Wait a minute... By Kerry Craig

Last week, in this space, I said that I would talk about how I was not going to vote. In doing so, it may sound as if I am tooting my own horn. These things will be mentioned to qualify what I say and my position as a voter.

There will also be some observations, on my part, that are based on over two decades as a professional journalist working the "Police Beat" and other areas of news reporting. They are also based on almost a lifetime of politics and literally growing up in a county courthouse.

These thoughts should not come as any surprise to the candidate, he and I have discussed them—across his desk, and mine.

My Dad was elected to a county office the year I entered the first grade. And his office was right around the corner from that of the county sheriff. That sheriff, and his deputies helped raise me, almost. The same is true for the Highway Patrol Troopers, Liquor Control Board Agent, and City Police officers.

During the years as a news reporter working daily with law enforcement officers in all levels, from local to state to federal including F.B.I., Secret Service, Alcohol Tobacco and Firearms, Drug Enforcement Agency, Border Patrol, and U.S. Customs.

In nearly every county in Texas, quite a few different states, and even some foreign countries, I have enjoyed a working relationship with these officers. Some were closer than others.

As a news reporter, I was one of very few (if not the only one) to be invited to become a member of a state-wide narcotics officers association, and also assisted state, federal, and special investigators in narcotic-related investigations.

These relationships, if need be, are verified by letters of recommendation, or can be with a phone call or visit.

A relationship with a law enforcement officer, as I have outlined, is necessary to successful news reporting. It has also given me insight into how these offices function, as well as the individual officers.

Throughout over 35 years of close association with law enforcement officers, I have encountered only one with whom I cannot communicate nor understand.

This has left you, the reader, with very little information about the activities of the Sheriff's Department during the past five or six years. Only in the final months before election time has the sheriff decided to "go public" with his department's activities.

I would not attempt to tell anyone how to vote. There are four candidates for the office of Sheriff of Runnels County and each voter must make his own decision.

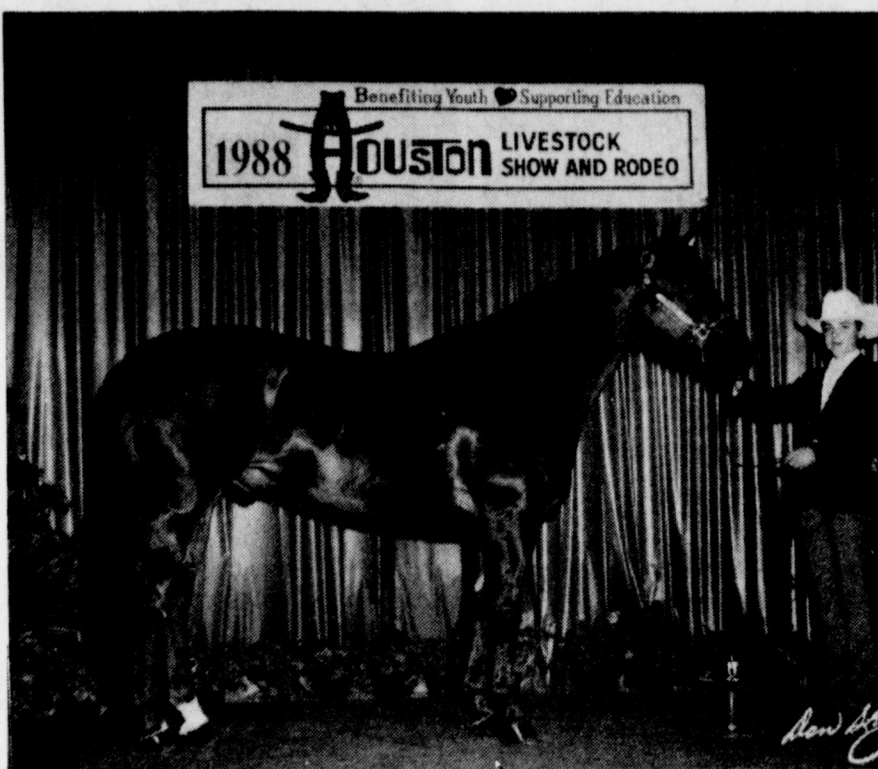

I have been asked how I am going to vote and, right now I just don't know. I do know, however, how I am not going to vote.

March 8, Super Tuesday Primary Election day

Voters in Runnels County will join voters across the State of Texas next Tuesday in the primary elections. Dubbed Super Tuesday, the primary election date was re-scheduled by the state legislature to give our state more impact in national elections.

The ballots, Democrat and Republican, have candidates for the top office in the land, President of the United States. These candidates are running in hopes of winning their party's nomination to be on the ballot in the November General Election.

These candidates have received much publicity in the major news media as have the candidates for state-wide office.

In Runnels County, voter turnout is expected to be rather heavy due to a number of highly contested races.

In this issue of The Enterprise you will find sample ballots for both political parties. These sample ballots have been marked to show which races are county-wide, and which are limited to a single commissioner's precinct or justice precinct.

These are the political races that have been receiving most of the local attention.

On the Democrat Ballot, in the races that will be decided locally, incumbent State Senator Grant Jones is being opposed by Sweetwater businessman Temple Dickson in the primary election. The winner of that race will face Republican Rex Andrew in the November General Election.

Incumbent State Representative for the 65 Legislative District, Democrat Jim Parker, is unopposed in his re-election

Absentee voting is now underway

Absentee voting is in progress in the County Clerk's Office located on the first floor of the Runnels County Courthouse for the Super Tuesday First Primary Election to be held March 8, 1988. Voters may vote either Democratic or Republican.

County Clerk Linda Bruchmiller would like to stress that any qualified voter is eligible to vote absentee in person. There are no restrictions other than to be a registered voter. Voters are

UIL denies Winters appeal

Of 11 appeals it considered Wednesday, the University Interscholastic League voted to change the district alignment of only two high schools.

Winters was among the schools that lost its appeal. The school had tried to get out of District 6-2A in football because of travel and being in separate bid. For Judge of the 119th Judicial District, Republican John Sutton is running unopposed.

Two names appear on the ballot for the office of District Attorney, 119th Judicial District. Assistant district attorney Stephen Smith is seeking the seat being vacated by Dick Alcala. Also seeking the D.A.'s office is Jack P. Schulze.

In Runnels County there are two county-wide contested races. There are two candidates for the office of Tax Assessor/Collector and four candidates for the office of Sheriff of Runnels County.

On the ballot, Sarah J. Craig is challenging incumbent VaRue McWilliams for the office of Runnels County Tax Assessor/Collector.

Four candidates are on the Ballot for Sheriff of Runnels County. In the order they are listed on the ballot, these are the candidates. Odell Denton, who served as Runnels County's Chief Deputy Sheriff for several years, business man and Ballinger Fire Chief.

Runnels County Agricultural Day set

The 1988 Runnels County Agricultural Day will begin at 1:00 p.m. Tuesday, March 8, at the Ballinger High School.

During the day an intensive look will be offered into key farming issues in today's agriculture.

Rev. Jerry Kunkel, of Amarillo, will present the keynote address at 7:45 p.m. "RELOAD," a program geared toward agriculture, will address the tough times that have existed in agriculture recently and some ideas for how we can survive. Rev. Kunkel is an excellent speaker and is sure to offer us an optimistic outlook for the future of agriculture.

Preceding his presentation, at 1:00 p.m., Texas State Senator Bill Sims will discuss upcoming legislation that will affect area farmers. COTFLEX, a cotton expert system computer model, will be introduced to the group by Dr. Ray Frisbie, of Texas A&M University.

Dr. George Teetes, of Texas A&M University, will present a program about grain sorghum breeding techniques and host plant resistance.

A special talk, Biotechnology in Agriculture, will be given by Dr. Jean Gould, of Texas A&M University. She will present changes that she believes we'll see in production agriculture due to new biotechnology within the next 5 years. She will also discuss her research in gene transfer in cotton and what producers can expect to see as a result of her work.

Bob Carroll, of Cleburne with DuPont Chemical Company, will share slides and information (See Ag Day Page 14)

Winters VFD, Ballinger Hospital to undergo Justice Department investigation

The United States Department of Justice has been asked by the Runnels County LULAC Post 658 to assist in investigations into the Winters Volunteer Fire Department and the Board of Directors of Ballinger Memorial Hospital.

In a news release from the Runnels County chapter of the League of United Latin American Citizens, Council Post 658, said, "The Runnels County LULAC Council Post 658 has been asked to investigate racial remarks made by some members of the Winters Volunteer Fire Department against Mexicans and Blacks."

The news release also stated that the Justice Department had been asked to assist in the investigation.

A LULAC spokesman said that the Winters investigation was prompted by the Winters Volunteer Fire Department's denial of membership to an Hispanic applicant.

The investigation involving Ballinger Memorial Hospital, according to Richard Sombrano, of the Justice Department, is the result of LULAC concern about there being no minority members on the Board of Directors of Ballinger Memorial Hospital.

The Ballinger hospital, since the first of the year, has been the center of controversy over the signing of a management contract with Shannon Hospital of San Angelo. That dispute resulted in two Ballinger doctors having to move their hospital affiliation to North Runnels Hospital in Winters and to St. John's Hospital in San Angelo and to move their offices from the Swann Medical Building at the Ballinger hospital.

Sombrano said Tuesday that he had attempted to talk to the Ballinger Memorial Hospital Board president about the lack of minorities on the hospital board but, that the hospital official had refused to talk to him (Sombrano).

In regard to the Winters Fire Department investigation, Sombrano said, "at this point, we haven't done an assessment. We have, however, received the complaint."

The Justice Department investigator said that he would be coming to Winters and that he would be talking to some people about the complaint.

Sombrano described his role, and that of the Justice Department by saying, "Our mission is assisting in the resolution of dispute between the minority community, LULAC and a local institution that may be perceived to be an oppressor. We assist the conciliation, or mediation, normally we try to bring parties together to discuss the issue."

He said that he would be in Runnels County within the next few days and "would do an assessment and initiate steps to insure things like these don't happen again in the future."

Runnels County Crime of the Month February 1988

Sometime between the nighttime hours of Thursday January 18, 1988 and Friday night January 29, 1988 a person or persons burglarized the Reliance Enterprise auto body shop in Miles, Texas. The burglars entered the business through a garage door located on the South East side of the building.

Taken in this business burglary were:

Eight car stereos, stereo speakers, a YORK home stereo system, floor jacks, a Lincoln Arc welder, assorted tools and toolboxes, assorted air powered auto body work tools. The burglars drove a vehicle across a field and onto a road by the Miles Cemetery. If you have any information concerning this business burglary please call Runnels County Crimestoppers at 365-2111 or dial the Operator and ask for Enterprise 67574. You do not have to give us your name and your information may be worth a cash reward of up to $1000.00.

Social Security slates March visit

Garland Gregg, representative for the San Angelo Social Security Office, has scheduled his March visit to Winters. He will be at the Housing Project Office on Monday, March 28, between 9:30 a.m. and 10:30 a.m.

Barry Hilliard affirms candidacy for constable

Barry Hilliard, who formally announced his candidacy for the position of Constable for Justice Precinct Two of Runnels County a few days before the filing deadline, has issued his formal statement to the voters of the precinct.

"I would like to express my desire to be your North Runnels County Constable. Since this has been a major election year, I've chosen not to further bore, or irritate you by sticking one of my cards in your face everytime we meet.

A constable has just as much authority as any other county police officer, therefore I think he, or she, should have both experience and, most of all, judgement.

I have 15 years experience in actual law enforcement. I am a 1977 graduate of the National F.B.I. Academy, and one of the youngest ever, to attend. I worked for two years for the late Sheriff Don Atkins here in Runnels County, beginning in 1970. From there I went to Midland where I worked for that Police Department until 1981.

During my years there, I spent the first year and a half as a patrolman and the remainder as a detective. In 1974, I was promoted to sergeant. I worked three years in the Narcotics Division and the last three as one of four detectives assigned to the Felony Division where we investigated every major crime. These included major drug investigations, series burglaries, aggravated rapes and robberies, and all homicides or suspicious deaths. We had about 20 men working as detectives.

I have conducted investigations with numerous other police agencies including state and federal. I also worked narcotic cases that took me into the country of Mexico.

I chose to return to my native Runnels County in 1981 to farm and ranch my grandparents place west of Winters, near the Runnels-Coke County line. When Sheriff Bill Baird was appointed sheriff, he asked me to be his North Runnels Deputy to replace Johnnie Wilson who had become a county commissioner.

After about a year and a half, I had to resign due to a serious family illness. Since that time, I have remained as one of Sheriff's Baird's reserve officers and maintain an excellent relationship with all the officers.

It just recently has become law that all county constables must become certified as police officers. I am the only candidate that is fully certified.

Our county will not have to bear the expense of sending me to school for certification.

On March 8, I respectfully request your consideration."

Visit to Textile Research Center

Before members of the Young Farmers travel group checked into the hotel at Lubbock on Thursday night, Randall Conner provided a history of Plains Agriculture and carried us on two tours.
In the late 1880's cattle and ranching was springing up on the Plains. The XIT, Ranch and others were running cattle on the abundant grasses. But the permanent settlers came not to ranch, but to farm. They reasoned that if the land could produce lush grass, it could produce bountiful crops. They lived in dugouts, tents, and sod houses and endured the elements of nature to carve out a new life for themselves. It was discovered that cotton would not only grow, but would flourish on the Plains. The ultimate discovery that transformed the once "Great American Desert" into an oasis, was the underground ocean known as the Ogallala Aquifer. When abundant water for irrigation was added to fertile soil, an ideal climate, and creative individuals to till the soil, this agricultural miracle came about. Today 25% of the U.S. cotton is produced in the Lubbock area. This helps make Texas the No. 1 cotton producing state. The area produces large amounts of corn and grain sorghum to support the largest concentrations of cattle feed lots in the world. There are five to six million head of cattle being fattened at any one time in 200 High Plains feedlots. Other crops include sunflowers, soybeans, wheat, and vegetables.

The first stop we made was at the Texas Tech University Textile Research Center. It was located in the heart of U.S. cotton production, in order to study and develop uses for the most popular natural fiber—cotton, as well as wool, mohair, man-made fibers and various blends. The operation includes about 5,000 square feet of modern labs and processing areas. The Center can produce woven and knitted fabrics from these fibers and can process these with a number of different fabric finishes. Owned by the state of Texas and operated by the College of Engineering at Tech, the Center is now an international center for textile Research and Development. It welcomes contracts from private industry, trade associations and governmental agencies.

The Center has 50 employees, we were told and its purpose is to increase the value of textiles in Texas. It does commercial dyeing for K-Mart, Pennys and others—"this is where we get our money," the guide explained.

Each process in the center was explained as we went along but the most impressive was the ring spinning and the open-end, or rotor spinning. Ring spinning, in use for almost 100 years, is formed by twisting the fibers together and then they are wound on a package. It produces 60 to 65 percent of the yarns spun in the U.S. Open-end spinning reduces labor, saves electricity and gives added floor space. It can be understood why this method is becoming popular.

Our attention-getter was a pair of knitted tube socks. Several machines make these and this operation is always interesting to visitors.

Microscopy is an important part of the research program. Microscopes are very helpful in the development of new yarns and fibers.

After we visited the USDA Cotton Closing Office, Randall announced it had been a long day. "Your evening is free. Here

There were four ladies who looked at him in disbelief—we climbed wearily to our rooms, flopped on the bed and ordered pizzas brought to us for dinner.

People once believed they could keep their cattle healthy by hanging boughs of the mountain ash tree in front of the stables.

A MESSAGE FROM THIS NEWSPAPER AND THE DPS TROOPERS

Bush continues to strengthen campaign for Super Tuesday

Vice President George Bush, continuing to build upon the strongest Presidential organization in the South, announced that South Carolina Governor Carroll Campbell will serve as Bush's Southern Campaign Chairman. Campbell, who chaired the South Carolina Reagan-Bush campaigns in both 1980 and 1984, is one of 12 of the nation's Republican governors who have publicly announced their support for the Vice President.

"Not only is Carroll one of the most respected and influential Republicans in the country, but he personifies the emerging Republican majority in the South," said Vice President Bush. "His leadership and expertise will be invaluable to my campaign effort in the South. His expanded role in the campaign moves us a step closer to victory on Super Tuesday, which plays such an important role in the Republican nomination process."

"George Bush has spent much time and has invested valuable campaign resources in South Carolina and across the South because he knows that to win the Republican nomination, you must be successful on Super Tuesday," Campbell said. "He is clearly the most qualified candidate for President in either party and I am proud to play a leadership role in his national campaign."

Campbell was elected Governor in 1986, after serving eight years in the U.S. Congress. He has also served in both the South Carolina House of Representatives and the South Carolina Senate. In addition to chairing both state Reagan-Bush campaigns, Campbell was elected by his colleagues to serve as the campaign's chairman in the House of Representatives in 1984. In 1976, Campbell served on the GOP Platform Committee and in 1980 he chaired the South Carolina delegation to the Republican National Convention.

"I have known Carroll for years and I know that his active involvement in the campaign will be extremely helpful to us as we work toward a victory on Super Tuesday," said Bush National Campaign Manager Lee Atwater. "The South is critical to the success of a Presidential campaign, and, as our point-man here, Carroll's leadership will be instrumental in bringing us that success."

South Carolina's March 5 primary is the last stop on the road to Super Tuesday, when twenty states will hold primaries or caucuses, including 14 Southern states. These states account for more than 70 percent of the delegates needed to capture the Republican nomination.

Business by appointment

A new way of taking care of Social Security business is now available to the public. Interviews by appointment have been provided in many offices in recent years and have proven to be very popular. Now, the service is being offered by every Social Security office.

To set up an appointment, you merely call the Social Security office. You can either arrange to visit the office at an agreed upon time, or you may arrange to have the Social Security office call you at a certain time. If the office calls you, the interview may be made by phone and a copy of the application mailed to you for your signature. When it is received back in the office, it is handled just as any other application.

Taking care of Social Security matters by appointment is a natural development. Most Social Security matters can be handled by telephone; and in recent years, "teleservice" has become an important service option for the public. However, it is not intended to displace any other option, and we continue to encourage people to call, visit, or write the Social Security office—whichever is most convenient for them.

Offices that have used the appointment system note that people tend to be more prepared for the interview. During the initial contact, they have an opportunity to find out what documents they need to handle the matter and can have them on hand during the interview. This decreases interview time and claims processing time.

People who want to call the San Angelo Social Security Office to make an appointment may call 949-4608. We'll be glad to help.

The longest winter in the solar system is 21 years long and occurs on the south polar regions of Uranus. The temperature then is estimated to be minus 362 degrees Fahrenheit.

VA Questions and Answers

Q. I understand that there have been some recent changes in the Veterans Administration's Home Loan Guaranty Program. Did the amount of the maximum VA-guaranty on a conventional home loan change?

A. The Veterans' Home Loan Program Improvements and Property Rehabilitation Act revised calculations for determining the amount of the loan guaranteed by the VA. Previously, the maximum VA-guaranty on a conventional home loans was $27,500. Under the new law, for loans of 145,000 or less, 50 percent of the loan is guaranteed. For loans above $45,000, 40 percent of the loan is guaranteed, up to a maximum of $36,000, but not less than $22,500. The changes apply to any loan closed on or after February 1, 1988, unless a guaranty commitment was made on or before December 31, 1987. Any prior use of guaranty still outstanding will be subtracted from the guaranty on the present loan.

Q. Are common-law marriages recognized by the VA?

A. Yes, if the relationship was established in a state that recognizes common-law marriages.

Q. Does the Veterans Administration sell life insurance to disabled veterans?

A. Veterans separated from service on or after April 25, 1951, who are granted a service connected disability, may apply to the VA for up to $10,000 life insurance coverage. They must apply within one year from the date the VA notifies the veteran that his/her disability has been rated as service-connected. Recently separated veterans are eligible to convert Serviceman's Group Life Insurance to Veterans Group Life Insurance. If application is made within 120 days after separation. There are no medical requirements. After five years, the insurance can be converted to a permanent plan with any company which participates in the SGLI/VGLI program. Current coverage is $50,000.

Q. Has a law been passed recently that expands veterans education benefits?

A. On June 1, 1987, President Reagan signed the Montgomery GI Bill into law. The new law, named after Rep. G. V. (Sonny) Montgomery (D-MS), chairman of the House Veterans Affairs Committee, makes permanent a New GI Bill which was started July 1, 1985 as a three-year test program. In return for monthly salary deductions, active duty members earn educational assistance payments for used after separation. Reserve and National Guard members also can earn eligibility under the new program.

Q. I am a veteran with a service-connected disability rated at 50 percent. I have received an injury which is not service-connected, but which will require a prosthetic appliance. Will the VA supply this needed appliance?

A. Yes. Any veteran with a service-connected disability of 50 percent or more may be provided with necessary prosthetic appliances for any medical condition.

Q. What is the amount of the VA clothing allowance for disabled veterans? When is it payable?

A. The clothing allowance is payable annually, in August. The rate in 1988 will be $380.

Mobile home rights
Shopping for a mobile home? Be careful. A large number of manufactured housing retailers are going out of business these days. If you buy a home from a dealer who later closes his doors, you will have a hard time getting your warranties honored.

Texas manufactured housing dealers are required by the Texas Department of Labor and Standards to post $50,000 bonds to protect consumers in case they go out of business. Manufacturers must put up bonds of a $100,000. Make sure who you deal with is bonded. And be aware that some dealers headquartered in neighboring states but who sell in Texas, or to Texans, are not bonded.

Before you buy a home, check with the Better Business Bureau or the AG's Consumer Protection Division to see whether their have been complaints against the dealer you are planning to patronize.

Stand up to be seen; speak up to be heard; shut up to be appreciated.

Texas Treasury's Unclaimed Money list

Forgotten something? Something like a utility deposit from college? Or a savings account opened when your children were young but never used? Maybe your Uncle Ned had a producing oil well or two that he never got around telling anyone about.

The Texas State Treasury can help you find lost accounts such as these and more. On Sunday, March 6, newspapers across Texas will publish a list of 75,000 Texans who have more than $60 million in lost or forgotten money in accounts ranging from checking and savings accounts to oil royalties and corporate stocks.

"This is a service we provide for the people of Texas," State Treasurer Ann Richards said. "Money turned over to the State Treasury can be claimed at anytime in the future by the original owner or his or her heirs."

Persons who find their name on the list may reclaim their property by calling the State Treasury, toll free at 1-800-321-2274 or by writing to the State Treasury at P.O. Box 12608, Capitol Station, Austin, Texas 78711.

"There is no set time limit for making a claim," Treasurer Richards emphasized. "Please be patient if you are calling on the toll-free number, especially in the first few weeks after March 6 when the telephone lines are kept busy. You can be assured that if you have money coming to you, you will get it."

She said that last year, the State Treasury published a similar list and about $50 million was reunited with owners.

The Unclaimed Money Fund list was first published when Treasurer Richards took office in 1983. Since that time, the State Treasury has returned 84 percent of all the money ever returned since the law took effect 26 years ago.

Under her administration, the State Treasury has also substantially increased efforts to collect dormant accounts. Total collections since 1983 equal $162.2 million, or 79 percent of all unclaimed funds ever collected by the state of Texas.

"The amount of money that we collect is important," the treasurer said. "Because in the past, accounts which were not turned over to the Treasury for safekeeping were often lost. Now, at least, the accounts are protected at no charge by the Treasury."

The list is being published statewide in 16 newspapers and is the largest such list printed in the United States. It also is available at public libraries and county offices. In addition, many newspapers publish local names as a public service to their readers.

Under state law, checking and saving accounts, mineral royalties, insurance payments, safe deposit boxes, utility deposits and the like are turned over to the state if accounts are inactive for at least three years.

The state may use the funds for general state services and for education, but the owners or their heirs may file a claim at any time in the future for the money held by the state.

International theme for state arts event

Texas gratefully receives the skills of immigrants from all over the world. It is to these artists the 1988 Texas State Arts and Crafts Fair is dedicated. The official state arts event will be held in Kerrville on May 28-29 and June 4-5.

Brightly colored tents spread among the trees herald the renewal of an ancient custom. When market days became as much fun as work, the first festival originated. The love of a festival came to Texas from many lands.

The cultures of widely ranging times and places are here. See lacemaking techniques from 19th century France and England. Across the way, an anvil rings. A handmade wooden chest is painted in German folk design.

The intricate patterns of Russian pysanky eggs are waxed. One is aware of the glass furnace roar and discovers a skill so important in Italy and other European and Oriental countries.

In the International Village, expert demonstrators are costumed for the time and country their skill originated. Ask them when and how their art came to Texas. Over fifty separate techniques will be worked.

Music to stir the heart and set feet dancing is here. Ronald Radford, internationally known flamenco guitarist, traveled with a gypsy troupe across Spain to develop his authentic style.

An Irish miss with a pure, sweet voice sings a ballad of love and war. Then a rousing salute to John Doolan brings Scartaglen to finale. Using authentic instruments, the Irish group will perform May 28-29 only.

A Texas festival, however, must have Texas music and an entire stage is devoted to it alone. Here champion cowboy yodeler Randy Erwin joins Chisholm from Dallas in a real salute to heritage. Jazz and bluegrass complete the roster.

The producing artists are going international also, with theme competition winners decided by the visitors. In the booths, a special certificate honors Texas artists who have distinguished themselves by exhibit or study abroad.

Known for high quality arts and crafts throughout its seven-year history, the 1988 event promises over two hundred of Texas finest artists to show and sell their work. The official event is limited to resident Texas exhibitors.

Be sure to take the children, there is so much for them. A petting zoo, old fashioned games and a hands on crafts area are back each year. For 1988, a new interest is added, with internationally dressed characters coming by the children's area for special programs.

Add the informal atmosphere and good food for a day, weekend or two weekends of Texas goodtimes. The dates are May 28-29, June 4-5, Saturdays and Sundays. For more information, contact TACF, P.O. Box 1527, Kerrville, Texas 78029-1527. Telephone (512) 896-5711.

No new regulations needed for oil and gas producers, Gramm tells EPA

New full-scale federal regulation of most oil and gas field wastes "is unnecessary, impractical and costly," U.S. Senator Phil Gramm says.

"It would be foolhardy to impose additional costly, needless regulatory restraints on the exploration and production of oil and natural gas at a time when the domestic petroleum industry—so vital to the national security of this nation—is struggling to survive," Gramm said in a letter to Environmental Protection Agency Administrator Lee Thomas.

The senator applauded EPA's recent analysis of the issue and urged Thomas to formally adopt its conclusions.

"The agency has reached the appropriate conclusion in finding that wastes from exploration and production operations, when managed properly, pose no threat to human health and the environment," Gramm said.

The senator said that EPA's fundamental finding—that no new regulations are needed—should be adopted as formal policy.

The EPA report, which deals with how oil and gas waste products should be treated in light of existing state and federal government regulations, was delivered to Congress earlier.

"As the report points out, there are already adequate existing state and federal laws regulating these production wastes, making additional federal regulations unwarranted," Gramm wrote.

In preparation for issuing a final decision, EPA will hold a field hearing on March 8 in Dallas, Gramm said.

The first airplane purchased by the U.S. government was called the Miss Columbia and bought from the Wright brothers in 1909.

Hardworking Sincere Honest

On February 11th the Democratic Club held a "Meet The Candidate Night" in Ballinger at the Carnegie Library. All candidates running for political office in Runnels county were invited to attend. The purpose of this meeting was to give the voters a chance to meet the candidates and hear them speak of their qualifications for the office they were seeking.

I attended this meeting and spoke of my desire and qualifications for the office of Constable Prec. #2. None of the other candidates for this office attended. I attended and showed my interest in serving as your constable. Please show your interest and concern by voting for Mark S. Goetz Constable Prec. #2. Runnels County on March 8, 1988.

Dear Betty Crocker

Q. How can I prevent cheesecake from cracking on top?

F. S. East Rockaway, NY

A. Bake cheesecake at a low temperature (300 to 325 degrees) and be sure that oven maintains an accurate temperature to allow proteins in the eggs and cream cheese to coagulate slowly and evenly. Also, place cake on middle rack of oven for even heat distribution.

Q. Is it safe to microwave popcorn in a paper bag?

A. P. St. Paul MN

A. Probably not. Most microwave oven manufacturers do not recommend popping corn in a paper bag. Either use a popper or packaged corn designed for microwave use or pop the corn conventionally.

Alexander the Great made his soldiers keep clean-shaven so the enemy couldn't grab them by their beards.

Been Keeping Up With Grant Jones?

In 1965, Grant Jones was elected to the state legislature. Having not faced a serious challenge in years, many now ask about his voting record. To answer those questions, we sent a researcher to Austin. His report follows:

- 1971-Jones voted against ethics bill for legislators.
- 1975-Jones voted against bill to prevent discrimination of handicapped.
- 1979-Jones voted to increase home mortgage interest ceiling by 20%.
- 1980-Headlines: "Special Interest Contributors fill Jones' Campaign Chest."
- 1981-Jones rated a zero by Texas Consumer Association.
- 1982-Jones to reporter about his official residence: "I'm out of town a whole lot and I'm not directly related to local problems."
- 1983-During budget crisis, $40,000 spent on Jones celebration at Capital.
- 1985-Jones voted against insurance reform for divorced and widowed women.
- 1985-Jones voted against $10,000 homestead exemption for persons 65 and older.
- 1985-Jones voted to increase teacher's paperwork, subject them to insulting test, result: tremendous cost to taxpayers and increase in dropout rate.
- 1987-Jones voted to place lien on property of Medicaid recipients.
- 1988-Contrary to Jones' law enforcement ads, Bell County D.A. and President of Texas D.A. Association said: "Jones in 17 years never asked me for advice."
- 1988-Jones states need to shift tax burden from multinational corporations in Houston and Dallas perhaps to small businesses, farmers and ranchers.
- 1988-Jones thinks a state Personal Income Tax a possibility—again apparently to lessen the taxes of multinational corporations.

Our researcher was amazed at his findings, concluding that nobody had been keeping up with Grant Jones. While nobody likes to keep up with the Jones's, maybe it's time we did and elect Temple Dickson—Temple won't hide in Austin.

Facts—The Operations Of The Tax Office

I have been employed in a political office for many years, but I am not a Politician and I refuse to degrade myself battling politics—However, I will defend my position—always. I admit the following facts relating to what was most likely intended by my opposition to be insinuation. It is important to me to clarify these implications.

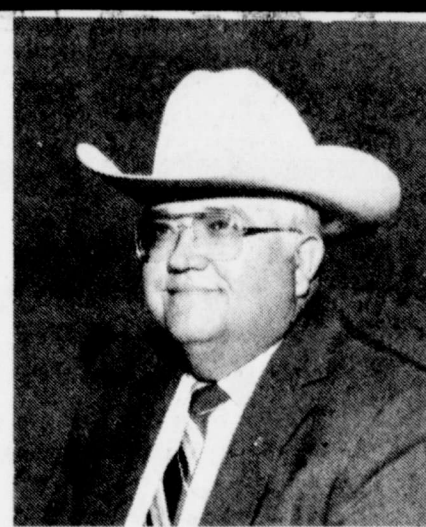

- No. 1: I cannot allow more friendly, courteous service than is enjoyed at present time in our office—We would have a 3-Ring circus in operation. We are also efficient.
- No. 2: If we do not have cooperation & communication now between the taxing entities, it will have to be spelled out to me. We assess & collect for 2 of the Entities. To date we have received 1,608 corrections from the Appraisal Office on their 1987 Appraisal Roll and have processed all of them. This alone makes us compatible.
- No. 3: This 40-hour week entry is the ironic one. My office is the one that observes the 40-hour work week. Example: The County Tax Office maintains a 42 1/2 hr. wk. The County Attorney's Office has a 37 1/2 hr. wk. We are furnished a County Employee Handbook compiled by the Commissioners court which sets-out our work week. Holidays, and vacation time, Citizenship leave, Emergency leave, & sick leave. We are also allowed 2 days personal leave per year. We abide by the handbook. There is a difference in our office (and tax office & clerk's office). Other County offices are closed on election days. Our offices (tax office & clerk's office) are closed for business, but we have to be there behind closed doors, as per the Secretary of State, to take care of Voter Registration inquiries. These are 12-hr days. I anticipate 5 elections this year which amount to 7 1/2 days. We are allowed to compensate with days off since the County does not pay overtime. The pay would be better for us. Call it compassion or whatever but I allow my deputies to take off for severe illness, funeral services and unforeseeable emergencies. My deputies stay after hours when needed and come down on weekends to accommodate customers. Please understand! They earn and deserve every minute they have off. The original time sheets are filed in the County Judge's office.
- No. 4: I have no surplus staff in this office. For a county office to acquire additional employees, the Commissioners Court must approve. When I was appointed in 1980 there were 9 employees in the office (2 supposed to be part-time) and 2 in Winters (1-part-time). I have 5 employees in the office now and 1 part-time. I have 1 deputy in the Winters Office.
- No. 5: I am not a wasteful person so this will give you an idea on the "most for your tax dollar." We collect the monies and follow a strict budget as to the dollars spent in this office.

If a person is serious about inspecting my job performance, the following list should prove useful. These agencies are the ones I am accountable to for reports, monies, and audits:
State Comptroller
State Treasurer
District Highway Department (Ben Dillon)
Secretary of State
State Property Tax Board (Anna Mishou)
I Thank You for your past support and I shall appreciate your vote of confidence in the March 8th Primary.

TO THE VOTERS OF RUNNELS COUNTY

Since I announced for the Office of Sheriff of this county, I have met a lot of new people and shook a lot of hands. If I missed you, I am sorry.

Let me tell you a little about my background. I was born and reared in the Winters Area and graduated from Winters High School. I attended Texas Lutheran College and graduated from Draughn's Business College in Abilene. I married the former Laverne Dankworth and we have seven children. I served in the Air Force during the Korean War. I farmed for three years then joined the Abilene Police Department and graduated from their Police Academy. In 1957, I joined the Texas Liquor Control Board and remained there for over 28 years. During that time I acquired over 900 hours of class room instruction on various aspects of Law Enforcement.

I hold the highest Certification issued by the Texas Commission on Law Enforcement Standards and Education and also hold a Permanent License as a Texas Peace Officer.

I was instructed in the following subjects:
Laws on Search and Seizure
Laws of Arrest (with or without a warrant)
Laws on Gambling, Vice, Alcohol, and Drugs
Schools on Interrogation and Investigation pertaining to assaults, robberies, and homicides that occur on Licensed Premises.
Case Preparation, and how to preserve the chain of evidence.

During this time I also worked undercover for a period of time and cooperated with Federal, State, County and City officers. I know how to cooperate with other agencies, and how to get along with people.

I can make decisions quickly when needed.
I am a member of the Sheriffs' Association of Texas, Texas Narcotics Officers Association, member and Past President and Director of the West Central Texas Law Enforcement Association.

I believe parents should have the opportunity to rear their children in a place that is not haunted by drug peddlers trying to ruin their lives, and their future. Drug Enforcement will be a top priority in My Department.

When elected, I will form a Department that will function with High Morality, Integrity, Honesty, and Fairness.

I plan to have a RESIDENT Deputy for the Winters Area who will be able to respond to calls More Quickly.

I believe our young people need officers that they can respect, look up to, and communicate with.

If this is the kind of Sheriff's Department that you want then I ask for YOUR VOTE on March 8, 1988. Vote for D. J. GOETZ JR.

Pol. Adv. for By D. J. Goetz, Jr. Rt. 3, Winters, Tx.

San Antonio site for convention

A decidedly upbeat group of cattlemen, perhaps 2,000 strong, are expected to converge on San Antonio March 13-16 for the 111th annual convention of the Texas and Southwestern Cattle Raisers Association, says John E. Birdwell, TSCRA president from Lubbock. Convention meetings will be held in the San Antonio convention center downtown and the Hyatt Regency Hotel.

TSCRA is a trade association founded in 1877 to represent the interests of cattle producers primarily in Texas, the number one cattle state in the nation. It has almost 14,000 working cattlemen as members.

The Texas CattleWomen, active in beef promotion and legislative affairs; the Livestock Marketing Association of Texas, a trade group representing livestock auction markets; and the Texas Purebred Cattle Alliance, representing producers of registered breeding cattle, will conduct meetings in conjunction with TSCRA's convention, trade show and silent auction, Birdwell said.

Keynote speaker of the convention will be T. Boone Pickens, Jr., chairman of the board of Mesa Petroleum Company in Amarillo and a cattleman in his own right. Pickens will speak at the kickoff luncheon at noon Monday, March 14, in the convention center.

The convention will open Sunday March 13, with a 160-exhibit trade show featuring the latest new agricultural products and services as well as purebred cattle, apparel and Jewelry. Some of the most exciting artists and craftsmen in business today will have their works on exhibit, too, during the trade show's three-day run. Those not registered for the convention can attend the trade show with purchase of a $5 day badge, and the general public is welcome.

A highlight of this year's trade show will be the silent auction benefitting the Texas and Southwestern Cattle Raisers Foundation. Bidding starts on Sunday and will continue during Trade Show hours until 5:30 p.m. Monday, when bidding closes. Consignments include a 1988 Jeep Comanche pickup, cattle handling equipment, custom-made boots and spurs, computer software, animal health care products, hunting trips and art objects.

Sunday evening's festivities include a welcome cocktail party for all convention registrants and a Young People's Party.

Committee meetings will get underway Monday morning, March 14. The agenda includes a wide range of topics such as legislation and regulations affecting the cattle industry, taxes, animal health, soil and water resources, immigration, marketing strategies and the national $1-per-head checkoff program.

Following Pickens' address at the kickoff luncheon, a free 1988 Jeep Grand Wagoneer will be awarded to a convention registrant. Jeep Corporation is furnishing the prize with a list price of over $25,000, along with the Jeep Comanche pickup for the silent auction, with proceeds going to TSCRA Foundation.

Scheduled to address the board of directors' meeting Monday afternoon are Humphrey, Wilson and Butler. Sex and heart disease

Having heart disease, a heart attack, or undergoing heart surgery doesn't mean the end of a satisfying sex life. Myths about sex and heart disease are common. According to the American Heart Association, there is no reason a heart patient cannot resume usual sexual activity as soon as she or he feels ready to do so, usually three to four weeks after having a heart attack and one to three weeks after having heart surgery.

Sexual activity following a heart attack is normal, desirable, and healthy. A person recovering from a heart attack may be more aware of heart-beat, breathing, and to sense a muscle tightening and tension. This awareness is normal and is no cause for alarm.

Perhaps the most common myth about sex following heart diseases is that resuming sex often brings on a heart attack or sudden death. This rarely happens and, if so, usually it is in an extramarital situation, which may be more stressful than sex with the spouse. The stress may come from too much food and alcohol and, also, from the stress associated with extramarital sex usually taking place in unfamiliar surroundings.

In men whose level of male hormone has declined, an increased sex drive may occur after the hormones are replaced with the medicine testosterone. Testosterone does not act as an aphrodisiac in men who have normal levels of male hormone in their blood.

Myths exist about the least energy-requiring positions for sex. Studies show that there are no advantages with any particular position in terms of demands upon the heart and circulation.

A decline in sex drive and function after a heart attack is not due to the heart's inability to respond to the physical demands of sex. The major impact on sex drive and function after a heart attack is psychological rather than physical, except for a few people with severe heart disease and heart failure.

If angina, chest pain caused by a decrease of blood to the heart, occurs during sex, it is rarely severe enough to cause the heart disease patient to stop having sexual relations. The patient's physician may recommend a tablet of nitroglycerin under the tongue 15 or 20 minutes before sexual activity to improve the heart function and to prevent the development of chest pain.

Following recovery, heart patients experience depression, resulting in sad and fearful feelings. Often patients have trouble sleeping or sleep too much, especially during the day. Their appetite may increase or decrease, resulting in weight loss or gain. Heart patients may also experience an overall lack of interest in life and loss of sexual desire. There may also be chronic tiredness and general irritability.

This depression is normal and disappears within three months in 85 percent of the cases. If depression continues longer than three to six months after a heart attack or surgery, patients should consult their physician about counseling.

For more information about sex and heart disease, please contact your local American Heart Association listed in the White Pages of your phone directory.

Q. What is polyunsaturated fat and why is it recommended for a low-cholesterol diet?

P. S. Houston, TX
A. Polyunsaturated fats, commonly found in cooking oils and some soft margarines, are liquid at room temperature. These fats are made from corn, soybeans, safflowers and sunflowers. Research shows that polyunsaturated fats tend to reduce blood cholesterol levels. Professional health organizations strongly recommend reducing total fat in the diet and replacing some saturated fats with polyunsaturated fats.

The fifth and sixth grade science classes had an enjoyable and educational field trip to Abilene last week. The classes toured the production plant at the Dr. Pepper Company. The students saw an automated assembly line. They learned how solutions were tested to meet the company standards for Dr. Pepper products. At the end of the tour, Mr. Jim Gibson treated the students to a soft drink. Afterwards, the classes went to the Abilene State Park for lunch. The students and Mrs. Derington walked down the nature trail.

Don't forget the tennis tournament at Paint Rock Friday and Saturday, March 4 and 5. The fifth and eighth boys and girls will be playing in this tournament.

Certificates were given to those students who read and reported on library books. Ray Lee Luera—40 books; Steven Sneed—70 books.

Congratulations to each of you!

Nursing Home News

Many of you have been waiting patiently and eagerly for some great news! We are 100% free of the infection that has been a major concern to many of you and to all of us. Many thanks go to Winters physicians, Dr. Y. K. Lee and Dr. Richard Thorpe for their tremendous attention to their patients during the last few weeks. Winters should be proud of the medical expertise available here and should show it's medical professionals how we feel. To the physicians and nurses in Winters, my hat is off to you. Our residents have sincerely appreciated your attention to their needs. We're excited to be a part of a community that takes care of it's own. Families can feel good about the care that's available here in Winters. We have an excellent hospital staffed with caring professionals and excellent physicians with well qualified office staffs and oh, by the way, many have said they appreciate us too. We're grateful for their kind words and prayer support.

To those of you that have remained faithful to visit and add joy to our home, a special thanks for you have honored God. To Richard Watkins, your organ music is enjoyed week after week and we're proud of each new song you bring! To the Lannings and the women of Southside Baptist Church, your birthday party was a smash hit! We'll have pictures to prove it next week in this column. Stay tuned! John Haley and Jo Miller get all our blood moving and toes tapping each time they play for us. What a joy they bring. To Flowers Etc., nothing perks up our dining room like your gift of fresh flowers unless its beautiful hanging baskets. Wonder where we could obtain some?

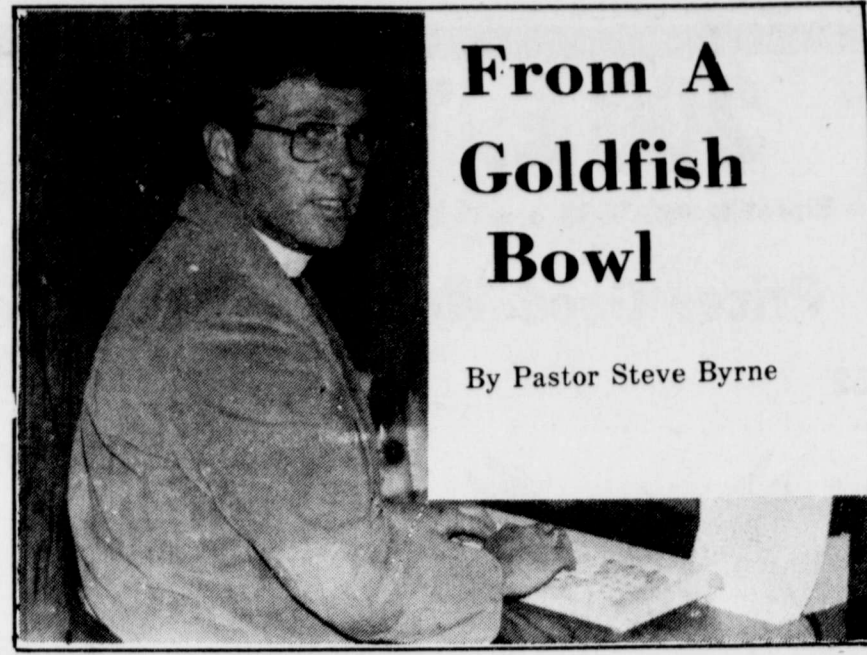

Several birthdays are coming up in March and we're expecting St. Patrick to help us celebrate on his day. The shamrocks should be bright as the smiles for the party on March 17th. Nadine Smith's Sunday School class will bring good fellowship and fun to Mable Thomason (3-1), Inez Mills (3-2), Alyce Compton (3-9), Myrtle Smith (3-23), Blanche King (3-29) and Willie Lois Nichols (3-30). Cards anyone! Mail means so much. Stop now and write them a note of love. We'll help them read it. Promise!

Our hearts join with the family of Erma Linton at her passing. Though she was quiet as a mouse, the sparkle of her eye and steadfastness of her presence is missed by all of us. J. O. Smith continues to recover in Hendricks hospital as does Mrs. Nichols. We expect her back for the birthday party! Hope you can come see us. It's among your greatest gifts you know. What you ask? The gift of time you give to your friends that have lived long full lives. They need you now as much as ever, maybe more. Consider writing a letter for them, brushing their hair or sitting with them in the garden. Not all of life's problems are easily understood but if we can help you help your loved one we'd consider it a privilege, at your home or ours. We're available. Come see us!

From A Goldfish Bowl

By Pastor Steve Byrne

Bill and Malia Hooten were in town last week. Bill was the Church of Christ minister here until he was called to serve in Farmington, Arkansas. He was here for the ACU lectureships in Abilene. Bill and I were good friends for three years that we were both serving in Winters. It was good to see them both.

Our families enjoyed being around each other. Or at least it seemed that way to me. We were always talking about getting together. A couple of times we did. But mostly we didn't.

"Let's get our families together sometime and barbecue," can mean anything from, "I am tired of this conversation and am ready to go but can't think of a graceful way to say goodbye and don't hold your breath until I get back with you" to being a very sincere wish to do just that. With Bill and Malia it was the latter.

When I saw Bill and we talked briefly over coffee. When I stopped and greeted them both later that day in front of the Church of Christ building, I had a mixture of feelings. I was glad to see them. But then the thought of all the lost opportunities and time we had missed was a loss.

I suppose we all do that. We take each other for granted. Assume that they will always be around (or we will). And that there will be plenty of opportunity to spend time and get to know them when things aren't so busy. We put it off. And then they moved to a suburb of Fayetteville. Or they die. Or maybe we do.

About a week before his death, Jesus was staying in Bethany with his best friend, Lazarus, and Lazarus' sisters, Mary and Martha, who all lived together. After Mary and Martha had fixed and served supper, Mary took a whole pint of very expensive perfume and poured the whole thing on Jesus' feet. Then she wiped his feet with her hair.

Judas was shocked at the waste and extravagance. "This stuff could have been sold for a good price and the money donated to the poor." And I suppose he was right. But I have always thought that Jesus' response was a very freeing one for us to take the time to enjoy each other.

"You will always have poor people with you, but you will not always have me."

There are lots of things we could be doing with our time. Good things. Civic improvements. Volunteer work that helps people. And we should do that. But it is important that we take time to know and value each other. While they are with us. While there is time. Before they become Razorbacks again.

I suppose there will always be a list of lost opportunities for all of us. Busy schedules. Too little time. But it is good to know that God gives us the freedom to take time out from our busy-ness to spend time together with a friend. And that time somehow is blessed and made holy.

Refresher medical education courses to be provided

Basic medical education refresher courses which have been lacking for practicing Texas physicians will be the focus of a new contract awarded to the Texas Medical Foundation, an Austin-based medical review organization.

Foundation officials have found through their review program that some physicians need to brush up on basic medical knowledge and skills, topics which may have changed dramatically since the physicians graduated from medical schools. John M. Smith, Jr., MD, TMF President, stated that "We have found that the basic continuing medical education courses, for currently practicing physicians, generally are not applicable to what is needed. This new project is an effort to meet that need."

The refresher courses will be provided by those medical schools in Texas which wish to participate in the project. J. T. Hartman, MD, dean of the School of Medicine at Texas Tech University Health Sciences Center, said, "We have long believed that as a part of our mission, we have the responsibility to offer education support to the physicians in the 108-county west Texas area. In order to assist them in updating their medical knowledge. Our faculty has agreed to assist in developing programs and we look forward to working with

Six Flags Over Texas begins 1988 season

Six Flags Over Texas will begin its 28th season Saturday, March 5.

Last year the Arlington theme park welcomed more than 2.7 million visitors from around the world. Since its opening in 1961, more than 56 million persons have been entertained, making Six Flags for the '88 season. The Silver Star Carousel, a 1925 creation of master carousel builder William Dentzel, has undergone a three year restoration and will be opened to park visitors in mid-March.

Early visitors will also see work underway on a new food court, the largest addition ever to Six Flags food service facilities. It is located in the park's U.S.A. section.

Six Flags will be open on weekends only until May 28, when daily operation for the summer begins. The park will open daily for Spring Break the Texas Medical Foundation."

Timothy Caris, MD, of San Antonio, who currently serves as Professor Emeritus of Medicine at the University of Texas Health Science Center in San Antonio, will serve as medical education specialist. His liaison role will be to advise the educators of the subjects which need to be covered, using information gained from TMF's quality review program. Dr. Caris has stated, "This is an exciting and challenging new opportunity for medical educators and for the medical profession as a whole."

Funding for the project was provided by the Medicare overseer agency, the Health Care Financing Administration. In October 1984 the Health Care Financing Administration awarded TMF a contract to review the necessity and quality of medical care provided to Medicare patients in Texas. TMF has a similar contract with the Texas Department of Human Services to review the care provided to a number of hospitalized Medicaid patients.

The medical schools and residency programs which have committed to the new education program to date are Texas Tech University Health Sciences Center School of Medicine, Lubbock, and University of Texas Health Science Center branches in San Antonio, Houston, and Tyler.

Forfeited land sale raises $1,041,445

The Texas Veterans Land Board announced that 49 tracts of state land were sold in a forfeited land sale with winning bids totaling $1,041,445.06 for a total of 855.66 acres.

The board certified the results of the sale Tuesday with a public reading of the sealed bids. Successful bidders will be notified by mail within one week.

Since the beginning of the Texas Veterans Land Program in 1949, approximately 100,000 Texas Veterans have received long-term, low-interest loans through the program.

Tracts failing to receive bids will be offered for sale to the general public at the next sale. The next sale has been tentatively scheduled for May, 1988.

The highest bid-$62,000-was submitted on a 24.46-acre tract in Rockwall County by Karl C. Holliman of Double Oak, Texas. Six bids were received on a 10.29-acre tract in Blanco County, the largest single number of bids received on a single tract.

"The Texas Veterans Land Program is a self-sustaining program that doesn't cost the taxpayers a single penny," said Texas Land Commissioner Garry Mauro, who also serves as Chairman of the Texas Veterans Land board. "We run the Veterans program like a business. Sometimes that means we have to forfeit a tract of land and try to sell it again."

"It's unfortunate when it becomes necessary to conduct a forfeited land sale," Mauro said. "But a fair and aggressive policy toward delinquencies is necessary if we are to continue to offer generous terms to our Veterans through this excellent program."

For information on the forfeited land sale that has been tentatively scheduled for May, 1988, call toll-free 1-800-252-VETS.

Memo from the Chamber of Commerce

Officially Spring is almost here. I'm sure most of you feel it is already here, since we have been experiencing such beautiful weather. We begin to think about making the outside of our places more attractive. The Chamber wants to encourage everyone to begin thinking and asking yourself, "What can I do to make my business, my home more attractive?" Naturally, the first thing that comes to mind is clean up—get rid of that trash! This we can all do, without costing a dime. A little effort, elbow grease, back strain—but no money. Next, we think of fix and patch up, where needed. Now that might cost a little, but a lot can be done there for a very little. Then we consider painting. It's amazing what a little paint can cover up! And last we might consider putting out a tree or some pretty plants and flowers. Can you imagine what Winters would look like if every building owner or renter downtown and every home owner or renter in the Winters area would take that as a personal responsibility! People would begin to tell us what a pretty clean city we have. If you are elderly and need help, please call this office.

Let's join forces and be a part of this campaign to clean and beautify our town. If we start now—by the last of April we can look at each other and say "Our town is clean and beautiful, we helped make it that way."

Friday, April 1 is the "All Day Party" downtown; Pinatas, hamburgers, fajitas, games and entertainment on the parking lot of Peoples National Bank, 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. Everyone is invited downtown to join in the fun and shop the Easter specials.

Women who are diagnosed with a lump large enough to feel have a 50 percent five year survival rate. A woman who is diagnosed as having breast cancer by mammography, before a lump can be felt, has a 97% five year survival rate and a 90% 10 year survival rate.

A mammogram can detect a cancer this small, even before it can be felt.

The speakers are all known not only for the excellent information they present, but also for their speaking ability.

Ladies, A Program

Just For You

Ladies, Patricia Hohensee, County Extension Agent-Home Economics, has put together a wonderful program for you and we do hope you'll take some time off to attend the Ag Day. While the men are hearing the latest technical information in the afternoon session, the following speakers will present information to you:

—Looking Good-Feeling Great

Image Updates—Sandy Benton, Image Consultant and Trainer, San Angelo, Texas

—Entrepreneurship for Women Strategizing to Make Money At Home—Moderator: Bonnie Piernot, Extension Consumer Economics Specialist, Texas Agricultural Extension Service—Panel members: Bonnie Reed, Martha Broz, Lois Klattenhoff, Sandy Benton and Kay Halfmann

—Buy America-It Matters—Rosemary Bowers, State Chairman for Grown and Made in the USA, Seminole, Texas

—Cotton A Natural Choice—Tricia Touchstone, South Plains Maid of Cotton, Dimmitt, Texas

You are welcome to attend whichever presentations appeal to you.

Something New For Teens

A Teen Self-Esteem Seminar will be an added feature to Ag Day. The Rev. Jerry Kunkel will conduct the afternoon seminar for junior and senior high students. This activity will take place in the Ag Dept. at Ballinger High School. His seminar concentrates on developing confidence and communication skills in young people. Any young folks in this age category are invited to participate.

Computers For Everyone!

Another addition to Ag Day this year will be the computer workshop. Several different types of computers and ag software will be available for producers to try. The computer room will be manned with folks who are good teachers and have a knack for demonstrating the use of computers as an important management tool, plan to spend some time here!

Displaying Their Best

Seed, chemical and equipment dealers will have booths set up displaying their best products. Representatives will be there to answer your questions. Booth visitation will be scheduled throughout the afternoon and prior to the meeting beginning at noon.

In addition to these booths, Clint Edwards from the Textile Research Center in Lubbock will be back with his sock knitting demonstration!

Election Day

The uniform delayed planting date for cotton will be determined at the Ag Day by producer vote. Producers who wish to express an opinion and/or vote should be present from 4:30 p.m. to 5:15.

Leaf litter sampling for the 1987-88 winters is complete and weevil numbers are astronomical. Tom Fuchs will report on these findings and you'll want to hear his presentation before you vote.

If you want to have a say in this year's uniform delayed planting date, Be There And Vote!

Mmmm, Good!

The supper will be catered by Randy McGowan's of San Angelo. The seed, chemical and equipment dealers will be paying for most of the meal so cost will only be $2 per plate. Randy always does a good job, so expect a delicious meal!

Made And Grown In the USA

A Natural Fiber Extravaganza featuring Tricia Touchstone, the 1988 South Plains Maid of Cotton, will begin the evening program. Along with her official wardrobe we can look forward to seeing area farm and ranch wives showing natural fiber garments provided by the Lorch Company and the Simplicity Company. Due to increased consumer demand for cotton in fashions, we've seen dramatic increases in cotton's market share of total apparel categories. Plan to see some of the good looks in cotton that are contributing to this market upswing.

Grand Finale

Do we have a treat in store! Jerry Kunkel, Methodist minister from Amarillo, will be our keynote speaker. His presentation "RELOAD", is geared toward agriculture. He will discuss the tough times that have existed in agriculture recently and some of his ideas for how we can survive. Jerry is an outstanding speaker and is sure to offer us an optimistic outlook to the future of agriculture.

Egg clinic set for March 23

Registration on March 23 is from 8 to 9 a.m.

New futurity class added to State 4-H Horse Show

The 1988 State 4-H Horse Show will have a new futurity class for three-year old stock horses in addition to the halter and western pleasure futurities offered in the past, says Dr. Dough Householder of the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

The state show will be held July 25-29 at the Taylor County Expo Center in Abilene.

The new futurity class and the other futurity classes previously held are all designed to provide challenges and recognition for older experienced 4-H members, Householder said.

"Futurities are not for beginning or especially young horsemen," says Householder, and Extension horse specialist. "The futurities are training projects designed for experienced 4-H horsemen to further develop their training skill."

All horses in the futurity classes must be owned by 4-H members or their parents or guardians. The member exhibiting the futurity horse must have possession and manage and care for the horse by March 15, the nomination date for the futurities.

The futurity horses may be shown before the nomination deadline, but when the horse becomes a futurity project on March 15, it can be shown only by the 4-H member, Householder reminds. The 4-H'ers may receive outside advice about the horse, but all work must be done by the member.

Specifications on each class include:

—Halter Futurity: A three go-round futurity.

—Western Pleasure: A three go-round futurity, requiring that horses be shown with a snaffle bit and riders use two hands.

—Three-year-old Stock Horse: A one go-round futurity; two-handed; snaffle bit; designated pattern contains trail obstacles and basic maneuvers, such as lead changes, spins, rollbacks and speed control in circles.

More nomination information is available from Householder or the local county Extension office.

Read labels for tropical oils

If you think you're avoiding saturated fat by buying food products that are advertised as "made with 100% vegetable shortening," think again. The term "vegetable shortening" on food labels also includes the highly saturated tropical oils, such as palm oil, palm kernel oil and coconut oil, according to Marilyn Haggard, a nutritionist with the Texas A&M University Agricultural Extension Service. "Of the fatty acids in coconut oil, 92% are saturated, 86% of those in palm kernel oil are saturated, and 51% of those in palm oil," Haggard remarks. "By contrast, 41% of the fatty acids in lard are saturated, and only 9% of those in safflower oil."
