Only basic tools are required to install modern three-tab shingles. Patience, good safety habits and an interest in doing the job right are the most important requirements.

The makers of Georgia-Pacific roofing materials suggest that you thoroughly acquaint yourself with the steps in roofing procedures and read the instructions on the back of shingle bundles until you understand them thoroughly. They also advise asking your building supply retailer to help you figure the materials needed for your roof.

If you have qualms about the job, check the pitch of your roof. A pitch between four and six inches per foot is the easiest for a do-it-yourselfer to install. Those with less or greater pitch may require special application techniques best left to professionals.

If you're thinking about roof replacement, an inspection tour is indicated. If the shingles are past 15 years of age, they are prime for replacement.

Look for brittle, cupped or curled shingles with most of the protective granules worn away. Worn-off granules often collect at the base of rain gutter down-

Clean up your air

Indoor pollutants are a hidden health threat. Are they conquering your home's air?

If, so clean up your air, advises Dr. Jane Berry, a housing and home furnishings specialist on the home economics staff of the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System.

Indoor pollutants that are potential hazards for humans include carbon dioxide, carbon monoxide, formaldehyde gas, ultraviolet light waves, other chemical vapors, dust, pollen and tobacco smoke, she says.

Berry recommends three methods for controlling indoor pollution:

1. Allow enough fresh outside air to come inside to dilute indoor pollutants by using an air-to-air heat exchange system to pre-heat or pre-cool outside air. As the system pre-heats or pre-cools outside air, it saves energy that would otherwise be used by our main cooling or heating system — and it cleans your inside air. This system is a small supplemental device available from many heating and cooling companies.

2. Bring outside air indoors with adequate ventilation — this could be eave vents or simply the occasional opening of windows and doors.

3. Use filters, air cleaners or heating or cooling coils to remove smoke, odors and other pollutants.

High Blood Pressure Is Serious Business

Health Care Tips From The Experts At Smith Kline & French Laboratories

Question: What is high blood pressure?

Answer: High blood pressure is a warning. It tells you your heart is working too hard at pumping blood through your body.

Question: How do you know when your blood pressure is too high?

Answer: You can have high blood pressure for years and not know it. Your doctor can tell if your blood pressure is too high.

If you have high blood pressure, taking your medication daily is vital.

Question: What do the numbers mean?

Answer: When the doctor takes your blood pressure, he gets two numbers. The high number is called the systolic reading. This measures pressure in the blood vessels when the heart is stressed. The low figure is called the diastolic reading. It measures the pressure between pumps, when the heart is at rest.

Question: Who gets high blood pressure?

Answer: Anybody can get high blood pressure. But more older people have high blood pressure. More men than women get high blood pressure. And more blacks than whites.

Question: What can high blood pressure do to you?

Answer: High blood pressure is the major cause of heart attacks, strokes and kidney disease.

Question: What can you do about high blood pressure?

Answer: High blood pressure can be lowered and kept down. But it cannot be cured. You may have to take medicine for the rest of your life to keep your blood pressure right.

Question: How is blood pressure lowered?

Answer: There are many good drugs to lower blood pressure. Many doctors will tell you to take "water pills." These pills help rid the body of too much salt and water. Other pills bring blood pressure down by working on the blood vessels or slowing down the heart. Whatever your doctor tells you to take will only work if you take it as you are told.
