South Runnels County Local Option election defeated

Justice Precinct 1, southern Runnels County, will remain dry following the defeat of a proposal that would have allowed the legal sale of alcoholic beverages for off-premise consumption. The issue was defeated by a 62-vote margin.

A total of 1,538 votes were cast in the election with 800 votes being against the issue and 728 for the issue. County officials said that the voter turnout was good, but not as heavy as expected.

More than half of the 2,878 registered voters in boxes 1, 7, and 8 went to the polls in the emotional issue. Of the three voting boxes involved in the election, only one box carried the issue—Box 8 at the Ballinger City Hall. In that box 289 votes were cast for the legal sales of alcoholic beverage and 146 were against the issue.

In voting Box 1, at the courthouse, 311 votes were cast against the issue and 289 votes were for the proposition. Box 7, the Ballinger Community Center, 198 negative votes were cast and 112 votes were tallied for the issue.

A total of 257 absentee ballots were cast in the local option election with 145 of those votes being against the issue and 112 for the proposition.

The election marked the first attempt to legalize the sale of alcoholic beverage in Ballinger since 1957. A similar election failed in Winters three years ago.

The communities of Miles and Rowena are the only areas in Runnels County that allow the legal sale of the beverages. In Rowena the issue was approved in 1959 and Miles voters gave their approval in 1974.

Wait a minute...

Well, they didn't forget about us. They just forgot what they were going to send us.

I received a news release in the mail this week from a little-known state agency with the unlikely name of the Texas Low-Level Radioactive Waste Disposal Authority. Now how about that!

You remember them? They are the good old boys in Austin that want to dig holes in West Texas and bury somebody else's radioactive trash. About a month or so ago, one of them promised to send us information about whatever it is they want to do with what, where. We never received it.

I had almost reached the point of relaxing and not worrying about whether my back yard, or my pecan trees, or water well would start glowing in the dark. I figured that if these fellows could not even send us the information they said they would that they would forget what it was they were planning on doing around here.

Not so, I guess. It seems they have set their sights on an area about 60 or 70 miles northwest of us (on the other side of the mountain)—that's what we heard on the television or read in the big city newspapers.

Why, that government bureau even has a board of directors with members from Dallas, Houston, and El Paso. Also there is a member from College Station, maybe he is an Aggie.

Well, anyway, they had a board of directors meeting in Houston (wouldn't you know it) and from the press release, didn't do too much.

We did learn just what it they want to bury somewhere. The waste includes materials contaminated with radioactivity from hospitals, laboratories, and other industries which handle or process radioactive materials, but does not include high-level radioactive wastes in the form of spent fuel from nuclear power reactors.

They are talking about a total of more than 135,000 cubic feet of low level radioactive waste produced just in Texas each year.

Now back when everybody was hot to trot to learn how to use devices to measure radioactivity, we learned that the radium, or whatever that green stuff was that made the hands on my Mickey Mouse glow, was enough to make the geiger counter sound off. Just imagine what these tons of stuff would do.

Now, they are going to have to put that stuff somewhere. We all know that. Lets just hope they find a good spot somewhere, not around here.

Maybe, all we have to worry about now is some little snake that was not discovered until about 40 years ago. You know that some of those fellows on Uncle's payroll to find ways to spend our tax money are trying to convince everyone that the snake is nearing extinction. More power to him (the snake, I mean).

Crimestoppers August crime of the month

Runnels County Crimestoppers has designated the February 24th burglary of the Country Quick Stop grocery in Miles as the Crime of the Month.

Crimestoppers officials said that the Crime of the Month occurred sometime between midnight and 6:00 a.m. on February 24. Entry to the business was gained by cutting through the tin wall at the back of the building. The burglars took approximately $100 in change from two vending machines and about $50 in bills from a filing cabinet.

Also taken in the burglary was a Ruger model 77, 22-250 caliber rifle and an adding machine.

Anyone with information concerning the burglary is asked to call Crimestoppers by dialing the operator and asking for Enterprise 67574. The call is toll-free from anywhere in Runnels County and the caller may remain anonymous.

Out of uniform

Winters Police Chief L.C. Foster got in some exercise Monday installing more parking meters in the business district of Winters.

Foster and Carlton Parks of the Village Blacksmith were working together to install the meters in areas where meter posts had long since been removed.

The installation of additional meters was okayed by the city council several months ago in response to suggestions from Winters merchants.

Season tickets now on sale

Season tickets for the Winters Blizzards 1983 football season are now on sale at the school business office.

The tickets are being offered on a first come-first served basis this year and each set of reserved seat tickets will cost $15 for the five home games.

Individual tickets for each game will be $3.00 for adults and $1.50 for students.

The Blizzards have been picked to win their district this season and will play Cisco, Eastland, Hawley, Jim Ned, Anson, Baird, and Albany enroute to the district crown.

the grades are overloaded and another class must be organized with a new teacher that must be hired and the shifting that occurs is not good for the students. In the 1980-81 school year, a new kindergarten class was created. In the same year, a teacher was hired in February to relieve the overcrowded condition in the fourth grade. In the 1981-82 school year, after school started, a new fourth grade teacher was hired. In the 1982-83 school year, after school started, a new kindergarten teacher was hired.

We would like to have all of the students in Winters that are going to be in our school system enrolled before school starts. At the present time, there are 72 students enrolled in kindergarten and we have three teachers. If we limit our classes to a reasonable number per teacher, we may not be able to enroll anymore students after school starts.

If you have a child that you plan to enroll in school this year, 1983-84, you MUST ENROLL this child on Friday, August 19, 1983. Bring to the school office birth certificates for kindergarten students and immunization records for all students that you plan to enroll. THE STUDENTS NEED NOT BE PRESENT TO ENROLL.

If you know of any families that are new, please inform them of the necessity of this registration. If you have any questions, please contact the school offices at 754-4031 or 754-4037.

The Aloha State

If there is one word that best describes Hawaii's lifestyle, it is the word aloha, pronounced ah-low-HAH, with great enthusiasm.

Aloha has many meanings to many people, including hello, goodly and love. In fact, there has been much confusion on its precise meaning, but people agree that there is a spirit that makes Hawaii a special place. Admittedly, all islanders may not display the aloha spirit, but The Magic Travelers experienced this wonderful greeting in all three islands that we visited; Oahu, Maui, and Kauai.

The Kidak Hula show on Wednesday morning was a free show, but is so popular that we had to go early to be assured of a seat. It is held in the city park.

Joe Eastman has done much to promote the cause of Kodak since the show started in 1937. He said that the dance is a description of a story being told. These people had no written language and they sought to record their history by song and dance. The Hula dancers are the cultural expression today of what Hawaii was in the past. The hands tell the story and the swaying of the body makes it more attractive.

The Royal Hawaiian Girls Glee Club are the only musicians that have ever performed for the Kidak show. They got together in 1922 at the Y.W.C.A. and played at the Pink Palace for 25 years. The area next to the Waikiki Shell Amphitheater is the setting for the show and the coconut tree thatched hut background is reminiscent of Hawaii in the 1930's. A narrator describes the program as it unfolds. The days of the King are presented with royal colors of red and gold. The old hawaiian dances and chants to the Goddess of Hula are given by the tu-tus (grandmothers). They also tell the death of the King in 1891 and sing the song that their last queen wrote in 1895. The graceful motions of the dancers' hands tell the story, beginning with the sun and moon, skys and gentle winds, white clouds, palms, rainbow and rain clouds. Next the waterfalls, lakes, rivers, and streams are described. Then the mountains, trees, green grass, and plains, the deep blue ocean, flowers, and leis. There is also a song and dance describing the body of their queen: "To you sitting so graciously on your throne; your shoulders shapely and hands so graceful, with heart full of tender love."

The modern songs and dances followed with the most beautiful being Holi Hula. The skirts are made from the ti (tee) leaf, and are a rich dark green. It takes from 200 to 300 leaves to make a skirt, depending on waist measurement. These skirts are sprinkled with water and put in the refrigerator for the next show. They last for three or four shows. A head band, lei around the neck, and a red top to the skirt complete the costume.

The Hawaiians also use their instruments in the dance, the split bamboos and the feathered gourd. Their theme song is the "Royal Hawaiian Hotel". Ample time is allowed for picture taking as the dancers pose and also at intermission. The only original member of the Glee Club who continues with the group is Ann Smith, it was her 87th birthday, and she was introduced.

"Tahitian Hotel", the only original song and the only number where we leave the island was presented by four women in beautiful grass skirts, each of a different color: purple, gold, green, and yellow.

The Kidak fashion show number was the tu-tus wearing the muumuus (moo-moos) in an informal dance where they do not wear shoes, it is more comfortable without them. It is surprising how graceful the grandmothers are. Auntie Mattie said, "The missionaries came and taught us to wear clothes and now we are shocked to see people come to our island so scantily dressed."

The presentation of leis is a big part of any show in Hawaii, and are given to many people for various reasons, but always to the youngest and oldest married couples.

Pounding of poi, the old fashioned way, was demonstrated. Eastman said, "You feed us grits when we visit you and we feed you poi." Poi is good protein and expensive, but no one seems to like it, they say it tastes like glue. One of the guides told me it has no taste. It is supposed to be mixed with other foods. She seemed vexed with our ignorance.

The show wound up with free Hula lessons for the crowd. Eastman said, "You can't learn the Hula sitting on your Kua (koo-oh)".

The Hawaiians want you to have a piece of the action and do a good job of getting everyone involved.

There was little time to learn the Hula, as we had to eat lunch, dress, and leave the hotel at 12:45 for the Polynesian Cultural Center at Laie, 40 miles from Waikiki.

This center was established in 1963 by the Mormon Church as a non-profit and cultural activity to introduce visitors to the beautiful arts, crafts, and lifestyles of the people of Polynesia. It also provides jobs and scholarships for Polynesian students attending the Brigham Young University-Hawaii Campus. Each year, the majority of BYU-Hawaii students "work" their way through college by singing, dancing, and other assignments at the center. The Polynesian Cultural Center is a 42 acre living museum.

The first event of the afternoon was the pageant of the long canoes. This waterborne revue at 3 p.m. was truly a photographers delight. Islanders in colorful costumes performed their dances as they drifted through the center's lagoon. We were there just in time to purchase a macadamia nut ice cream cone before finding a place in the shade to watch this exciting performance.

Each canoe that drifted slowly by was a show within itself. We saw a Hawaiian court scene and dancers. The Fijians were doing an authentic spear dance, which seemed quite fierce, while the Tahitian entertainers were singing in their canoe. The warriors of the Maori demonstrated the fierce look they use to ward off enemies. Their size accompanied by the war paint made them look ferocious. The Samoan dancers provided a little comedy by pushing a man overboard. The Tongas show deep pride in their heritage by a dance to a poem, often composed in honor of a great person, with music, both men and women wore grass skirts over their clothing.

Several of us decided to take the tram shuttle that went from village to village and by not getting off at each stop we could save some time for shopping, of which there never seemed to be enough time for our favorite sport. At each stop, the young driver became very upset and told us we had to get off. (I guess he didn't know that we once fought the Indians) One of the fierce Maori warriors came by and made a face at me—but we just sat and salvaged enough time to visit two gift shops before dinner was served. The buffet featured foods with a local flavor, and all you could eat. They had at least six kinds of desserts and I took a sample of all of them.

The Polynesian brass band was playing some very fine music and we listened for a short while until it was time to go in for the 1 1/2 hour show, called "Invitation to Paradise." A cast of 150 performers led us from the legendary beginnings through the days of the missionary to the Polynesia of today.

They emerged from the dim past, mastered the open sea, and confronted the unknown (the 12 million square mile world of the South Pacific). Their fragile fleets, built by hand, touched landfalls of untold beauty and lush islands. In essence the Polynesian Cultural Center in Hawaii is the wide world of the South Pacific in miniature. Here are the Golden People of Today. In origin, they are the same; there is a sameness about their dances and chants, however, each of the six major groups has had centuries to develop the subtle differences and similarities that mark their individual life styles.

Thursday was our last day on Oahu and after going to the Ala Moana shopping center for lunch and a few purchases, we spent the rest of the day goofing off or "just messing around", as the Hawaiians say.

We did have to pack our bags, which was a bigger job than it sounds. Those few purchases seemed to have multiplied. The next morning, Bob Evans told us that somebody's bag must have had a baby, we had more suitcases than we started with.

As we dressed for the Don Ho Dinner Show at the Hilton Hawaiian Village Dome that night, there was some speculation as to what we would see and hear. "I hope it is not another buffet-dinner," was one remark overheard. But, little did we know, that there was another star performer in our group (Freddie Bredemeyer was our star last year on the Lawrence Welk show at Holland, Michigan).

Don Ho had a professional organization and he was a superb showman. The golden boys came out with leis before dinner and gave one a hug, not a kiss this time, if there was not a partner to perform the act. An excellent dinner was served, not a buffet. Our pictures appeared on the table and Don Ho autographed them if they were brought to his dressing room before the show. This time ones picture was snapped sitting in a chair by Don Ho and later these pictures were for sale. It was an endless process. Some people bought three pictures and they were not cheap.

The grandmothers are privileged people in Hawaii,

Wilson reunion held in Abilene

The Wilson reunion was held at the Abilene State Park over the weekend.

Those attending were Mr. and Mrs. Winfred Reel, Mrs. Ted Eoff, S.C. and Don Ho asked all the grandmothers to come to the stage. He gave each a kiss and asked two to do a dance step with him, one was Edna Musgrove and the other was a black woman. He said, "I feel like a rainbow, she's white, she's black, and I'm ecrue." Both women were given a prize for their performances and their pictures were taken of which they had the privilege to by later.

In his first appearance, Don Ho wore white trousers, black coat and a black and white lei. In the second act he wore a brilliant blue coat with white trousers and a white lei. The cast of singers and dancers gave a worthwhile performance and his female soloist was excellent. But I couldn't believe what I heard, Don Ho snorted, and mumbled his words, and his singing was not too good. We decided he was getting old, our bus driver said that he was 102.

No one knew what happened to Edna's prize. The next morning we said Aloha to Oahu.

POKIN' FUN By Doc Blakely

"Love is blind," according to some great philosopher. I don't know for sure who said that, but I've narrowed it down to two strong possibilities — Elizabeth Taylor and Zsa Zsa Gabor. Maybe blind isn't the proper word but neither is far-sighted.

Some folks have been to the altar so many times their wedding shoes are on roller skates.

Of course, there are some who would like to get to the altar and make a sacrifice but either neither get asked or just prefer to go through life with this strange complex — a feeling of adequacy. The single person sure has a different lifestyle, or so I'm told. I can only imagine what it must be like.

The fellows on weekends can get up whenever they like, squeeze their toothpaste tube in the middle if they want to, eat a raw egg for breakfast, watch TV dressed only in boxer shorts and one sock; they can even give the dog a bath in the kitchen sink in complete confidence that the garbage disposal will sanitize the entire proceedings as it was designed to do.

Single men prepare a gourmet luncheon with six items neatly separated into little compartments that does not allow one food to touch another — very important because he thinks his stomach has similar sections to keep ingredients in the right place until ready for assimilation by the body. The "bachelor's friend," the microwave oven, is used to prepare this sumptuous feast. Many bachelors eat so many TV dinners that they can just look at a piece of tinfoil and get hungry.

But when night falls, the single man goes out in single file, with a single purpose . . . to double up. Alas, as years slip by, fewer girls are on the market and the bachelor becomes more and more choosy finding every excuse to avoid dating anyone who doesn't measure up to his high standards of outstanding beauty, unbelievable charm and very poor eyesight.

The single woman probably has a similar lifestyle but less chance to do much about it because society has decreed that man is the aggressor and it does little good to play hide and seek if nobody will hunt for you. Perhaps that is why the never-married, single girl drew up a will that made sure her estate went to an all girl's private college if her palbearers were all women. Her parting show at the reading of the will, "They wouldn't take me out when I was alive, they won't take me out now."

Wayne and Felicia La Cosse of Del Rio spent several days this week with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Benton Cassaday and Zane.

Saturday afternoon, Marvie Jo Kerby, daughter, Vickie of Amarillo, Roland, Sammy Kerby, Heather, Ephram of San Antonio, and Lemma Fuller of Coleman visited Wesley's family in our home.

Felicia La Cosse visited with me on Thursday morning.

Mrs. Clyde Hollinger and her sister, Inez Karle of Amarillo, went to Albuquerque, New Mexico, last weekend to a family reunion.

Mr. and Mrs. Kenny Sanders and Darla of Llano visited his aunt, Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Hollinger, last Saturday.

Last week Karen Hicks kept her ten month old nephew, Justin Calcote, fourth Monday during the next new year.

The next meeting will be September 12th in the home of Mary Louise Alderman. She will act as the hostess. Savannah Thompson will bring the program, entitled, "Things that make for Peace".

The United Methodist Women of The Blackwell United Methodist Church met Monday afternoon, August 1st, at 3:00 p.m. in the home of Mrs. Gene (Betty) Cole with eleven members and one visitor attending. Betty acted as hostess.

This was a called meeting, as the ladies do not meet until the second Monday of each month. Betty was unable to have the meeting next Monday as she will be out of town.

Mrs. T.J. Oden, president, opened the meeting by reading a poem entitled "Meeting God", which was very good.

A short business session was held, at which time the secretary and the treasurer gave their reports and the reading of the minutes of the last meeting. They all stood approved as read.

Mrs. Oden also read the newsletter and other correspondences. New business and old business was taken care of.

Mrs. Oden then adjourned the meeting and turned the program over to Betty. The program, a very good one, was on "Stress". She was assisted by Dona Sanderson and Elaine Hood.

The closing prayer was voiced by Dona Sanderson.

A refreshment plate was served to members Sanderson, Hood, Winnie Oden, Ida Oden, Juanita McRorey, Emma Lee Lanier, Gracie Spence, Esther Smith, Savannah Thompson, Mary Louise Alderman and her little granddaughter, Carrie Parsons.

This is the last meeting for the summer but the group will reconvene on September 12th and will meet each second and

NOW. A REFRIGERATOR THAT DOES SOMETHING YOUR OLD ONE CAN'T.

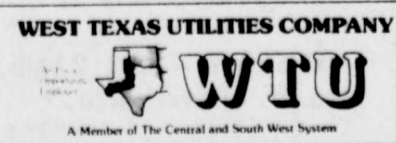

PAY YOU BACK.

If you own a frostless refrigerator 10 years old, or older, you can't afford to keep it. The reason? The rising cost of energy. Yesterday's refrigerators simply weren't made for today's energy costs. Today's Frigidaire Frost-Proof Refrigerators are. In fact, they're so energy efficient they'll almost pay for themselves.

To prove that, we've prepared the above chart. It shows how much money you'll save on energy, in just 10 years, by replacing a 10 year old 17.0 cubic foot Frigidaire Frost-Proof model with the new 18.0 cubic foot Frigidaire Frost-Proof model in this ad. (Even if your old refrigerator is another brand, your savings will probably be just as much, or more.) *Based on Frigidaire Engineering Analysis. Full details available.

So come in today. Let us show you the entire energy-saving, money-saving Frigidaire story. And take home the refrigerator that pays you back.

The Banvel® herbicide advantage... Roots out bindweed on Set-Aside/ PIK or harvested acres.

NOW: Get a clean start in '84.

Bindweed and other tough perennial broadleaf weeds keep coming back — getting worse every season. But you can root out bindweed and the rest of these stubborn weeds after harvest or on idle acres with Banvel® herbicide.

When you use Banvel herbicide at recommended rates in a Between Crops Application, you kill perennials clear through the roots — so they can't creep back. Use Banvel herbicide before a killing frost. It penetrates weed leaves. Is absorbed by the roots. Moves through the entire plant — leaf-tip to root-tip. Then rotates back to wheat, corn or milo.

Get the control you need for bindweed... Texas blueweed... woolly leaf bursage... and other tough broadleaf perennials.

Root out your toughest perennial problems with a Banvel herbicide Between Crops Application. Get maximum production from those acres next season. See your ag chem supplier for the full story.

National Ranchers Registry expands

The National Ranchers Registry, Inc., a computerized information exchange for agri-business buyers and sellers, based here, continues its aggressive expansion.

Focus is now in Kansas with plans to expand eastward in the next month to a goal of nationwide fulfillment by the end of 1983. States presently with active NRR area representatives include Texas, Arkansas, New York, Colorado, Kansas, Louisiana, Oklahoma, New Mexico, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Bill Johnson of Gouldbusk, Texas. She will be featured nightly at the rodeo as well as in the downtown Coleman parades on Thursday and Saturday at 5:00 p.m. Thursday's parade will feature floats, bands, and etc. and Saturday's parade will host the area riding clubs.

Coleman County Queen... Melinda Johnson is Jr. Rodeo Queen

The 27th annual Coleman County Junior Rodeo will be held on August 11th, 12th, and 13th at the Coleman Rodeo Grounds. Runt Sloan of Newcastle, Texas will produce this year's rodeo with nightly performances at 8:00 p.m.

Runnels County Grain Sorghum Tour

The Runnels County Crops Committee announced the Grain Sorghum Tour would be held on Tuesday, August 16th, according to Allen Turner, County Extension Agent.

The tour will begin at the Lange farm at Norton, at 9:00 a.m. Other stops will be at the David and Wyoming.

"The addition of increased disk storage capacity has greatly improved our capability for storing more subscriber data and speedier retrieval of this data," stated Dick Bailey, NRR Director. "A word processing capability has also been added, enabling office procedures to be streamlined."

"Discussions with IBM representatives for an IBM System 34, or a new system 36, which would permit us to establish a terminal leasing system for specified subscribers, are continuing," reports Bailey.

Aptly labeled "the greatest tool for the rancher since they invented the cowboy," NRR was devised in collaboration with Sunbelt Agro-Media Services and Qix Group, Ltd., of Wilmington, Delaware. The company formed to offer the databank services across the nation is NRR.

Initially NRR concentrated in the areas of Texas, New Mexico, Colorado, and Oklahoma. The debut of NRR last spring marked the first change in marketing and merchandising techniques for agriculture in this century. When the American agricultural economy continued its course of deterioration, NRR officials prompted a study of traditional marketing habits. This was born the computer concept and NRR.

"We are proud to announce that the agribusiness community has given strong support for our new tele-marketing concept," adds Bailey. "The additional area representatives have already begun forwarding new subscriptions to San Antonio, and we are extremely happy with the response. The system is working well!"

Workman farm, 1/2 mile north east of Hatchel, and the David Rohmfeld farm, 1 plot of Rohmfelds is, turn left off of Hwy 67 on FM Rd. 1678, go 3/4 of a mile, 2nd plot in FM Rd. 2133 and 1874, on the north side of the road.

All producers are encouraged to attend the tour and make comparisons of the different varieties.

Mopeds must be registered by Sept. 1st

House Bill 825, enacted by the recent session of the Texas Legislature, establishes a new "Moped" license plate classification and deletes any reference to "motor-assisted" bicycles from the state statutes. The new law becomes effective on September 1.

Under provisions of House Bill 825, the Department of Public Safety will certify vehicles, including all motor-assisted bicycles, that qualify as mopeds and compile a list of the various models of certified mopeds. Any vehicle purported to be a moped which does not appear on this certification list shall be registered and titled as a motorcycle.

When the owner of a certified moped applies for registration or renewal of registration on or after September 1, 1983, a distinctive Moped License Plate shall be issued; and a special Motorcycle/Moped Validation Sticker must be affixed to the plate by the tax collector. The month sticker to be issued shall be the same as the month sticker displayed on the license plate previously issued for the vehicle; or in the case of a new, or out of state moped, the month sticker to be issued shall be determined by the registration period assigned which shall be one year from the date of application as in the case of motorcycles.

According to Runnels County Tax Collector VaRue McWilliams, mopeds are no longer exempt from the Certificate of Title Act. Under the provisions of the new law, which becomes effective September 1, 1983, no person (other than a dealer) may register, sell, trade, or otherwise transfer a moped within the State of Texas unless a certificate of title has been applied for and issued in the name of the owner. Motorcycles and mopeds designed and used exclusively on golf courses are specifically exempted from this new law.

This new state law says that an individual who is the owner of a moped as of September 1, must secure a certificate of title in his name at the time such vehicle is re-registered and before such vehicle can be transferred to another owner.

The frame serial number is to be used as the vehicle identification number on all applications for certificate of title covering mopeds. If a moped does not have a serial number die-stamped on the frame, an assigned vehicle identification number must be obtained from the state and be placed on the vehicle before an application for title may be accepted.

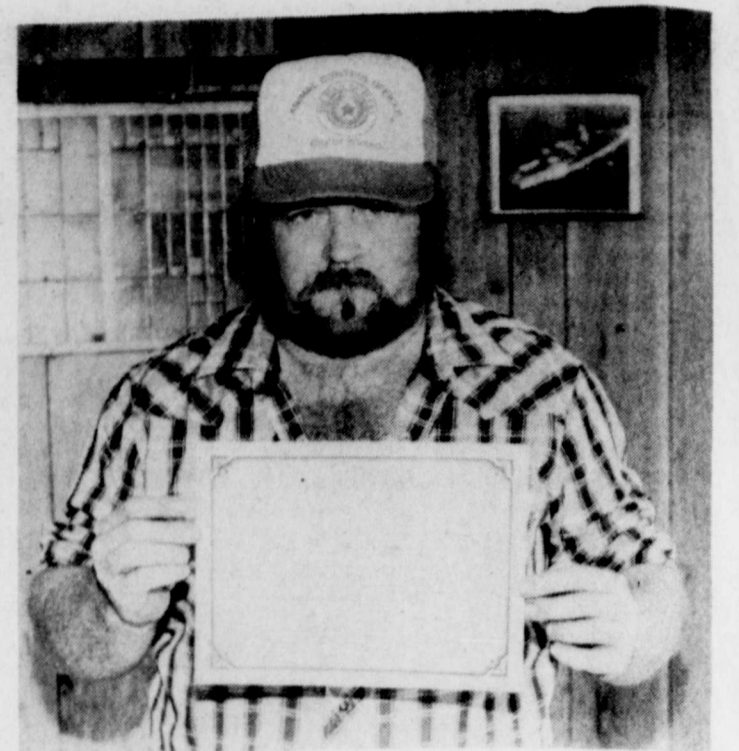

State officials say that in order to implement the provisions of the new law, the public must be made aware of the law.

Mrs. McWilliams said that since mopeds will now come under the Certificate of Title Act, dealers, banks, and other lending institutions may wish to take advantage of the new law as soon as possible and perfect their liens in accordance with the provisions of the Certificate of Title Act.

Lotta' melon

It may not look so big in this picture, but this cantaloupe weighed in at just over eleven pounds when picked over the weekend.

The proud owner, who declined to be identified, was as secretive about the location of his melon patch as a fisherman is about his special fishing spot.

The owner did, however, let us say the big cantaloupe was grown near Winters and that it was not alone in the melon patch.
