By Kerry Craig

The winningest coach on Texas Schoolboy Football has moved up a step.

He used to be number three overall in the number of games won, behind some of the biggies.

Well, now he is Number 1. Last week his team chalked up his 400th win.

After Gordon Wood's Brownwood Lions won the big game it must have been like big-time television. All activity came to a halt.

There were congratulations from a bunch of folks. Ronald Reagan, Jimmy Carter, Bum Phillips, Tom Landry and many more.

After having the opportunity to work with the legendary Gordon Wood for several years from the news media position, I have got to get in line and add my congratulations.

Noticed in a special feature from C of C prexy Benny Polston that the Chamber is going to make a step toward becoming more progressive.

It can be a good move for the betterment of our community. We have a lot going for us but, as with anything good, we can use a bunch more.

Oh say! It looks like the race may be on. Work is underway clearing lots at two locations in town. Both of these locations have been sporting signs announcing the forthcoming construction of a big, new supermarket.

Meanwhile, down the road a bit, there is word of a shopping center on the way. Things seem to be looking up here and there.

Everytime I make a trip to that blooming metropolis up north I am even more happy that our city did not annex Abilene when it had a chance.

Why those folks are acting like Dallas or something. And there you can find the famous intersection of the streets Walk and Don't Walk.

Not only that, I saw a big building with a huge sign that proclaimed "Topless." Now I know that wasn't right because from where I was standing I could see the top on the building.

It is really amazing what some folks will do to attract the tourist trade.

To call a business or building topless when it really does have a top would seem to be misleading.

Well, I guess that just as well keep such things in the big city.

The Winters Junior Class will sponsor a Halloween Carnival October 26, starting at 6 p.m. at the Community Center.

Booth space may be obtained by calling Winters High School, 754-5516.

One injured, two escaped

One person received undetermined injuries Tuesday morning when the pickup he was riding in smashed into the rear of a big truck loaded with steel.

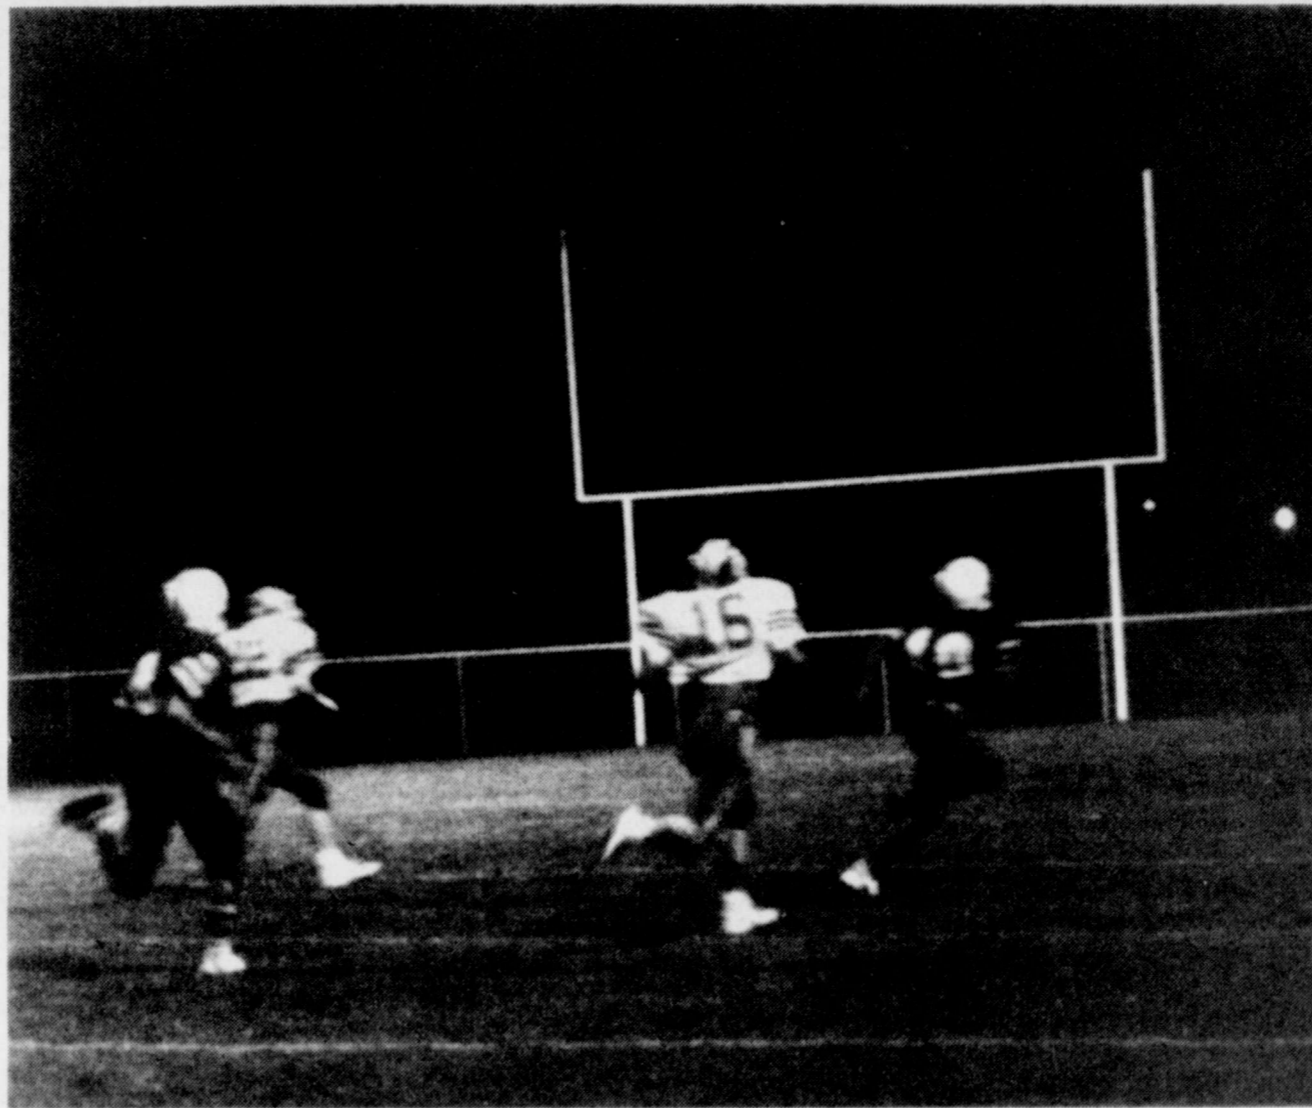

The driver and another passenger in the pickup fled the scene of the crash and authorities say all three men were illegal aliens.

Members of the ECCA Volunteer Fire Department and the Abilene Fire Department worked for nearly an hour with the "Jaws of Life" to free the man from the wreckage.

The accident occurred on U.S. 277 about 17 miles south of Abilene.

Blizzards ice the Bears 27 to 6

The Baird Bears apparently were not prepared for the kind of Blizzards they encountered in Winters Friday evening.

After all was said and done the Winters Blizzards had upgraded their record for district to 1-1 and to 3-2 for the season. The Baird Bears were skinned 27-6.

Head coach Danny Slaughter said, "It was a good ball game for us, the kids played one of the most physical ball games they have played all year. They came out hitting well, came out with confidence and determination they were going to win the ball game."

"The only thing that scared us, on Baird's second play, they threw what looked was going to be an apparent touchdown, they had a player running down the field, fumbles the ball, picks it up runs down the field, we hit him, he fumbles and we recover on the one- or two-yard line and I knew then things were going to be going our way."

Winters opened the scoring in the first quarter with a pass from Robert Baker to Sam Smith and the points after were good.

"Our kids played one of their best ball games they've played all year long," Slaughter said, "and I hope, if that's any indication, the way we're going to play the rest of them. We have got a good chance right here to win our next three ball games and, if we'll get on a roll I think we'll gain confidence every week and we are going to become the team I thought we were going to be all year long, I think we are going to become a contender, but we gotta get on a roll right here with these people we are playing."

Slaughter had praise for both the offensive and defensive teams for the Blizzards saying the team did a great job.

The coach said, however, that the team was still making some mistakes back in the secondary that were going to have to be worked out and correct. He said that Baird should have scored that first touchdown due to a blunder on the Blizzard's part.

The one score for Baird came, according to Slaughter, by way of a mistake on our part. Offensively, Slaughter said, "if we get our kinks worked out back there we are going to do all right."

Defensively, the line is doing a great job while offensively the blocking left something to be desired.

The head coach said that he

8th Grade Breezes still on top of things

Editor's note: This article was submitted by Coach Tom Selby.

The 8th Grade Breezes kept their undefeated string going with a 12-0 victory over the Baird Cubs. The Breezes' 1985 record is 3-0 and they have not allowed a score in any of the three games. They have scored 31 points to 0 for their opponents. Their two-year record climbs to 10-0-1.

Defensively, this team seems to dominate whoever they are playing. They bend at times, but they rise to the occasion and have yet to break. This defense has allowed our team to be 2-0 in district play and if we are to win the district title this year, I believe it will be our defense that carries us to that title.

Offensively, we still did not move the ball like I want us to, but our line did a good job blocking and our backs were able to pick up some good yardage. Don Patton had about 85 yards rushing, John Salazar had 72 yards rushing and James Salazar added about 45 yards rushing. John Salazar also had a 60-yard touchdown run called back.

Scoring wise, John Salazar had two touchdown runs of four-yards and 15-yards, respectively. The first PAT kick by Salazar was no good, and the second PAT, a pass from Ripley to Cowan, was no good. The Breezes scored once in the first quarter and again in the third.

The Offensive Player of the Week goes to Don Patton. His runs set up both of our touchdowns and he also had a good night blocking.

Defensively, Brady Cowan had a good game with four solo tackles, Dan Killough had three solo tackles and batted down a pass, Jimmy Ripley had three solo tackles and also had one interception which he returned 30 yards.

The Defensive Player of the Week goes to Gibo Lujano, who had five solo tackles and recovered a fumble which set up a score.

This week the 8th grade will go after victory number four for the year and hope to go 3-0 in district play when we host Ranger here Thursday night at 6 p.m. We hope to see as many fans at the game as possible as our team really appreciates all the support we can get.

No bull

It was a rattle snake, and a big one at that. Archie Lancaster, of Winters, came across the monster snake near Talpa last Thursday evening.

The creepy crawler measured 59 1/2 inches long and 7 inches around. The head measured 4 1/2 inches across. The entire snake ended up with 14 rattles and a button.

Archie was traveling aboard his motorcycle when he happened to cross paths with the snake.

Sue Comes Home

Mrs. Dale Carter, the former Sue Worthington, home on her sixth furlough from Corrente, Brazil, where she and her husband have served as Southern Baptist missionaries for 28 years, spoke to the women of the First Baptist Church and their guests Tuesday afternoon at a seated tea in the Fellowship Hall.

With two of her children already living in Brazil and the other two planning to return when they have finished Texas A&M, Mrs. Carter is wondering where she and Dale will live when they retire in eight more years.

After finishing A&M, Timmy returned to work for Anderson & Clayton, dealers in soy beans in the southern part of Brazil, a highly developed farming area where soy beans are grown. Portuguese is the native language and it has helped in his work by being bilingual. He recently married a Brazilian girl, Ivonete. Becky also finished A&M and is teaching third grade in Recife. She plans to be married in the spring.

The two youngest, Joel and Jon, are junior and freshmen at A&M.

The Carters' took an early furlough to accompany Jon and will be in the states only seven months this time, instead of a year.

The Carters' have remained in the same place all of their term of service, among the few who have. When Sue complains, Dale says, "Well, you married a farmer, and it takes a long time to see results of our work."

Corrente is a small town of 1200 people. In the beginning, there were no roads out and the Carters' used an airplane. "There is now a paved road, such as it is," says Sue. "When we have rain, it really pours. There is no place to escape the holes. We drove two long days to Joels' graduation and had to stop once to repair the car."

Sue Carter missionary to Brazil, and three of her

The town now has electricity and a super-market, but there is no refrigeration. Other improvements include busses and telephones which have been in use only during the Carters' last term of service. "I went three terms (12 years) without talking to my Mother and Dad even once on a phone. Later, the Winters Church gave us a ham radio about 10 years ago. A few months ago we got television. There are two channels we can watch. The mayors of several villages got satellites. Now there will be changes for many had never seen a movie," said Mrs. Carter.

"Our Church and school have grown. There is only one Church, but we are thinking of starting another congregation, because we think there is room for two. Our schools are different because they are under political appointment. Politics are different there—even mothers and daughters don't speak when the campaigns get hot," said Sue.

For seven or eight months before they came home, the Carters' attended a Church in another town, a place that is very difficult. At first, there were only two or three young people and now 45 are enrolled.

Sue continues to teach English and sociology on the high school level in the Baptist school that is now 65 years old. It was established when there were no schools in the area. It has been called "an oasis in the desert of wilderness." For a long time, students came for their education and went elsewhere to live, but now they are returning. "One young woman has come back to teach in our school as a result of our work," recalled Sue.

An agricultural course is taught from kindergarten to the secondary level, supported by the agricultural program that Dale has established. The farms and ranches that Dale directs support the school. The students pay a small amount and also get a scholarship. Teachers are paid a 13-month salary.

Becky teaches in an American school, but her salary is not up to ours in the states. Inflation goes up every day. She rents a telephone and in one week time, it had gone up from $8 to $21 in our money. A lot of people are hurting in Brazil.

Dale is working on a project called The Learning Center. It is located about 100 miles from Corrente on land that belongs to the Baptist school. It is a 50,000 acre ranch and children living there have no place to go to school and no health care. The Foreign Mission Board has supplied funds to build a dam so they can have irrigation. There will be room for 40 families and 10 families are already located.

These people were living in mud shacks, but they have been taught to build houses. They now work plots of land, plant fruit trees, milk cows and irrigate the pastures. A community center has been built and they have had a school for two years. A medical clinic and a nurse have been provided. The government sends a doctor and dentist once a month. This is a great help where the distance is so great. Sue has seen a mother walk 70 miles to get her baby to the doctor.

There were no Christians, but 20 people have been Baptized and 21 are waiting for the service in the center.

The Learning Center deals with social, mental, health and spiritual development. It is a cooperative effort. Dale and another make plans and the people have to get with it. When they have learned, they will

Serving size is key to daily diet

What's a "standard" serving? Many dieters don't know, even though they're following meal plans based on serving sizes, says nutrition expert Mary K. Sweeten. "People tend to overestimate others," says Sweeten, a specialist with the Texas A&M University Agricultural Extension Service. "They also seem to be influenced by the size of food containers, especially those that are supposed to contain single servings, and the serving size printed on the food label." Unless you're willing to weigh and measure your food, it can be difficult to follow food guidance programs based on standard servings, she says. To make it work, you may need to consider the total recommended amount of food from any one group for the day and then keep track of what you eat in terms of the serving sizes you ordinarily use, she advises.

THE WINTERS BLIZZARDS ARE NUMBER ONE!

move out and others will come in.

Both Dale and his helper are stretched pretty thin with all the tasks. "We are so grateful for the Lottie Moon offering, the cooperative program, and World Hunger Relief—all the money given through your churches gets to the places where it is intended," said Sue.

The Brazilians do beautiful handwork and some of it was displayed by Mrs. Carter. She showed a handwoven hammock and explained that all Brazilians sleep in hammocks even if they have beds. And Dale enjoys taking his afternoon nap in a hammock.

Ever Wonder About The Best Rate Of Weight Loss?

What is the safest & most effective rate of weight loss?
One pound per week. Any diet can produce weight loss. The trick is to KEEP it off. And the secret to that is losing slowly, so appetite & eating habits have a chance to adjust to the new you. A figure "remodeled" in two weeks has about as much chance of lasting as a house built in that time. It may sound corny, but "Slow n' Steady wins the race."

What is the worst rate of weight loss?
Five or more lbs. per week. When you go off a "quick weight loss diet", - which you must if you don't want to disappear from the face of the earth in a few months - you will almost certainly regain every ounce that you lost & probably more. Worse, you'll get discouraged - unnecessarily.

Fish stocking program scheduled

Most farm ponds in this area serve as reservoirs for livestock water. Although this is their primary function, they can be stocked with fish to provide entertainment and relaxation. Dry weather has caused many ponds to go dry during the last two years. With the recent rains, these ponds now have a good supply of water and this would be a good time to consider stocking them with fish.

The Runnels SWCD is sponsoring a fish stocking program for area farmers and ranchers. The final date for prepaid orders is October 25. The fish will be delivered on November 1 between 10 a.m. and 12 noon. For more information contact the Soil Conservation Service office at 610 Strong Avenue in Ballinger or call 365-3415.

Drug smugglers are back in business

Senator Lloyd Bentsen said Saturday he is asking the Drug Enforcement Administration to assign more agents to Texas to help curb a sharp increase in cocaine smuggling through the state.

"I am concerned that the number of field agents assigned to Texas by the DEA has increased only from 180 to 197 in 1984 and 184 in 1985," Bentsen said in a letter to Acting DEA Administrator John C. Lawn.

"Recently I received word from the U.S. Customs Service that cocaine smuggling is on the rise in the Southwest Region, which includes Texas. Between 1979 and 1984, cocaine confiscations in the region increased from 65 pounds to 3,310 pounds.

"In addition to actual confiscations, Customs estimates the amount of cocaine smuggling through the region during 1984 at 6,250 pounds and expects the amount to increase sharply this year to 9,250 pounds."

"While cocaine smuggling has increased by more than ten-fold, the number of DEA agents has remained virtually unchanged."

Seminar to be held

Science and math teachers from Education Service Center Regions 14 (Abilene), 15 (San Angelo) and 18 (Midland) interested in the GTE Foundation Growth Initiatives for Teachers (GIFT) fellowship program can get more details at an area seminar beginning at 9 a.m. October 12 in the school administration board room at 1620 University in San Angelo.

The GIFT program provides opportunities for school enrichment and professional development to secondary school mathematics and science teachers. Teachers in both public and accredited non-profit private schools are eligible.

Charles Watkins of General Telephone Company of the Southwest, coordinator of the Texas program, said the grants reward outstanding teachers by providing them with an opportunity to update their subject knowledge and to translate their leaping experience into effective teaching.

GIFT offers a school enrichment grant of $2,500 each to the mathematics and science teachers which must be matched by an additional $2,500 each from the school or community; a personal development grant of up to $2,500 each for study, field work or in-service training and an opportunity for each teacher to participate in an all expense paid seminar with GTE scientists, managers and human resource experts to address real-world needs in mathematics and science education.

Clean gutters now

Clogged gutters probably cause more damage to houses than any other single maintenance problem. "When gutters are clogged, water can back up under the roofing," says Dr. Peggy Owens, a housing specialist with the Texas A&M University Agricultural Extension Service. "Once the water gets inside the roof, it will be absorbed over time by the house inside the roof, it will be absorbed over time by the house material—the insulation, gypsum board and plaster," she explains. "All this moisture may create termite problems as well as walls that are rotted through." Owens recommends checking the gutters two or three times a year, usually in the fall and again in the spring, to make sure they are free of branches, leaves or anything else that may block the flow of water.

"Less than 15 days ago, more than 100 pounds of cocaine, with an estimated value of $3.5 million, was confiscated by U.S. Border Patrol officers who detained a 47-year-old Cuban national at a Texas checkpoint. This arrest brings the street value of narcotics seized in the McAllen sector to $16.7 million for this fiscal year."

"It is clear that the drug smugglers are back in business, despite the decline that resulted from the border crackdown following the brutal murder of the DEA agent Enrique Camarena Salazar in Guadalajara, Mexico earlier this year."

In June, Bentsen requested that the DEA and Customs inform him of their plans to deal with reports of increased use of Texas on the "Mexican trampline," a drug smuggling route from South America that bounces cocaine through Mexico into the United States.

"As I have noted to you previously, drug smugglers seem to be shifting their operations from South Florida to Texas. Customs officials have informed me that they intend to commit additional anti-narcotics resources to Texas in response to this increased threat."

"I would urge that DEA increase the number of agents it has in Texas and strengthen federal efforts in the war against drug smuggling in my state," Bentsen said.

"We're losing this fight against drug smugglers. It's important to Texas that we be able to stop them, and turn this situation around," Senator Bentsen said.

Give us a call if pay phone don't work

Coin telephones are an important part of West Texas' communications network, and General Telephone asks the public's help in keeping them in good operating condition, according to E. O. Cambern, GTE General Manager.

"Texas Laws are very explicit," noted Cambern, "our customers are inconvenienced if a coin telephone doesn't work, and General Telephone is taking steps to keep them working." Texas law states that any person who intentionally or knowingly damages or destroys any coin telephone may be punished by fine or imprisonment. The public is urged to contact the police immediately if you see someone damage a pay telephone.

If you find a coin telephone that doesn't work, jot down the phone number and address and call GTE's repair department; the number is listed in your local telephone directory.

If you happen to lose a coin in one of GTE's coin phones, please contact an operator and General Telephone will be happy to refund your money.

Richard Sutton needs new liver

Two year old Richard Sutton needs a new liver now. Richard was admitted on Saturday to the Pediatric Intensive Care Unit at Methodist Hospital with internal bleeding. His only hope for recovery is to receive a transplant from another child, who must have Type O blood and weigh between 18-28 pounds.

Richard suffers from biliary atresia, a condition in which the bile ducts of liver are absent or incompletely formed. This results in permanent jaundice and liver damage, as bile is unable to drain from the organ.

Richard's condition was diagnosed at age two months, and a temporary external opening called a biliary stoma was surgically created by San Antonio surgeon Dr. Bruce McGovern. Now, however, Richard's chances for survival rest in the hands of the Dallas Children's Hospital Liver Transplant Team, and the recovery of an organ from another child.

Eric and Sharon Sutton, the child's parents, have carried pager devices for months, hoping that the call would come from Dallas alerting them that a liver was available. Richard's pediatrician Dr. G. Scott Cumming, who spent the early hours of Sunday morning at the ICU stabilizing the baby, joins the family's plea for an organ donor. The most probable source of donation, would be from a young accident victim.

Once a possible donor is identified, the Dallas transplant team are on standby to air evacuate the organ and perform the transplantation within a twelve hour period. Richard will be flown to Dallas to receive the new organ at the Children's Hospital, where he remains number one on the list of "waiting children" for his size.

Although the possibility of rejection of the transplanted organ or complications accompanying surgery are a reality, the alternative is worse. Richard needs a liver now. WE NEED YOUR HELP TO FIND ONE.

Celery should be avoided by those on low-salt diets. Substitute raw carrots, cauliflower, green pepper and radishes.

Area girl completes course at Fort Dix

Army Private Lisa R. Salas, stepdaughter of Tommy J. and Janette M. Nixon of Rural Route 2, Winters, Texas, has completed an Army motor transport operator course at Fort Dix, N.J.

During the course, students were trained in the operation and maintenance of military vehicles of less than four and one-half tons rated capacity. Instructions was also given in the transportation of personnel, equipment and supplies.

She is a 1982 graduate of Ballinger High School.

U.S. Army offers vocational testing

Over one million students in some fourteen-thousand public high schools all across the country have taken vocational guidance tests supplied at no cost by the Department of Defense, and the Army would like to increase that total. While there is some benefit to the Army in receiving the names and addresses of possible enlistees, the benefits to the tested students are far greater. They gain ideas for potential career choices and become aware of aptitudes and preparation necessary for achieving career goals.

Army authorities have strongly emphasized that no one incurs any military obligation by taking the ASVAB (Armed Services Vocational and Aptitude Battery) either in or out of classes. If an interest is kindled, however, the opportunity is there.

The ASVAB was written and endorsed by the American Association for Counseling and Development and can be used by schools to evaluate the quality of curricula and instruction, as well as students' academic progress. It takes 3 hours, 20 minutes to administer. The Army provides everything from test materials to examiners and proctors, and reports the results to students within two or three weeks. Some schools using ASVAB have discontinued other tests and used the money saved for improvements in their educational programs.

Army authorities recommend giving the test to 10th, 11th and 12th graders. If a student takes the test in the sophomore or junior year, there will still be time to accomplish necessary remedial work, such as mathematics or English, prior to graduation and entry into college or vocational training.

Governor Mark White sent a letter to Texas school superintendents March 5, 1985 suggesting that students be encouraged to take the ASVAB. He said names and addresses obtained enable recruiters to provide young men and women with information about career opportunities in the military.

Schools may obtain more information about the ASVAB Program by contacting any Army Recruiter, or by calling Ms. Aileen Reich, Military Entrance Processing Station, (MEPS), Test Specialist, at (214) 767-5217, or the Army Education Coordinator at (214) 767-7867.

Four-fifths of the people of Texas live in urban areas. Half of those are located in the metropolitan areas of Dallas-Fort Worth, Houston and San Antonio.

Time management requires seasonal adjustments

In an effort to gain better control of their time, people often make daily or weekly schedules,

Ban on sulfites very possible

Use of sulfites as a preservative on fresh fruits and vegetables may be on the way out, says a food technologist with the Texas A&M University Agricultural Extension Service. The Food and Drug Administration is proposing a ban on sulfites due to growing public concern about possible health risks. The proposed ban pertains not only to fruits and vegetables intended to be served or sold raw, but also includes those fruits and vegetables that may not actually be fresh but are presented to the consumer as fresh, such as thawed frozen fruits and vegetables.

only to be frustrated when so many things come up that were not in the original schedule. "We sometimes make unrealistic schedules, but often the problem is simply forgetting to make seasonal adjustments," says Mary Clayton Nance, a resource management specialist with the Texas A&M University Agricultural Extension Service. Before giving up on a time schedule, she recommends checking to see if you have made allowances for seasonal activities. If you plan to clean the house every Saturday, but spend fall Saturdays going to football games, you need a revised plan for the season.

Today I am discussing Propositions 5, 6 and 7 which will appear on the November 5th ballot.

Proposition 5: The Indigent Health Care bills which passed in the Special Session last May set standards and eligibility requirements for county and public hospitals. Hospital districts were excluded from those provisions because their creation is specifically authorized by the State Constitution. Proposition 5 would allow the Legislature to set out by law the types of health care a hospital district must provide, the requirements a resident of that district must meet to qualify for those services and other provisions necessary to regulate the care provided to the hospital district's residents as is now done for county and public hospitals.

Those who support this provision say it would give hospital districts a uniform set of standards for both services and eligibility and clarify the districts' legal duties in order to protect them from law suits alleging they failed to "assume full responsibility for poor residents' medical and hospital care" as required by the Constitution. It would protect hospital districts such as Dallas' which, in lieu of a clear definition of "care" or "indigent" has been providing extensive services. It would also force some irresponsible hospital districts to provide at least basic services or dissolve themselves and let the county take over.

Opponents feel that it will cut down on medical assistance received by many of those who cannot afford private insurance but do not qualify for Medicaid and other forms of public assistance, but who have been covered by hospital whose eligibility requirements are more lenient than Medicaid's. Other opponents feel decisions as to what services are needed and can be provided should be left up to local administrators since property taxes support hospital districts. They say suits should be brought against individual districts if they are not fulfilling their constitutional duties.

Proposition 6: Under English common law "transportation" was the exiling of some prisoners, usually to a penal colony in another country. Our State Constitution presently forbids the outlawing or transporting of any citizen out of the state for an offense committed in the state. In 1934, Congress authorized states to enter into interstate contracts for mutual assistance in crime prevention and enforcement of criminal laws.

Thirty-one states have adopted the Interstate Corrections Compact, which allows states to enter into contracts to exchange prisoners. With the passage of Proposition 6, Texas could take part in this program. Supporters feel TDC needs to be able to separate certain classes of inmates from the general population to help control prison violence. TDC would like the authority to transfer gang leaders out of the state where they could not continue to cause security problems in TDC. They could also transfer informants or others who are in danger from fellow prisoners or who have certain health problems and could benefit from special programs in other states for such cases.

Opponents feel the state has no business transferring our problem inmates out of state or accepting problem inmates from other states.

Proposition 7: In 1983, a constitutional amendment was passed requiring each county to have a certain number of JP precincts, based on population. Now instead of requiring all counties to have 4-8 JP precincts, counties of 30,000 or more may have 4-8, counties of 18,000-30,000 have 2-5, and counties under 18,000 have 1-4 precincts.

Proposition 7 would allow Chambers County, located between Houston and Beaumont, to have 6 JP precincts even though, based on population, it is only allowed 5. Chambers County feels they need additional JP because of a large number of traffic violations due to a high volume of intracity and tourist traffic.

Supporters feel that since the county pays for their JP courts, and Chambers County wants 6 JP courts, it ought to be able to have them.

Opponents feel we would further clutter the Constitution. They feel all counties of similar size should be allowed 6 JP precincts. Others feel all counties should be allowed 8 JP precincts if they want them and we should take care of all future problems with one amendment rather than one county at a time as counties change.

I warned you that explanations of these proposals would be bland, to say the least, but I felt then, and still do, that it is important that you be able to cast an informed vote. I know, however, you are happy to hear that we are halfway through, with only 7 more proposals to go.

Nursing Home News

September was really a busy one for all of our residents. We started the month off with a back-to-school party. We brushed up on our memory with a test and most passed. Seventeen attended the party with punch, cookies, and fruit served. Thanks to Lillian Cooper for playing the piano.

We want to welcome Vicki Shaw, Gladys Miller, Bobbie Altman, and Henry Vogler to the Nursing Home and are very happy to have them with us.

Our deepest sympathy goes out to the families of Tab Hatler and Pitzer Hays. They will be missed greatly by residents and staff.

Every second Friday night of the month, the Ballinger String Band comes and plays for our residents. It is always enjoyed by all.

Scott and Margie Bell of Plano came and held Bible Study on October 17. Twenty-one residents and eight visitors attended and we hope they will return to visit again real soon.

Our Resident Council has started making a few changes in the home and started with buying new curtains and furniture for our lobby. We would like to invite everyone out to see it all.

Ten of the residents really enjoyed our trip out to eat at the Circle S Restaurant. We would like to thank Buddy and Jo Miller and Nadine Bedford for helping with the transportation. Hope to see you all real soon!

1st Marine Division 38th Reunion held

S/Sgt. M.R. Williams USMC (retired) recently attended the 38th Annual Reunion of the 1st Marine Division and Attached Units held in Brownsville, Texas.

The reunion was held at the Fort Brown Hotel which is located on the banks of the Rio Grande River, close by the International Bridge. Many old friendships were renewed and many battles were re-fought. The outcome was the same—WE WON!

The 1st Marine Division has been tagged by some military historians as the most efficient fighting force ever assembled. One historian in particular classified the 1st Division as the "most elite of all gladiators."

The Division was first bloodied at Guadalcanal in August, 1942, and went on to participate in action at Peleliu and Okinawa. In Korea, the Division landed at Inchon, and perhaps the most glorious chapter of its' exciting history was written in blood and ice at the breakout from the Chosin Reservoir in late 1950. Many Talpa-Centennial football boys will have a game Friday, October 11, at 7 p.m. They will play Paint Rock here.

Dinah Taff, Jonna and Jeffi of Ballinger visited Johnny and Dulcie Decker Saturday morning. Saturday afternoon, the Deckers' went to Menard to a homecoming that honored the class that Dulcie graduated from.

Anna Lee Ray and I went to Coleman Monday night to visit Lemma Fuller to see a T.V. program on cable that Anna Lee's nephew, Dr. David Watts, of the University of California Hospital in San Francisco was on. A nutrition program that she wanted to see. Dr. Watts and Jane Brody, health columnist of the New York Times co-hosted a nutrition program. There were 23 health questions answered.

times during this confrontation with the Red Chinese armies, the Marines were outnumbered 40 to 1.

In Vietnam, the Division performed remarkably, namely at Da-Nang, Hue, Chu-Lai and Quang-Tri.

Almost 500 Marines attended the four-day celebration in South Texas. Some of the activities included were bus tours to Padre Island and Porter Zoo, as well as to Monterey, Mexico. The highlight of the reunion was a bus trip to the Marine Academy in Harlingen, where a ceremony was held at the two Jima Memorial Statue to honor the Marines fallen comrades. This trip also included a tour of the Confederate Air Force Museum.

A G.I. lunch at the Marine Mess Hall was enjoyed by all. Many Congressional Medal of Honor winners were in attendance and some made speeches. The reunion for 1986 will be held in St. Louis, Missouri.

Meningitis vaccine protects toddlers

A new vaccine prevents children between the ages of two and five years from developing meningitis and other diseases caused by Haemophilus influenzae, type B bacteria (HIB). This childhood vaccine is the first new immunization recommended for use in children over 18 months, according to the Texas Medical Association.

Meningitis is a contagious infection of the membranes that cover the brain and spinal cord.

Nationally, about 10,000 children under the age of five develop meningitis from HIB each year. Most cases of bacterial meningitis are detected early, and recovery is complete, but between 5 and 10 percent of meningitis cases are fatal.

Symptoms of meningitis in a child include fever, intense headache, nausea, and often vomiting. The child's neck is held stiffly, or even arched backwards, and attempts to bend the head forward will be resisted. The child becomes unusually quiet and withdrawn, and turns away or tries to shield the eyes from bright lights. The bacteria that cause meningitis live in children's mouths and noses. They are spread through droplets, like colds, but most people exposed to the bacteria will not develop the disease.

Only about one child out of every 200 exposed to meningitis during the first five years of life will become sick. The rest develop a natural immunity to the disease, but there is no way of telling beforehand who will get sick and who will become immune.

That is why the new vaccine has become so important. It is the first time physicians have been able to gain some control of this condition.

The only serious limitation of the vaccine is that it is ineffective in children under the age of 18 months. New vaccines to protect this age group are being developed. In the meantime, vaccines for all two-to-five-year-olds are recommended.

Ode to the seat belt

I've buckled up for safety; I'm complying with the law My blouses all wrinkled And my neck rubbed raw.

Got a strap across my belly But what sticks inside my jaw Is the one across my chest That fits like a too-tight bra.

I can't even reach the glove box To retrieve a simple map Without filling up my mouth With a lousy two-inch strap.

When I try to order Big Macs' This is how it goes: I have to fight the belt 'Cause it's cutting off my nose.

I feel like I'm a chauffeur Friends hate the belts, you see And when we go to lunch Won't ride up front with me.

But what really makes me mad, Are the grins and all the stares From the bozos watchin' me By gum, ain't wearin' theirs!

WINTERS.....Coming! (Or is it?)

Editor's note: The following article was submitted by Benny Polston.

Having served the members of the Winters Area Chamber of Commerce over the past two years as one of its Directors and as President, I developed the same good feeling that pride in the community and its accomplishments has brought to our long-time resident and Chamber secretary, Kay Colburn. Kay coined the phrase "Winters coming" for possible use in our new area map and brochure and, based on the Community's past achievements and potential in the future, the phrase seemed to perfectly describe how all of us at the Chamber felt about the Winters area. But all these good feelings occurred prior to the completion of a special poll by the Chamber's City Improvement Committee.

The City Improvement Committee had been instructed by the Chamber's Board to determine the best manner to spend a $3,850.00 special donation from certain "City Fathers" designated for use in improving the Community. The Committee first discussed possible uses of the funds with the Board and after lengthy deliberations and no agreement, the Chamber decided to poll its membership before making any final decisions regarding the use of its funds. The poll is now complete and based on the majority of the responses, the Board has unanimously approved to use the funds in developing a concentrated effort in bringing new industry and businesses to compliment and fill the needs of the Winters area.

Our poll also disclosed, however, that Winters Area Chamber of Commerce members are not too proud of the overall appearance of our City and almost all believe improvements can be made. The Chamber Board pondered at length why some businesses and communities are capable of putting on "new faces" or rebuilding community eyesores into attractive and useful facilities, while others choose to neglect their properties to the point they have become unattractive to adjoining businesses and to the community as a whole.

We also discussed using some or all of the Chamber's funds to clean up the worst vacant properties or to paint the fronts of some of our run-down and decaying buildings. But then, how is that fair to all those who have used their own private funds in restoring their property while others, who have the resources to do something, have chosen to do nothing. And so the Board abstained from committing any of the donated funds for use in "clean-up projects," however the need is there.

Following is a sampling of our members' responses to the Chamber's poll regarding needed city improvements:

"Find some way to get old houses torn down and lots cleaned."

"Get all the businesses downtown to help out. They can all afford to clean-up their faces."

"Clean up vacant lots. Tear down old rundown buildings or repair if possible."

"Clear lots and mow weeds on North Main."

"Tear down or improve the old motel building on South Main and the building just north of the Dairy Queen."

"Improve the old Winn's building on North Main."

"Let each merchant take care of his own repair."

"Work with the City to enforce businesses and private owners to clean up oilfield yards, welding yards, vacant lots, etc."

"Remove parking meters and posts, except for those posts used for flags."

"Put up a welcome sign on the north and south ends of town."

"A city-wide cleanup with each merchant donating a certain amount of time to assist—either his or an employee's time. Designate a certain day and hour and keep a list so that these people can be reminded of their duties. Make it specific as to duties and follow a definite plan."

"Please! Access to sidewalks for wheelchairs—in a few spots anyway."

"Streets and sidewalks need to be kept free of weeds."

"Tow away cars that have not been moved in two months."

"Help improve the appearance of Winters Northview Cemetery."

"Refurbish selected curbing and sidewalks in downtown area."

"Make Benny get contacts—make Frann wear a mask."

As to the last item, it's my opinion, Frann (my lovely wife) spends too much time with her cosmetic "mask" each and every morning. And as to my glasses, I've worn them for about as long as I can remember....so maybe it is time for contacts and a new look.... after all, IF Winters IS coming, we all need to look our best.

Conferences for child abuse set

The Texas Coalition for the Prevention of Child Abuse is a statewide coalition that has a threefold purpose: to provide a vehicle for co-ordinating the complementary work being done by numerous groups in Texas; to strengthen child abuse prevention programs through the exchange of ideas and information; and to promote the development of prevention services where they are needed but currently lacking.

Three regional conferences on the prevention of child abuse have been scheduled by TCPCA. One of these conferences will be held in Abilene on October 17 and 18 at the Embassy Suites Hotel.

The opening session begins at 2 p.m. with State Representative Gary Thompson and Linda Gayle White, First Lady of Texas scheduled to speak. Workshops will follow the opening session. Day II workshops begin at 9 a.m. and adjourn at 3:30 p.m. Included in the second day events is a luncheon from 12 to 1:30 with January Scott, staff member of the National Coalition for the Prevention of Child Abuse as the keynote speaker.

All participants are asked to pre-register for the conference. Cost of the conference is $30 per person which includes the luncheon. Texans to save on water bills

Passage of Constitutional Amendment No. 1 in the general election on November 5, has the potential to save consumers throughout the state of Texas a considerable amount of money as they look at their future water needs and at ways of financing needed water projects.

One of the provisions of Constitutional Amendment No. 1 creates a new $250 million loan guarantee program to be administered through the Texas Water Development Fund. Through this program, the larger cities and towns throughout the state could utilize the triple-A bond rating of the state to help secure the sale of their bonds. In effect, the state would become a co-signer in the bond sale under this loan guarantee program.

This program would primarily

PROCLAMATION BY THE COUNTY JUDGE OF RUNNELS COUNTY

TO ALL TO WHOM THESE PRESENTS SHALL COME:

I, Mike Murchison, County Judge of Runnels County, do hereby declare the week of October 6-12, 1985 as FIRE PREVENTION WEEK in Runnels County, for the following reasons:

WHEREAS, according to the National Fire Protection Association, the 1983 fire loss totals are as follows: United States - 6,016 deaths; from 2,326,500 total fires; total property lost $6,598,000,000; and

WHEREAS, "FIRE DRILLS SAVE LIVES!" is the theme for the 1985 nation-wide observance. As always, Fire Prevention Week is the full week - Sunday through Saturday - to include the date of October 9, the anniversary of the "Great Chicago Fire" in 1871. The Fire Marshal's Association of North America proclaimed the first Fire Prevention Day in 1911 and NFPA has sponsored Fire Prevention Week since 1922; and

WHEREAS, FIRE DRILLS are for everyone - young and old - and should be practiced at home, at school, at work - everywhere. Everyone needs E.D.I.T.H., an Exit Drill In The Home. Sketch a floor plan to be sure that everyone knows two ways out of every room in your home. Have a meeting place outside so that you can account for everyone's safe exit. As you develop your plan, remember that small children and disabled family members need special assistance in their escape. Older family members may also need special assistance. Anyone needing special assistance should sleep on the first floor or near an exit. Small children's bedrooms should be near an able-bodied adult.

★ Each member of the family should be able to recognize the sound of the smoke detector or other fire alarm signal.

★ Conduct a fire drill periodically.

★ A designated adult should push the smoke detector test button or sound another agree-upon alarm.

★ Check to make sure that everyone has evacuated safely.

★ Everyone should reenter the home and discuss any problems or questions that occurred during the drill; and

WHEREAS you can "learn not to burn" by remembering to: "Stop, drop and roll" to smother the flames if your clothes catch fire. Crawl low on your hands and knees to exit the building if you are caught in a smoke-filled room or building. Remember..FIRE DRILLS SAVE LIVES!

ly benefit medium-sized cities whose credit rating is not as good as the credit rating of the state. By utilizing the credit rating of the state to secure the sale of bonds, cities and towns could borrow money at lower interest rates. This then lowers the cost of the water project, which in turn is passed through to the consumer, lowering his water bill.

There is a $250 million limit as to how much the state would be authorized to pay out. With the very conservative two to one leveraging authorized in the program, the Texas Water Development Board could enter into a total of loan guarantees of up to $500 million.

Costs to state taxpayers in this loan guarantee program would be minimal even in a "worst case scenario." The only cost involved would be in the case of a city or town defaulting on its loan, and the odds against that happening are high. The Texas Water Development Fund was created in 1957, and there has not been a case of a default of a loan under this program to date.

Memo from Kay

The newest restaurant in town, The Red Pepper, will have a Grand Opening this Friday at 2 p.m. Everyone is invited to come and help the Chamber directors welcome this nice addition to our business community.

The results of the recent Special Project Survey conducted by the Winters area Chamber of Commerce directors can be found in another article written by Chamber President Benny Polston. Our thanks and appreciation are extended to all Chamber members who took the time to answer the poll and give their opinions about the condition and the needs of the Winters area. It helps the Chamber in its course of action to know how members feel about the different areas that the Chamber of Commerce covers in its attempts to help the community.

A phone call is all that is needed to enter our Second Annual Scarecrow Contest. This contest proved to be lots of fun for all ages last year and we hope to have even more entries this year. All scarecrows should be ready and on exhibit by Thursday, October 17, which is two weeks before Halloween. This length of time will give more people a chance to look them over and enjoy them. Call 754-5210 or come by the Chamber office to enter your scarecrow in this 'fun for all' contest.

The Booster Club has asked that everyone working in Winters' businesses to wear

October 17 is the day to unveil those Scarecrows for everyone far and near to see.

Enter your Scarecrow in this contest sponsored by the Winters Area Chamber of Commerce by calling 754-5210 or by coming by the Chamber office.

Out of town judges will judge the entries in two categories - a scene with a Scarecrow or a Scarecrow by itself. The size of the space where the Scarecrow is placed will be taken into consideration in judging as well as originality and clever use of materials.

Help make this autumn Halloween season fun for shoppers, browsers, children and oldsters by being a part of our Scarecrow Contest.

royal blue and white on Fridays in support of our local football teams.

There is a lot of trash blowing around town with the coming of fall winds from the north. Let's all be aware of the way our town should look and take the time to pick up some of this debris. Remember, it costs very little to be clean and cleanliness shows that we care about Winters. Dirty windows and rubbish all around gives the appearance of unconcern and apathy. We should be motivated in keeping our town nice and neat as we are in keeping our homes clean and ready for visitors, neighbors and family.

Cooperatives help protect farmers

Almost a quarter of all farm crops are marketed through cooperatives. Agricultural marketing cooperatives protect farmers against the harsh effects of the speculative market and add an important competitive element to their marketing environment. They have improved and stabilized farm prices, without increasing costs to consumers.

Marketing cooperatives have also helped to improve the quality of food products reaching consumers, by emphasizing grading and labeling and insisting on high standards for the food distribution system.

More than 4,200 cooperatives in the United States market farm commodities. Increasingly, marketing cooperatives are getting into the farm supply business. Conversely, supply co-ops are adding marketing to their services.

But the primary function of marketing cooperatives is to bring to market raw foodstuffs ranging from dairy products, livestock and grain to fruits, vegetables and poultry. A hundred trade names of cooperatively marketed farm products—such as Sunkist, Land O'Lakes, Sunmaid, Ocean Spray, Farmland, Blue Diamond, Welch's, and Farmbest—today stand for dependable quality wherever American consumers find them.
