Wait a minute...

By Kerry Craig

One sure way to get a newsman's attention is to call him, at home, and ask him why he just printed such an incorrect story in the paper.

The first thing that reporter will want to know is, which story is wrong, how wrong is it, and why is it wrong.

Now all this happened last Thursday. I got the call and the caller was really up in the air about the story about the future of the food pantry being in question.

The caller expressed concern about the story making his agency look bad.

Since that phone call at 9:00 p.m. last Thursday, I reread that story and then read it again.

I am still wondering just what is the problem.

The contract with the federal government agency, through Central Texas Opportunities, Inc., is due to expire early next year. This means that our Food Pantry will be without funding and, to keep the program operating, we would have to come up with the bucks.

No, Mike, there was nothing said against CTO. We discussed some facts and stated that a meeting had been scheduled to start looking for ways to continue the program.

The folks that set up the meeting apparently didn't see any reason to wait until the program was ended before looking for a solution.

Even though there are two chances for a new contract, slim and none, Mike Zuniga promised in his phone call that the Winters Food Pantry would continue.

Of that, I am sure. Whether it continues with outside funding, or not, is another question.

Our community has a reputation for taking care of its own and, I feel sure, can operate its own food pantry if necessary, without outside help.

I am still waiting for some response from Austin. Maybe those hospital inspecting folks are hoping we will forget about them—not hardly.

What happened in our town Halloween? A lot of things to be proud of to be sure.

After many years of dodging balloons filled with water, eggs, rocks, and other things that were thrown on Halloween, this year was nice and quiet.

There are many folks to thank for the welcome change. The younger folks are on the top of the list, their actions on Halloween, this year, are commendable.

Also deserving of much thanks are the parents who worked to provide some specific areas for Halloween fun. They gave the younger folks a place to go other than up and down the street.

The hospital provided X-Ray services for the trick-or-treat candy just to be sure. Also the Police Department for watching out for all the little folks.

We have heard reports from almost all the other communities around here, and they all had the typical problems on Halloween—the kinds of problems we didn't have.

To everyone who, in whatever way, helped to make our Halloween so nice and quiet, Thank You.

This is National Radiologist Week
Have you hugged your X-Ray Tech today?

Cancer Society met

The American Cancer Society had their monthly meeting at the Chamber, November 2. Further plans were discussed for the Great American Smoke Out November 19.

Maudie Bartee reported everything was ready for the Garage Sale. She reported there is a lot for sale this year.

Grand Jury returns drug indictments

A Rannels County Grand Jury, in session this past week, returned a total of 18 indictments ranging from drug-related charges to driving while intoxicated.

Seven persons were named in indictments alleging felony DWI. Indicted were: Neal Clay Jacobs, of Ballinger; Antonio Gurrero Guentes, Rowena; Clemente H. Mata; Oscar Loy Hubach, Ballinger; Larry Herrera Lopez, Winters; Oscar Lee Holloway, Midland; and Ronny Gene Wellborn, Winters. Bonds of $1,500 each were set after the indictments were returned.

Most of the grand jury's attention was devoted to drug related charges with a total of five indictments for possession of controlled substances. A single indictment was returned for aggravated assault on a peace officer in connection with an incident that occurred when officers made drug arrests at a residence on East Dale Street in Winters.

Theresa Gail Barton Robles was named in an indictment alleging possession of a controlled substance, a methamphetamine. She had been arrested by officers at a residence in Winters. Bond for the woman was set at $10,000.

Randy Ashton and Marlis Ashton were named in separate indictments alleging possession of a controlled substance, marijuana. Bonds were set at $5,000 each after the indictments. They were arrested on the outskirts of Winters by officers acting on information received that stated the pair were in possession of a suspected controlled substance.

Javier Aguirre, of Ballinger, was named in an indictment alleging possession of a controlled substance, methamphetamine. His after-indictment bond was set at $10,000.

Billy Kyle Andrews was re-indicted on charges of delivery of controlled substances, amphetamines. The re-indictment was necessary to correct the name.

Michael Glen Warren, of Ballinger was indicted on charges of aggravated assault on a peace officer. The charges were the result of an incident in which Warren allegedly threatened deputy sheriff Keith Collom with a knife during a drug-related raid at a residence on East Dale in Winters. Warren's bond was continued at $10,000 following the indictment.

Connie Mac Carson, of Ballinger was named in an indictment alleging aggravated assault on a peace officer and resisting arrest. The indictment was the result of a traffic stop for suspected DWI made by sheriff's officers Rick Keeling and Rodney Irby in Miles. During that stop deputy Keeling was struck in the face.

The indictment also notes that Carson has prior felony convictions on similar charges. His bond was continued at $1,000.

An indictment alleging burglary of a building named Martin Gonzales, of Ballinger. The indictment alleges Gonzales took stereo equipment valued at more than $750 but less than $20,000 from Aaron Summey of Ballinger. His bond was set at $10,000.

Maria Garcia Carrasco, of Ft. Worth was named in an indictment alleging credit card abuse. Her bond was continued at $2,000.

Tommy Barnhill, of Clyde, was indicted on charges of forgery by passing in connection with a forged check for $45, payable to Barnhill. His bond was to remain at $2,000.

Walter Wright, of Winters, (See Indict page 12)

Coleman cheerleader back in school Tuesday

Coleman cheerleader Tracy Brown, who was injured during the football game here last Friday was back in school Tuesday but still under a doctor's care.

The 17 year-old cheerleader had just finished a cheer, early in the third quarter of the game. A spokesman in Coleman said that Tracy had jumped up and when she came down, her foot slipped and she apparently landed on her head and neck.

The girl was treated at the football field by North Rannels

Emergency Service medics and taken to North Rannels Hospital.

Tracy was later transferred to Humana Hospital Abilene for a CT Scan which revealed no head injuries.

Coleman School officials were not sure if Tracy, who was wearing a neck brace Tuesday, would be allowed by her doctor to participate in the regional cross-country track meet this week end.

Rannels County commended for reducing on-the-job injuries

Rannels County has received the Texas Association of Counties Occupational Safety Award. The county award was announced in October at the Annual County Judges' and Commissioner's Association of Texas Conference held in San Antonio by Mr. Bill Melton, President of the Texas Association of Counties.

Rannels County was recognized for its achievement in reducing the number of employee's on-the-job injuries during 1986. In announcing the award, President Melton stated that "Judge Michael Murchison and Commissioners Robert Virden, Johnnie Wilson, Gilbert Smith and Marvin Salling are especially commended for this record, because it appropriately reflects these county leaders' concern for the safety and well-being of their employees." Less than 50% of the counties participating in the Self-Insurance Fund received this recognition.

Besides the savings in human resources, Mr. Melton also stressed that "A reduction in employee injuries reduces the cost that a county must pay for workers' compensation insurance, thereby saving the county and its taxpayers money."

According to the most recent complete cost figures available, Texas public and private employers paid over $2 billion for employee injuries in 1985. That amount is expected to be even higher for 1986.

The Texas Association of Counties aggressively promotes occupational safety and assists counties in developing programs promoting safety consciousness among their employees. This award is also the association's recognition of the contribution from the individual county employee who performed his or her job safely during 1986. Rannels County also received this award last year for safe performance during 1986.

Dairy Cattle Judging Team to head for Missouri

The Winters FFA Dairy Cattle Judging Team will compete in the National FFA Judging Contest in Kansas City, Missouri on Friday, November 13, 1987. The team from Winters will be representing the State of Texas at the contest. To participate in the contest, a team must place first at their representative state contest.

The Winters FFA Dairy Cattle Judging Team placed first at the Area IV Judging Contest held in Stephenville, Texas on March 28, 1987. This made the team eligible to compete at State and placed first there also.

The team members are, Frank Davis, son of Miss Nancy Davis; Wayne Boyd, son of Mr. and Mrs. Mack Boyd; Latricia Palmer, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Bobby Palmer; and Marie Pritchard, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Johnny Pritchard. Frank is now a freshman at Tarleton State University; Wayne is a senior at Winters High School; and Latricia and Marie are both Sophomores at Winters High School.

Frank Davis was High Point Individual at the State Contest, and Wayne Boyd was the High Point Individual at the Area IV Contest. Marie Pritchard was the second High Individual at the Area IV Contest, Latricia Palmer was the High Individual at a State Invitation Contest.

A team from Winters Texas has not competed in the National FFA Judging Contest since 1968, when a Livestock Judging Team qualified. The team was coached by Dr. Jimmy Smith, who is now a Veterinarian in Winters.

The team will be accompanied to the National Judging Contest by, Jackie Tension, Dairy Cattle Judging Coach.

Dairy Cattle Judging Team

The team members are: Frank Davis, Wayne Boyd, Latricia Palmer, and Marie Pritchard.

A Catalogue That Never Died

Byron Jordan presented the Z. I. Hale Museum a 1902 Sears and Roebuck Catalogue that he found in a dumpster while he was working at a Lubbock hotel. Jordan lived in Lubbock 30 years and worked at the hotel as an elevator operator for 12 years. He was on the 11th floor when the tornado struck May 11, 1970. He and three patrons walked down to the first floor. He returned to Winters soon after.

Almost all the information that one needs is on the cover of the catalogue. A picture of the world carries these words, "Cheapest supply house on earth—our trade reaches around the world." Underneath, "The great price maker and the real value of the book is plainly shown in every price quotation." The price of the catalogue No. 111 is 50 cents. This is explained on an inside page. When advertising is free it goes into the hands of many people who do not buy and causes the customer to pay more.

Other information on the cover declares that cash must be sent with all orders—no goods shipped C.O.D. and the warning, "We have no agents—persons claiming to be our representatives or swindlers."

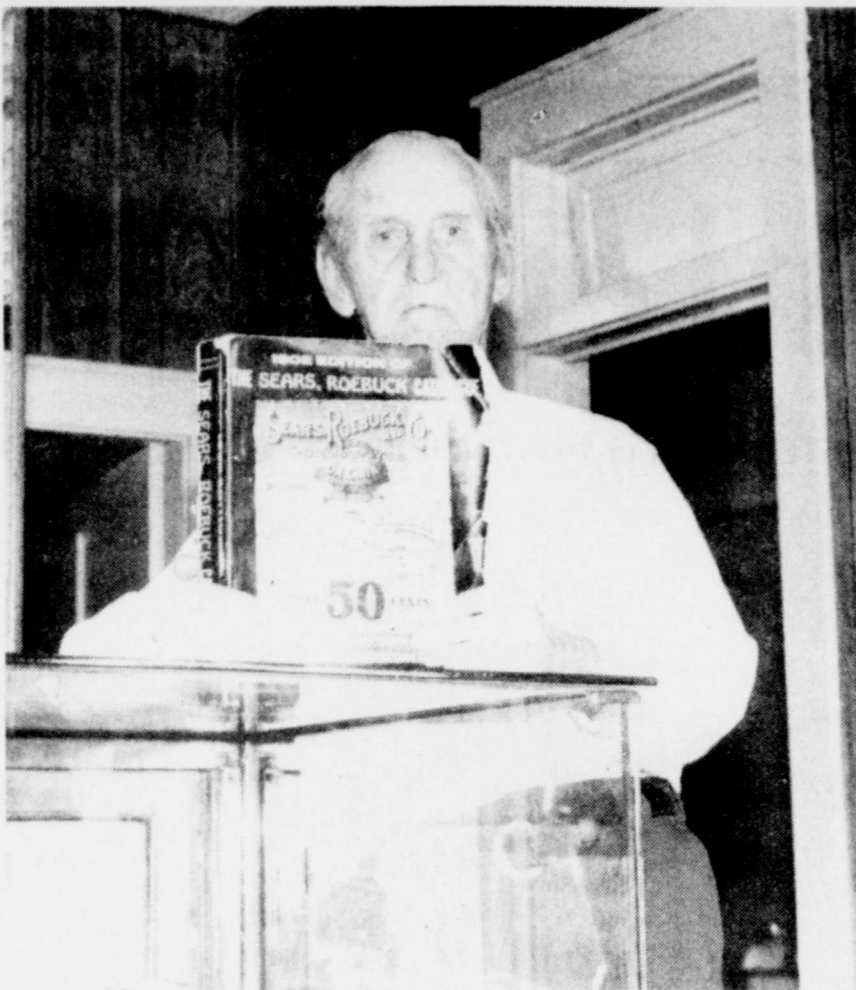

The supply house is located on Fulton, Desplaines, Jefferson and Wayman Streets in Chicago, Illinois. The capital and surplus is over two million dollars. References given are National City Bank, German Exchange Bank (New York), Metropolitan National Bank and Corn Exchange National Bank, Chicago. A glance through the pages of this catalogue provides a view of the American scene at the turn of the century with an excitement and an accuracy that would defy the most eminent historian. Published in the spring of 1902, the catalogue mirrors the dreams and needs of Americans at a time when life was less complex than it is today. When a rural economy was still dominant and vast numbers of people were moving westward.

For each of us this catalogue will hold a different meaning. Some will recall those early twentieth-century years with a special nostalgia reserved for those who spent them as youths. Some will recall stories their parents and grandparents told about the "good old days" of the horse and buggy, the village blacksmith, and the gaslight, all including those whose forebearers were city folk or from the country, will find the catalogue an endless source of information and diversion.

Richard Warren Sears, the original founder of Sears Roebuck and Company, was a master of psychology and provided in his catalogue a wealth of knowledge along with a good bit of hard-sell copy to help gain the attention of his readers and convert them to loyal customers.

Two pages are filled with detailed descriptions of watch

 with Sears, Roebuck Catalogue.

movements and the explanation of terms used in describing them. There is also the fascinating explanation of how gold-filled watch cases and rings were made. Three pages are devoted to coverage of windmills and the way they work—very important items at a time when electricity was still in its infancy.

The decline, since 1902, in the value of the American dollar is clearly illustrated as one goes through the thousands of items offered. There is the description of a handsome piano, guaranteed for 25 years and priced at only $98.50; a solid-oak home organ for only $22; or a drop-head sewing machine guaranteed years and priced at only $10.45.

A view of the drug pages provides strong evidence for the need of the federal Pure Food and Drugs Act of 1906. Offered along with other similar items are a Sure Cure for the Tobacco Habit; Dr. Rose's arsenic complexion Wafers; and White Ribbon Secret Liquor Cure. And "no matter what the cause may be" or how severe your trouble is, Dr. Hammond's Nerve and Brain Pills will cure you."

For those who think the marriage manual is an innovation of the present day sexual revolution, there is Dr. Hood's Plain Talks, including a 32 page pamphlet of "Female Productive Organs," and many chapters devoted to sexual immorality and numerous subjects concerning marriage and the sexual relations."

Of historical note is the charge of 50 cents for this catalogue. Six hundred thousand copies of the Sears Catalogue were distributed in the spring of 1902. Sears attempted to convince his customers that they were saving money by paying for this catalogue, but apparently he was not overly successful. Subsequent catalogues were again offered free.

(This catalogue was published again as a "Bounty Edition" in 1969 by Crown Publishers, Inc. with an introduction by Cleveland, Amory.)

Rebekah Class met

The Rebekah Sunday School Class met Monday night, November 2, in the First Baptist Church Fellowship Hall with Jerry Lloyd and Dean Robinson as hostesses.

The class song "Because He Lives" was sung. Tooter Harrison led in prayer and everyone told what she was thankful for.

Lillian Cooper gave a good devotional on "Reminiscing".

Those present were: Darlene Sims, Arlene Boles, Loretta Pierce, Pauline Briley, Louise Seals, Lillian Cooper, Virginia Schwartz, Theresa Briley, Thelma Sneed, Janie Humble, Virginia Brown, Tooter Harrison, Dovie Lou Marks, Mary Beth Drake, Patty Rosson and hostesses, Dean Robinson and Jerry Lloyd.

Calling temporary workers independent contracts can be very costly

Dear Commissioner Nabers: I am coordinator of a nonprofit organization. Our organization qualifies as an employer and we have an account number with the TEC. At times we need to hire people to work in the kitchen or do odd jobs. Can I hire someone to work, for instance, two hours for $10 and call it contract labor? Also, if I send someone to pick up commodities, could I pay them $50 to cover mileage and labor and call it contract labor?

M. S. Hallettsville, TX

Dear M. S.: What you are describing is NOT contract labor. Calling a working relationship "contract labor" does not make it so under the law. If you exercise direction and control of the work, which you most assuredly would in these situations, you are functioning as an employer. Every working arrangement requires independent assessment and there may be some facts you have not mentioned which would make a difference in the TEC's evaluation of your particular arrangements. Classifying employers as independent contractors can be extremely costly if it is done incorrectly. I am mailing you more information on Contract Labor.

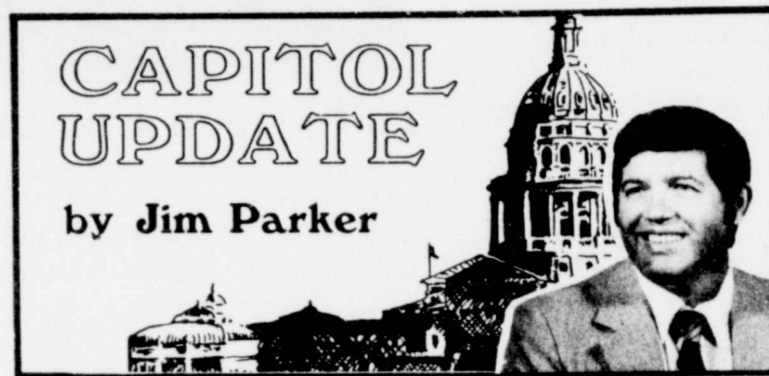

Dear Commissioner Nabers: I fell in the company lunchroom and broke my arm. I was off work for eight weeks. The company says they do not have to pay any medical expenses. Can I make them pay?

H. W. Abilene
 Dear H. W.: I must assume from your letter that your employer does not carry Worker's Compensation insurance on its employees but that is the first thing you need to ask. If your employer does carry Worker's Compensation then you should file a claim and your employer will provide you

By this time, for those of you who cared to begin with, I am sure your heads are reeling from trying to decipher the constitutional amendments you voted on November 3. I am sure I have been asked no less than 1000 times, "Why do we have to do that?"

The truth is, our Texas Constitution is probably just about as outdated as a constitution can get and has likely had some serious flaws for all of its 111-year history.

An example of what I am saying is the fact that in 1987 we have had 25 amendments offered to our state Constitution. In the entire history of the United States Constitution, which is slightly over 200 years old, that document has been amended only 26 times. It's expensive to have to put all the relatively inconsequential issues, examples of which you saw on your November 3rd ballot, before the 16 million voters of the State of Texas on an annual basis.

I don't suppose I am ready to say that it's constitutional convention time in this state; but, it sure must be close. You'll recall the last attempt at a constitutional revision resulted in a constitutional convention where 181 of our fellow citizens in 1974 labored mightily for seven months and brought forth not one single thing.

Our constitutional dilemma is, frankly, that we find it difficult to live with but can't seem to change it.

I know a lot of things are like that in life but it doesn't make me any more comfortable when I contemplate these, at least, biennial rounds of constitutional craziness.

From A Goldfish Bowl

By Pastor Steve Byrne

Last Saturday evening I was in Dallas for the installation of our new bishop. It was held at an Episcopal Church, St. Michael's and All Angels, because there were no Lutheran Churches in Dallas large enough for the expected attendance. The Church was simply beautiful. Marble altar. The whole works. When I lived in Dallas we used to call it St. Michael's and All Cadillacs. For obvious reasons.

The worship service itself was glorious. At least by Lutheran standards. Complete with a choir and a group of renaissance musicians playing musical instruments from that same era. Playing some of Martin Luther's musical compositions.

Before the service began, every room in the church had people in it. Lay folks preparing for various parts of the service. Choirs rehearsing. Clergy vesting in robes and their red stoles. The proper color for Reformation Day, which it was.

The processional took five verses of the opening hymn to get everybody in. Not only were most of the Lutheran clergy in the procession, but clergy from many other denominations participated, in solidarity for the whole Christian Church.

I took my robe out of the plastic bag. Put it on. Then carefully placed the stole, the symbol of the pastoral office, around my neck. I looked around at the vestments of the other clergy.

Stoles are not inexpensive garments. About 40 bucks per stole is about as low as it goes with any kind of quality at all. In the pastor's wardrobe is a minimum of five or six to match the colors of the seasons.

Yet mine was special. There wasn't another one like it in the procession. Several people came up to me and asked me about it.

You see, one Christmas not long ago, my neighbor to the north crocheted me a complete set of stoles. You can't by a stole like mine anywhere. The only way you can come close is to either crochet one yourself (I don't know how to) or else have someone give you a labor of love by crocheting you one. That makes those stoles very, very special.

As I walked down the center aisle in the procession, surrounded by the beauty and majesty of such a marvelous worship experience, the most important thing of all was in the simplicity of one person performing an act of love and friendship for another. That is what makes life special.

In these simple acts toward each other, we touch the shirt-tails of eternity. An act of love. Given and Received. This is eternal. This is valuable. This is Holy.

"Love never ends; as for prophecies, they will pass away; as for tongues, they will cease; as for knowledge, it will pass away." (I Cor. 13:8)

VA adopts changes in Burial Benefits

In a desire to be sensitive to the wishes of deceased veterans and their families, the Veterans Administration has adopted a new policy on branch of service inscriptions for veterans' grave markers and has issued new requirements for the delivery of all government-issued monuments.

The VA will now provide inscriptions for all branches of service on headstones and markers at government expense. Prior to the change, requests for multiple branch inscriptions were permitted below the last line of the authorized inscription, but only at private expense.

Also, the VA now delivers ALL grave monuments by private carrier. Applications must indicate a street address since post office box numbers cannot be used for shipping purposes. Stone monuments have traditionally been shipped by private carrier and now bronze markers will be handled the same way.

VA's Department of Memorial Affairs administers the National

Get your quilts ready for Z. I. Hale Museum Quilt Show

The Rock Hotel will be the setting for the quilt division of the Arts and Crafts Show this year, which is always directed by the Z. I. Hale Museum board. It will be held November 13 and 14, with hours to be announced.

Another new feature will be the drawing for a king size pieced quilt with solid blue and blue print blocks, called "Country Quilt". It will be given at the close of open house on the last day.

Quilt divisions will be the same as usual: antique, pieced, embroidered, and appliqued. There will also be a baby quilt division. First, second and third place ribbons will be given in each division, also a "Best of Show Ribbon".

Cemetery System comprising 110 national cemeteries in 38 states and Puerto Rico. Burial in a national cemetery with available grave space is open to all veterans discharged under conditions other than dishonorable, as well as eligible dependents of veterans.

A government headstone or marker is furnished to mark the graves of veterans and their dependents interred in national cemeteries and, upon request, to mark the graves of veterans interred in private cemeteries. Last year, VA's Department of Memorial Affairs provided over 246,600 monuments.

Food labels and food safety

Most products in food stores have dates on them, even though manufacturers are not required to put this information on packaging. "The date stamped on product packages can indicate product freshness and serve as a guide to safe storage time, if you know how to use it," says Marilyn Haggard, a Texas A&M University Agricultural Extension Service nutrition specialist. She explains that the "sell-by" date is the last day the product should be sold, the "use-by" date indicates how long the product will retain top eating quality after purchase, and the "expiration date" tells the last day the food should be eaten or used.

Tax Practitioner Workshop scheduled

The Texas Agricultural Extension Service is cooperating with the Internal Revenue Service in offering many Tax Practitioner Workshops across the state, reports Allen E. Turner, County Extension Agent. Twenty-seven General Workshops will be held in all major Texas cities. The General Workshop nearest our county is in San Angelo on November 19-20. There will also be fifteen Advanced Workshops offered in major cities. The General Tax Workshops will concentrate mostly on personal taxes—the Advanced Workshops emphasis will be on business tax problems.

In addition to the General and Advanced Tax workshops, there will be three Partnership Workshops, four Estate Planning and Tax For Preparation Workshops, three Income Taxation of Trusts and Estates Workshops, and—new this year—two workshops dealing with Serving Farmers in Financial Trouble.

The Tax Practitioner educational program has been highly successful. Last year about 4,900 people participated in this state-wide series. The practitioners reported filing more than 587,000 tax returns.

For additional information, please contact the County Extension Office-365-2219 for a brochure explaining more about the program and registration information.

The Savings Really Add Up

with WTU's Energy Saving Plan!

Energy Savings

Your energy savings will really add up when you qualify your home for WTU's Energy Saving Plan. You'll save money in energy bills for years to come when your home meets the energy-efficiency standards of the Energy Saving Plan.

Cash Allowances

WTU's Energy Saving Plan will now pay you larger cash allowances for installing energy-efficient equipment in your home. Consider a central system electric heat pump:

WTU WILL PAY YOU:
$500<sup>00</sup> per home

With a Seasonal Energy Efficiency Ratio (SEER) of 8.0 and above.

To qualify for the cash allowances, your home must meet the E.S.P. requirements and be served electricity by WTU.

Resale Value

An E.S.P. Home will have a better resale value than other homes on the market, because it offers home owners lower energy bills. Energy bills are an important consideration for most families, so your E.S.P. Home will fit into a prospective home buyer's budget easier than a non-E.S.P. Home.

E.S.P. Book

The new E.S.P. Book clearly outlines all of the programs, cash allowances and requirements of the New and Improved Energy Saving Plan. The E.S.P. Book also has specific information on insulation, air infiltration control, energy-efficient equipment and much more!

Pick up your FREE copy of the new E.S.P. Book at any WTU office, and start adding up your savings today!

Extension Service retirees to be honored

Twenty-six members of the Texas Agricultural Extension Service (TAEX), an agency of the Texas A&M University System, will be honored at a special Retirees' Luncheon November 12 at the Clayton W. Williams Jr. Alumni Center on the Texas A&M campus.

The luncheon is in honor of those Extension employees who all retired during the past year.

Cooperating in hosting the luncheon along with the Extension Service are the County Judges and Commissioners Association of Texas. Extension professional associations, and the Alpha Zeta Chapter of Epsilon Sigma Phi, the national honorary Extension fraternity.

Dr. Zerle L. Carpenter, Extension director, will emcee the luncheon program. Each retiree will receive a special plaque from the president of the County Judges and Commissioners Association of Texas, Cameron County Judge Adolph Thomas.

Dairy Short Course set at five sites

Topics that address concerns expressed by dairy producers of Texas will be highlighted at a series of five Dairy Short Courses, November 16-20, held at different locations.

"This year's program will focus on stress, an area that is critical for producers to develop plans to overcome in order to remain competitive in the dairy business," says Dr. Michael A. Tomaszewski, dairy specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System.

Short courses are scheduled as follows: November 16, Pallas Inn, Nacogdoches; November 17, Civic Center, Sulphur Springs; November 18, City Hall, Decatur; November 19, Holiday Inn, Stephenville; and November 20, Community Hall, Brenham.

Each short course, Tomaszewski adds, will begin with registration at 9 a.m. and the program following from 10 a.m. until 3 p.m.

Extension dairy specialists will join with a number of key dairy industry leaders from other states in presenting the program.

A stress management overview will be presented at each opening discussion by Dr. Max Sudweeks, Extension dairy specialist based at Overton.

Managing heat and humidity will be discussed by Dr. David Beede of the University of Florida, and will be followed by a talk on reproduction management under heat stress by Texas A&M University professor of large animal medicine and surgery, Dr. R. G. Elmore.

Nutritional adjustments under stress will be discussed by Dr. Al Lane, Extension dairy specialist at Stephenville. Following lunch, a discussion on dairy housing under Texas conditions will be presented by Dr. Frank Wiersma, agricultural engineer from the University of Arizona.

Dr. John Sweeten, Extension agricultural engineer, will discuss controlling dairy waste and water at the afternoon sessions. The final speaker will be Dr. Jim McGrann, Extension economist management, who will speak on the cost and return of stress management.

A small registration fee will cover the cost of proceedings and lunch.

Persons desiring additional information should contact Tomaszewski at Texas A&M University's Meat Science and Technology Center, Room 120, the telephone is (409)845-5709.

Texas is Getting Back on the Right Track to a Sound Economy

By Governor William P. Clements, Jr.

In many ways, today's economy in Texas reflects the adage that "the finest steel goes through the hottest fire."

The Texas economy has slumped in recent years, in part due to the plunge in oil prices, in part due to reckless spending in state government.

But that time has passed. While the Texas economy is still undergoing a profound transition—we're on the "up-tick."

Texas is beginning a recovery. Economic diversification and economic development are on the front-burner of business and are top priorities for our state government.

Our past actions speak loud and clear. Last January there was a collective realization among our citizens and our legislators that the Texas economy could be turned around, that our economy could be diversified and that our state budget could be balanced and economic recovery enhanced without horrendous tax increases that would stymie small business development.

We did all of that, and at the same time we preserved our pro-business and jobs climate that has made us the envy of the nation.

We have abandoned the path of unpredictability, uncertainty and instability for another stroll down the grand path of renewed prosperity.

That isn't just my perspective. You can find proof of that in a wide variety of respected business and economic publications and organizations from the Bureau of Business Research at the University of Texas and Salomon Brothers.

They are all predicting steady economic growth in Texas in the years ahead.

Let me give you an idea of some of the things we have done to diversify our economy and to keep things moving forward.

First, we have created a Texas Department of Commerce to develop a cohesive, unified approach to economic development, job creation and corporate recruitment.

Before the department opened for business two months ago, the task of economic development and economic planning was split among nine different state boards, agencies and commissions.

That was an inefficient use of state tax dollars. It was unproductive. And, quite frankly, it was a waste of a businessman's time.

We passed tort reform. We decided that allowing frivolous lawsuits to be filed scares businesses away from Texas instead of enticing them to our borders.

Bullock's office still receiving calls

State Comptroller Bob Bullock said Thursday that his office has been receiving a large number of calls about two services that won't become taxable until the first of next year.

"Right now, we're still trying to help folks with the services that became taxable this month," Bullock said. "Until we've done that, we just aren't going to spend as much time working on services that aren't taxable until January 1."

Bullock said his office is still setting policy for taxing the two services, which are data processing and real property repair and remodeling. Until the rules have been completed, some questions may not be answerable.

"We're willing to jot down questions and listen to what people have to say about the services," Bullock said.

Data processing services includes word processing, data entry, and data retrieval and search. Computer time-sharing and payroll and business accounting data production are also considered to be data processing services.

Real property repair and remodeling includes services performed on rental and commercial property.

Repair and remodeling on residences occupied by the owner are exempt from the tax, as are new improvements to real property.

The Legislature passed the law providing for the services tax in July.

Light up America on Veterans Day

"The Veterans Administration wants all veterans to 'light up America on Veterans Day' by driving through the day on November 11 with their headlights on," said Stephen L. Lemons, Director, Waco VA Regional Office.

"The 'light up America' program, initiated by national veterans service organizations, is intended to symbolize the camaraderie and mutual concern of the nation's 27.4 million veterans," said Lemons.

The Veterans Administration wholeheartedly endorses this national gesture and asks all veterans to "light up America" on Veterans Day.

We decided that allowing extraordinary damage claims and virtually limitless judgments is counterproductive.

We realized that businesses provide jobs only when they are in business. When they are driven to the brink of bankruptcy, those jobs disappear.

But that isn't all we did. We restored fiscal discipline to state government.

We have re-established an operational audit program to review the efficiency of state agency operations to ensure that taxpayers are getting a dollar's worth of services for each tax dollar they give to state government.

We are moving toward uniform accounting practices.

All of this is already paying off.

Let's look for a moment at some recent positive economic signs here in Texas:

*The jobless rate has dropped from 9.1 percent twelve months ago, to 8.5 percent today.

*While total employment in Texas accounts for one out of every 14.5 jobs in the United States, our increase has accounted for one out of every eight jobs created in the entire country in the twelve months ending last May.

*Oil prices have increased about 30 percent from a year ago, triggering a modest revival in the West Texas oil fields where the rig count has increased 43 percent over a year ago.

Our economic development work did not end with the legislative session. It is continuing.

In the area of high technology, we are predicting that computer, electronic, instrument and aerospace equipment manufacturers will grow at the rate of about 3.8 percent a year, producing 310,000 new jobs by the year 2005.

We are doing everything possible to foster that growth. We have, for example, established a $60 million research fund that will be used in the next two years to provide research grants for Texas universities, or private sector-university joint venture projects in areas such as microelectronics and biotechnology.

Our efforts are increasingly being noticed. It is important to remember that the investments we make today will pay big dividends tomorrow.

Will Christmas sales go up or down?

State Comptroller Bob Bullock said a plunge in Christmas retail sales would be the first indicator that the stock market's drop is affecting the Texas economy.

"A slowdown in consumer spending will tell us that the fallout from the problems of the stock market has hit home," Bullock said.

Taxable retail sales in the fourth quarter last year in Texas totaled more than $16.3 billion. Sales are expected to grow slightly this year to about $16.9 billion.

Bullock said any lack of confidence in the economy that translates into steep drop in retail sales could spell trouble for the state's budget.

"About 50 percent of all tax revenue comes from the state sales tax and a slump in sales will naturally drag down sales tax collections," he said.

Bullock's latest revenue estimate predicts moderate economic growth in Texas in the next two years.

This midly-optimistic forecast comes on the heels of a couple of years of declining economic activity.

He said his economists are watching stock market developments and the Texas economy closely.

"We're hopeful that there's better than a 50-50 chance there won't be a national recession that will drag Texas back into the economic doldrums," Bullock said.

How to get the most for your postal dollar

When you use the classes of mail, you want to get the best possible service for your money and the service that meets your particular need.

When customers are unsure of what postal option best suits their needs, they may spend money for services they don't really need. The solution is to know what delivery services are available and the differences between them. Below are descriptions of products and services sometimes misused because they are not properly understood. All fees listed are in addition to postage.

Certified Mail—Available only for First-Class Mail, it provides the sender with a receipt showing when and where the item was mailed. The fee is 75 cents per piece. In addition, a record of delivery is kept at the recipient's post office. This service is not available for international mail.

Return Receipt—This is the sender's proof of delivery. It is available on mail insured for more than $25 and on certified, registered, Collect-on-Delivery (COD) and Express Mail articles. For a 70-cent fee, the return receipt identifies who signed for the item and the date it was delivered. For an additional 20 cents the sender can get a receipt showing the exact address of delivery.

Restricted Delivery—Except for Express Mail service, the sender can also request restricted delivery ($1.25 per piece additional), which means delivery is made only to the addressee or to someone who is authorized in writing to receive mail for the addressee.

Registered Mail—The most secure option offered by the Postal Service, it is designed to provide added protection for valuable and important mail. Postal insurance may be purchased at the option of the mailer to cover articles valued up to $25,000 at the time of mailing. As an example, an item valued up to $100 would cost $3.60 to go registered mail if it is covered by insurance and $3.55 if it is not. Through a system of receipts, registered articles are monitored from the point of mailing to delivery. Prepaid First-Class postage is required to send any item via registered mail.

Certificate of Mailing—This is the answer if the sender needs only a receipt to prove something was mailed. A certificate of mailing does not provide insurance coverage, no record is maintained at the post office and it does not verify the contents of what was mailed. A certificate of mailing cost 45 cents and may be used for all classes of ordinary mail. Collect-on-Delivery (COD) service is best when the sender wants to collect for merchandise when it is delivered to addressee. It may be used for post, First-Class mail or Third-Class mail. Fees charged for this service include insurance protection against loss or damage. Items sent via COD may also be sent as registered mail. Insurance coverage is available up to $500. COD service is not available for international mail.

Priority Mail—This is simply First-Class mail weighing more than 12 ounces and any other mail matter which, at the option of the mailer, is sent in this manner. There is no minimum weight limitation for Priority Mail; however, the cost is $2.40 up to two pounds. Mail piece must be marked "Priority" or "Priority Mail". It's faster than Fourth-Class mail or parcel post, but cheaper than overnight Express Mail Service. Use it when two-to-three day service is desired. Maximum weight is 70 pounds. Maximum size is 108 inches in length and girth (measurement around item).

Special Delivery—This should be your choice when you have limited funds but want to get your mail to its destination as quickly as possible, even on Sunday and holidays. This service is available to all customers served by city carriers and to other customers within a one-mile radius of their post office. There is one exception: there is no special delivery for Third-Class bulk-rate mail.

Express Mail Next Day Service—Use it when you need next day delivery, even on Sunday and holidays. Express Mail overnight service guarantees a refund of postage if the letter or package fails to arrive on time the next day. All Express Mail shipments are insured against loss or damage at no additional cost. This includes Merchandise Insurance for loss or damage up to $500 and Document Reconstruction Insurance up to $50,000 per piece, subject to a limit of $500,000 per occurrence. For delivery direct to addresses, the charge is only $10.75 for a letter of package weighing up to two pounds and $12.85 up to five pounds. Rates for heavier shipments up to 70 pounds are based on the amount of service purchased, weight and distance.

Another helpful hint—If you have questions, ask at the post office.

Athletic Medicine

by Dr. J. E. Adams, M.D.

The Athletics of Dance

Dance is considered to be a fine art, and yet its participants are among the most gifted of athletes. Not only do they have grace in their movements, but they require great endurance, agility, and strength. Whereas the dancer needs complete control of all body joints, mastery of the hip is critical to the discipline.

From the mystic interpretations of primitive man, through the revolution of Isadora Duncan, to modern dance, external rotation of the hip has been a constant basic dance technique. This maneuver rotates the entire leg outward to where the foot is at a right angle to the body. Unfortunately, this "turn out" is not entirely a natural motion for the hip joint. Children less than twelve years of age who begin training in classical ballet will develop this ability as a result of skeletal deformation. After this age, "turnout" is accomplished by stretching out the hip joint capsule and ligaments. This tearing and consequent scarring of the joint capsule allows the increase in external rotation during the adolescent and adult dancing years. Many of the hip problems in dancers are associated with the changes brought about anatomically by this maneuver.

Stress Fracture
Occasionally, a dancer may complain of vague hip pain without loss of range of motion or without x-ray changes of fracture or arthritis. Only after several weeks will the diagnosis of "stress fracture" become apparent. This injury is the result of continual repeated trauma to the hip which results in a slowly progressive crack across the neck area of the hip.

Acute Muscle Injury
Should a dancer not perform a regular exercise program, then loss of muscle conditioning and flexibility as well as loss of ligament and tendon flexibility will occur. When the athlete returns to dance activity, the required positions will exceed the available hip range of motion and musculotendinous flexibility and a muscle tear or ligament/tendon injury will surely occur. These injuries can occur to any of the major muscle groups about the hip; however, most occur to the hamstrings.

Tendonitis
The most significant problem seen with tendonitis in the hip occurs with the iliopsoas muscle. This is a very complex muscle which originates both from the lumbar spine and pelvis. This tendon takes a sharp turn and exits the pelvis to insert at the hip. This muscle is the strongest flexor muscle of the hip. Developpe' is a basic part of barre exercise and is typically the exercise which irritates the iliopsoas muscle and tendon. The dancer will complain of pain, popping, and sometimes a rubbing sensation in the hip.

Bursitis
Bursitis is a term which refers to inflammation of one of the specialized lubrications sacs which are located around joints and bony prominences. Dancers tend to fall prey to "greater trochanteric bursitis". The greater trochanter is that bony prominence which is on the outside of the hip. Bursitis in dancers is usually the result of lack of activity, inadequate warm-up, or poor technique.

Neuritis
Dancers tend to have little fat tissues. Consequently when they do the splits, they have a greater chance of damaging the sciatic nerve as the buttocks strike the floor. This injury may have very serious long term implications, including partial paralysis of the leg.

The dancer is a very special athlete with very unique problems. The hip joint and its function is fundamental to the strength, endurance, and agility that gives dance its grace and beauty. Only through appreciation of the biomechanics of dance may the specific injuries be understood and properly treated.

Mrs. Susan Conner renews certificate

Susan Conner has recently been renewed as a certified piano teacher of the Music Teachers National Association. She currently holds the Professional Certificate in that organization.

In order for a teacher to be recertified, ten points must be accumulated over a five-year period. Points are awarded for workshop attendance, students performances and involvement in Music Teachers National Association activities.

To achieve her renewal, Mrs. Conner attended workshops given by Lynn Freeman Olsen, Daniel Pollack, James Petty and Tamas Ungar. She also attended Texas Music Teacher state conventions in San Antonio, El Paso, Houston, Fort Worth, and Odessa.

Her activities in Abilene Music Teachers Association include serving as recording secretary, festival chairman and parliamentarian.

Students of Susan Conner have been involved in convention ensemble teams, solo and concerto competition, and Music Festival.

She has been teaching piano in Winters for thirteen years.

Texas students need fitness

Texas school-age children are getting fatter and less fit, as demonstrated by the results of comprehensive state and national tests. Of four million students participating in nationwide tests, only 36 percent performed at levels acceptable for fitness standards.

"Texas school-age children fared worse on some of the tests when compared to the national results, especially in cardiovascular conditioning, and their fitness levels seem to be deteriorating at a more accelerated rate," said Donald F. Haydon, executive director of the American Health and Fitness Foundation, Inc.

Haydon cites these facts: the average teen-ager spends between three to seven hours a day watching television and eating junk food; 41 percent of children ages 7-12 have elevated cholesterol levels and as many as 13 percent have five or more cardiac risk factors; and 20-25 percent of all children are clinically obese.

Despite the grim statistics, school-age children can be taught to become physically fit, a goal of the Fit Youth Today program, a health fitness conditioning, educational and testing curriculum introduced in 1986 by the American Health and Fitness Foundation. FYT tests school-age children in four basic areas—cardiovascular fitness, body related fat, muscle strength/endurance and flexibility—and looks for health fitness, not athletic mastery, Haydon explained.

From now until the end of November, more than 66,500 students across Texas will participate in FYTathlons, fitness fund-raising events growing out of the FYT program.

At some 260 school campuses across the state, young people will perform a steady jog for cardiorespiratory endurance; bent knee curl-ups for abdominal strength; and a sit-and-reach event for flexibility. Sponsors will donate money for the completion of FYTathlon activities, and schools will use their portion of the proceeds to purchase health fitness equipment and supplies, Haydon explained.

In many Texas cities, local hospitals are joining schools in sponsoring FYTathlons. The Texas Hospital Association and the Texas Hospital Education and Research Foundation are among the sponsoring organizations for the FYTathlon. "Many hospitals around the state are involved in wellness and health promotion activities, and they want to encourage young people to adopt healthy habits which will carry over into adulthood," Haydon said.

Texas men turning 26 reach milestone

Men who turn 26 during the remainder of 1987 will be reaching an important milestone according to the Selective Service System.

Young men born in 1961 were required to register with Selective Service in July of 1980 when President Carter reinstated the registration requirement. These men turn 26 in 1987. Selective Service does not have the authority to accept a young man's registration after he has reached his 26th birthday.

Harold Doyle, Texas Selective Service State Director, warned that, with few exceptions, a man who fails to register before turning 26 will permanently forfeit his eligibility for federal student financial aid, job training benefits and most federal employment. Additionally non-registrants face possible prosecution as felons.

Texas has registered nearly one million men since 1980.

Junior Miss Scholarship Program enrollment announced

Enrollment for the 1988 West Texas Junior Miss Scholarship Program will begin on Monday, November 2, 1987 and continue through November and December. This event is sponsored by Western Horizon Chapter, American Business Women's Association. Ima Gene Hurst, president of Western Horizon Chapter states, "One point we wish to stress here is that the Junior Miss Scholarship Program is not a beauty pageant. At no time are the girls in bathing suit competition. We are looking for the All-Around Girl to represent us as West Texas Junior Miss."

The 1988 West Texas Junior Miss will be selected at a program open to the general public on Saturday, April 2, in Cullen Auditorium on Abilene Christian University Campus. It will be necessary for enrollment to be limited in number.

Girls who are juniors in High School and living in the following counties are eligible to enter:

Taylor, Stonewall, Haskell, Throckmorton, Fisher, Jones, Shackelford, Mitchell, Nolan, Callahan, Coke, Runtels, and Coleman.

The local winner will participate in the State Junior Miss Scholarship Program in New Braunfels, Texas in August 1988. Winners from all 52 states will compete in the National Junior Miss Program in Mobile, Alabama in June 1989.

Stephanie Norvell, a senior at Cooper High School, is the current 1987 West Texas Junior Miss.

Girls interested in participating may contact LaVerne Story, Program Chairman, at 842 E.N. 11th, Abilene, 79601 or telephone 915-677-9544.

Businesses or individuals interested in providing sponsorships or having ads in the program book may contact Ima Gene Hurst, President of local sponsoring organization at 915-672-7406 after 5 p.m.

Indict —

was indicted on charges of unauthorized use of a motor vehicle in connection with a vehicle that was recovered in Kerrville when Wright was taken into custody.

Police reports indicated that Wright had taken a 1980 Plymouth, belonging to Carol Glass, of Ballinger.

In his report, Ballinger Police Officer J. C. Gore said that Wright told the woman he was going to take the car to a dealer in San Angelo with regard to taking over the payments on the car. When the car was not returned, it was entered in the state crime computer as stolen and was recovered later that day by officers in Kerrville.

Bond for Wright was continued at $5,000.

The grand jury indictments do not determine guilt or innocence. The action determines if there is sufficient evidence and information to support a trial on the charges.

Quiet Halloween is really appreciated

Halloween in Winters this year was very quiet, much in contrast to previous years when there were many reports and complaints of water balloons and eggs being thrown and several instances in which rocks were thrown at moving vehicles.

Winters Police Chief Ted Galloway, in expressing his appreciation for the cooperation this year, said that the young people in Winters deserve recognition for their assistance in keeping the traditionally wild holiday quiet.

Also the chief noted that efforts by parents of young children and the parents of the older youths played a major role by working to provide special activities for the celebrants.

Youngsters from the 8th grade through high school had a place, at the Rodeo Grounds, to throw water balloons or whatever else to their heart's content.

The help and cooperation kept the streets safe in Winters, Galloway said, and prevented reports of injuries and property damage.

On Halloween, the chief said, there were four arrests for driving while intoxicated, all adults, and one arrest on outstanding county warrants was made after a man attempted to flee from officers who stopped the man on a minor traffic violation.

Wear Blue on Friday

October busy month for Winters Police

During the month of October, Winters Police officers handled a total of 89 calls and issued 44 citations, including two for minor in possession of alcoholic beverage and one for possession of narcotic paraphernalia, both Class C offenses.

Officers issued 23 traffic citations and 18 warning citations during the month.

Police officers responded to 20 calls to assist citizens during the month and answered 17 disturbance calls.

A total of 10 burglar alarm calls were answered by officers, the majority of those were related to weather or other malfunctions.

Five suspicious persons were investigated by officers. One incident of telephone harassment was investigated and one person was arrested for driving while license suspended.

Two felony arrests were made by officers along with one misdemeanor warrant arrest during the month.

Winters officers assisted other agencies twelve times in October including three felony narcotic arrests, one misdemeanor narcotic arrest and an arrest for aggravated assault with a deadly weapon.

Three theft incidents were handled by officers and one case of burglary of a building.

Other calls handled by Winters Police officers during the month include: suspicious persons-5; DWI-4; accident, no injuries-4; accident with injury-1; disorderly conduct-1; dog bite-1; suspicious circumstances-3.

Juvenile arrests clear school burglaries

A series of burglaries and vandalism at the Winters Elementary School and the concession stand at the football field were cleared along with a number of thefts from vehicles parked on the school grounds when officers took two juveniles into custody over the week end.

Police Chief Ted Galloway said that the two have been turned over to Juvenile Authorities and that officers have plans to question a third suspect in the burglaries, thefts, and vandalism incidents.

The most recent incidents occurred this past weekend in the Winters Elementary School where a number of classrooms were vandalized, student lockers vandalized, money and snacks stolen along with personal property.

Officers said that a large amount of stolen property had been recovered after the youths were taken into custody.

Along with the elementary school, the Home Economics Building was entered several times by suspects, the concession stand was broken into several times, and vehicles belonging to football players were burglarized when the players were at out-of-town football games.

Memo from the Chamber of Commerce

We are very proud of four Winters young people who make up the State Champion Dairy Cattle Judging Team. Members of the team are: Frank Davis, Latricia Palmer, Marcie Pritchard, Wayne Boyd and their coach, Jackie Tennon. These young people will travel to Kansas City, Missouri to compete in the National Finals next week. We wish them good luck and feel confident they will bring the National Championship banner back with them to Winters.

We thank everyone who took part in our fourth Scarecrow Contest, we had some very clever Scarecrows and know that everyone enjoyed them.

Don't forget the Arts and Crafts Show—The Quilt Show—The Children's Art Show and the Parking Meter Sale all to take place on Friday and Saturday, November 13 and 14.

Open house planned for Winters new water plant

Now that construction is complete and everything is in order, Winters City officials are inviting the residents of Winters to visit and tour the plant while it is in operation.

The open house at the water plant is set for Thursday, November 12, from 10 a.m. to 12 noon.

City Administrator Chuck MacIlvaine said that during that time, city officials will be on hand at the water plant to answer any questions residents might have and to provide guided tours of the plant while it is in operation.

Church of Christ to open Clothing Room

The Winters Church of Christ Clothing Room will be open from 9 a.m. until 3 p.m., Saturday November 7.

President proclaims November 11 as Veterans Day

President Reagan has proclaimed November 11 as Veterans Day and has called upon all Americans to recognize "the hardships and sacrifices demanded from and faithfully accepted by the millions of men and women who have defended our land in war and in peace."

This year's Veterans Day theme is "Veterans, You are America," and the President urged Americans to let veterans know that their service is not forgotten, that their sacrifices are appreciated, and that America salutes its defenders.

Veterans Administration chief Thomas K. Turnage, who serves as Chairman of the Veterans Day National Committee, said, "The foundations of American independence, liberty, and freedom were built and preserved by those who served." Turnage will preside at the 34th annual Veterans Day observance at Arlington National Cemetery, which begins with the tradition of honoring the Unknown Soldier on the 11th hour of the 11th day of the 11th month with a Presidential Wreath Laying Ceremony.

November 16 last day to bid in State Land Sale

Texas Land Commissioner Garry Mauro reminded Texans they have until November 16 to submit bids on land included in a special sale of 191 tracts of land offered to the public through the Texas Veterans Land Board. Information on the location, size and amenities on each tract can be obtained by calling 1-800-252-VETS.

"This sale is an excellent opportunity to pick up quality acreage with very reasonable terms," Mauro said. "Under this sealed bid arrangement, everyone has an equal chance to win. Let me urge you to get out as soon as possible, take a look at the tracts that interest you and get your bids in."

Located in 79 counties, the tracts range in size from about 10 acres in several counties to a 52-acre tract in Jones county. Mauro noted that the tracts are attracting attention from bidders who see them as an excellent investment opportunity, as a place for recreation, or as a future home site.

All tracts are open to bid from the general public as well as Texas Veterans. Bids are not restricted to Texas residents.

Winning bids from Texas Veterans will receive a special interest rate of 8.75 percent on these tracts. The interest rate for the general public will be 10.25 percent. Both will carry a 30-year assumable fixed-rate loan.

The Texas Veterans Land Board will finance the entire loan amount of all winning bids, less a five percent down payment. There is no limit on the amount loaned or on the number of tracts that an individual can bid on.

The sale will be by sealed bid only, with a minimum set by the Texas Veterans Land Board. All bids must be received by the Board no later than November
