Wait a minute...

By Kerry Craig

We have received no pictures of the F-14 "TomCat" jet fighter airplane flown by "Pistol 3" that made the sonic booms a couple of weeks ago. I feel sure we will get them—the Navy said the pictures were in the mail.

Over the past two years we were fortunate enough to enjoy an abundance of rain. All the rain left the pastures covered with thick grass (and broom weeds).

It could be, now, we are paying the price for all the rain.

This year has started very dry, with lots of wind and low humidities. Added to that are the many acres of land being placed into government programs which do not allow for any tillage or grazing.

The only other thing needed is a spark. Then hundreds, and some cases thousands, of acres of grass and brush turn into an instant inferno.

We are all aware of that giant range fire just north of us. It burned over a quarter of a million acres of ranch land.

How many of us are aware of the number of fires in this area, the number of acres of grass that has burned, just in our area and in the counties that join ours.

Our fire department has responded to more fires, grass and brush fires, so far this year than they have in the past 20 years.

As we all are aware, the members of our fire department are all volunteer. Not only do they not get paid for fighting fires, most of the time they have to take time off from their jobs to respond to fires.

These dedicated men do not hesitate to drop what they are doing and run when they are called for help.

These firemen are now needing help. Help to keep their department equipped to better enable them to protect the rest of us from fire.

In the mid-1970's, neighbors in Runnels County, Winters, and even in other counties made it possible for the department to build and equip a rural fire truck.

This truck, the white one, has responded to almost every fire in Winters, in the county, in neighboring counties, or wherever needed since it was built. It has done this for some 12-14 years and it is getting tired.

Several weeks ago, the fire department said that it needed approximately $7,000 to get another fire truck operational.

They have received just over $2,000 in contributions toward this end. Also there have been donations of tires, materials and labor. They still need our help.

By using funds reserved for the purchase of a truck from the Forestry Service, firemen are going to be able to pay for the water tank, the pump, and other things necessary to equip the fire truck.

They will, however, have to replace that money because they are still in line for the Forestry Truck.

It has been quite a while since the firemen have needed, and sought, this much help. They need it now.

That white fire truck, the one built with donations, the one that responds to every call, is still ready to roll. It also goes to the repair shop after nearly every fire call.

After being called to assist several other departments at a major range fire in which several homes were threatened, this work horse had to come back home—with no brakes. It made it, barely.

Our firemen need our help. Donations may be given to any member of the fire department. If you don't see a fireman, you can leave your donation at our office and we will make sure the firemen get it.

Wait a minute...Thanks

Away they go

Fourth grade students at Winters Elementary School launched balloons Monday from the school playground. Each balloon carried a card with a student's name and the school address.

The students are hoping that persons finding the cards will write the students telling them where the cards were found.

In a similar project last year, cards were returned from near the Texas-Oklahoma border, from Colorado and from Florida.

Election recount leaves vote totals unchanged

The results of two separate recounts last Wednesday, the outcomes of two contested races in the Super Tuesday Democratic Primary Election were not changed.

The recounts were requested in the race for the office of Sheriff of Runnels County and for the position of Runnels County Commissioner, Precinct 1.

The recount in the sheriff's election was requested by Odell Denton. Denton asked for the recount after he was knocked out of a runoff election with incumbent Sheriff Bill Baird by about four votes. Baird received just over 50 percent of the total vote in the county-wide election. Denton was second in the election.

The final totals, after the recount left the incumbent sheriff with more votes than the other three candidates combined.

The final totals, after the recount, gave Baird 1,624 votes, Denton 944 votes, D. J. Goetz 595 votes, and W. H. Nord 72 votes. Denton needed to find three votes among those amassed by Baird to make it into the April 12 runoff. Those votes could have been divided among the three candidates not making the runoff in any way.

A recount of the votes for the

Parade of Fashions to be held March 26

An Easter Parade of Fashions will be presented by Southside Baptist Church at the Winters High School Auditorium at 7 p.m., Saturday, March 26. Admission is $2.

Featured are men's, women's, boy's and girl's clothes provided by Heidenheimers and the Fashion Shop.

Judy Lanning and Mary Lou Powers, show coordinators, said, "This promises to be an exciting event. Its timing provides our community the opportunity to see wonderful clothes that may be purchased for wear to an Easter worship service, the concluded, "please plan on attending. You may be surprised by someone you know that is modeling.

Pat Salas appointed new Coleman Trooper

Pat Salas of Borger has been transferred to Coleman as Trooper with the Department of Public Safety. He fills the vacancy created by the departure of Jay Moses.

Salas is a native of Ballinger and attended high school in Precinct 1 Commissioner's office was requested by Tommy New who was seeking a position on the runoff ballot against incumbent Commissioner Robert Virden.

New, who ran third in the primary, lacked 37 votes of getting the runoff position. Skipper

Norton Lions to hold Pancake Supper

The Annual Lions Pancake and Sausage Supper will be held in Norton at the Community Center on Saturday, March 26, 1988. Serving will be from 5 to 7 p.m., with tickets $3 each for all you can eat.

Proceeds will be used for community center maintenance and other Lions projects for the community.

North Runnels Water Supply to hold annual meeting

The North Runnels Water Supply Corporation will hold its annual meeting, Monday, March 28 at 7:30 p.m., in the Winters Community Center.

Included on the agenda is the 1987 audit and financial statement given by Harold Shelburne, CPA. Also, the ballots for the three Directors will be counted and revealed. The Directors terms for Morris Robinson, Rodney Flanagan, and J. S. Belew will expire at this meeting.

Morris Robinson, presently serving as Secretary-Treasurer of the Corporation, will not seek re-election. The Board of Directors, employees and members of the Corporation, would like to express their appreciation to him for his outstanding contribution to the water system. He has been with the Corporation since 1971.

Seeking re-election is Rodney Flanagan. J. S. Belew will not seek re-election. The other candidates for election are Gary Jacob, Gary Bryan, Monte Angel, Phil Colburn and David Workman.

Wheless will face incumbent Robert Virden in the April runoff.

Following the recount, Virden had a total of 284 votes, Skipper Wheless had 199 votes to make the runoff, Tommy New had 163 votes while two other candidates, Gordon Casbeer and Farmer received 79 votes.

Runnels County Democratic Party Chairman Cecil Darby said that all legal steps were taken to insure that unauthorized persons did not enter the recount areas in the district courtroom and the grand jury room in the county courthouse.

Darby said that only 51 percent of the registered voters in Runnels County went to the polls for the primary election, that such a light turnout was unusual for an election with so many highly contested races.

City's financial picture improved from last year

Winters City Administrator Chuck MacIvaine told the Winters City Council Monday that the city's financial position was greatly improved from the same time last year.

In discussing the city's expenditures and revenues, the administrator told the council that comparing this year, to date, with the same period last year, the city's expenditures were down about $25,000 and that revenues were about $10,000 more than last year.

The city administrator cautioned, however, that the city was entering the period of the fiscal year in which the spending will exceed the income.

MacIvaine's report to the council on the city's fiscal condition showed a marked change in the condition of the city budget in the past year.

The Water Department's money figures also indicated improvement over last year with about $23,000 more in income than last year.

The council noted an increase in Water Department expenses of almost $43,000 for this year.

The largest portion of that amount is money applied toward retiring the bonded indebtedness of the city, incurred with the construction of the new water treatment facility.

Also playing a part in the increased expenses in the water department was the purchase of two pickups for the water department.

The city administrator also told the council that his office is working on an updated city map that will accurately show what is really in the City of Winters.

It has been a number of years since the map was updated and the recent annexations were either not shown, or were only drawn in by hand.

MacIvaine said that the City of Abilene was assisting his office in the map work.

Included in the business on the council's Monday agenda was the appointment of election judges for the May 7 City Election. The council appointed Eula Mae Kruse as presiding judge and Buford Baldwin as alternate.

Approval was given to the fire department to use approximately $5,000 in Revenue Sharing Funds for the construction of a badly needed fire truck. That money had been held in reserve for the anticipated purchase of a fire truck from the Texas Forestry Service.

Due to the critical need for an additional fire truck, the funds were approved for expenditure on the construction of a truck by the fire department.

It was stipulated that the funds had to be replaced by the fire department.

The council approved an ordinance that exempts the Z. I. Hale Museum complex which now includes the Rock Hotel from property taxes. This action was taken under provisions of state statutes.

A portion of the extreme west end of Quanah was closed by the ## Fire department efforts net 25% insurance credit

Residents of Winters, Ballinger and most of Runnels County are continuing to receive the maximum of 25 percent credit on their fire insurance, according to Winters insurance agent George Mostad.

Initial fire insurance rates are set by the state using a key rate to determine the initial figure for fire insurance rates. The loss protection record can add as much as 15 percent to the insurance rates you pay, or reduce them by as much as 25 percent.

In setting insurance rates, the biggest factor insurance companies look at is the key rate and the fire record credit to determine the discounts on insurance policies.

The fire departments are saving city and area residents 25 percent on the rates paid for fire protection insurance.

George Mostad, of Bedford-Norman Insurance Agency said, "Due to good overall fire-loss ratios in the county, the fire insurance companies are still agreeable to writing insurance for rural properties as long as they are located in an area accessible by all-weather roads.

Because we have a volunteer fire department that will respond to rural fires. If we didn't have the volunteer fire departments there would be considerable difficulty in getting fire insurance coverage at an affordable rate."

The insurance agent attributed the excellent insurance credit to the fire department's efforts during the past four or five years. In 1979, the fire record credit was 15 percent. It increased to 25 percent in 1980 and has remained at that rate since.

With this thought in mind, it would be good to remember that the Winters Volunteer Fire Department is in need of donations to outfit another rural fire truck to supplement a truck built with donations in the mid 1970's.

Donations may be given to any member of the Winters Volunteer Fire Department or left at The Enterprise office.

Memorials honoring a friend or loved one, benefiting the fire department, may be made at Winters Funeral Home.

Still another major fire

Winters firefighters were kept busy Monday with fires around the area. Firefighters can be barely seen through the smoke at a fire near Talpa while, overhead, an agriculture spray plane from Ballinger dumps water on the fire.

Fire departments from Coleman, Talpa, Novice, Winters, Ballinger, and Concho County were assisted by area residents in battling this fire that threatened several homes in Talpa.

Farmer's Trip Continues

No time is wasted on a Young Farmer's tour. I'm barely into the second day's round of activities and they have already had a party. It included the latest in blue denim styles, a slew of pictures, and a table loaded with all kinds of snacks and goodies.

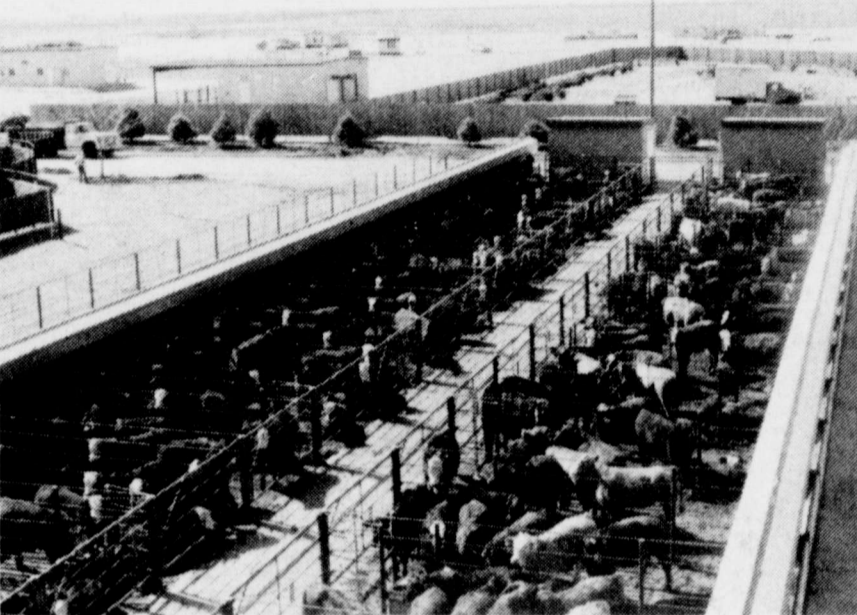

Entrance to Tech feedlot at New Deal—where cattle and hogs are fed scientifically

Linda Duggan takes the prize for a dish of dips surrounded by blue chips. I thought she had made a mistake and used some denim scraps but she said it was blue corn grown in New Mexico. Omega Priddy went wild with her denim; everything from a red-lined vest for husband, Red, to place mats and a jumper decorated with painted kittens for her granddaughter. Jo McMillon made a ladies coat which was modeled very effectively by Dale Duggan. I learned from Jo that it was real-order for a sewing machine to handle it. Another help is to have it steam pressed at the tailor shop—that's where my material is at the present. Some women admitted their denim was still in the package—one thing for sure, Levi Strauss doesn't have a corner on all the denim made in the mill at Littlefield.

Some unusual awards and some unmentionables were presented to surprised recipients at the party. One young man was so attentive to the needs of several ladies that they nicknamed themselves "Three Women and a Baby". This award went to Anthony Lange.

Doug Bryan's graphic description of ranch grass, which he called "cow grass" gave him an undisclosed prize.

My greatest surprise was to receive a corsage—the first time I've ever been rewarded for taking a nap. In presenting it, Susan Conner said, "This person is usually very attentive, and can sometimes be seen taking notes, but she was surprised to see her asleep at one of the lectures." She was anxious to read what was written on that occasion. My discreet questions to other members of the group revealed that they were also asleep. There will be an intermission when we reach that "point in time," as Randall Conner says.

It is the morning of the second day of our tour and we are on our way back to Lubbock from the denim mill, but stop at the Tech agricultural farm on our way.

Besides the main campus, Tech operates a 980 acre farm near New Deal, which includes the teacher-research feedmill and feedlot facility. There is also a 15,000 acre research farm near Amarillo, a research farm near Brownfield, and a teaching-research facility at Junction.

Texas Tech University, one of the four major state universities in Texas, has an enrollment over 23,000, including students from all states and more than 60 countries. The university, founded in 1923, has a campus of 1837 acres in the heart of Lubbock, making it the largest college campus in the U.S.

Tech has seven colleges offering baccalaureate and graduate degrees in over 150 major fields. Tech also has a law school, School of Nursing, School of Medicine, and School of Allied Health located on the same campus, making it the most academically diverse university in Texas. Many research activities are conducted at Tech, including ISASALS (The International Center for Arid and Semi-Arid Land Studies).

Buildings on the campus are of Spanish renaissance architecture, with red tile roofs and buff brick. In the fall the campus is colored with over 400,000 chrysanthemum plants, enhancing the park-like landscape.

Bentsen reports

Senator Lloyd Bentsen, chief Senate negotiator on Congressional trade legislation, said that repeal of the so-called windfall profit tax has created sharp divisions between Senators and House member crafting an agreement on trade legislation.

Bentsen, Chairman of the Senate Finance Committee, said he is determined to repeal the energy tax and predicted it will be one of the last trade bill issues decided.

"It's one of the most controversial items in the legislation and certainly one of the last ones that'll be decided," Bentsen said.

"I think that we'll be butting heads at the end of the negotiations, trying to get that thing repealed," he said.

Bentsen said that the need for repeal is clear and that, while the Senate is on record in favor of repeal, several House negotiators disagree.

"The windfall profit tax is really bad tax policy, and it's bad energy policy," Bentsen said.

"At the present time, you're not collecting any revenue for the Treasury from the windfall profit tax, but it's costing the federal government millions of dollars to do the accounting, and it costs industry over a hundred million dollars to do the reporting. So we have to turn that around," he said.

"The problem is it's been before the negotiators before, and each time the House has been adamant in its opposition. We pass the repeal of the windfall profit tax in the Senate, but each time it's defeated on the House side," he said.

Bentsen said he is determined to reach a different result this year.

"It's going to be tough," Bentsen said.

"And as the chief negotiator for the Senate on the trade bill, we'll be fighting for that, I think, right up to the end," Senator Bentsen said.

Ask Betty Crocker

Q. My rice pudding is always watery. What's the secret? A. B., Warren, Ohio
A. Rice pudding texture depends on cooking rice separately until water is completely absorbed. Only then, add rice to remaining ingredients. Or too high oven temperature during baking may affect the pudding.

The Winters girls competed at the Wall track meet in Saturday, March 20. Wall won the championship. San Angelo Central took second place. Our girls ran some good races and bettered their times, but were unable to place high enough to score much. We did place in the 100 m. hurdles, with Tracey Grantham taking third with a time of 17.46. Our next meet will be in Ballinger Saturday, March 27. I hope our girls will benefit from these tougher meets and strive for their top performances at the district meet in April.

Eggs are "Best Buy" in time for Easter

Eggs are always a bargain protein food, and prices are going even lower just in time for Easter. "We haven't seen the low egg prices that are in the markets now for some time," says Dr. David Mellor, a poultry specialist with the Texas A&M University Agricultural Extension Service. "Eggs are selling at 30-50 cents per dozen in sales and there will probably be many store specials before Easter," he adds.

Do you have a gifted child?

Far too often public school programs have done too little to encourage our academically talented, high-achieving, and/or gifted and talented (bright) students. These students require educational experiences beyond those normally provided by the regular school program. But many parents are unaware of summer programs being offered across the state and nation which are geared to challenge these adolescents.

Programs vary from "camp" setting to college campus, curriculum emphasis from creative to technical to academic, and are generally for grades 4-12. Often students are encouraged to begin taking the ACT or SAT college and entrance exams as early as grade seven. Other programs have additional requirements for participation.

If you have a student which might benefit from these exceptional summer opportunities, contact Susie Johnson, school counselor, at 754-5516 for further details. Program costs vary by the length of program as well as whether they provide residential or day classes.

From A Goldfish Bowl

By Pastor Steve Byrne

Rick Masten is sort of an itinerant poet. He is also a Universalist Unitarian clergyman. He used to come to Odessa every semester to teach a one-week course in "Creative Writing" at Odessa College. When he was in town, Rick used to come to our meeting of various denominational clergy who met for Bible study every Tuesday. I was always in awe of his insights.

One Tuesday, Rick shared with us his idea of writing. I had never heard anything like it before. I haven't forgotten it.

Writing is like building a fence. You have an idea. And you want to corral it. To get a closer, clearer look at it. Before it gets away. The only material you have available to build the fence is "words." So you begin to build the fence with your words.

Building the fence (writing) is an imprecise vehicle for containing the varmit (idea). You don't really define the idea with words once and for all. You simply corral it. Look at it. And let it mean what it will for the person who looks at it. Or for yourself. A writer writes because he or she is seeking an answer to an important issue in life. Not because he or she has found an answer.

Rick told us that if we read a printed word by one who claims to have the answers already worked out, we should be very suspicious. The truth is that good writers attempt to find truth by writing. By building that corral that contains truth.

I think he was right. To be a good writer (or preacher) you have to be sort of phony. You struggle to build the corral and with words you describe what you see. You give the reader/listener the end product of the struggle. It may sound like a definition, and you may even want people to believe that you have finally defined something. But in reality all you have done is described what you saw. Somebody else may see it differently. And probably will.

But then that is the Holy Spirit at work. Making sure that each person sees and hears that corralled idea in a way that is of use to that person. The best we can do is description.

Jesus even refused to give a lot of definitions. He mostly told stories. We call them parables. Little stories that he left up the hearers to filter through their own experience so God could talk to them through the story. They still work.

And they will continue to work as long as preachers and writers leave them alone and refrain from defining them once and for all. A story that has been defined has lost its power. A story that is descriptive has enormous power for healing, transformation. OK! Even salvation.

I've known a lot of story tellers who have enriched my life. Some of them were preachers or writers. Most weren't. They were just ordinary people who had a valuable gift. If you are one of these folks, pass on your stories through the generations. If you know one of these folks, listen to and savor the stories. They are a gift. And a blessing.

Senior Citizens news
Many of you have been wondering if we're still around since we haven't been heard from in a couple of weeks. We're still around and we are doing just great.

We have two new residents who have joined our family and they are, Maxine Rose and Edith Bryan. We welcome them into our home and we hope they enjoy it.

We are sorry to say that R. A. Long passed away this month. We share in the sorrow of his family and friends. Iris Kelton has moved to a nursing home in Abilene and we are going to miss him. We want to wish him luck in his new home. J. O. Smith and Willie Lois Nichols have returned home with us after a stay in the hospital. We hope their recovery is a speedy one.

Our thanks and love go out to everyone who has helped us this month. Richard Watkins plays his organ and he does a good job. John Haley and Jo Miller sing and play their music for us, and we join in and have a blast. Joe Emmert and Elaine Miller lead a sing-a-long when our regular entertainment canceled and I thank them. They are life-savers. Jim Lanning did our Bible study Wednesday and we enjoyed it. Nadine Smith's Sunday School class hosted our St. Patrick's Day and our birthday party combined and we had a lot of fun. We had an unexpected surprise during our party. Melanie O'Mara, who is from Ireland, dropped in and told us all about St. Patrick and where his story originated. She also played the accordion and sang some Irish tunes. We would like to thank Pat Johnson, Linda Morrison, and Edna Smith for helping out with our party.

John Haley will be here Friday night and we are looking forward to it. We always enjoy it.

If anyone would like to come in and do some manicures every month it would really be a help to us and a joy to the residents.

"Couples can manage their money with the least conflict when each partner has an equal influence over decisions and the basic decision are made before marriage," she maintains. Granovsky, who is a home economist with the Texas A&M University Agricultural Extension Service, suggests that couples look at each other's financial situation - income, deductions obligations and taxes. Making a spending and savings plan for the first six months of marriage will also give them a chance to discuss short-term and long-term goals and their lifestyle, she says.

Discuss money before wedding

Discussing money before the wedding is one of the things that could help make your marriage work over the long-haul. According to family economics expert Nancy L. Granovsky, conflict over finances often grows out of differences in attitudes toward money that the partners bring with them into the marriage.

they are familiar with how the income should be reported for Social Security purposes. Social Security credit for all your earnings can make a difference at a time when you most need the income. The amount of the monthly benefits you and your family receive when you retire, or if you become disabled or die before then, is based on your annual earnings reported to Social Security.

Self-employment income earned in 1987 is reported on Federal income tax returns by April 15, 1988.

Generally, you receive credit for self-employment only if the net earnings from self-employment total at least $400 during the year. The net earnings figure is completed by deducting all business expenses connected with the self-employment activity from gross income from that activity.

If you earn $400 in self-employment, you must file a Federal income tax return and pay any Federal taxes due and the Social Security tax. The income is reported on Schedule C (Profit or Loss from Business or Profession) or, where appropriate, Schedule F (Farm Income and Expenses) and Schedule SE (Computation of Social Security Self-Employment Tax).

If you have both wages and self-employment income, you should first figure the amount of wages on which you have paid Social Security taxes and then add your self-employment earnings up to the maximum earnings subject to the Social Security tax. In 1987, the maximum was $43,800. In 1988, it is $45,000.

If you paid Social Security taxes on the maximum wages as an employee, you need not pay Social Security taxes on the additional income earned in Self-Employment.

Crime of the Month

Since November of 1987, the W. J. Morgan residence which is located about one mile South of Wingate, has been entered and burglarized three times. It is believed that there was more than one person involved and there is a possibility that the same persons were responsible for all three burglaries. There was a quantity of electronics equipment such as televisions, walkie talkies, and a citizens band base station taken in the burglaries. A lawn mower and various other household items were also taken. The value of the items taken in this series of burglaries is well over $1,500. If you have any information concerning these burglaries please call Runnels County Crimestoppers at 365-2111 or contact your nearest law enforcement agency. You do not have to give your name. If your information leads to the arrest of any of the persons involved in these burglaries or if you have information that will lead to the recovery of any of the stolen items in these burglaries, you will receive a cash reward of up to $1,000. Runnels County Crimestoppers pays cash for information concerning any kind of criminal activity. Call Runnels County Crimestoppers today at 365-2111 or dial the Operator and ask for Enterprise 67574.

Council

council after approval was given to the sale of the right-of-way to John's International for construction of a warehouse.

A resolution was approved setting the week of April 18 through April 23 as Winters Clean Up Week. More details will be announced later concerning the city-wide clean up activities.

The council appointed Emily Pendergrass as a new member to the Winters Housing Authority Board. She will replace James Cross who recently resigned from the board.

The council set April 4, as the date of a public hearing on the proposed annexation of Fair View Cemetery and Ted Meyer Park (City Park) into the city limits.

Letter to the Editor

Public schools and their control have always been of great importance to most Texans. The public lost control of the State Board of Education when the Legislature did away with the elected Board and appointed members of their choosing to help carry out provisions of House Bill 72. It is assumed that the reasons for replacing the old elected Board were that members were non-progressive, complacent, and unqualified to set policies to comply with House Bill 72.

Given a choice, the voters of Texas voted back into law their right of electing, by districts, their own state board members. We are now in the process of carrying out this important right.

Board members presently being elected to the state board should be individuals of the highest character with time to devote to the task, possess a background of business and educational success, and a true unbiased desire to make education in Texas the best in the nation. I feel that it is imperative that qualified individuals be elected so that never again will the Board be criticized and dropped from office. The task of electing qualified members now falls into the hands of the voters.

The office is about education and the financial needs to fund the program. For too many years Boards of all kinds have been made up of individuals with ambition, and a goal to fill, or some other selfish reason and not really knowing much about the organization over which they control. This is an educational Board, so why not have some career educators at the helm?

Being a retired educator and having been through the entire gamut, I feel that I know a little about what Texas students, teachers, and tax payers need in the area of education. To meet these needs, the best qualified candidate from the 14th District for the State Board of Education is William L. "Bill" Hudson of Wichita Falls.

I have observed Bill Hudson's performance for over 25 years. First of all, Bill Hudson is an excellent and knowledgeable career school man. He has served in every capacity of the public schools of Texas. He has an excellent and sound business background to go with the instructional needs of a truly good school administrator. Bill understands the purpose of House Bill 72. He knows the strengths and weaknesses of House Bill 72. Bill is the man who can help the school districts of Texas return to an era of unity, harmony, and understanding that will lead to a desirable learning situation for all.

Bill Hudson is the man who can and will represent District 14 in bringing in new heights to education in Texas.

Sincerely,
Bill Casselberry
