Wait a minute...

By Kerry Craig

Our new city administrator came by the other day to visit and to discuss a project that he is working on along with the chamber of commerce and a bunch of other folks.

The project is a community clean-up campaign. The date for all the action is the week of April 7 to the 11th. His idea is good and we will talk more of it later.

Chuck, during his visit, painted several pictures, with words, of the Wyoming country. His description of the place he came from brought to mind a story we told in this space several months ago.

You remember. It was about the two families and their search for a new community to call home.

The first family had nothing good to say about where they had come from and were told to continue with their search, that they would find the same thing in the community in which they had stopped.

The second family told of wonderful friends and neighbors and how sad they were that they had to re-locate. They were told that they could find a house to live in just down the street and where a job could be found. They, too, were told that they would find the same kind of folks in their new hometown as they had to leave behind.

Well, Chuck has found a place to live and he has a job. It could be that he has found a home.

While talking about city officials, Winters' version of T.J. Hooker took me for a ride Monday to show some things that were upsetting.

For years people have parked along the "Main Drag" to watch the cars go by and to wave at their friends. Some of those parked were in hopes of making new friends.

In our community, those folks that have parked to watch have cleaned up after themselves. There were no problems with their parking along the "drag".

In recent weeks there has been an accumulation of cans and bottles from soft drinks and from some not so soft left scattered and shattered in the areas where folks like to park.

One or two folks can really foul things up for a bunch of folks by not using their heads. And by not using their hands to clean up after themselves.

A good illustration is along the north wall of the Winters Public Library. A few empty bottles can be found among the pile of drink packages and the shattered glass from broken bottles and a few cans.

Our police chief said that this nonsense would stop—one way or the other.

In news from the television and in the big newspapers early this week was a story about a child that was revived by a neighbor who knew CPR.

The child had fallen into some water and, by the time he was found, was unconscious.

The efforts of this neighbor and the use of his knowledge of CPR made the difference—the child is alive.

Just last week two seventh grade classes and one eighth grade class at Winters High School became certified in CPR.

A group of 4-H students learned the same this past week end. There are other groups that have learned and still more that are waiting to learn CPR.

Not only that, we have a class of 19 students, the majority from Winters, who are completing schooling to become Emergency Medical Technicians.

As more and more neighbors learn these skills, our community is becoming more concerned with their neighbors and their health and well-being.

Whether these folks who have learned, are learning, or will soon learn, they are to be commended for their interest and their efforts.

A sign of the times

More heavy rain fell around Winters Monday evening with rainfall amounts ranging from just over one inch to more than two inches. The rain fell in about an hour.

With the ground soaked, the heavy rain produced much run-off.

At the dam of the old city lake, north of the city, water was running through the spill-way in the dam. The water was running into Bluff Creek and on to the Colorado River, below Ballinger.

Littering and loitering will grind to a halt

Winters Police Chief Ted Galloway said, this week, that his department has received a number of complaints about the litter left behind by loiters on parking areas in downtown Winters.

Two specific areas were identified as being next to the Winters Public Library and in front of Merchants Motor Freight warehouse. Both of the areas are along Main Street.

The police chief said, "I have received numerous complaints from local merchants in reference to persons breaking beer bottles, throwing packaging out and leaving bottles on the parking lots in town."

He said that, "effective immediately, City Ordinance 10-6 and state law V.T.C.S. Article 1015L concerning parking on private property will be rigidly enforced. Also the littering laws of the State of Texas will be enforced."

It has been a practice, of long standing, for young people to park on the lots facing Main Street. Those people have, for a long time, policed their parking area.

Jimmy Smith is 1987 Runnels County Agribusinessman of the Year

Jimmy Smith, with his wife Ginny owns and operates the Pioneer Vet Clinic in Winters. Jimmy serves ranchers all over Runnels and surrounding counties with unlimited energy and endless concern.

Jimmy graduated from Winters High School in 1960 and attended Angelo State University and Texas Tech. He graduated from that little school in Lubbock in 1964. He taught Ag in Anson for two years and in Winters for four years.

He married Ginny in 1968 and Sally was born in 1970. He began Vet school at A&M (that great school in College Station) in 1970 and their daughter Jamie (Rabbit) was born in 1974. On August 9, 1974, he graduated from Vet School and on August 10, 1974 he opened the Pioneer Vet Clinic in Winters.

He used a picnic table for an examining table and made a surgery table out of an old barber chair! The people of Winters helped him purchase a pickup truck to make "house calls". And he's been going full blast ever since!!

We appreciate all the work Jimmy does and feel this award is well-deserved.

Tax applied to telephone service

The State Comptroller's office has ruled that the increase in the Texas state sales tax, which became effective January 1, 1987, must be applied on taxable telephone services received in January.

Since most telephone services, except long-distance, are billed a month in advance, the ruling requires that the difference between the old and new state sales tax rates be applied to the January portion of taxable services billed in December.

This adjustment is shown on General Telephone bills mailed in March.

Date set to discuss Farmers Market

Several people have expressed an interest in a Farmers Market for Winters—possibly one morning a week—that would offer a place for farmers/gardeners to market vegetables, fruits, etc.

We will have a meeting on Tuesday, March 24 at 1:30 p.m. at Farmers Seed and Supply to discuss these possibilities. Allen Turner, County Extension Agent, and Dr. Chip Lee, Extension Plant Pathologist, will be available to answer questions you may have about this type of activity. Chip has had quite a bit of personal experience with this in the Stephenville area.

If you are interested, we invite you to attend. If you know of anyone else who would be interested, pass the word and invite them too.

Burglary investigation underway by police

Winters Police are continuing an investigation into the burglary of the building formerly occupied by B's Construction on north Melwood Street.

Taken in the break-in was an Adler electric typewriter and a Sharp calculator. Police investigators placed the value of the stolen items at approximately $1,500.

Entry to the building was gained by breaking out a window. Officers said that a steel ramp was used to smash the glass.

Also reported taken were two tires and wheels from a Ford LTD, stored on the lot.

Police Chief Ted Galloway said that officers have found a number of fingerprints at the burglary scene and that other leads were being checked out.

The police chief said that officers possibly had some suspects under observation in connection with the burglary.

The break-in occurred sometime over the past week end.

Runnels County Historical Commission plans tour

The Runnels County Historical Commission will conduct a tour of the Barrow Museum located on the Barrow Ranch east of Eola Sunday, March 22.

Neuman Smith and Arnold Allcorn, tour chairmen, will be in charge of the tour and will lead the group.

The Barrow Museum is very unusual, with its huge buildings filled with things that were used over the years, soda fountains, antique cars, trucks, farm machinery, two train cabooses, and a number of windmills stand proudly watching over the area, they seem to greet the guests as they arrive.

Students to present One Act Play

A One Act Play will be presented to the public, March 23 at 7 p.m. in the Winters High School Auditorium.

This play will be presented in contest later in the spring.

First County Sanitarium

Dr. A. S. Love and Dr. W. B. Halley came to Ballinger in September 1898, to establish a practice. Both young men took medical courses as physicians and surgeons, and both graduated at Galveston in 1897. Dr. Halley practiced first at Palestine where he was in charge of the I.G.N. Railroad Hospital, he remained one year before moving to Ballinger.

In 1905 Dr. Halley and Dr. Love established the Halley and Love Sanitarium, the first institution of its kind in Runnels County and this part of West Texas. They bought a residence, situated on the highest point in Ballinger, on Elm Creek bluff, it overlooked the business part of Ballinger and the scenic Colorado River Valley.

The premises afforded plenty of light and ventilation. The house was remodeled to accommodate eighteen patients, with operating room and all modern conveniences.

Mrs. J. E. Albright, of Ballinger, the former Vera Cochran, said that Dr. Love started a school for nurses soon after the hospital was established, and built a nurses home. Mrs. Albright nursed in the hospital and graduated as an R.N. in 1927. She began her training January 3, 1925. She married in August after graduation and did mostly private duty. "You had to be nearly dead, or they expected you to die, before you had a nurse in those days. And one didn't go to the hospital hardly ever," she said.

Mrs. Albright recalled helping deliver several babies. She went with Dr. Hale on a fast run to Benoit. The baby was delivered and they were back in Ballinger in 45 minutes. A trip with Dr. Halley didn't turn out so well. She stayed eight days with the woman and she still did not deliver so Mrs. Albright returned home. Several days later she and the doctor were called back, they baby had arrived before they did—a 14 pounder.

When Ballinger celebrated its 50th Anniversary in 1936, Dr. Love was interviewed and talked of the early days in West Texas. He had started to Abilene to look the town over and stopped to spend the night at Trickham in Coleman County. It was learned that a doctor was staying over night at the hotel and calls from the sick came which kept him busy for a month. When he caught up he came to Ballinger and decided to remain.

On long trips the doctors usually hired a livery stable rig and a driver. Dr. Love recalled that once on a trip to Crews he hired a "rig" and driver so he could get some sleep. The area was being fenced and that night he had to open 23 gates and did not get much rest.

From the patient's house he made five other calls and arrived at the Hatchel store the next day at noon where he got his first food. When they arrived back in Ballinger the driver said it was his last trip with a doctor.

The Banner-Leader, April 2, 1909, announced that blasting causes damage. A force of men working on the Abilene Southern Railroad were cutting through a bluff on Elm Creek. A blast threw a large rock several hundred feet falling on the roof of the sanitarium, knocking a flue off the house and a hole in the roof. The explosion shook the surrounding houses, but no further damage was done.

The paper stated that work is progressing nicely on on the new road and the grading will be completed within the next month.

In 1910, Ballinger's Sanitarium was highly praised by the newspaper:

The Ballinger newspaper noted, "Both male and female subjects are accepted for treatment."

"Miss Nora Fletcher, in charge as head nurse, is well experienced in her work."

"At the present time patients are drawn from Runnels, Taylor, Concho, Tom Green, McCulloch, and Coke Counties."

"However, it is necessary for us to say that on account of the present inadequacy of quarters to meet the demands of an increasing number of patients, plans are now going forward to organize a company with $20,000 capital stock.

Plans were made to enlarge and modernize the facilities when completed it would ac-comodate not less than 26 patients.

"It will be steam heated and equipped with electric lights, water, sewerage connections and operating room facilities."

Drs. Halley and Love were praised as prominent physicians, surgeons and influential citizens. They were also the official physicians for the Santa Fe Railway.

When remodeling of the sanitarium was completed it was named "Ballinger Clinic Hospital" and serviced the area well for a number of years.

Dr. Love retired several years before his death, October 12, 1943 and Dr. Charles F. Bailey took his place. Dr. Halley died December 6, 1951, but the Clinic Hospital continued to serve the public until the new Memorial Hospital on the Bronte Highway was completed in late 1962.

In January of 1963 all the patients in the Ballinger Clinic Hospital were transferred to the new Memorial Hospital by a fleet of seven ambulances, according to a picture in the Ballinger Ledger.

On January 10, 1963 the newspaper announced that the office of Drs. Charles F. Bailey, O. H. Chandler and John E. Green, Jr., will be located in the Ballinger Clinic building as in the past. Hospital patients will be in Ballinger Memorial Hospital. However, it was soon announced that the partnership

Texas VA trains Medical Professions

Most of the country's medical schools have a special partnership with the Veterans Administration. Through affiliations and training agreements with 102 of the Nation's 127 medical schools, more than one-third of all health care professionals will get clinical training at VA medical centers this year.

The Big Spring VA Medical Center contributed to VA's investment in future health care by training 102 students through affiliations with four different schools last year. According to Medical Center Director Conrad Alexander, major education programs at the hospital included instruction for resident physicians; dental hygiene, x-ray technology, and nursing students; as well as medical laboratory technician students.

The medical center's Surgical Service has an active affiliation in the field of Ophthalmology with Texas Tech University Health Sciences Center in Lubbock, according to Alexander. There are two residents rotating on a year round basis (eight residents during CY 86), Alexander said. They are supervised and trained under active consulting staff from the Big Spring community and from Lubbock, as well as medical center staff. These supervising physicians are experts in various fields of ophthalmology such as corneal transplants. The operating room and examination areas are well equipped for modern ophthalmological surgery, including a modern operating room microscope. Educational conferences are conducted on a weekly basis in association with Texas Tech at Lubbock. There is also a plan to rotate and educate medical students from Texas Tech in the future.

Oil well discoveries down in February

Texas oil and gas operators reported 38 gas and 17 oil discoveries in February, according to Railroad Commission Chairman Mack Wallace. In January, a total of 38 gas and 21 oil discoveries were filed with the Commission. A discovery is an exploratory well that is completed in a previously untapped reservoir.

Gas discoveries in February included eight in the Rufugio area (District 2), eight in Southeast Texas (District 3), 15 in deep South Texas (District 4), two in East Texas (District 6), two in West Central Texas (District 7B), two in the San Angelo area (District 7C), and one in North Texas (District 9).

Oil discoveries included one in the San Antonio area (District 1), five in Southeast Texas (District 3), one in deep South Texas (District 4), two in East Texas (District 6), two in West Central Texas (District 7B), one in the San Angelo area (District 7C), one in the Midland area (District 8), and four in North Texas (District 9).

Those discoveries were included in the 600 oil, 216 gas, and 78 service completions operators reported in February. In January, operators filed 606 oil, 187 gas, and 60 service completions.

A total of 430 dry holes were reported in February, compared to 250 in January.

Wingate Baptist Church to celebrate 95th Anniversary

The Wingate Baptist Church will celebrate its 95th Anniversary on Sunday, March 22. The church was organized on March 20, 1892. The first pastor of the church was Bro. J. W. George.

The church met in various places until 1909 when following a revival a church building was built. This building was used until 1960 when the present church auditorium was constructed. In 1983 a new educational and fellowship building was constructed. In 1985 the church auditorium was completely refurbished.

During the first sixty five years of its ministry the church had forty pastors. The present pastor, Charles Myers, came to be pastor in May 1957.

The anniversary speaker will be Dr. Bill Pinson, the Executive Secretary of the Baptist General Convention of Texas. He will speak at the morning worship service. The church will served dinner at noon. In the afternoon there will be an informal fellowship meeting with friends, former pastors and former members of the church.

The church especially invite all former members and pastors to return and visit with the church on March 22.

RONdom thoughts

By RON BIRK

"Having gifts that differ according to the grace given to us, let us use them." (Romans 12:6)

If there is an obvious fact of life it is that different people have different gifts, different talents.

If that is true, then it is also true that we are only responsible to use the gifts God has given us. God does not expect people to use gifts they don't have.

That cannot be emphasized enough.

People have always struggled with a sense of inadequacy and envy when it comes to comparing the gifts they don't have, with the gifts others do have.

"He has so many talents. I have so few."

"She has glamorous gifts that take the spotlight. Mine are unglamorous, behind-the-scenes gifts."

Theodore Roosevelt carried on the same theme when he said, "Do what you can, with what you have, where you are."

And Edward Everett Hale got to the core of the matter when he said, "I am only one. But still I am one. I cannot do everything, but still I can do something. And because I cannot do everything I will not refuse to do the something that I can do."

We all have different gifts—but we all have gifts! Paul compares it to the human body—different parts have different functions. But they are all necessary for the body to be the body.

We could also compare it to a football team. There are quarterbacks and running backs and receivers and blocking linemen. Each has different talents. Each is dependent on the other's abilities.

The receiver needs the quarterback to throw the ball, the quarterback needs the linemen to give him protection to throw the ball. And so on. All the positions are important to the success of the team.

And so it is with life. Life is a team sport. None of us can make it all by ourselves. We need the help of the rest of the team. We need their gifts. They need ours.

A college professor friend of mine tells of the time he was having some plumbing problems at his house and tried to take care of it himself. All he did was make matters worse. Finally, he called in a plumber, who looked at the mess, shook his head and said, "I don't try to teach your classes. Why do you try to do my plumbing? You take care of my kids, I'll take care of your toilet!"

Professors may not have the gift of plumbing. Plumbers may not have the gift of teaching. But between the talents of both, students get taught and toilets keep flushing!

Life is a team sport. Each of us have different gifts. And when we share our gifts with each other, life is lived the way it is supposed to be.

So "having gifts that differ...let us use them."—use them for the good of the team.

Natalia and Adolph Minzenmayer were out Sunday with Mrs. Marvin Kurtz for lunch, later they attended church services.

The Earl Coopers attended the parade and Rodeo in San Angelo Friday.

Ruthie Pape's daughter, Deborah Conroy and children, Lark and Allen, of Fairfield, spent the weekend with Ruthie and Bradley. Walter Pape III of Colorado Springs came Sunday night.

Shyrl and Sucan Bryan and Therin Osborne were the Doug Bryan's visitors during the week.

House to vote on Gramm's 65 MPH Speed Limit Bill

The House of Representatives has agreed to vote on U.S. Sen. Phil Gramm's plan to allow states to increase interstate highway speed limits to 65 miles per hour in rural areas. "This marks a major step forward in our drive to give states the option to raise speed limits on the open highway," Gramm noted.

The senator stressed that the ultimate decision to shift to a higher speed limit will be made by state governments. The Gramm plan will "simply give those states that wish it, such as Texas, the modest ability to raise the speed limit on rural interstates."

During debate on the issue in the Senate, Gramm, R-Texas, noted that the energy crisis which originally prompted the federal government to impose the 55-MPH limit "has long ago passed."

"If you set out to drive from Fort Worth to Lubbock at 55 miles per hour, one of two things will happen to you," he said. "You are either going to get discouraged and turn back, or you're going to be run over by somebody going a lot faster than 55 miles an hour."

The Senate has repeatedly approved legislation authored and co-sponsored by Gramm to permit states to increase their speed limits, but the House of Representatives has failed to & Loan Insurance Fund (FSLIC), voted unanimously to include the Gramm plan in the bill.

The Gramm guidelines set into law a series of principles under which the Federal Home Loan Bank Board will work to help well-managed S&Ls stay in business.

The guidelines include:
—Restructuring of loans to enhance the ability of borrowers to repay their loans.
—More realistic appraisals of real estate by federal regulators.

—Creation of an appeal system so S&Ls can challenge disputed appraisals by regulatory officers.

—Creation of a "capital certificate" program to help viable thrift institutions maintain the required capital reserves in the short term. Upon recovery, the S&L would pay interest for use of the certificates into the Federal Savings & Loan Insurance Fund.

"Speeding the recovery of S&Ls will speed the recovery of Texas," Gramm said.

"This decision is particularly welcome because it will finally allow a straight vote on the issue," Gramm said.

The Senate Banking Committee has adopted the "Thrift Industry Recovery Guidelines" proposed by U.S. Sen. Phil Gramm to assist hard-pressed communities across Texas.

"These guidelines will serve to attract new investors and will speed the economic recovery of both the savings & loans and the hundreds of Texas communities they serve," he said.

Examine home-based business offers

"Be especially cautious about advertisements for the home-based businesses in magazines or newspapers," warns a Texas A&M University Agricultural Extension Service family economics pamphlet listing work-at-home ideas, explains Nancy Granovskas.

Others may require you to invest in materials such as envelopes for stuffing or items for sewing, which they say they will buy back from you. But when you have completed the job, the company claims your work fails to meet standards and you have lost your investment.

"Check with the state Attorney General's office or a Better Business Bureau before putting your money into this type of offer," emphasizes the specialist.

Soccer

The weather was terrific again and we were able to complete the full slate of games. Participation has not been as full as expected because of Spring Break. Many of the players and their parents were away, but we expect to finally swing into full action Saturday, March 21, 1987.

The Under 14 age group has been playing an exhibition practice game each Saturday. This is necessarily so since we have not had enough players on each side to play a game, but it affords us the opportunity to practice offensive and defensive strategies.

This will be important when we take the Under 14 age group to play out of town games. We will need plenty of practice since this is still our first year.

I would now like to discuss the Under 8 special youth rules that we utilize in Ballinger. Last week I explained the Under 6 rules and next week I will discuss the Under 10 rules.

The Under 8 age group, play on a larger field, 50 yds. long by 60 yds. wide. We play with 9 players a side and one must be a goal keeper. Next year there will be 7 players. We play with a Size #3 ball.

Substitutions are allowed at the half and on injuries. We allow substitution freely. We play 25 minute halves; nonstop time. Players must stand at least 6 yds. away from opponents at direct, indirect, goal and over kicks. We allow a second attempt at a throw-in, after explanation. We presently allow penalty kicks, but a tie remains a tie.

No standings are kept.

Herbicides can be effective for brush

Soil applied herbicides can be effective in treating individual brush plants and in preventing a brush reinvansion following a broadcast control method. Four herbicides are registered for use on rangeland and require rainfall to move the herbicide into the soil. These work best in late winter and early spring when the probability of rainfall is highest over the state and most brush species are entering their primary growth period, says a range brush and weed control specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System.

Winters Young Farmers took the chance to get away

The main purpose of the Winters Young Farmers "Get-Away Weekend" was to give area people a chance to relax, laugh and unwind from their normal everyday tensions and worries. The beautiful setting of the Texas Tech University Center in Junction was an ideal place. Located along the Llano River, its isolated site makes it really appear as if you had withdrawn into a private oasis.

The center is used for summer classes sponsored by Texas Tech University. Its location makes it a great place for many entomology, biology and art classes. During the fall and spring they also offer classes through the Elderhost program.

This is an education program for people over the age of fifty. That program is offered on many college campuses throughout the year.

When the Young Farmer group began to arrive, they discovered ping-pong and pool tables awaiting them in the dining hall. This quickly became the center of all activity. Mr. "Mac" is the cook for the center and his meals have a well-deserved reputation for being hearty and delicious. He really warmed up to our group when he discovered our hometown. He had served at Bruce field in Ballinger for many years and knew some family members of several of the group.

Members of the Young Farmer tour group inspect the chipper machine at the Cedar Fiber Mill.

After supper the group played "42", Scruples and many games of ping-pong. Marvin Gerhart was the man always ready and able with the ping-pong paddle.

Early the next morning, Allen Turner encouraged the group to learn from their failures and not get discouraged when things seem bleak. He said that success often comes after much effort and many failures. The group then loaded into suburbans and vans for a trip to the Cedar Fiber Company.

At this mill, old cedar limbs are brought in from ranches and unloaded at a chipper. This machine chips the wood into large chips of cedar at a rate of 40 tons per hour. From there the chips progress to a hammer mill, where they are pounded into a fiber before going to the boilers. The fiber is boiled for four hours in boilers, fueled by cedar, to extract the oil. The fiber is then packaged in bags to be used as filler in oil field work, bedding in livestock barns and as mulch for yard and garden use. The mulch is said to be ideal for cutting down on the flea population when used around dog beds. The oil is shipped in barrels to factories around the world. It is used in cosmetics and perfumes.

While the group was at the mill, we saw two semi-trucks loaded with the fiber destined for the Houston Livestock Show. The cedar fiber mill also has a paper mill that converts old magazines into insulation material.

Once again we found ourselves heading back to the center. We were formally introduced to Patricia Hohensee, new county Home Demonstration agent for Runnels County. She shared some of her ideas and plans for our county and her work with us all.

After lunch, Duery Menzies, County Extension Agent for Gillespie County, told of how farmers in his area are turning their land into alternate sources of income. Two primary ways were the introduction of vegetable and fruit production, and hunting leases. The key ingredient in having a success in these ventures is to provide a service to the consumer.

Nancy Granovsky, from Texas A&M, spoke about family-owned businesses. She gave several examples of people who had an idea and were able to turn that idea into a successful business.

We had a real occasion to celebrate at supper that evening. Michael Deike's Fortieth Birthday. The group wore black arm bands to mourn the passing of his youth.

Judy and Jerry Debord, from Brady, spoke to the group after supper. They stressed the importance of maintaining good communication in a marriage and how we should try to understand the innate differences in the psychological reasoning of the two sexes. They believe that it's the little things you do for each other in a marriage that really mean the most.

After their presentation, we adjourned back to the dining hall for more games and stories.

Sunday morning brunch was followed by another presentation from the Debords. This time their topic was children and emphasized how we should protect and preserve the image of self-worth in our young people.

We also watched filmed highlights of the weekend furnished by Dale and Linda Duggan. They had followed events everywhere with their VCR and had managed to capture some of us at our very worst!

The trip was considered a success by those who attended because we had truly made the

Rolling Plains Sorghum Producers to meet Tuesday

Sorghum producers of the Texas Rolling Plains will meet in Sweetwater, Tuesday, March 24, to discuss their options under current farm program and compare it to the "Market oriented production plan" proposed by the National Sorghum Producers Association.

The NGSPA plan, based on production goals set at the amount the market will absorb, would maintain exports, reduce government cost on sorghum production time by 40% and more than triple the Sorghum production net cost income. The plan was developed by sorghum leaders of six states, who make up the board of the National Association.

NGSPA is sponsoring the meeting.

J. B. Cooper, NGSPA regional director for the Rolling Plains region will be in charge. Other local officers are Jimmy Dean Smith, district director, Jimmy Boston, Nolan County director, Billy Russell, Runnels County director and Steve Williams most of the course will involve hands-on training in small groups on specific software.

Smith said the course is specifically geared to assist producers in practical computer application. He said during most of the course participants will be grouped according to their interests in livestock, crop or accounting software.

Those interested in taking the course are urged to contact their County Extension Office as soon as possible for pre-registration instructions.

There will be a $100.00 registration fee charged for participant. This fee will cover three meals, copies of some of the software used, and a notebook and other supporting materials.

For further information, contact Allen Turner, Runnels County Extension Agent, Agr.-365-2219.

Applications being accepted for Congressional Pages

Congressman Charles Stenholm announced that he is accepting applications from high school sophomores who are interested in serving as Congressional Pages for the 1987-88 school year. This opportunity is for those who will be high school juniors in September 1987, and have a "B" average, based on four major courses, excluding electives.

The Congressional Page program offers a unique opportunity for high school juniors to see the inner-workings of Congress from a viewpoint experienced by few. Pages perform a variety of duties during their terms, including delivery of correspondence and small packages to offices within the Capitol complex, answering phones in the Members' Cloakrooms and the Page Phone Bank, taking messages for Members or calling them to the telephone if the Member is in the House Chamber. Other duties encountered include responding to Members who require service and workings as Documentarians in the House Chamber. A rotation system is used so that each page will have an opportunity to experience every aspect of service as Congressional Page.

Those who serve as pages attend the U.S. Capitol Page School which is located in the Jefferson Building of the Library of Congress. A junior year curriculum is offered, and students must maintain at least a "B" average while serving as page.

Dormitories are located in House Office Building Annex #1. Two floors of this building are devoted to pages' living quarters, with one floor for men, and one for women. Pages are supervised while in their quarters. The building is guarded by United States Capitol Police, who are on duty and have foot patrols through the building 24-hours a day. Those entering after normal business hours are required to show identification and sign in with the police officer on duty.

If Congressman Stenholm is chosen to be a sponsoring Member, he will not be the page's employer, nor will he have daily contact with the page. Pages will live with, and attend school with other pages, and will answer directly to the Director of Pages Services. All pages must abide by the rules set forth by the Director of Pages.

Applications and materials must be postmarked no later than May 1. Information regarding the page program has been forwarded to all high schools. Interested students may get further information from their guidance counselors, or from Congressman Stenholm's Abilene office.

There is no charge for the Seminar and topics to be covered are:

Keep Texas Beautiful, Inc. announces that Texas will get a major facelift April 25 when the Great Texas Trash-Off kicks off Keep America Beautiful Week with a resounding boom. It very well could be The Largest Volunteer Cleanup Effort in the History of the World.

Never before has so much effort from so many organizations been poured into a single litter reduction effort. When the final trash bag has plopped to rest in a landfill somewhere that evening, they expect to have matched some kind of a record for a one-day litter haul, but also to have put the scope of the State's litter problem into sharper focus for all Texans. In the process, more attitudes about littering will be changed.

Keep Texas Beautiful's goal is for every Texan, whether in an organization or not to get a chance to be a part of this historic effort on April 25.

Winters is planning to start early on it's annual Spring Clean-Up Drive—the week of April 5 through 11—will see many loads of unsightly litter trash, weeds, limbs, junk, etc. hauled from around the town out to the City dump. We hope that every citizen will start now, getting together loads of debris that they want hauled away. Designated pick up days for each quarter of the town will be announced later along with instructions for proper sacking and preparation of the different types of trash so that it can be easily handled by those making the pick ups.

After we get as much trash moved away as we can, then we can proceed with other sprucing up plans.

Let's join the thousands of other Texans and other Americans in this big effort to Keep America Beautiful by cleaning up our own part of the world, WINTERS, TEXAS.

General enrollment period ends soon

March is the last month of the 1987 general enrollment period for people who failed to sign up for Medicare medical insurance at their first chance, Franklin H. Upp, Social Security district manager in San Angelo, said recently.

There is a general enrollment period during the first three months of each year. Also eligible to enroll at this time are people who once had medical insurance but who dropped this protection.

Medical insurance protection will start July 1, 1987, for people who sign up during the general enrollment period. The basic monthly premium for medical insurance is $17.90 for the period ending December 1987. The basic premium is increased by 10 percent for each year a person could have had this protection but did not. The premium paid by those with medical insurance represents about one-fourth of the costs. The remaining amount is paid by the Federal Government from general revenues.

Medical insurance helps pay for doctors' services, out-patient hospital services, and many other items and services not covered by the hospital insurance part of Medicare.

In general, after a person has had $75 in approved charges for covered medical expenses in a year—the annual deductible—medical insurance will pay 80 percent of the approved charges for any additional covered services a person has during the rest of the year.

Anyone who has a question about either part of Medicare—hospital insurance or medical insurance—can get the answer at the San Angelo Social Security Office located at 2214 Sherwood Way. The telephone number is 949-4608. The people there have free leaflets which tell about the protection offered by Medicare.

America's first mustard is said to have originated in Philadelphia by Benjamin Jackson. He advertised in the Pennsylvania Chronicle in 1768 that he was the "original establisher of the mustard manufactory in America."

Scout-O-Rama Kickoff scheduled

The Scout-O-Rama, an annual event for the Chisolm Trail Council, is a demonstration of Scouting skills and fun games to the public. The date is Saturday, April 4, and will be held in the old Thornton Building, at Westgate Mall. It will be open to the public from 2 to 5 p.m. The Scouts will begin selling tickets anytime after March 2.

The Northern District Scout-O-Rama will be held at the National Guard Building in Sweetwater on the same date, April 4, from 2 to 4 p.m. The units will pick up their tickets and brochures at the normal District Roundtable held in Sweetwater and Stamford during the first week in March.

Many of the units use their profits from ticket sales to purchase equipment needed by the Troop, Pack, or Post. The price of tickets has been kept low ($1) in order to encourage many people to attend.

Drilling applications up in February

A total of 1,299 drilling applications were processed by the Railroad Commission in February, according to RRC Chairman Mack Wallace. In January, the total was 1,109.

The February total included 850 applications for permits to drill new oil and gas tests, 36 to deepen existing holes, 195 to plugback existing holes, and 72 for service (non-producing) wells. Operators also filed 146 amended drilling applications.

Applications for new oil and gas holes in February included 91 in the San Antonio area (District 1), 28 in the Refugio area (District 2), 73 in Southeast Texas (District 3), 64 in deep South Texas (District 4), 17 in East Central Texas (District 5), 45 in East Texas (District 6), 120 in West Central Texas (District 7B), 35 in the San Angelo area (District 7C), 147 in the Midland area (District 8A), 118 in North Texas (District 9) and 30 in the Panhandle (District 10).

In the first two months of 1987, the Commission has received 2,408 drilling applications, a 49 percent decrease from the 4,719 received during the same period of 1986.

Immigration Reform and Control Act seminar scheduled in San Angelo

Joe Henderson, President of the San Angelo Chamber of Commerce, announced that the Chamber of Commerce and the Job Service Employer Committee will sponsor a seminar to explain and help clarify the issues relating to the Immigration Reform and Control Act of 1986. The seminar will be Tuesday, March 24, 1987 in the San Angelo Convention Center from 8 a.m. to 12 noon. There is no charge for the seminar.

The new Immigration bill will affect every employer in the United States as they are now mandated to verify documentation of every employee and maintain certain records. The seminar will give interested parties the opportunity to learn how the Immigration and Naturalization Service intends to implement the enforcement of the bill, what requirements the employers are mandated by Congress and how employers may assist their employees who might qualify for permanent residency under either legalization or the Special Agriculture Worker provisions of the bill. A question and answer period will follow the presentations to further clarify specific issues.

Documentation is needed for workers

Proper documentation is the key to hiring workers under the new Immigration Control and Legalization Amendments Act of 1986. Employees should ask for and make copies of documents presented for all employees hired since November 6, 1986, says an economist with the Texas Agriculture Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System. Applicants should not be hired without proper documentation; violators are subject to stiff penalties. Proper documents include a U.S. passport, certificate of U.S. citizenship, certificate of naturalization, resident alien card, foreign passport, Social Security card, driver's license or U.S. birth certificate.

will be:
- Gary Renick, Assistant District Director for Investigations, US Immigration Service, San Antonio, Texas.
- Tom Luepp, Deputy Chief, US Border Patrol, Del Rio, Texas
- Velma Burkham, Regional Director, Texas Employment Commission, Midland, Texas.

A very special few go far beyond their professional responsibilities to become totally integrated into the educational process of Extension to insure its success and its effective service to the people of Runnels county.

Dr. Tom Fuchs, Area Extension Entomologist, serving District 7 has been selected to receive this special award. He grew up in Olfen, Texas and went to TAMU from there. He received his B.S., M.S. and Ph.D. from TAMU in Entomology.

From 1977-79 he was an Assistant Professor in Entomology with the Experiment Station in Weslaco, Texas. In 1979 we were fortunate enough for Tom to join the ranks of Extension and moved with his wife Janis and children Scott and Stacy to San Angelo.

Tom works with crops in this area, but also has done outstanding work on livestock; including cattle, sheep and goats. He has been instrumental in developing a good control program for external parasites of sheep and goats.

He also spends a lot of time helping with homeowners insect problems. Stored grain pests, vegetable insects, fruit insects are all problems Tom has dealt with.

Since Willis Gass has been gone Tom as also spent much more time and energy than he had to working on some of the agronomy problems we encounter.

In Runnels county ALONE since 1979 Tom has conducted over 125 demonstrations and field research projects to help answer questions and solve problems for producers here.

The only thing we know of that Tom can't do expertly is drive an all-terrain vehicle...

We are indeed grateful for the work Tom has done and we are proud to work with such a respected professional.
