Wait a minute...

By Kerry Craig

In a small community, such as ours, it seems that we are called on frequently to join together in an effort to maintain some of the things we have.

Most recently, we were faced with the possibility of having our hospital closed. That problem was averted due to the efforts of many of our neighbors who took time to contact political leaders and others who could speak for us.

During that time, in this space, I made reference to the battle a number of years ago to keep our railroad. I told of how we won on that battle front. I compared that with the steps being taken against our hospital.

Then, there was the time, when neighbors worked together to recover from a tornado that swept across the southern part of our town and clear across the county.

These community efforts are not limited to our community. They are, perhaps, more visible and more tangible here.

In the big range fire up north, we saw the same kind of folks with one common goal—to help their neighbors.

Those of us in Winters and the surrounding areas will soon have an opportunity to once again answer the battle cry and respond in our traditional manner.

At stake is OUR railroad—again. The big-time railroad bosses are going to again try to pull up the rails and go back to where they came from.

This should not happen! That one-way railroad track is just as much a part of our community's heritage as is the Rock Hotel and the history of this area.

On June 10, the railroad folks will present a request to the federal regulatory agency for permission to stop rail service to Winters. After that date, we will be given an opportunity to make comments on the proposal.

Sure, there has been a decrease in the amount of use over the past few years. But there are still some potential users of the train that just don't do so. Perhaps they should.

Our community is rich in that, along with agriculture and the oil industry, we have other industry here. Perhaps these factories could find some use for the rail cars.

Personally, I am much opposed to removal of the train tracks. My reason is quite selfish.

I am probably one of the very few folks that have a railroad in their front yard. Over the past five years we have become rather attached to the track and the infrequent trains.

My five year old daughter gets rather upset if she misses seeing "her" train and waving at the guys in the engine.

I think that the railroad folks just don't know what kinds of traumatic effects it would have on my daughter if they took their train and went home.

Seriously, this is something that needs our close attention.

As much as possible, we will make every effort to keep you posted on the issue and what we can do to preserve what we have.

I had a visit, this past week, from the new publisher at the Ledger in Ballinger.

We would like to welcome him to our county. And, just to get off on the right foot, make use of something he found.

The following makes a lot of

Hard at work

Work is moving at a rapid pace on the construction of a major natural gas pipeline, just south of Winters.

Winters Welding Works is constructing the eight-inch line from the Wayne Roberts main line, southwest of Winters to the K-G Gas Plant, just southeast of Winters, a distance of just over six miles.

Welders are joining sections of pipe just ahead of two ditching machines. After the welds are made, the joints are x-rayed for weak spots.

After the six miles of pipe has been welded together, the line will be pressured with air to check for any leaks. Then the pipeline will be eased into the ditch and covered.

Railroad seeking to halt Winters rail service

It has been almost 13 years since Winters locked horns with the railroad. At that time, the needs and desires of Winters took priority over those of the railroad company, which was wanting to stop running trains over the 37 miles of track between Abilene and Winters.

A notice of intent to abandon and discontinue service on the old Abilene & Southern rails has already been filed with the Interstate Commerce Commission by the Missouri Pacific Railroad Company, which is a subsidiary of the Union Pacific Railroad.

The application to abandon and discontinue rail service to Winters is expected to be filed on June 10, 1988.

Following that date, the Interstate Commerce Commission will accept comments regarding

WRA Rodeo Queen Contest slated

The Winters Rodeo Association is seeking contestants for the titles of Miss Rodeo and Junior Miss Rodeo. The queen and junior miss will reign over the 9th Annual Winters Rodeo, June 17 and 18.

To be eligible to compete for the title of Miss Rodeo, a young lady must be entering the ninth, tenth, eleventh or twelfth grade in September of 1988. To compete for the Junior Miss title a young lady must be in junior high or younger in September of 1988.

Contestants will be judged solely on ticket sales. Winners will be determined by the dollar amount rendered at the end of the ticket sales. Miss Rodeo will receive a two hundred dollar scholarship to the university or school of her choice. The winner of both Miss Rodeo and Junior Miss Rodeo will receive gift certificates redeemable at any of the many merchants advertising in the 1988 rodeo program.

Anyone interested in entering the Rodeo Queen Contest may contact Arch Jobe at the Country Cobbler, 754-5650; or Linda Dry at 754-5235.

Wingate School Homecoming slated

The Wingate School Homecoming will be held Sunday, June 5, 1988 at the Wingate School.

A barbecue dinner will be served. Bring dessert if you wish.

Winters' sales tax shows 13% jump

State Comptroller Bob Bullock sent checks totaling $43,909.45 to the cities in Runnels County that levy the local option sales taxes.

Runnels County's check, in the amount of $17,494.05, represents the amount collected for the one half-percent sales tax.

While Winters check showed an increase of 13.84 percent, a portion of that increase is attributed to the additional one half-cent sales tax collected on retail sales in Winters.

Winters check totaled $17,649.42, up over $3,000 from the same period last year.

Ballinger sales tax check was down almost 15 percent from last year. The sales tax rebated to Ballinger totaled $24,258.81. Voters in Ballinger elected to not collect the additional half-cent tax in their local option election on the issue last year.

In Miles, city officials received a check in the amount of $2,001.22 as their collection of one percent of retail sales there.

4-H'ers compete at District

4-H'ers from the 17 counties in Extension District 7 recently competed in District Round-Up competitions. 22-4-H'ers from Runnels County were among those competing at Angelo State University.

The Federal Land Bank Associations from across the district were the sponsor for medals and ribbon awards. Members of the District 7 4-H Council presided over the Awards Assembly. Following are Runnels County results:

Ranking as a first placing Senior team and advancing to State Roundup competition June 7-9 in College Station will be three Senior teams. Mike Howard and Deron Robinson received the district's first place award with their Meat Science illustrated talk. Darla Smith placed first with her Energy demonstration entitled "Sock-et To Me". The Senior Wool & Mohair team also received the district's first place medal and its team members are: H. A. Belk, Neal Niehues, Chris Edmondson, and Bobby Jennings.

Leslie Moeller, of Miles, received the 1st place medal in Jr. Health. Norton's Amanda Harrell also received the top first place ranking with her Jr. Landscape Horticulture illustrated talk.

Several 4-H'ers came home with the second place ribbon in their junior competitions. These were: Patrick Frerich in Companion Animal, Angie Hohensee in Consumer Life Skills, James Moeller in Natural Resources, Brian Bickel & Owen Davenport in Safety and Doug & Dusty Hohensee in Mechanical Skills.

Receiving recognition for third place ranking were Tam-bra & Misty Tucker in Jr. Home Environment.

The Share-the-Fun Team placed as the third place Jr. team. Members were: Bundy Cardwell, Bridget Mansell, Jennifer Bickel, Tracye Binder, Blake Edmondson, Barbara Belk, Jeff Cheshire, and Tammy Strube. Their coach was Judy Cardwell and the title was "History of Dance".

Several Runnels County 4-H'ers also participated in the District Project Show. Those receiving blue ribbons were Justin Strube, Herbert Harrell, Leslie Moeller, Tabitha Halfmann, Amanda Harrell, James Moeller, Ann and Shannon Cowan.

During the awards assembly, special recognition was given to a 4-H'er, Bill J. Helwig, was the recipient of the District 7 4-H Alumni Award for 1988.

Accompanying 4-H'ers to their respective competitions were numerous parents and 4-H leaders. Also attending were Allen Turner, Patricia Hohensee and Todd Swift, Runnels County.

Social Security sets May visit to Winters

Garland Gregg, representative for the San Angelo Social Security Office, has scheduled his May visit to Winters. He will be at the Housing Project Office on Monday, May 23, between 9:30 a.m. and 10:30 a.m.

Anyone who wants to file a claim for benefits, get information, or transact other business with the Social Security Administration may contact him at this time.

Crews

By Hilda Kurtz

A split-second is the time between the light turning green and the car behind you blowing his horn.

A good time was had by all who attended the Crews supper in the Center Saturday night. Nila and Therin Osborne will be the June hosts. Sherry Mikeska and the Mansell family brought visitors. Linda, Dale Duggan and Brenda and Fred Watkins were hosts.

Harvey Mae talked to Amber Fuller at Holiday Hills in Coleman during the week and it was learned Amber had eye surgery Wednesday and her last checkup she was doing nicely. She had cataract surgery on one eye and will have surgery on the other later.

Bessie Baldwin and Clarence Hambricht carried Effie Dietz to see Dr. Anderson in San Angelo Friday where she had a treatment on her knee. Sorry to hear Mrs. Effie fell and received cuts and bruises. Peggy Powers comes out every Saturday and helps out with Effie's chores, like trimming shrub and flowers. Visiting Marie Kurtz during the week were Wanda Sims, Katherine Thomas, Adeline Grissom, Raymond Armbricht, Odella Minzenmeyer, Henreitta Lewis and myself. Mrs. and Mrs. Adolph Minzenmeyer were Sunday dinner guests.

Katherine Thomas, Dallas, spent several days with her mom, Adeline Grissom.

Nila and Therin Osborne honored Brian Faubion with a late birthday supper of hamburgers and all the trimmings. Also a day early honoring Rodney Faubion on his birthday. Stafanie McGallian and I also were guests.

Happy and many more birthdays to the two of you!

Dennis McBeth of Midland spent Tuesday night with his dad, Chester McBeth. The Arnold Toungets of Sweetwater had Chester out for lunch Saturday at their Blackwell Lake home.

Bessie Baldwin carried Mrs. Effie Dietz to see the doctor in Ballinger Monday. Sorry to hear she's not feeling up to par. Raymond Rose, Winters, worked in Effie's yard.

Helen Alexander's sister, Margie, of Colorado Springs, spent a night and day with them. Janie Fanning and Melvina Gerhart came Sunday afternoon. Amantina and Melissa Faubion, Winters, brought out dinner to the Noble Faubions Sunday. Other visitors were Bro. Oscar Fanning, Marvin Gerhart, Walter Pape, Opal Hamilton and Norval Alexander.

Doris and Marion Wood and Bobbie Calcote were in Temple over the weekend tending to business. Visitors on Sunday were Bro. Oscar Fanning, Marvin Gerhart and the Maloy Bryant family.

On Saturday Rebra Grosham (Jenkins) and her sister, Betty

Schmidt, of San Angelo came to see Nila Osborne, had a nice visit.

Hopewell Church WMU met in the fellowship hall Monday at 9:30 a.m.

Bro. Oscar and Janie Fanning enjoyed Sunday lunch with Melvina and Marvin Gerhart.

Tony Bradley and Heath Belk came Saturday and sheared my sheep, so I have some happy sheep. I'm happy and Tony and Heath are happy, being my herd was the last they plan on shearing this season.

Janie Fanning and Bernie Faubion hosted a graduation breakfast in Abilene for Bernie's niece, Brenda Phillips, Saturday a.m. Bernie spent Friday night with Janie. Those attending from her were Pat Bishop, Kathy Phillips, Melvina Gerhart, Torre and Angela, some friends.

Selma and Hazel Dietz spent a week with their son, Louis and family, in Wichita, Kansas.

Margie and Walter Jacob were in Abilene several times this past week to see grandson, Brad VanZandt, who had treatment on an injured leg, he is recuperating nicely at home.

Congratulations to Hazel Mae Bragg, she has her first great-granddaughter named Brooke. Brooke's parents are the Rodger Turners of Midland.

Pat and Earl Cooper were in Abilene Sunday afternoon and saw granddaughter, Amanda, perform on stage singing and dancing, couldn't remember the occasion.

Visiting Louise and L. C. Fuller is her mother, Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Anthony, of Wilcox, Arizona. They plan on visiting other relatives and friends during their three week stay.

Vote for your Silver Haired Delegate

Election day for the second Texas Silver Haired Legislature is Tuesday, May 24. Individuals may vote in their Senior Citizens Centers throughout the area. Voting is open to all persons who are 60 years or older, a registered voter, and who reside in the district in which they are voting. Contact your local Senior Citizen Center for the specific times when voting will be conducted.

Delegates to the Silver Haired Legislature will be elected through the 28 Area Agencies on Aging in Texas. The West Central Texas Council of Governments Area Agency on Aging covers a nineteen county region. This region will be sending four delegates to the Silver Haired Legislature when it convenes in September. There will be one legislator from each of three regions and one candidate elected "at-large."

The Silver Haired Legislature was authorized by the 69th Texas Legislature. The Silver Haired Legislature is an elected, nonpartisan body of citizens 60 years of age or older elected by people 60 years of age or older. When they convene in September they will discuss and debate issues concerning senior citizens. Resolutions will be developed and prioritized with hopes that the Texas Legislature will consider them when it convenes next January.

Letter to the Editor

I want to get a few things off of my chest.

First I can understand Lulac, I never could understand a man being constable and owning a wrecker service and also working and repairing the City Police cars. If you have a wreck, car stalled, etc., your car is going to Reyes Garage because he is sitting at the Police Station or riding in one of the cars. The Police Chief said he is the only garage in town, well he could resign as constable. If I own the bank and farm at the same time and it is not legal for me to do this, then I should quit one or the other.

Speaking of the Police Chief, why do the taxpayers have to furnish a hot rod Mustang for the chief to haul his girl friend and kids around town in, does he not have a personal car, so we buy his gas for personal pleasure? If you have ever driven by the Police Department it looks like a wrecking yard, dents all over the Police cars where they have hit things, and then he gets a fast pursuit Mustang to drive in Ballinger. Word of Mouth

My dentist/dental hygienist has told me to brush regularly to remove plaque from my teeth. But what is plaque?

Plaque is a nearly invisible, bacteria-laden film that collects on teeth. It is composed of food particles, saliva and bacteria. When you eat, the bacteria in plaque use the sugars in your food to live and multiply. Consequently, acids and other irritants are produced that attack tooth enamel and damage gums.

Your dental professional tells you to remove plaque because it is the primary cause of tooth decay and gum disease. You can help prevent both by controlling plaque.

Regular brushing and flossing are the best personal means for removing plaque. Choose a toothbrush that has soft, end-rounded bristles and a contoured head and thin neck that maximize contact with the teeth. One company recently introduced the Oral-B ULTRA, a toothbrush specifically designed to remove plaque and help prevent gum disease.

What Are the Signs of Diabetes?

If you or your child exhibits any of the following symptoms, a visit to the doctor to take a simple test for diabetes may be a good idea:

- Excessive thirst
- Frequent urination (including frequent bedwetting in children who have been toilet trained)
- Extreme hunger
- Sudden weight loss
- Weakness and fatigue
- Irritability
- Nausea and vomiting
- Blurred vision or any change in sight
- Tingling or numbness in legs, feet or fingers
- Slow healing of cuts (especially on the feet)
- Frequent skin infections or itchy skin

The sooner a diagnosis of diabetes is made, the sooner treatment can begin. Most people have the form of diabetes that can be controlled with diet and exercise. About eight percent need to take insulin. A new kind of insulin, Humulin, was developed by Eli Lilly particularly for diabetics with a long life expectancy because it's not likely to cause an immune reaction.

On the other hand, the sooner you're diagnosed as not having diabetes, the sooner you can enjoy more peace of mind.

Spice Up Leftovers Year Round

Here are four tips on how to spice up leftovers. All you need is a little imagination and the right touch of spices. The good news: you can do it salt-free.

Ready made, salt-free herb and spice blends are a tasty way to enhance leftover food year round.

- The best way to make leftovers more interesting is to explore the world of flavorings—citrus juices, peels, aromatics, herbs and spices.
- One simple and tasty way to season food in cooking and at the table is with a pre-blended mixture of herbs and spices found at supermarkets. For example, salt-free Mrs. Dash is a savory blend of 14 herbs and spices that enhance the flavor of foods.
- Sprinkle the seasoning on leftover meats and vegetables, cover with water and simmer at low heat for a delicious, salt-free soup.

Herbs and spices may not only make your leftovers more interesting year round—they may also help you shake the salt habit.

Railroad Commission of Texas Oil and Gas Division

District 7C Case No. 104,450
Date of Issuance: May 6, 1988
Notice of Application
NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN THAT THE Applicant, Satanta Oil Company, P O Box 4335, Midland, Texas 79704, has made application for a spacing exception permit under the provisions of 16 Texas Administrative Code "3.37 (Railroad Commission Statewide Rule 37). Applicant seeks exception to the lease line distance requirement to re-enter Well No. 1, Rogers/Jones Lease, 300 Acres, E. Mathers #535 Survey, Nora (Gardner) Field, Runnels County, being 5 miles in a southeast direction from Winters, Texas.
The Location of this well is as follows:
330' from west line and 330' from south line of lease.
6200' from south line and 4100' from northeast line of survey.
Field Rules for the Nora (Gardner) Field are 467/1200, 40 Acres.
This well is to be completed at an approximate depth of 4200 feet.

PURSUANT TO THE TERMS OF Railroad Commission Statewide Rule 37(h)(2)(A), this permit may be granted administratively if no protest to the application is received. An offset mineral interest owner and lessee is entitled to request a hearing on this application. They must be prepared to appear at the hearing either in person or by qualified representative and protest this application through cross-examination or presentation of direct case subject to all applicable rules of evidence. If a hearing is called, the burden of proof of the need for an exception is placed on the applicant. A protestant should be prepared, however, to establish your standing to protest as an affected person, if challenging. If you have questions regarding why the applicant is seeking this exception, contact the Applicant's representative, C. W. Harman, at (915) 682-8442. If you have any questions regarding standing or other matters, please contact the Commission at (512) 463-6718.
RULE 37 CASE NUMBER 104,450

IF YOU WISH TO REQUEST A HEARING ON THIS APPLICATION, YOU MUST FILL OUT, SIGN AND MAIL OR DELIVER TO THE AUSTIN OFFICE OF THE RAILROAD COMMISSION OF TEXAS NOTICE OF INTENT TO APPEAR IN PROTEST. A COPY OF THE INTENT TO APPEAR IN PROTEST MUST ALSO BE MAILED OR DELIVERED ON THE SAME DATE TO APPLICANT AT THE ADDRESS SHOWN ABOVE. THIS INTENT TO APPEAR IN PROTEST MUST BE RECEIVED IN THE RAILROAD COMMISSION'S OFFICE BY JUNE 10, 1988. IF NO PROTEST IS RECEIVED BY SAID DATE, THE REQUESTED PERMIT WILL BE GRANTED ADMINISTRATIVELY, TO BE EFFECTIVE THE FOLLOWING DAY.

CULTURE CORNER

THE MAGIC OF CARNEGIE HALL
Striking the right note with music lovers across America is a new, nationally-broadcast, weekly radio series from historic Carnegie Hall—"AT&T Presents Carnegie Hall Tonight."
The broadcasts feature some of the finest concerts presented at Carnegie Hall during the past year by soloists, chamber groups, orchestras—even folk and pop artists, reflecting the diversity of musical performances at Carnegie Hall each season.
Since first opening its doors on May 5, 1891, the name Carnegie Hall has become synonymous with the best in musical performance. Now, broadcast on some 175 commercial and National Public Radio stations, "AT&T Presents Carnegie Hall Tonight" enables most Americans from Portland, Maine, to San Diego, California, to bring Carnegie Hall into their own living rooms every week.
What makes these broadcasts especially distinctive are the informal discussions program host John Rubinstein has with the evening's guest artist. In a recent rare interview with Leonard Bernstein, the flamboyant American conductor reminisces about the first time he conducted at Carnegie Hall.

New weekly radio series enables audiences across the nation to experience the magic of Carnegie Hall.

In another, the Dutch soprano Ely Ameling admits she hates to hear herself sing. Clarinetist Richard Stoltzman tells Rubinstein about the piece composed for him in a dream. And baritone Sherrill Milnes confesses that he feels less vulnerable singing opera than recitals because in opera he can hide behind his character.
The premiere of "AT&T Presents Carnegie Hall Tonight" on April 2, 1984, marked the first nationally-broadcast series from Carnegie Hall in over twenty years. As Carnegie approaches its centennial year, these unique broadcasts are sure to add an exciting chapter to its already illustrious history.

May is National Sight-Saving Month "Help Save The Sights Of America"

Seven Texans go blind daily. Yet, nearly half of all blindness can be prevented. During the month of May, established by the National Society to Prevent Blindness as Sight-Saving Month, all persons who value their sight benefit from the message that sight can be saved by following proper eye care and safety guidelines for a lifetime.

In Texas, Prevent Blindness offices are located in ten branch cities: Amarillo, Austin, Dallas, El Paso, Fort Worth, Galveston, Houston, Midland, San Antonio, and Tyler. Each city will have activities sponsored by Prevent Blindness in celebration of Sight-Saving Month including: Free Glaucoma Screenings, Vision Screenings, poster contests in school districts, health fair participation, corporate health promotions, and senior citizen eye care projects.

Statewide, Prevent Blindness sponsors the "Most Beautiful Eyes in Texas" contest, designating winners in local areas who will go to the state's final contest in San Antonio in June.

All the activities sponsored during Sight-Saving Month are designed to inform the public about ways to preserve sight. At the more direct level, the Society's programs strive for early detection of vision problems through community screenings. The Society promotes regular eye exams, early diagnosis and treatment of eye disorders, and use of protective eyewear in situations hazardous to the eye, all to prevent needless blindness for 2000 Texans who are estimated to go blind in the coming year.

Here are some of the major eye disorders and preventive measures the society promotes:

— Glaucoma, a leading cause of blindness, can generally be controlled with medications. Regular eye exams and early detection are crucial to guard against this often symptomless disease. Any vision lost to Glaucoma cannot be restored.

— Diabetic Retinopathy, a leading cause of new blindness in adults under age 75, can often be treated by laser if detected in early stages. Every diabetic is at risk for this condition and should schedule regular eye exams with an eye care specialist, whether or not symptoms have appeared.

— Cataracts, another common cause of blindness, can be treated by surgical techniques that allow the patient to recover in just a few days. Once the cataract-clouded lens of the eye is removed, there are several options for restoring good vision including artificial lens implants.

— Age-Related Macular Degeneration, is the leading cause of blindness for persons age 75 and over and is the most common cause of new cases of blindness among those age 65 and older. This eye disease must be detected at an early stage for treatment to be successful.

— Eye Injuries at home, in recreation and on the job, can be prevented nine times out of 10 by wearing proper eye protection and taking other sensible precautions. Nearly 1 million Americans—100,000 Texans—are blind due to eye injury, with 4000 blinding eye injuries estimated to occur annually in Texas alone. Effective protective eyewear has long been available for industrial workers, and now is available for home use for the public, and for sports enthusiasts.

For more information about major causes of vision loss, and activities conducted during May and year-round to prevent blindness, contact the State office of Prevent Blindness (713) 526-2559.

Haskell Fly-In and Breakfast set

The Haskell Chamber of Commerce, in connection with the City of Haskell, is sponsoring the first Haskell Fly-In and Pilot's Breakfast. The event will be held on Saturday, May 28, 1988, at the Haskell Municipal Airport.

According to Buddy Lane, project coordinator, this fly-in is being held in connection with the world famous Breckenridge AirShow, now in its eleventh year. "It's a common practice to have a pilot's breakfast at a site near major airshows like this one," said Lane. "Nobody was sponsoring one for the Breckenridge show, so we decided to invite everybody to come over here. It's a great opportunity for us to showcase our community and the fine airport facilities we have." The Breckenridge AirShow, held every year during the Memorial Day weekend, is scheduled for Sunday, May 29.

Lane said that owners of World War II aircraft, such as those featured by the Confederate Air Force at the Breckenridge show, are being invited to bring their "warbirds" to Haskell for the fly-in. Other aircraft owners from all over Texas are also invited to fly here for the activities, set to begin at 7:30. A complimentary pancake breakfast will be served until 11:00. For those who wish to drive to the airport to view the aircraft, a $2.00 admission fee will be charged per person. This fee includes breakfast.

As an incentive to area pilots to attend, aviation gasoline will be sold during the fly-in at $1.00 per gallon. City manager Bob Baker stressed that this price is for visiting aircraft only, and only from 7:30 to 11:00 that morning.

Several events are scheduled during the morning, including fly-bys by the warbirds, awards for the best warbird, oldest pilot, and longest flight, and remarks by Haskell mayor Greg Melton and State Representative Rick Perry. Other activities are also planned, and the public is cordially invited to attend.

For further information contact the Haskell Chamber of Commerce 112 1/2 N. Ave E Haskell, Texas 79521 or Phone: 817/864-2477.

Join The Engineer/Technician Team!

The classroom is the playing field for a fine group of academic "athletes" training to be tomorrow's engineers and technicians.

TEAMS, or Tests of Engineering Aptitude, Math and Science, is the academic competition in which teams of high school students challenge each other in subjects ranging from chemistry to computers, engineering to English. It's sponsored by JETS (Junior Engineering Technical Society). Winners go on to compete in state and national championships. Many students win another prize—increased SAT/ACT scores that improve their chances of scholastic and career success. For a free brochure on the competition, write: JETS, 1420 King Street, S-405, Alexandria, VA 22314-2715.

Sonatina ribbons and Guild certificates for participation in these events through the year. The public is most welcome to attend either or both recitals.

Officers installed for Woman's Club

Members of the Winters Woman's Club met in the home of Mr. and Mrs. O. D. Reed. Bonnie Lee served as hostess, assisted by Mary Slimp, Carolyn Slaughter, and Bernie Faubion. Sandy Griffin, president, called the meeting to order.

New officers for the coming year were installed by Virginia Schwartz, a teacher at Winters High School. Virginia and her husband, Raymond, live and farm two miles north of Winters. She teaches general business and typing to Winters High School students.

Using the Olympics motto, "Swifter, Higher, and Stronger," Mrs. Schwartz said this organization has proved itself to be interested in, supportive of, and helpful to the community of Winters.

Officers installed were: president-Billie Alderman; vice-president-Kay Colburn; recording secretary-Ouida Nichols; corresponding secretary-Janie Humble; treasurer-Dorothy Laughon; and historians-Marthiel Russell and Hortel Joyce.

Minutes of the previous meeting were ready by Virginia Brown, recording secretary.

Treasurer, Dorotha Laughon, reported the club has contributed $5,624.28 the past two years to local and area projects and organizations. They were Boy Scouts of America-$541.02, Winters Food Pantry-$375; Department of Human Resources-$245; Abilene Rehab-$200; Livestock Association shares-$200; Abilene Boys Ranch-$100; Tennis Courts at City Park-$2,035; and Z. I. Hale Museum-$728.26.

The Winters Fire Department will receive a contribution of $500 toward the purchase of a new fire truck, also the local library is to receive an additional $300 to help pay for new books.

Members present were: Bonnie Lee, Mary Slimp, Carolyn Slaughter, Marthiel Russell, Lillian Roberson, Hortel McCaughan, Dickie Lloyd, Dorotha Laughon, Hortel Joyce, Lois Jones, Janie Humble, Tooter Harrison, Nina Hale, Sandy Griffin, Melvina Gerhart, Margaret Favor, Vivian Foster, Edna England, Kay Colburn, Virginia Brown, Theresa Briley, Nina Bedford, Dorothy Bedford, Billie Alderman and Dolly Airhart.

Friendly Helpers Club held meeting

Wilmeth Friendly Helpers Club met with Joyce Broadstreet May 11.

Eight members were present: Rosalie Simpson, LaVoy McNeill, B. B. McNeill, Eva Wright, Oma Lee Overman, Thelma Tubbs, Genevieve Denison and Joyce Broadstreet. A visitor, Sylvia Wilson of Winters was present.

Sylvia offered to donate material for us to make lap quilts for the Winters Nursing Home, which we accepted graciously.

Plans were to have an all day outing our next club day May 25 and go to Abilene shopping and eat out. Thanks to Joyce for making the report for the paper.

Lessie Robinson was unable to attend club, as she went to Coleman to see her sister who is ill.

Rosalie Albro went to Lubbock and then to Amarillo to the graduation of her granddaughter, Melissa Albro, as an Animal Health Technologist from Amarillo college on Friday, May 13. Lucky 13—Melissa!

We're glad to have Thelma Tubbs back after several weeks of sickness.

Card of Thanks

We acknowledge with grateful hearts the concern and many acts of kindness extended to our family during the long illness and at the death of our beloved, Martha.

We sincerely thank our friends and neighbors for the many memorials, floral offerings, cards, letters and the food. Your expressions of sympathy are deeply appreciated. May God bless you.

Hard to swallow: A sea lion's diet gives new meaning to the term roughage. The creatures regularly gobble up rocks from the ocean floor. The stomach of one sea lion reportedly contained more than 100 stones...some as big as golf balls. According to International Wildlife magazine, the big sea creatures go without eating for several months during the breeding season.

RN/New graduate nurses: taking advantage of their nursing career

St. John's Hospital and Health Center offers all nurses a program in which they will have the opportunity to gain significant experience and skill development. This program, established in 1982, may assist the nurse in bridging the gap between education and practice or refresh prior knowledge and skills. The eight week course will run from Monday, June 6, through Friday, July 29 at St. John's Hospital

Education Department. Some of the subjects discussed will be Management Role and the New Nurse, Leadership Motivation, Making the Most of Expertise, and Legal/Ethical Issues.

The instructors for the course will be coordinated through St. John's Education Department.

For more information, please contact St. John's Hospital and Health Center Education Department at 655-3181, extension 5104.

Month-long commemoration honors Seniors' role in society

President Ronald Reagan has designated the month of May as a time for celebrating and reflecting upon the contributions the elderly have made to society.

The President's annual proclamation of Older Americans Month usually inspires concurrent celebrations sponsored by state and local governments. Governor William P. Clements, Jr., last year proclaimed May Older Texans Month, and is scheduled to do likewise this year.

This year's theme for statewide celebration of Older Americans Month will be "Aging Services in Texas: Because Love Should Last a Lifetime."

The Texas Department of Aging, Texas' designated sponsor of Older Americans Month, chose this theme to increase public awareness of programs and services for the aging.

Some of the activities already planned around the state include sports tournaments, health fairs, dances, senior center tours and special senior-oriented activities in parades and county fairs.

Senior program sponsors will

Time limits on appeals

A person who wishes to appeal a decision on a Social Security or Supplemental Security Income (SSI) claim should make certain that the request is submitted within the specified time limits. Franklin H. Upp, Social Security manager in San Angelo, said recently.

If a request for a review is not submitted before the end of the time limit, the person may lose his or her right to that review and may not be eligible for the next step in the review process.

When the last day of a time limit falls on a Saturday, Sunday, or national holiday, the time limit is extended to the next workday.

A person may not want to take advantage of all the review steps, Upp said. But, anyone who wants to do so must follow them in order.

Additional information about the appeals process for either Social Security or SSI can be obtained from the San Angelo Social Security office located at 2214 Sherwood Way. The telephone number is 949-4608.

"A celebration like Older Americans Month is a way to thank our living parents, grandparents and great-grandparents—and to honor the memories of those who are no longer with us."

For more information about programs for the elderly in Texas, or about Older Americans Month, call the Texas Department of Aging toll-free at 1-800-252-9240.

From A Goldfish Bowl

By Pastor Steve Byrne

The other evening I was called out to make an important call just north of town. I put on a jacket (not a dressy one), stuck my pipe in my jacket pocket, jumped on my little red motor scooter and took off.

In the course of the visit, my pipe stayed in my pocket (I thought). When I got home I reached for it to light it up and it wasn't there. It was late. But I went out that night and retraced my route, looking for my lost pipe.

You see, I am sort of a pipe collector. I have dozens of pipes that I have collected over the years. Some taste better than others, but each one is special. Each one has its own individuality. Its own specialness.

This particular pipe I remembered well. I bought it in the fall of my first year at seminary from a little pipe shop in St. Paul, Minnesota. It had been crafted by a pipe-maker in Minneapolis named Wally Larsen. An interesting sort of person who brought over 2 train-car-loads of rough briar after World War II which he purchased around the Mediterranean. His purpose was to carve pipes for a living. He called his pipe, the "Senlar", which is the word that comes out when you invert the syllables of his last name. I had met him once.

But it was special for another reason. I had been living in Minnesota since June. A long time for a Texan to be off of Texas soil. I was homesick for Texas. That October weekend, one of the national TV networks was going to televise the Texas-Oklahoma football game from Dallas. At least I would be able to see Texas, if only from my living room. I bought the pipe and lit it up for the first time at kickoff.

It doesn't smoke all that well. But it brings back memories. As I recall Oklahoma won in a route. That is why I went back to try to find it that night, knowing that it had fallen out of my jacket pocket in transit. I didn't find it.

The next morning I had to go to Abilene. As I was driving north, just outside of town, I saw something lying on the shoulder of the highway that looked familiar. I stopped. And there it was. My Senlar.

The stem was broken off. But those can be replaced. The briar was not cracked, although its appearance was marred by pits where it had hit the pavement and rolled. Perhaps a car had rolled over it. I have sanded and polished and the briar once again looked presentable. Still scarred. But now there is another enduring story to this pipe. Another reason it is special. Another memory.

I like to think that God is like a pipe collector. Only he collects his children. Us. Each one with a special story. A unique history. Each of us conjuring up pleasurable memories in the mind of God when he sees us. And even when we get to be like an old pipe that has lost some of its good flavor and is considered to be of no value to any one else, the Collector just grows fonder and fonder. And, believe it or not, just prizes it all the more.

So much so that when we get lost and take some hard bumps and even get run over a couple of times. He sets out to find us. Picks up, repairs the damage as much as He can. He gets us ready to go back into the rotation for which we were meant. He sees the scars that life has left on us. But to The Collector's loving eyes, our value has not depreciated, but, in fact, appreciated.

That is the picture that Jesus painted of God. I believe God is like that. When I really get to thinking about it, it would be difficult to make it through life without knowing this God of love and grace.

Paints For Homeowners

New Brochure Helps Pick Authentic Colors

Do your walls boast a rosy outlook—or do they have the blues? Picking the proper paint colors for authentic home restoring, renovating or redecorating can be easy with the help of a colorful new brochure.

The new eight-page brochure shows documented uses of 72 authentic colors over a 200-year period of American history. The Authentic Colors of Historic Charleston palette is the result of three years of extensive research by Dutch Boy Paints in Charleston, South Carolina. The city of Charleston was chosen for the research and color palette name because of its perseverance through some of the most difficult episodes in American history—tropical storms, earthquakes, Civil War shelling. After each catastrophe, Charleston shored up and rebuilt. Today, it's one of the few cities in the U.S. where five most popular architectural styles come together in such close proximity.

The handy new brochure details which of the restoration colors in the palette are appropriate for certain types of use. For example, by using the brochure as a guide, homeowners will know Classical Deep Mauve is most appropriate for interior woodwork of Classical Revival architecture, while Walled Garden Brick is appropriate for several interior and exterior uses in Georgian/Colonial, Federal and Classical Revival styles.

Proceeds from the sale of the brochure are donated to the Historic Charleston Foundation to further restoration projects in Charleston. For a copy, send $3.00 to: Dutch Boy, P.O. Box 15178, Cleveland, Ohio 44115.

When you're hot, you're hot

Texas summers lend a new definition to the term "hot," and this summer will probably be no exception. Although summer does not officially begin until Monday, June 20 (10:57 p.m. CTD, to be precise), experienced Texans know that it really begins as early as March and can stick around until well into October.

Summer heat increases the number of people taking part in outdoor activities, and this leads to a rise in heat-related deaths and injuries. Few people realize it, but nationally there are more deaths each year from heat than from floods, hurricanes, lightning, and tornadoes combined.

Texas Safety Association, in cooperation with the National Oceanic and Atmospheric Administration (NOAA) and the National Weather Service, offers this rule-of-thumb: When the temperature goes up, slow down! Remember a few safety rules will let you enjoy your Texas summer activities without risking your health.

* Take it slow! Heed your body's early warnings and reduce your activities. Stay in cool, shaded areas as much as possible.
* Drink plenty of non-alcoholic liquids. A glucose replacement is excellent if you are outside for more than an hour or two, but plain water is a good substitute.
* Wear lightweight, light-colored, and loose-fitting clothing appropriate to hot weather to help maintain normal body temperature. Your head is a prime target for the sun's rays, so wear a hat and sunglasses too.

* Heatstroke tends to develop quickly and with little warning, with victims becoming ill in less than 24 hours. Go slow the first few days to let your body become accustomed to the heat.
* For a few hours each day, get out of the heat as much as possible. Air-conditioned areas or those equipped with ceiling fans are best, but any well-ventilated, shady area will do.
* Sunburn cuts down the body's ability to dissipate heat, and prolonged exposure may cause long-term health problems. Use of a good suncreening agent is recommended.

* "It's not the heat, it's the humidity" is not just an old saying. Perspiration is your body's natural way of cooling off, and works best when the humidity is low. Air movement helps to evaporate perspiration and cools your skin. Under high humidity, the cooling process is lost, leading to higher danger of heat-related illness or death.

* Never leave children or pets in your car! Even with the windows down, the temperature inside can quickly rise to lethal levels. Legislation passed during the 1984 Special Legislative Session made it a criminal offense to leave "a child under age seven unattended by a person less than 14 years old in an automobile for over five minutes. The offense is a class C misdemeanor, punishable by a fine of up to $200."

* And speaking of pets: remember that they are subject to the same heat-related dangers as we humans. Make sure they have a cool, shady place to rest, and provide them with plenty of fresh water.

American Heart Association honors memory of loved ones

This Memorial Day, honor the memory of a loved one through a gift of life with an American Heart Association Memorial. A memorial gift helps combat Texas' number one killer—heart disease.

Memorial Day is an excellent time to remember a loved one with a gift of life to the American Heart Association," said Michael H. Crawford, M.D. Dr. Crawford is Co-Director of the Division of Cardiology at the University of Texas Health Science Center at San Antonio and President of the American Heart Association in Texas.

When a memorial contribution is made to the American Heart Association, an appropriate card from the donor to the recipient is sent by AHA. The recipient also receives a thank you card to mail to the donor acknowledging the donor's thoughtfulness.

The amount of the contribution is not disclosed to the recipient and the contribution can be from one individual or from many, such as a family or a group of employees.

"A memorial contribution is a meaningful way to tell the family of the deceased that the life that has just passed will continue to live on through the work of the Association," Crawford said. "Through memorials the AHA receives valuable support that is needed for our lifesaving efforts through research, professional and public education, and community programs.

During the July 1, 1986 through June 30, 1987, AHA fiscal year, $1,046,141 was given through the Memorial program in Texas to fight against our number one killer—heart disease. In 1986, over 50,000 people in Texas died of heart disease. The AHA's mission is to prevent premature death and disability from cardiovascular disease, including heart attack and stroke.

For more information or to make a memorial contribution using your Mastercard or VISA, call your local American Heart Association, listed in the White Pages of your telephone book.

TEAMS test results

TEAMS (Texas Educational Assessment of Minimum Skills) testing for 1987-88 is complete. Exit level exams for those juniors and seniors not showing mastery were administered on May 3 and May 4. First grade students took TEAMS for the first time in mid-April. All other students taking TEAMS in grades 3, 5, 7 and 9 were tested in February.

At the regularly scheduled meeting of the local board on May 10, results of those test were reported. The following chart indicates the percent of students showing mastery in each subject area.

Grade	% Mastery in each area
	#	Math	Reading	Writing
Grade 3	73	95	73	79
Grade 5	68	90	90	72
Grade 7	73	92	92	81
Grade 9	67	88	84	88

Mathematics continued to be a strength for all grade levels while improvements continue in reading and writing. Identifying the main idea and using context clues in a reading passage are consistently indicated as weaknesses by a number of students. Scores on the writing composition showed marked improvement at the 3rd and 5th grade level, but objective questions indicate a weakness in some grammatical skills. Winters ISD will continue to target writing skills as a top priority in all program area.

Students who failed to master a subject area of TEAMS will be assigned to a basic skills class for remediation. With more help in areas of weakness, students should show improvement when tested at the next level.

Mayfest volleyball results

The Mayfest volleyball tournament turned out to be a great success. There were many hard fought games on a very hot day! First place in the adult division went to the Townfolk. This team consisted of Marylynn Presley, Rhea Parramore, Penny, Deb Whittenburg, Jackie Tension, David Faltys, Larry Singleton, Frank Davis and Jim Palmer. Second place in the adult division went to the Dry's team. This team consisted of Connie Mac Gibbs, Cynthia Thornhill, Donna Torres, Brenda Clough, Volanda Sanchez, Randall Boles, Bonnie Walker, Rick Dry, Jerry Hood and Gail Minzenmayer.

In the student division first place went to the Thrashers. On the Thrashers were Jack Hood, Chuck Hagle, Chuck Patterson, Jimmy Patton, George Torres, Jim Lee, Wayne Poehls and Mike Gray. Second place went to Pee Wee's Playboys consisting of Chris Bahlan, Bryan Green, James Self, Kelly Spill, Chris Rives, Houston Guy, James Salazar and Tommy Selby. Congratulations to you all!

Beware of 'Harey' productions

Commercial rabbit production is not the profitable bonanza claimed by several promoters now operating in Texas, says a Texas Agricultural Extension Service official.

In fact, current promotional schemes may be furred versions of the old "Pyramid Club," where promoters will make the fast money and latecomers are left with an unprofitable investment, says Dr. Fred Thornberry.

Thornberry, a poultry specialist, points out that he receives reports almost daily telling potential producers about a tremendous need for rabbits and their high profit potential. "This claim is simply not substantiated by past, current or projected domestic and export demands for meat and pelts or laboratory animals," Thornberry emphasizes.

During times of economic distress, many individuals are searching for additional sources of income, notes the specialist. This brings on promoters and their schemes. Over the years many promotional schemes have risen repeatedly, then collapsed around the necks of the producers. These schemes have included rabbits, earthworms, Shetland ponies and chinchillas. In addition to rabbits, current "hot" items on the promotion list include ostrich and llamas.

Thornberry suggests that potential producers be skeptical of claims that seem too good to be true. They usually are.

Dear Betty Crocker

Q. What is the best way to melt chocolate?

C. B. Brillion, WI
A. To microwave place chocolate in a microwave-proof dish and melt two to three ounces of chocolate at 50% (medium) power for 2 to 4 minutes. Stir after half the time.

For range-top melting, use either a heavy saucepan or a double-boiler. Heat chocolate until it's of stirring consistency. Tip Of The Week: The standard size egg used in most recipe books is a large egg.

The seventh and eighth graders at Wingate ISD went on their biennial graduation trip on Friday, May 13. The students traveled to Johnson City, Texas, where they visited the boyhood home of President Lyndon B. Johnson. The students then traveled to Stonewall, Texas for lunch on the Pedernales River and a tour of the LBJ Ranch.

They learned about the life of President Johnson, and saw the one-room school house where President Johnson began his education at age four years. The students toured the birthplace of President Johnson also. Students were treated to a close-up view of the "Texas Whitehouse," Lady Bird Johnson was on hand for the sightseers' enjoyment. The two white Lincoln convertibles President Johnson drove were on display, as was the amphibious "joke" car used for amusement. The students also visited the family cemetery where President Johnson is buried.

After touring the ranch, Wingate students were off to Blanco, Texas for supper and swimming. Hamburgers, French fries, and fish were on the sup-

RRC levies fines

The Railroad Commission assessed $27,000 in administrative penalties Monday, May 2, to eight oil and gas operators for problems under the Commission's well plugging rules.

The largest of the penalties, a total of $6,500, went to W. H. Collier, Jr., doing business as Westside Production Company of Sinton. Three wells on the Smith-Nielson Unit lease and one well on the H. S. Smith lease, both in San Patricio County, have been inactive and unplugged for more than nine years.

Other well plugging penalties included Shah Exploration, Inc. of Dallas, $5,000 for two wells on the F. V. Hinson lease, Young County; Geo-Logic, Inc. of Amarillo, $1,500 for a well on the Williams lease, Sherman County; T&T Production Company of Victoria, $4,000 for a well on the Marion Stanwicz lease, Robertson County; Rainbow Energy, Inc. "A" of Bryan, $6,000 for three wells on the Perry Luetge lease, Milam County; and West East Gas Company of Houston, $3,000 for a well on the Barnard lease, Dimmit County.

Two other operators agreed to penalties without admitting any violation of Commission rules, Rodney Jones and Allen Garrett, doing business as South Texas Field Equipment of Austin, agreed to a $500 penalty for one well on the M-W Unit lease in Wilson County. The Petro Management Corporation of Vancouver, British Columbia, agreed to a $500 penalty for a well on the North Strawn Unit lease in Jones County.

To date in 1988, the Commission has levied more than $298,000 in pollution and well plugging penalties. Last year the Commission assessed some $794,000 in such penalties.

per menu. A six foot whale float was raffled off to students.

The sightseers returned home about 12 a.m. Saturday morning. All had a good time and were ready to go again. Students going on the trip were: 8th Grade: Joanna Reyes, Joe Reyes, Primo Reyes, Juan Tamez, Ralph Vara and Sally Vidales. 7th Grade: Adrain Albarado, Julie Reyes, Vennie Reyes and Estella Vara.

Sponsors for the trip were Mr. and Mrs. Robert Derington and Mr. and Mrs. Ed Farmer.

These students read, reported and received certificates for reading these books: Israel Vidales, 30 books; Juanita Reyes, 30 books; Marcie Pritchard, 40 books; P. J. Tamez, 40 books; Delores Vara, 50 books; Gregory Vidales, 60 books; and Steven Sneed, 150 books.

A properly developed irrigation system can reduce the gamble concerning rainfall, giving you your share of assurance in production results. This is one of the more enterprising businesses in our section of the trade territory. We, in this TOWN AND COUNTRY REVIEW, highly recommend LEAKY PIPE OF ABILENE and suggest you contact them for information before you make any decision about irrigation systems.

Social Security reduces unemployment benefits

Dear Commissioner Nabers: I am 68 years old and was recently laid off from my part time job. I draw Social Security. Would I be eligible to receive anything in unemployment benefits?

Dear L. O.: You need to go down to your local TEC office and talk with a claims representative about your situation. Under the law, Social Security benefits must be deducted dollar for dollar, from your unemployment benefits. It is therefore possible for you Social Security to wipe out any unemployment benefits for which you qualify. The only way to know for sure is to talk to your local TEC representative.

There is one other thing you should know. Only an individual's own Social Security benefits are deductible. If by chance you are only drawing survivor's benefits from a deceased spouse, then those payments will NOT reduce your unemployment benefits.

Dear Commissioner Nabers: I have a sticky situation. We fired an employee for suspected theft of about $2,000. The evidence against the individual was overwhelming, but our company's CEO decided against pressing charges.

Now this guy has filed a claim for unemployment benefits. There is no way he deserves these benefits but I am concerned about putting the real reason for his termination down on the protest. If I tell the TEC about this, can he come back and sue the company for defamation?

P. B. Dear P. B.: Section 11 (j) of the Texas Unemployment Compensation Act states: "No statement whether oral or in writing made

COMMISSIONER
Mary Scott
Nabers

TEXAS BUSINESS TODAY

to the Commission or its employees in connection with the discharge of their duties under this Act shall ever be made the basis for an action for defamation of character."

Your company has a legal right to protest the payment of benefits and to offer information which would enable the Commission to make an informed, appropriate decision on the claim. You should be prepared to present all of the evidence available in as objective and thorough a manner as possible. Your company has the burden of proving work connected misconduct, not criminal guilt.

Ms. Nabers represents 336,000 employers throughout Texas. If you have any questions you want answered, please write Commissioner Nabers at: Texas Business Today, 614 Texas Employment Commission Building, 15th and Congress, Austin, Texas 78778.

Instead of building their own nests, female European cuckoos lay their eggs in other bird's nests. According to Ranger Rick magazine, the female cuckoo usually lays her eggs in the nest of birds with eggs that look like hers. The other birds are often tricked into raising the cuckoo babies just as they would their own.

The ganglion cyst

The most common mass or tumor of the hand is a benign or non-cancerous lesion called a ganglion cyst. The first concern of the patient who presents with one of these tumors is whether or not it is malignant. This is a reasonable concern because the mass presents without an antecedent injury and tends to grow or get larger. They are also intermittently painful.

The most common location for a ganglion is on the back of the wrist joint. Over several months, it may increase to the size of a marble. With activity, the ganglion will hurt and cause pain with range of motion of the wrist. Over several months, this bump or knot may increase in size and then disappear only to reappear later.

Another prime location for the ganglion is at the base of the thumb at the front of the wrist. In this location these lesions tend to be more of a problem because they may involve the radial artery or radial nerve which lie in this area. Occasionally, a ganglion will arise on the foot. Here they usually present in the web space between the toes.

It is yet unknown what causes a ganglion cyst; however, they are thought to be associated with repeated chronic trauma. They are frequently seen in active people who use their hands and wrists a great deal. Ganglions are common in the athletic population.

The ganglion is basically a fluid filled sac that grows from a joint capsule, tendon sheath, or tendon. The fluid is a thick, clear, jelly-like substance. The cyst does not grow into other tissue as would cancerous tissue. Instead it tends to push other structures aside as it grows and enlarges. It may injure local structures such as tendons and connective tissue by pressure atrophy.

In the past, some people would treat the ganglion cyst by applying direct pressure on the cyst. This would cause the cyst to rupture. This is the old fashioned "Bible Treatment" where the patient's wrist is mashed with the family Bible. In my experience, this is not an effective method of treatment. It simply causes a larger problem in that it spreads the fluid and causes a larger area of tissue to be effected. Rarely a cyst will resolve with drainage of the fluid with a syringe and injection of a small amount of corticosteroid. There is a danger of introduction of infection with this type of treatment.

The best treatment for this problem is to surgically remove the lesion. This is typically accomplished by outpatient surgery. The patient should wear a wrist splint for a week or so and is generally back to normal in two to three weeks.

Texas volunteer project detects and treats blinding eye disease among elderly

Cataracts—macular degeneration—glaucoma—words that are all too familiar to elderly Americans who suffer more than half of the blinding eye disease diagnosed in the U.S. each year.

But the National Eye Care Project also has become a familiar—and comforting—term to the more than 210,000 disadvantaged older Americans who have received medical eye care and information through the ongoing public service program. More than 9,927 calls have been received by the project in Texas.

If you know of disadvantaged elderly citizens who need medical eye care, encourage them to call the project's toll-free Helpline number, 1-800-222-EYES (222-3937).

Callers 65 or older who are U.S. citizens or legal residents, with no access to an ophthalmologist they have seen in the past, will be referred to a volunteer eye physician and surgeon in their community for a comprehensive eye examination and treatment for diagnosed eye disease.

"Ophthalmologists estimate that about half of elderly blindness can be prevented by early diagnosis and treatment," said Williams L. Phelps, MD, president of the Texas Ophthalmological Association.

"The project's goal is to provide medical information and remove financial obstacles that may discourage disadvantaged elderly people from seeking much-needed care," said Dr. Phelps.

Since the project began, 9,927 Texas residents have called the Helpline, and 6,584 eligible callers have been referred to ophthalmologists. The program is sponsored by the Foundation of the American Academy of Ophthalmology and the Texas

Ophthalmological Association. Texas ophthalmologists have treated a range of potentially blinding eye diseases, including more than 1,957 cases of cataracts, 193 of glaucoma, 96 cases of diabetic retinopathy, and 415 cases of macular degeneration.

Services provided by the volunteer ophthalmologists are offered at no out-of-pocket cost to the patient. If the patient lacks insurance coverage, medical eye care is provided without charge.

Hospital charges, prescription drugs and eyeglasses are not covered by the program.

The National Eye Care Project is open weekdays, 10 a.m. to 7 p.m. (Central time). The Helpline number is 1-800-222-EYES (222-3937).

ACP sign-up underway

The sign-up period for Agricultural Conservation Program (ACP) practices is in progress and will continue through June 3, 1988 according to Bryan A. Bauerlein, county Executive Director of the Runnels County Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service. Requests for cost-share assistance on annual agreements may be made during this period.

With winter practices nearing completion, Bauerlein said producers may want to begin plans for spring practices or consider applying necessary conservation practices on acreage conservation reserve (set-aside) land during the coming season.

The ACP provides both technical and financial assistance to help farmers solve severe soil, water and pollution problems on their land. "Cost-share funds are used to correct conservation problems on a farm beyond that which would be accomplished with the producer's own resources," Bauerlein said. Request for cost-share conservation assistance are considered after each sign-up period, he said. EXCEPTION: Requests for Aerial Spraying will be considered as received so that work can be completed prior to cotton planting date. The requests are evaluated as to the loss of soil and/or water, and the amount that can be saved by performing the requested practice.

ACP practices available in Runnels County include the following:

1. Establishing permanent grass either on cropland or pasture.
2. Brush Control including Tree, Rootplowing and Raking, Aerial and Hand Spraying, Velpar RP is now an approved chemical.
3. Parallel, Standard, and Diverston terraces.
4. Critical Area Shaping.
5. Drilling wells, installing pipelines, and storage facilities for livestock.
6. Constructing Ponds.

Texas hay supplies getting short

Agriculture's hay harvesting intentions suggest that Texas growers will harvest 3.4 million acres of hay in 1988. This is up 5 percent from last year, Schwart said.

Oklahoma growers expect to harvest 5 percent less and New Mexico producers 2 percent less than last year. Producers in Kansas report no change in harvest intentions from year earlier levels.

Only a slight increase is anticipated nationally this year from previous levels in hay harvesting situations. "Despite the expected increase in local hay supplies, prices likely may remain strong for hay during 1988. The current nearly depleted supplies and the apparent reduction in hay harvest indications in states that normally ship hay into Texas may create a brisk demand and consequent strong prices," Schwart said.

CJC summer class registration slated

Summer classes at Cisco Junior College will begin May 31 at all locations.

Students may register from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. and 6 p.m. to 8 p.m. on the following dates and locations: Cisco campus, Tuesday, May 31 in the Director of Admission's office; Clyde campus, Thursday, May 26; Abilene campus, Wednesday, May 25.

Students may register for the Coleman campus on Tuesday, May 24 at Coleman High School at 6 p.m.

For more information call the appropriate campus at one of the following numbers: Cisco (817) 442-2567; Clyde (915) 893-5976; Abilene (915) 698-2212; Coleman (915) 442-2567.

Fuel shortage: More than a third of the world still relies on wood for cooking and home heating. According to International Wildlife magazine, when wood demand outstrips the growth of new trees the results can be disastrous. In some parts of the world, the search for wood has resulted in the leveling of whole forests. Silent victims of this deforestation are birds and other wildlife whose survival depends on trees.

Pecan Nut Casebearer Spraying

Runnels County Pecan Producers should start spraying their pecan trees for the control of the pecan nut casebearer larvae May 26-June 1. The ideal day would be May 28th, if possible.

The pecan nut casebearers larvae should be killed before they enter the nutlets. Once inside, the larvae are protected. After destroying that nutlet, the larvae progressively destroy most of the remaining nutlets in the cluster.

A second insecticide application may be required where eggs are found and nutlet damage continues 7 to 10 days after the first application.

Casebearer eggs are just visible to the naked eye and are greenish white when first deposited. They then become reddish before hatching. The eggs hatch in about 4 to 5 days and larvae migrate to buds below the nutlets where they feed for 1 to 2 days before entering the nutlets.

You can use several insecticides for controlling this pest. The following tables list some of these compounds and their rates. Home owners do not have as many options on chemicals, as do the commercial growers, but Malathion and Zolone are good, safe materials to use around the home.

Homeowner's Pecan Nut Casebearer Control Measures
Material Amount in 3 gallons of water:

Malathion—4 teaspoons of 50% liquid
Zolone—4 teaspoons of 35% liquid

Commercial Pecan Nut Casebearer Control Measures
Malathion—1 1/4 pints of 55% liquid
Zolone—1 1/2 pints of 35% liquid

Imidan—1 1/2 lbs. of 50% wettable powder
Guthion—1 1/2 lbs. of 25% wettable powder

Zinc sulfate or NZN added to the spray solution will decrease rosette problems in pecan trees and allow them to produce higher quality nuts.

The recommended rates are:

NZN:
1 tablespoon/gallon of water
2 quarts/100 gallons of water

Zinc Sulfate:
2 teaspoons/gallon of water
2 lbs. per 100 gallons of water

Buckle-Up Week kicks off "One Deathless Day" campaign

Imagine a day without a single traffic death on Texas roadways. Texas hasn't had a day like that in over a decade.

The Texas Coalition for Safety Belts is calling on Texans to break that streak in 1988. During Texas Buckle-Up Week May 23-30, coalition member groups and other traffic safety advocates will participate in a statewide public awareness campaign. The idea is to get everyone buckled up before the summer vacation season begins.

"We're trying for one Deathless Day during the 101 Driving Days of Summer," said George R. Gustafson, president of Texas Safety Association and a spokesperson for the coalition. "To help us reach this goal, we're working to push safety belt use back up to 1986 levels, and beyond. By the end of the month, we want to see Texas top its previous high of 66% driver belt use."

According to Department of Public Safety statistics, Texas' last deathless day was January 5, 1977.

"In many respects, our traffic safety record is better now than it was then," Gustafson said. "We lost 3,698 lives on Texas roadways in 1977. That toll increased each year through 1981, when a record 4,701 deaths were recorded. In 1987, we had 3,261 fatalities. Last year's mileage death rate, which tells the number of deaths for each 100 million miles traveled, was 2.2—the lowest on record."

The 1984 child restraint law and the 1985 safety belt law have contributed to the declining death toll, Gustafson said. "However," he added, "we're very concerned about the recent decline in usage of belts and child seats."

"Our high buckle-up rates in 1986 and 1987 paid off in reduced traffic deaths. Fatalities in the front seats of cars and pickups in 1987 were down 18% from 1984, the year before the safety belt law was passed.

"We'd hate to see that death count turn upward again at the end of 1988. But we are quite likely to see more deaths—and many more injuries ranging from moderate to critical—if our usage continues to slip," said Gustafson.

Usage surveys conducted by Texas Transportation Institute indicate that driver belt use in 14 cities fell from 66% in 1986 to 60% in June 1987, and down to 56% in January of this year. When data from our four new cities was added this year, the average rate fell to 54%.

Texas Buckle-Up Week is being held in conjunction with Buckle Up America week, sponsored by Operation C.A.R.E., the National Safety Council, the National Association of Governor's Highway Safety Representatives, the National Highway Traffic Safety Administration, and the Entertainment Industries Council.

FFA—Agriculture's New Spirit

American's 155 national forests now contain more than 340,000 miles of roads, eight times more than the interstate highway system. According to National Wildlife magazine, if the roads currently planned are built, the forest road network will contain enough mileage to reach to the moon and back.

Sellers of spray paint, glue need licenses

In a time of headlines about the so-called hard drugs—cocaine, marijuana and heroin, the abuse of other substances sometimes goes overlooked. But officials at the Texas Department of Health (TDH) warn that inhalant abuse, especially among young children and adolescents, is still a serious cause of brain damage and even death.

In recent years, Texas law has required that aerosol paints and certain "abusable" glues, be sold only to adults, and that retailers keep such products under lock and key. But effective March 1, a legislative change to the state's Controlled Substance Act altered the manner in which spray paints and some adhesives can be sold, and required that all retailers of those substances be licensed by the Texas Department of Health. Retailers are no longer required to keep these dangerous products in locked displays, but must post warning signs in clear view of all customers.

Mackie Lawrence, director of TDH Product Safety Program, said that, because of the variety of retail outlets for paints and glues containing dangerous fumes, enforcement of the requirement to keep "abusable" products in locked displays has been nearly impossible.

"We also urge the general public to report any retailer who fails to comply with these regulations," Lawrence said.

"Almost any store marketing household goods, hardware, hobby materials or office supplies stocked some items which, by law, should have been locked up," Lawrence said. "But small retailers either lacked the space or facilities for locked displays, or were unaware of which substances the law regulated."

The new law, Lawrence explained, requires that persons selling spray paints or glues carrying warnings of harmful vapors must apply for a state license to stock the products. They also must pay a $25 annual fee for the license, and sell the products only to adults (18 or older).

Although storekeepers are no longer required to lock their paint and glue displays, they must post the license and prominent bilingual signs declaring that sale to minors is prohibited by law.

Lawrence said retailers who need more information about compliance with the new law should write to the TDH Product Safety Program, 1100 West 49th Street, Austin, Texas 78756, or call (512) 458-7519.

"We also urge the general public to report any retailer who fails to comply with these regulations," Lawrence said.

Child safety is no accident

Citing a national survey which shows parents underestimate the greatest everyday risks to their children, a coalition of national organizations has declared war on preventable childhood accidents.

"The leading causes of accidental death in children are passenger fatalities in car accidents, pedestrian and bicycle accidents, drownings and fires and burns," said Dr. Sarah L. Anderson, a family life specialist with the Texas A&M University Agricultural Extension Service.

"Yet a 1986 national poll showed parents most feared drugs and kidnapping, while only 2% or less expressed concern about the risk from bicycle accidents, burns and drowning," she said.

"Through its home economics and 4-H programs, the Extension Service in Texas and other states is joining with 23 national groups including the American Academy of Pediatrics, Red Cross, Boy Scouts of America and the Department of Health and Human Services to engage in a five-year public education campaign to increase child safety," Anderson said.

As part of the National Safe Kids Campaign, she said parents are urged to take the following steps.

* Have your child wear a bike helmet when cycling to prevent head injuries.

* Practice crossing streets with your children before letting them cross one alone, since children often dart out into traffic.

* Always use automobile safety belts and child safety seats, no matter how short the ride.

* Supervise children in and near water. It takes only an inch of water and a few moments for a young child to drown.

* Install smoke detectors and practice a fire escape route. Otherwise, small children may panic and hide when fire strikes.

* Store matches and lighters out of reach. Over one-third of the burns to children ages three to eight result from playing with matches.

* Prevent scalds by lowering the temperature of your hot water heater to 120 degrees Fahrenheit.

* Keep common household poisons and medicines out of the sight and reach of young children.

* Keep small objects out of reach to reduce the danger of choking in young children.

* Install window guards and stairway safety gates to prevent falls.

Dear Winters Enterprise readers

This year I have tried to add pictures and articles concerning our students in the Winters Enterprise. Hopefully by doing this you can get an idea of what is going on at the school. We have a lot of talented and bright students at the Winters Schools and I think they can never get enough recognition of their accomplishments. I have tried to put as much information as I can but sometimes it is easy to miss someone. There have been times like this particular week that pictures were unable to be developed on time to meet the deadline of the paper or kids were not at school the particular day that the pictures were taken. I have never intentionally left anyone out. I hope you have enjoyed reading about Winters kids and I look forward to serving the school in this capacity in the future year. Sincerely, Julie Springer

New deadline for taxpayers to protest property values

Property owners have an earlier deadline for filing a notice of protest with the local appraisal review board (ARB). Effective for the 1988 tax year, a property owner must file the protest by May 31 or no later than 30 days after an appraisal notice is delivered, whichever is later.

The filing deadline is one month earlier than the old one of June 30. The earlier deadline gives a local review board more time to hear and decide property owners' complaints about a value.

Appraisal notices are not sent to all property owners. The chief appraiser must send a notice under three circumstances: for a new property, for a property where the owner rendered a lower value than the appraisal district's value, and for an increase in value over the prior year.

The ARB will schedule a hearing when it receives a taxpayer's protest in writing. The ARB will then mail a written notice to the property owner listing the date, time and place of the hearing. The property owner will have at least 15 days notice of the hearing.

The ARB must schedule a single hearing for property owners who own property in undivided or fractional interests, including owners of mineral interests.

Appraisal districts have official notice of protest forms for property owners to use, or the are available from the State Property Tax Board at P.O. Box 15900, Austin, Texas 78761-5900. Although an official form is not mandatory, the notice must be a written document that identifies the property owner, the property in question and indicates some dissatisfaction with the property's appraisal record.

Property owners must present evidence and information that supports a different determination than proposed by the appraisal district.

Any property owner who acquires property after January 1, but before the filing deadline, may protest an appraisal. Property is appraised as it existed on January 1.

Property owners who intend to have an agent represent them at the protest hearing should make sure they have a completed agent authorization form on file at the appraisal district. Appraisal districts and the State Property Tax Board have these forms available for the public.

New manager

There is a new manager at Higginbotham Brothers Lumber in Winters.

Wendell Lee has assumed management responsibilities at the lumber yard and, along with routine duties, is overseeing the first steps in an expansion program.

Higginbotham officials said that Johnnie Jackson, who has been serving in a management position with the lumber yard, will continue with the lumber yard.

Lee comes to Winters from Bronte, where he has been affiliated with Hometown Hardware, the White Auto store since 1977. He is a native of the Norton area and will be moving to Winters with his wife Jeanna in the very near future. The Lees have two sons, Troy and Kerry, who both live in Vernon.

Across the Mayor's Desk

On Monday, May 9, I had the opportunity to attend a Legislative Committee meeting for the Texas Municipal League and become involved in the Legislative process. The Texas Municipal League (TML) is a lobbying group for the majority of cities in the state, both large and small. As you all have probably felt in your occupations, the state is giving less and taking more and this trend looks to continue in the 1989 Legislative Session. It is becoming increasingly important for rural communities such as ours to become better acquainted with not only our Legislators but the process as well. We must become involved unless we want to carry a greater share of the burden than we already do.

The City of Winters along with 30 some odd other cities in our region have sponsored some pieces of Legislation to improve small towns position. I hope to explain this in greater depth in the future. Our goal is to preserve the small communities place among cities in the state. This will take a very vocal and consolidated effort from all of us.

The Mayfest looked to be a great success and the Chamber should be commended for their hard work. The swimming pool will be opening soon, most likely Memorial Day Weekend, and with your continued support we are looking at a very promising year as the city crews have made several improvements. Also, I would like to congratulate the new elected officers and thank the other candidates who care enough about our community to show a willingness to give their time. If you have a comment regarding this column, send them to The Winters Enterprise or myself, Randy M. Springer, Box 7, Winters 79567.
