WISD Board raises tax rate, adopts new budget

During their regular meeting last Tuesday night, the trustees of the Winters Independent School District voted to raise the tax rate four cents over last year's rate, to a new figure of $.88 per $100 valuation. School business manager Johnny Bob Smith said the new rate is necessary because the state has increased the local fund assignment.

The amount of total funds which the local school district must pay. Formerly, Winters paid about 20 per cent and the state paid 80 per cent. Now the ratio is more like 30/70, Smith explained.

cents will go toward maintenance and operation costs, and 27 cents will be for debt retirement.

The new budget was accepted as presented, and a final amendment was made to the 1983-84 budget. A number of new teachers were hired. Their education and teaching assignments are detailed in another report in this edition. Barbara Everett was reassigned to a new position of Supervisor of Curriculum. Evelyn Garcia will be a special education aide, and Patricia Sims was employed as an aide. The board accepted the resignation of Jureta Ledford, former secretary in the administration building. Julie Nivins has taken her place.

A new pay scale for substitute teachers was approved during the session. Substitutes will be paid $45 for the first four days in an assignment, and $50 for each day thereafter. The school needs more substitute teachers, Smith noted. Those interested should contact the principal's offices.

Board members heard a report on the new weight room which is substantially complete and already in use by the athletes.

Lynn Smith of radio station KRUN was present at the board meeting. His station will broadcast all the Blizzard varsity "Like sands through an hourglass, so go the days of our lives." That is what McDonald says everyday, but due to the political parties and the summer games a dust storm ravaged the sands.

Those of us who really care about Bo and Hope, Maxwell and Megan, and all the rest of the folks in the capitol city of tv-land don't really know if true love will win and if the bad guys get caught or what.

It's back to reading the phone book for another week while the GOP gathers in big "D". I really don't understand what all the hoopla is about. We all know who their nomination for the White House will be anyway.

I kinda' like what my movie hero has done. There are some who will say that he hasn't done anything—well, he didn't have a heck of a lot to work with when he got there. His predecessor took care of that.

After we get through with the party conventions and get back into the groove of things there will be debates between candidates to give us a break from the monotony of the sit-coms—or will it?

Firemen kept busy Sunday

Winters Volunteer Firemen were kept busy Sunday responding to three fire calls.

The first call, around noon Sunday, was to a reported structure fire on Popular Street in northeast Winters. Firemen arrived to find a small amount of smoke in a storage room at the back of a residence. A small, smoldering fire had been extinguished by the residents who thought that the blaze was started by children playing with matches.

The second call was to a major blaze in a barn owned by Freddie Grohman and located just west of Winters. Smoke from the fire could be seen from town and the entire structure was involved when firefighters arrived.

The barn was almost totally destroyed along with a small amount of hay that was stored in the building. It took firemen almost an hour to tap the fire out.

While firemen were fighting the barn fire the third fire call was reported. A car, parked on the Town & Country parking lot, was on fire. The blaze, which was confined to the engine compartment, was extinguished by a passer-by with a fire extinguisher.

Tax hike considered by Ballinger City Council

The Ballinger City Council approved an eight per cent increase in city taxes following a public hearing on the proposed city budget for the next fiscal year.

City Administrator Dennis Jones said that the proposed budget is a balanced one, calling for expenditures of $2,466,514 and an income of the same amount. Jones said that a tax increase was necessary for the City of Ballinger to replenish its reserves which had to be used this year.

In discussing the tax increase, Jones said that the new rate would be $.2528 per $100 property valuation. He said that this will be the first increase since 1982 when the rate was increased to $.2586. In the last fiscal year the tax rate was reduced to $.2419 per $100.

The city administrator said that even with the increase, Ballinger will continue to rank in the bottom 5 per cent for lowest taxes for cities of about the same size.

A public hearing on the new tax rate will be held August 30, at 6:30 p.m. in the Ballinger City Hall. Jones said that the mayor and the council voted unanimously for the increase.

The council awarded bids for water and sewer improvements and for street and drainage improvements during the Monday meeting. The lowest bids, opened last week, were accepted by the council.

The council also gave formal approval to the signing with the Texas Aeronautics Commission in the amount of $30,000 for lighting improvements at Bruce Field. The action was only a formality according to Jones.

Council members voted to table a request from Clifton Bryan to move three storage buildings onto the property with the Skate Palace on the Old Winters Highway. The council said that it would want more information on the proposed use of the buildings before calling for

First scrimmage set for this Thursday

The Winters Blizzards will scrimmage Roscoe this Thursday night at 6 p.m. when the junior varsities will play, with the varsities playing immediately thereafter.

Coach Dan Slaughter said that the JV team will run about 15 offensive plays and 15 defensive plays. The varsity scrimmage will last longer, with a break in the middle, and will end with practice in goal-line stands.

Next week the locals will travel to Merkel for scrimmages on Friday night beginning at 6 and 7:30 p.m. The season opener against Ballinger will be September 6 for the junior varsity, here at 6:30 p.m., and at Ballinger for the varsity at 8 p.m. September 7.

Winters Council approves speed limit change

The speed limit for south-bound traffic on South Main from Spill Street to Hamilton Street will be 40 miles per hour rather than 45. The council gave approval to the ordinance after the Texas Department of Highways and Public Transportation conducted a speed check on the area. That survey was made at the request of the City of Winters.

The speed check showed that 88 per cent of the south-bound drivers on South Main drove at an average speed of 44 mph. The posted speed limit in that area is 45.

The highway department agreed to the reduction and said that another survey would be conducted in about six months which could result in the limit being dropped to 35 mph.

In other action, the council discussed asking business to move advertising signs and displays off the sidewalks along Main Street. The council noted that there was an ordinance

Wind damage

Strong winds accompanied a brief, but heavy, thunderstorm last Wednesday afternoon just west of Winters. This garage on the A.B. (Pat) Gray place was heavily damaged by what was thought to be a tornado.

Mrs. Gray said that neighbors told her of seeing a "big ball of dust" or a whirl-wind about the time the building was destroyed. She said that a tree also was damaged by the wind but the car, parked in the garage was not scratched.

Further school changes detailed changes in the local system were discussed.

Traditionally, funding for schools is based on the ADA—average daily attendance. This year, the ADA will be calculated from the best four of eight weeks of attendance, four in the fall and four in the spring. Lancaster said the first four will be in October, with the spring four weeks yet to be determined.

The vocational budget will probably be rather tight this year. The new state board of education will set new standards for funding.

Tests for teachers and administrators must be taken before June 30, 1986; but the form they will take is still undetermined, as is the date and place of testing.

Schools will be visited by the accreditation committee every three years instead of five. The teachers must keep "auditable trails" of their teaching and reteaching of the essential objectives. Therefore, the amount of paperwork teachers must do will increase tremendously. Lancaster felt that was one reason the state has decided to limit class size in grades K-2 to 22 students by the 1985-86 school year, and to 22 in grades K-4 by the 1988-89 school year, so that teachers will have more time to teach and reteach as necessary.

Should a school not pass the scrutiny of the accreditation committee, their accreditation could be revoked. In such a situation, the state board could appoint a "Master" to oversee the district. He would have the power to approve or disapprove any action of the school board or superintendent.

Winters schools will begin tutorials August 28. Each week, two sessions of 45 minutes each will be held, lasting from 3:15 to 4 p.m. on Tuesday and Thursday. All students making a grade of 70 or below on a 100 point scale may attend the tutorials. Teachers will take care of their own subject areas and will encourage students hav-

Official visit

The two legislators accompanied Wilkins on a public relations tour promoting municipal airports in Texas. He was the featured speaker at the noon Lions Club meeting while Jones and Parker were honored guests at the meeting.

The emphasis of the visit was the good outlook for the economic development of small communities and airports through working together for economic benefits that are available and only need to be promoted.

Local Women Graduate

There is always something new to be learned about any subject and four women attended the museum institute at the Permian Basin Petroleum Museum in Midland on Friday for the purpose of continuing their education in the organization and operation of the Z.I. Hale Museum.

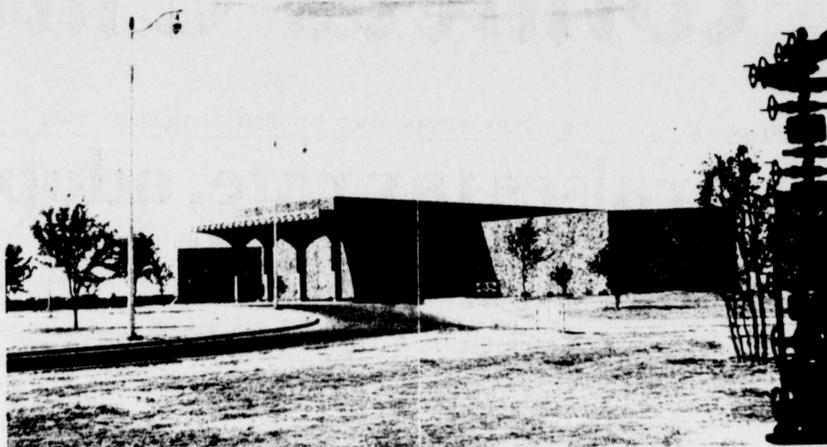

Edna England, Kay Colburn, Mary Margaret Leathers, and Charlsie Poe have diplomas to prove that they satisfactorily completed "Interpretation of Collections" given by David Estabrook, education program coordinator, of the Smithsonian Institution.

Mr. Estabrook approached his subject with enthusiasm and gave a small boy's definition of a museum, "a museum is a place where they kill dead animals and take out their insides so they won't stink." He also used several objects to touch curiosity and cautioned not to overload the inquirer by trying to teach too much.

Those present actually handled, smelled and tasted some objects that were passed around, trying to determine what they were, including plumber's hemp called "oakum" and used for caulking boards in ships in colonial days; sugar maple charcoal used for filtering process because it doesn't leave an odor; a soda pop bottle from Japan, a hog scraper and several types of pine cones.

An in-depth study of people from pictures, letters, clothing and legal papers was conducted with suggestions as how to piece together important information concerning their lives.

Following the seminar there was time for a quick tour through the Petroleum Museum built in 1975 and located on 1500 Interstate 20 West.

The original museum, exclusive of the North Wing, was opened by President Gerald R. Ford in 1975. People from all states and more than 70 foreign nations have visited it.

The museum was built entirely from private donations, and operates on what it can generate (admissions, gift shop and contributions). It is non-profit and tax-exempt.

Ordinarily the admission fees are $1.50 for adults, but those attending the seminar were given a guided tour free of charge.

Because of our interest in the technical side of museum work, we were carried to the basement where the archives' center is located. It has especially fine photographic and voice tape collections from the early days of the oil fields. We were also shown the machinery underneath the world's largest marine diorama which takes visitors below the waters of the ancient ocean. It contains nearly 200,000 replicas of sea creatures that lived 230 million years ago. The exhibit required two years to build and is 40 feet in depth.

The interesting story behind the scenes as told to us, was the man who created the exhibit liked to work at night. He had locked the room and gone by the time the museum personnel arrived. Thus, they never saw the exhibit which they had paid thousands of dollars for until it was practically completed. Perhaps the artist, himself, didn't know how the diorama would turn out and was trying to save some embarrassment.

Each visitor is provided a map which recommends a suggested tour route. It will take one to the exhibits in proper order. But those with a time shortage can skip any display that they did not wish to see.

The museum's modern drilling room includes $24,000 model of rotary rig; the "Oil Game" where you can test your luck against the actual odds of oil discovery; and the bit that reached the greatest depth in Texas soil.

The "Hall of Fame" in the museum pays tribute to a number of enterprisers that helped develop the region and the oil industry. The inscription of dedication is on a massive circle of plastic whose great weight required several wall supports.

On the way home we paid particular attention to the large collection of antique drilling equipment on the museum grounds. Eight full-sized "rigs" take visitors back 50 years and more into the early days of oil drilling in Texas.

The Santa Rita No. 2, near the parking lot, was moved to Midland from Texon, about 80 miles away. Much of it - though not the wooden derrick - dates back to 1924.

The "Christmas Tree" exhibit on the grounds shows actual valves that govern flow of gas into pipelines.

From a large map in the museum we learned that Runnels County is included in the Permian basin.

As our thoughts turned homeward, we remembered the many things that had been accomplished since oil was discovered in our area. An article on this will follow.

two other business in that area, have been the subject of a number of complaints from residents in the area. The residents are complaining of excessive noise, paint fumes and spray, and appearance.

The Ballinger City Attorney reported to the council that the Skate Palace was apparently in compliance with zoning ordinances, but there appeared to be questions on the other two businesses, Connor Bumper Works and Big Country Construction.

The council indicated that it would take the matter to the Planning and Zoning Commission for a recommendation before making a final determination on what action to take.

In his routine report to the council, Dennis Jones gave an update on the critical water situation. He said that the new pumps were tested last week and that due to electrical problems two of the pumps were being manually operated while work was being done on the third pump. The valve from the old lake is now open and water is being transferred into the new lake to mix with water from Lake Spence. Jones said that water would be pumped, for city use, from the new lake about mid week.

Before ending their rather lengthy meeting, the council granted time extension requests from Strain & Sons Inc., Contractors and to the Jack Anglin Company on the lake construction.

The letter "f" took its shape from an ancient Egyptian symbol to show a hook. About A.D. 114, the Romans gave it the sound we know today.

High interest rates hurt farms

The recent rise in interest rates is putting further financial pressure on already hard-pressed Texas farmers and ranchers, says an economist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, Texas A&M University System.

High real interest rates not only increase costs but also strengthen the dollar against foreign currencies, which discourages exports, encourages imports and stimulates foreign production. A one per cent rise in interest rates can add $100 million to the expenses of Texas farmers and ranchers and can reduce net farm income by 10 per cent or more.

Ask Your Dental Hygienist

The next time you have your teeth cleaned, don't let the dental hygienists do all the talking. By asking your hygienist the right questions, you can learn a lot more about maintaining your dental health. Commonly asked questions are:

Q How often should I replace my toothbrush?
A A worn-out toothbrush will not clean your teeth properly. Replace your brush every three to four months.

Q What type of toothbrush should I use?
A Generally, a brush with a soft, rounded-end or polished bristles should be used. Hard bristles can injure your gums. Children need smaller brushes than those designed for adults.

Q What type of toothpaste should I use?
A Fluoride toothpaste is your best bet. The fluoride in the toothpaste unites with the tooth enamel making it more resistant to decay.

Q Is it necessary to rinse after brushing and flossing?
A You can rinse your mouth with plain water every time you brush and floss. A fluoride rinse can also be used after brushing. Rinsing is not a substitute for brushing and flossing.

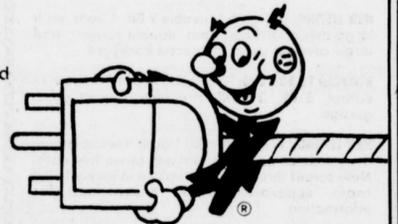

Q What are the basic rules of good dental health?
A Clean your teeth thoroughly with a brush and floss at least once a day; or more often if your dental hygienist recommends it. Eat well balanced meals and limit snacks; use fluoride toothpaste or mouthrinse; visit your dental hygienist and dentist on a regular basis; and be kind to your dental hygienist.

Reddy's Safety Reminders:

Most of us take electric power for granted. We just flick a switch and there it is — doing all those things we've come to expect. That SAME power can be dangerous if we don't learn to treat it with respect. Here are a few reminders on how to live more safely — electrically — from Reddy Kilowatt:

Never Pull on the Cord!

When disconnecting electric appliances and equipment, be sure to pull on the plug — not the cord! If you pull on the cord, you'll eventually wear it out and expose hazardous wires. Also, don't overload extension cords and outlets.

Install Antennas Away from Power Lines!

If you have a TV or CB antenna to install or repair, make sure there's plenty of clearance between it and the nearest power lines. Working too close to a power line can be hazardous.

Don't Shoot at Power Lines!

Also remember not to shoot at power lines or the insulators that hold them. The severed line could cause a serious electricity outage and the downed line itself could be very dangerous.

State Fair plans laid
Texans can look forward to more entertainment and expanded competition this fall when the State Fair of Texas extends its traditional 17-day run to 24.
"OctoberBest" is the 1984 theme, and three million visitors are expected through the gates of Fair Park in Dallas from October 5-28.
The entertainment begins even before the Fair officially opens. On October 3, Mickey Rooney and Ann Miller raise the curtain on a 23-performance engagement of their Broadway hit, "Sugar Babies." The show offers a nostalgic look at the glory days of burlesque by combining hilarious comedy sketches with uptempo musical numbers.
Texas and Oklahoma square off in the Cotton Bowl on October 13, while football fans from Austin, Norman and points between get into a traditionally frenetic frame of mind. The game is already sold out.
A different brand of hard-hitting action is available to sports enthusiasts during nine days of championship rodeo in the Coliseum, October 6-14. The finest bull-riders, bronc busters, steer wrestlers and calf-ropers with the best of the barrel-racers will compete for points and prize money.

A new addition to the line-up of fair time attractions is the National Finals Truck and Tractor Pull scheduled for October 18-21 in the Coliseum. Two and four-wheel drive trucks together with unlimited and modified tractors will vie for top honors during the five performances.
Some of the best things in life and most of the best things at the State Fair of Texas are still free once fairgoers are inside the grounds. Daily activities at no extra cost include an outdoor ice show, three-ring circus, evening parade, fireworks show, performances by the fabled U.S. Marine Drum and Bugle Corps, fashion shows, the Rock 'n Roll Time Machine and multiple sets on three major outdoor stages by such entertainers as George Strait, Joe Stampley, Clay and Sally Hart, Reba McEntire, Fiddlin' Frenchie Burke, Eddy Raven, Steve Wariner, The Shoppe, Mason-Dixon, Bandana and others still to be announced.
The always-popular Automobile Show, spotlighting all the new car makes and models for 1985, fills one exhibit building. Another, sponsored by the Texas Department of

Ranch management is necessary

Good management is the effective use of resources to accomplish the most important objectives in a ranch business, according to Jack Maddux, recently named "Beef Cattle Businessman of the Year" by the National Cattleman's Association. Speaking at the recent International Ranchers Roundup at San Angelo, Maddux said that ranch planning can be a simple, straight-forward and on-going process that fits any size of operation. Good planning is a disciplinarian that brings an operation face to face with unpleasant facts that are sometimes ignored. Basic planning involves dealing with where you are at present, where you want to go, how you want to get there, when you wish to arrive, who is going to "drive", and how much the trip will cost.

M&W Welding ready for big jobs or small

M and W Welding of Winters has recently engaged in the repair of gasoline transport trucks, a risky business due to the volatile atmosphere inside the trucks, where the welding must be done. To clean out the gasoline, Dub Raborn of D and J Cleaning, 403 N. Melwood, Winters, uses Weaver high pressure steam cleaners.
Production of specialty items such as barbecue grills and picnic tables continues at M & W, which is located at 810 N. Main, Winters. Various styles of custom-made grills have been constructed for local residents, including one with a rotisserie. One popular model is a locomotive complete with smokestack and a large grill area.
The local company builds barbecue pits, picnic tables, and swing sets to the customer's specifications and can assist in designing unique accessories for outdoor entertaining.
The staff at M & W includes owners Wayne and Marilyn Drummond, certified welder Joe Ivey, welder Mickey Smith, and bookkeeper and secretary Sheila Baker.
M & W operates two welding trucks for repairs and construction work in the field, and they have the facilities in town for such large jobs as the repair of transport trucks.
Other specialties of the local firm are oil field welding, repair of farm equipment, rebarreling, framing of metal buildings, and the construction of squeeze chutes.
The company is bonded and insured. They are located at 810 N. Main, Winters. Phone numbers are 754-5319, 754-5661, or 754-1236. Twenty-four hour service is offered.

Deadline near for soybean contest

Soybean growers have until September 1 to enter the 1984 Soybean Yield Contest, announces an agronomist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, Texas A&M University System. The Texas Soybean Association and Elanco Products Co. provide awards for the top three producers in each of two categories - irrigated and non-irrigated. Awards include plaques, varying amounts of herbicides, and a trip for two to each of the first place winners. Each entrant must grow at least 50 acres of soybeans and designate at least 5 acres to be harvested. Entry forms are available at any county extension office.

Conference set

Computer technology and its effects on various segments of society will be the major focus of the 1984 Town and Country Church Conference at Texas A&M University September 10-11. The annual conference provides an opportunity for church leaders to obtain information which can help satisfy a growing need for overall community understanding and cooperative action, notes a sociologist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, Texas A&M University System. This year's conference is designed to help church leaders learn more about computers and the role of these electronic marvels in the church community.

How to reduce theft of tractors

Farmers can reduce tractor theft by putting an identification number on their tractor. The proper number to use for property identification in Texas is the owners driver's license number, says a community development specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, Texas A&M University System. Place the identification number on the rear of the differential housing, or if this area is not accessible, place the number on the right axle housing on the top or rear. Use a metal stamping tool and make sure the imprint is legible. Also, record and safeguard all serial numbers on farm equipment.

JOHN DEERE FACTORY AUTHORIZED CLEARANCE
MANSSELL BROS.
Hwy. 53 West Winters, Texas

School starts Monday

Classes for the new school year begin Monday morning at 8:10 in Winters. Buses will run at the same times as last year.

Students in junior high and high school will proceed to their first period classes, Principal Mike Grantham announced. No opening assembly will be held this year.

Grantham said that those students who have not picked up their schedules should do so this week.

Elementary students and parents may locate the correct classroom by checking class lists posted by the doors of the rooms.

Breakfast will not be served the first day of school, but will be on Tuesday and following days. The lunchroom features a choice of two noon meals: the line on the west side of the lunchroom is known as the snack bar line, while the east side has a more conventional meal. Both meals are balanced with items from the basic food groups to provide proper nutrition. Milk is included with each meal.

According to information released by the Texas PTA, parents can help prepare their child for school by teaching several things:

- The safest way home from school if he is walking.
- To go directly home, without loitering.
- Teach him not to talk to strangers.
- Policemen are friends and can help when needed.
- Children should have definite duties at home, and it will be very helpful if they learn

Winters teachers meet for in-service

The faculty, administrators, and staff of the Winters Independent School District met in the auditorium for the opening day of in-service Monday prior to the opening of school Monday, August 27.

Greetings were given by Superintendent T.D. Lancaster, school board president Randall Conner, and Lanny Bahlman, president of the Winters Area Chamber of Commerce.

Glenn Shoemaker, pastor of First Baptist Church, gave a devotional on the importance of encouragement in teaching. Citing the example of Barnabas, Paul's encourager in Acts 11:25, Shoemaker urged teachers to help their students develop good attitudes toward learning. He pointed out that teaching is a very subjective job, and that teachers by their actions can encourage students who may not be interested in learning.

Eleven new teachers were introduced:

Janna R. Beck received a B.S. from Texas Women's University, Denton, in 1983. She taught first grade one year in Pilot Point, and she will teach special education in the high school here.

Larry Dearen, B.S. from Texas Tech, Lubbock, 1976. Master's from Sul Ross, Alpine, 1984. Three years teaching in Motley County, four years teaching in Kress. He will coach girls' basketball.

Joy Donalson, B.S. from Angelo State, 1970. 12 years teaching in Andrews. She will teach special education in the elementary school.

Linda Dunlap, B.S. from North Texas State, Denton, 1982. She will teach first grade. Nancy Evans, B.A. from McMurry, Abilene, 1978. Substituted in Winters from 1979-1984. She will teach Spanish and E.S.L.

Gwen Lewis, B.E. from Hardin-Simmons, Abilene, 1984. She will teach special education in the elementary school.

Yvonne Griffin, B.S. from Mississippi State, 1980. One year teaching second-fifth grades in Louisville, two years teaching first-second grades in Dallas. She will teach special education in the elementary school.

Jimmy Randolph, B.S. from Angelo State, 1984. He will coach.

Nancy Randolph, B.S. from Angelo State, 1984. From January-May 1984, she taught kindergarten and third grade in San Angelo. She will teach first grade here.

Leann Williams, B.S. from Abilene Christian, 1984. She will teach second grade.

Tom Selby is attending Angelo State and will teach elementary physical education and will coach.

Also introduced were several employees who will be serving in different positions this year. Barbara Everett will handle supervisory duties in assisting teachers in the implementation of House Bill 72. Julie Nivins will be a secretary in the administration building, and Kay Brown will be elementary secretary.

Special recognition was given to Cindy Rogers, former junior high math teacher and head of

Selective Service System

Young men born on or after January 1, 1960 are required to register with Selective Service within a month of their 18th birthday.

The registration process takes less than five minutes at the post office. A young man fills out a simple form asking only for his name, date of birth, address, telephone number and Social Security number.

Registration helps keep our country prepared with a pool of names to draw from in case of a national emergency... without interfering with people's lives. When you think about it... that's not a lot to ask for a country as great as ours.

Talpa names new superintendent

Friday begins the 1984-85 school year for the Talpa-Centennial school district with the leadership of new superintendent Britain R. Webb.

Students report on Friday, while teachers begin in-service training Monday.

Webb is a native of Clyde, Texas. He has been superintendent of Buena Vista School district in Imperial for the past six years and holds a bachelor's and a master's degree from Sul Ross University. His wife, Laurel, is also a teacher.

New students to the district should register at the appropriate school between 1 and 3 P.M. Wednesday or Thursday.

Older Texans missing meals

"My husband gets plenty of good food at the garbage dump at Tom Thumb."

This response is perhaps the most graphic to a survey recently conducted by the Texas Department of Aging for the Texas Senate Interim Committee on Hunger and Nutrition.

The research project, requested by the committee chaired by Senator Hugh Parmer of Fort Worth, surveyed six of the 28 area agencies on aging which are provided funds from the Older Americans Act administered by TDoA.

Of the many services provided by the TDoA and its area agencies on aging, the nutrition component is by far the largest. Currently, 732 nutrition sites are in operation throughout the state which provide congregate and home-delivered meals, in most instances once a day five days a week, to any Texan 60 years of age or older.

"The responses to the surveys we conducted indicate that 60 per cent of our congregate meal participants and 69 per cent of our home-delivered meal participants depend on our service as their only complete meal of the day," says Paula Johnson, TDoA coordinator for the project. "This is frightening when you understand that our meals are intended to furnish only one-third of the USDA recommended daily nutrition requirement."

"Our nutrition is being stretched as far as possible, but 65 per cent of our service providers surveyed indicate a demand in excess of their current capabilities," says Alex Guerra, chief of nutrition and support services at TDoA.

Credit, borrowing, doing without, or food stamps for those who qualify, are but a few of the recurring responses of participants to the question of how they survive.

Most seniors are on a fixed income and have high medical, pharmaceutical and utility bills. Food is usually the first necessity these individuals will cut in their budget in order to get by. "It is unfortunate that this occurs, because when older people do not eat properly, they are setting themselves up for health related problems which only increase their medical expenses," says Jan Bassari, TDoA registered dietitian also involved in the project.

"We intend to aggressively pursue an increase in appropriations from the Texas Legislature next session to supplement the funding we receive from the Federal government," says O.P. (Bob) Bobbitt, executive director of TDoA. "Our survey indicates that there are approximately 86,000 more older Texans that could use our nutrition services in addition to those currently participating that could use additional food. I just don't believe the citizens of our state want to see people go hungry."

In flight, mosquitoes beat their wings about 1,000 times a second, reaching speeds of eight miles per hour, making their familiar humming sound. Mosquitoes are like helicopters in that they don't run to start or stop flying; they lift up immediately after their wings start beating and must flap their wings constantly to stay aloft.

FOR WOMEN

For many modern American women, simplicity is one of the essentials of a beauty care regimen. One line of skin care and makeup products can be a help, and it's even considered easy to use and economical to buy.

The line, called Semplice* and made by Stanley Home Products, is divided into two no-guesswork systems:

System 1 for skin care highlights products for cleansing, toning and moisturizing. There's also a lemon peel-off mask with aloe.

Crime Of The Month

August 1984

Vandalism costs taxpayers millions of dollars every year. Municipal, county, and state facilities are meant to be enjoyed by the public. All it takes is one joker with a can of spray paint to ruin this enjoyment for all of us, including our children.

For example, the Ballinger City Park has been a favorite playground and fun spot for Ballinger residents and out of town visitors for generations. It is also a great place for people to walk or jog. It is not uncommon now to find obscenities written on traffic signs or buildings in the park. Street lights and restrooms are being vandalized frequently. This kind of harmless juvenile fun is not funny and it costs money to repair. The result is a 10 p.m. curfew in the park and locked restrooms.

If you witness any vandalism please do everyone a favor and call RUNNELS COUNTY CRIMESTOPPERS at 365-2111 or dial 0 and ask for ENTERPRISE 67574. You do not have to give your name and you may be eligible for a cash reward.

West Texas Business

By Jerry Lackey

Being publisher of a regional magazine has many advantages and opportunities. But I have found in the last couple or so years that most times the disadvantages of this position of which I worked toward for 30 years are top heavy!

I could probably list a hundred plus on that subject besides the worries of taxes, payroll, other overhead and the never-leaving headache of merrily owning one's OWN BUSINESS. However, the one thing a publisher has in common with every position in the publishing organization is deadlines.

Whether it be the new writer, the senior contributing editor, the layout and art and production, advertising, press room staff on through to the mailing department, we are all working toward a deadline.

All of this is leading up to something! That is our regular feature called: Economy. With all the deadlines, this story has to be written at the last minute to be current, yet many times before our readers receive their magazine the economy could change four times. So, I will insert here: at this writing the West Texas economy appears to be in good shape!

An increase of commercial services and retail businesses are showing a 15 to 20 percent increase for the first half of 1984 compared to mid-1983 figures.

This growth offsets the decline felt in public cash flow normally contributed by the agriculture community. A two-year drought in 50 counties has cost merchants a sizeable loss as agriculture people held back on purchase of goods not termed necessities. By nature of being conservative anyway, agriculture people do not make capital purchases or take big risks in periods of droughts.

The energy patch continues to recover slowly from the adversity suffered in 1982 and 1983. The Permian Basin active rig counts are up.

Employment has improved sharply over 1983 in all the major cities of West Texas. Unemployment is way down from a year ago. For example, Odessa has 4.3 percent compared to 10.3 percent in June 1983.

Although new construction in the five cities (Abilene, Lubbock, Midland, Odessa, San Angelo) is down as much as 45 percent, it is still active. On the per capita basis, construction contracts in Midland are more than twice the U.S. average.

The nation's broadest measure of economic activity, the Gross National Product - which represents the output of goods and services - increased by 7.5 percent during the second quarter. This means that the six straight quarters of economic expansion which began in 1982 rank as the strongest period of growth since the years immediately following World War II.

"The annual inflation rate has fallen to 3.2 percent which means that the economy is growing faster and with less inflation than at any time in the two previous decades," comments Congressman Tom Loeffler. "In June, civilian unemployment plunged to 7.1 percent, falling for the first time below the rate inherited by President Reagan. In Texas, unemployment stands at 4.8 percent.

Per-capita disposable income, the after-tax income available to be spent, has risen almost 8 percent since the President took office," added Loeffler.

This is the week for the Republican Convention. I am sure that the President will pledge to continue leading the country on the same course he has for four years. With interest rates down to 11 and 12 percent rather than 21 percent, inflation way down, growth continuing despite the setbacks of the recession (brought on by the Carter-Mondale years) and so many things going for America, why not give the President another term? We are certainly better off now than we were four years ago!

NEWS OF SAFETY

How To Prevent Spills
Safe, efficient operation of a riding power mower can keep you from riding for a fall, and your grass from rising to a fault, if you take these safety tips from the experts at the Outdoor Power Equipment Institute:

1. Be thoroughly familiar with the owner's manual. Know where all controls are before you climb into the driver's seat.
2. Never leave your mower without turning off the engine and disconnecting the spark plug wire.
3. Never allow another person to ride with you.
4. Be sure children and animals are kept out of the area you will be mowing.
5. Take extra care when you back up. Look behind you to see what you may be running over.

County seeking ambulance bids

For the first time, the emergency medical service in North Runnels County has been opened to bids from independent operators. The bids are being sought to relieve the county of the operation of the present service.

In south Runnels County, the ambulance service has been operated independently for the past three years. The operator receives a subsidy from the county.

The specifications and requirements for bidders calls for a contract term of three years, from October 1, 1984, to September 30, 1987. The requirements call for the successful bidder to provide emergency medical and ambulance service to Runnels County at all times. In its published notice to bidders, the county outlines two separate areas of operations, thus two contractors.

The requirements call for the operator to make all calls within the area of responsibility, regardless of location; to have a unit in attendance at all home football games in the area of responsibility; be responsible for providing transportation of patients to any area requested; have certified personnel on duty at all times; be responsible for all maintenance on vehicles and equipment.

The requirements also specify that any and all emergency runs requested for, or by, the county be done at no cost to the county and that the operator have all vehicles covered with all necessary insurance, both collision and liability, and have proof of insurance on file with the county.

The requirements also call for the operator to provide a schedule of charges and report to the Runnels County Commissioners Court before implementing any increase in rates.

County Judge Michael Murchison said that the move was being made to relieve county of officials from having to supervise day-to-day operations of the county-owned service.

Bids will be opened by the commissioners in their September meeting and the successful bidder is expected to begin operations by the first of October.

relating to this matter and that in the event of an accident caused by the sign blocking vision, the property owner could be liable for damages. The council tabled the item and will discuss action in a later meeting.

City Administrator Scott Epperson reported to the council on the status of the paving assessments from 1982 and 1983.

He said that there is still about $15,600 outstanding from the 1982 paving program and about $9,500 from the 1983 program. Epperson said that the second year's costs were considerably less because of an agreement with Runnels County to do the paving work.

The council was told that persons who have not paid their paving assessment from 1982 will have until December of 1985 to pay up. Those assessed for paving last year will have until July, 1985 to pay.

The council conducted the first public hearing on the annexation of a tract of land into the city limits. The second hearing will be held on September 4.

Approval was given to the adoption of an employee personnel policy for the city. Epperson said that the policy covers all city employees and is the first specific, printed policy manual to be used in Winters in quite some time. He said that all employees would be given copies of the manual.

A discussion was held concerning water and sewer line fees for new subdivisions in the city. The present ordinance provides for the developer to bear the cost of the installation of the lines. The council decided to continue the present policy.

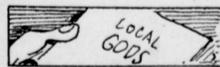

A letter from the City of Sundown, near Lubbock, was read to the council concerning the annexation rights of "home rule" cities (population of 5,000 or more) and the rights of "general law" cities (population of less than 5,000). The "home rule" cities can annex property into their limits on their own initiative while the smaller cities must be petitioned by property owners wanting to be annexed.

Many of the smaller cities are seeking legislation that would allow them to annex areas just as the larger cities. The City of Winters is a "general law" city and can annex property only at the request of the property owner.

The council, after discussing grass on the dam at the new lake, agreed to wait until early November before making a decision on planting new grass. Carl Smith, ASCS representative from Ballinger, had inspected the site and told the council that it was greening up after the recent rain showers in that area. He recommended the city look at the dam again in early November before making a decision.

The council denied a request from Marie Heathcott for a water tap outside the city limits. The council, in rejecting the request, cited city policy specifically relating to new water taps outside the city.

Approval was given to a similar request from John Dry after the council was informed that steps were being taken by Dry to have his property annexed into the City of Winters.

In old China a registry was kept listing all the local gods incarnate.

ing difficulty to come in for help. The school day for teachers will extend to 4 p.m. on Tuesdays and Thursdays. Student attendance at the tutorials will be voluntary.

The Winters school board voted to institute a 10-day limit on excused absences. Every student, grades K-12, who misses a day for illness must bring an excuse from parents stating that he was sick. After the tenth day of illness during the school year, he must bring a doctor's excuse. If he does not bring it, he may fail the class or the grade.

Unusual circumstances such as communicable diseases, which usually require several days' absence, will be taken into consideration at the principal's discretion.

All children from ages seven through 16 must attend school in Texas. However, once parents have enrolled their child in kindergarten or first grade, he falls under the compulsory attendance law and must attend, and he must bring an excuse if he is absent.

On the fifth unexcused absence, or on the 11th excused absence without a doctor's excuse, the child will fail, Lancaster emphasized.

The TABS test in 1986 will be given to grades one, three, five, seven, nine, and twelve. Students must pass the exit level to receive a diploma. If they finish 12 years of school without passing the test, they may take it again and again until they pass and then may receive a diploma. All three sections must be passed.

Exceptions may be made for students with learning disabilities or handicaps.

Driver's education will no longer be funded by the state.

Prekindergarten for four year olds will be open to "educationally disadvantaged" students next year. That term applies to handicapped children and children from families with incomes under those designated in the free lunch guidelines.

Big cucumber

This big cucumber, almost three feet in length, is displayed by Travis Downing. The giant vegetable was grown in Downing's garden and he said the taste was delicious. That giant was not alone in the garden, he said that there were more big ones.

Lancaster said that he thinks the idea of an appointed state board is not good. "Personally I feel it's too large an area to cover to represent the people, and we ought to be able to vote for who we want to represent us," he said.
