Wait a minute...

By Kerry Craig

For some reason, holidays seem to make a habit of falling on Monday or Tuesday. For most folks that is alright.

For those of us in the weekly newspaper business, we have come to accept the fact that we must toil on—holiday, or not.

Even with those loyal guys that carry the mail through the thick of things, rain, sleet, hail, high water, freezy skid stuff, etc. getting an extra day off, we are chained to the computer terminal.

On this holiday there is some consolation, the Stars and Stripes are waving in the breeze right out front.

On this holiday, our flags are evident almost everywhere. At least one flag is in a place it doesn't belong—it was stolen this past week from a mast on which it has been displayed for quite some time.

I am still quite upset with our nation's highest court and its outlandish ruling regarding the flag.

In the files, we found a 1970 copy of the World Almanac and, on page 434 found the "Code of Etiquette for Display and Use of the U.S. Flag."

According to this document, "A 1968 Federal law provides penalties of up to a year's imprisonment or a $1,000 fine or both, for burning publicly or otherwise desecrating the flag. These were the first Federal penalties, although all the states and the District of Columbia already had laws against flag desecration.

What will happen next? Will that august body take a close look at the Pledge of Allegiance to the Flag?

After reading, in a big city paper's July 4th edition, this morning about what the Supreme Court has now ruled about the traditional Christmas displays depicting the birth of Christ on property owned by government—local, county, state or federal—we might, with good reason, fear for the sanctity of that Pledge.

Back in 1954, an Act of Congress added the two words, "Under God" to the pledge which, was first published in 1892. I pledge allegiance to the Flag of the United States of America and to the republic for which it stands, one nation, under God, indivisible, with liberty and justice for all.

This group of nine judges which make up the Supreme Court, the highest in our land, continues to take upon itself the task, apparently, of rewriting our Constitution as well as Federal Law and Acts of Congress.

Along with its ruling concerning the burning of our Flag, this court has also, again, entered into trying to control or regulate religious activities.

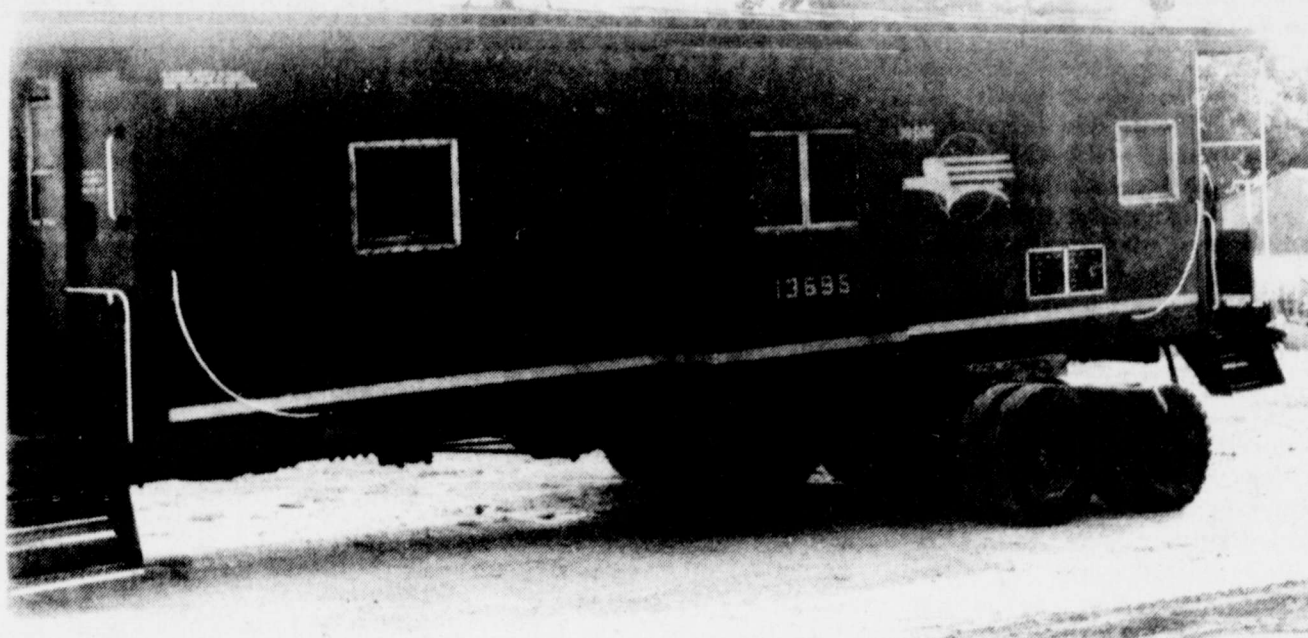

If this court can, as one religious leader put it, "force us to place Santa Clause in the manger with Jesus," we can only wonder what might be next.

We might take pause to read, again, that document which was presented in Congress, July 4, 1776, the Declaration of Independence.

In the second paragraph, that document states, in part, "We hold these truths to be self evident, that all men are created equal, that they are endowed by their Creator with certain unalienable rights, that among these are the Rights to Life Liberty and the Pursuit of Happiness."

Even in 1776, and before, the founders of our country recognized the existence of God and His leadership in the foundation of our great nation.

On further, the Declaration of Independence, one of the indictments against the King of Great Britain simply stated, "For taking away our Charters, abolishing our most valuable Laws, and altering fundamental (See Wait page 6)

Nearly home

The caboose, which was donated to the Z. I. Hale Museum Foundation, has now been moved to Winters and is awaiting placement of the rails before being moved to its final home.

The caboose will be located immediately behind the Z. I. Hale Museum in the museum complex on West Dale Street which includes the Rock Hotel, which was built and opened to correspond with the arrival of the railroad in Winters.

The gift of the caboose from the railroad company came on the heels of the closing of the railroad in Winters.

The railroad car was moved to Winters at a cost of about $1,750. Donations and contributions to defray the costs are being accepted by the museum foundation.

Water utility theft arrest tops police activity report for June

Winters Police officers responded to a total of 73 calls during the month of June according to the routine summary from Police Chief Tim Dexter.

According to a police department offense report, Class C misdemeanor charges of theft of water were filed against a Winters man after officers found that the water meter at the man's residence had been bypassed.

Officers were notified by water department employees of the possible theft of water. Upon investigation, when police officers accompanied water department officials to the address, officers found water running in the yard of the residence without any movement in the water meter.

Officials suspected that a bypass was installed while water department workers were making repairs to the meter box and had the line uncovered.

Officers said that such a theft is normally considered a felony offense, however the incident was handled as a misdemeanor in Winters Municipal Court.

Emmet Barthelemy entered a plea of guilty to the charge before Municipal Judge J. C. Hodnett, who assessed the maximum fine for the Class C misdemeanor offense.

Disturbances and family violence kept officers busy during June. According to the monthly report, officers were called 10 times to settle domestic problems.

Officers investigated the burglary of a residence owned by Rene Rich at 701 Commerce Street. Offense reports said that approximately $200 in change and currency was taken from the residence. The money was in a glass jar, which was being used for a bank and was also taken.

Two incidents of vandalism were investigated by officers during the month.

In one incident, officers were called to the Pizza Hut, on North Main, where an air conditioning compressor unit had been pushed off its base and lines broken.

Police officers investigated seven traffic accidents during the month, filed two complaints for driving while license suspended, and arrested five persons on charges of driving while intoxicated.

Seven citations for minor in possession of alcoholic beverage were issued by police officers and two citations were issued for making alcoholic beverage available to a minor. One juvenile case, a run away, was referred to juvenile authorities.

Police officers also assisted sheriff's officers in an investigation into the aggravated assault on a Winters woman.

Winters Police officers assisted other agencies three times during the month, assisted citizens six times, unlocked four vehicles with their keys locked inside and responded to four false alarms.

Saturday accident injures four

Four members of a Corpus Christi were injured, two seriously, in a car-truck accident on U. S. 83 at the intersection of the Drasco Road late Saturday morning.

Taken by North Runnels Emergency Service ambulance to North Runnels Hospital were Alex Hall, age 6, Derek Hall, 16, Josh Hall, 11, and Clarita Hall, 43.

Clarita Hall was transferred to St. John's Hospital in San Angelo for treatment of a fractured arm and rib fractures.

Alex Hall was admitted to North Runnels Hospital with facial injuries and severe lacerations.

Derek Hall was held in the local hospital for observation of possible head injuries and possible injuries caused by a seat belt.

Josh Hall was treated and released from the North Runnels Hospital Emergency room for minor cuts and bruises.

According to accident reports, the vehicle driven by Derek Hall collided with the rear of an oil transport truck as the truck was beginning a left turn from U.S. 83 onto the Drasco Road.

The Hall family was enroute from their home in Corpus Christi to Oklahoma for the holiday weekend when the accident occurred.

Another member of the Hall family, the husband and father, was in another vehicle, which had just passed the transport truck before the accident occurred.

Winters family homeless after Friday night fire

A family of seven were left homeless last week after fire roared through their mobile home in the 300 block of Popular Street.

The Tommy Gardner family was home when an electric light bulb apparently came into contact with a foam mattress and ignited the fire that gutted their home.

It took firemen almost an hour to extinguish the fire. There were a few anxious moments when firemen learned that there was a propane container inside the mobile home. The propane was used, apparently, to fuel a cook stove.

One family member sustained minor burns to the hand as the family escaped their burning home.

The Gardner family lost all belongings, clothing, and possessions in the fire.

Donations of clothing and other items may be left at 802 Concho Street or by calling 754-5485.

Clothing needed by the family includes men's size 12 D shoes, extra large shirt and 42X44 pants. Ladies' size 9 shoe, size 32 pants and medium size shirts and blouses. Women's size 10 shoes and ladies' size 18 clothes, boys size 12 shoes, size 2 1/2 shoes, and boys size 16, 10, 7, and 6 shirts and pants.

Winters firemen worked to bring a fire in the Tommy Gardner home under control last week and took almost an hour to extinguish the flames. The fire was thought to have started when a light bulb came into contact with a mattress.

Their Motto: We Care

When it was announced in the Winters Enterprise that Jeanene Laird, R.N., was the new director for the North Runnels Hospital Home health Agency, there were inquiries as to what home health care included and who was eligible.

Home health care is a full-range of health care and social services offered to ill, infirm or disabled individuals who choose to be treated at home rather than in the hospital. In-home care provides an opportunity to maintain control over ones environment and gives an added degree of privacy.

The North Runnels Hospital Home health Agency is part of the North Runnels Hospital District, located in Winters. Offices are in the hospital building, Highway 153 East.

The agency was organized by Rita Williams, R.N. Administrator in 1985 and Betty Thomason served as director until April 3, 1986. Andy Sawyer, R.N. followed as director.

The present staff includes Laird, as director; Brenda Hamner, R.N.; Deloris Parks, L.V.N.; Anita Martinez, home health aide; Diann Whittenberg, office.

The telephone number is (915) 754-5097.

Office hours are from 8 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. Monday through Friday. A nurse is available by telephone after 4:30 p.m., and on weekends and holidays to handle emergency problems. If the nurse does not respond to your call immediately, please remember that she may be involved with another emergency and allow her a reasonable length of time to answer.

Referrals may be made by family members, friends, doctors, hospitals and by patients themselves. When a referral is received, the patient is evaluated by the services needed, requirements are established. The doctor is contacted for orders and service can begin at once.

Eligibility Requirements
 To qualify for the home health program, the patients must meet these basic requirements. They must be:
 - Confined to the home by the nature of their illness or injury
 - In need of a skilled level of home health care on an intermittent basis
 - Under the care of a physician

A patient need not have been recently hospitalized to qualify for services. But there must be a personal evaluation to determine eligibility for home health care.

Payment
 The North Runnels Home

health Agency is licensed by the Texas Department of health and is approved by Medicare. Medicare will cover all services for patients who meet requirements. Medicare is billed directly by the agency office and there are no deductible or co-insurance charges to be paid by the patient.

All of our personnel work closely together to set up a program of home health care to meet the physician's instructions and to remain within the guidelines of your insurance policy and Medicare.

Your physician has ordered our nurses to make home visits to assist in your health care. The nurse will let you know what day(s) you may expect visits. It is not possible to set a definite time of day for the visits as the nurse may have to deal with emergencies during the day.

We are also able to provide the services of a physical, speech and occupational therapists and medical social workers should the physician feel that these services are needed.

In addition, we can provide the services of a Home health Aide to assist with your personal care if this is needed and ordered by the physician. The Aide will make a visit up to two hours in duration and will be scheduled to meet individual personal care needs.

We do ask that the patient have a physician's appointment at least every 60 days and more often if needed.

Service Area
 All homebound patients in the following counties are eligible for our services: Runnels, Taylor, Coleman, Coke, Nolan and Tom Green.

Our services are based upon medical nursing and Medicare criteria without discrimination on the basis of race, color, national origin, age or handicap in admission to treatment or employment in our program or activities.

RRC levies fines

The Railroad Commission assessed a total of $54,500 in administrative penalties last week to 13 oil and gas companies operating in the state for problems under Commission well plugging and pollution rules.

The largest of the penalties, $15,000, went to Duncan Production of Atascosa for pollution problems on the Glen Bryan lease in Bexar County. Commission inspectors visited the lease 24 times over the last five years, documenting overflowing salt-water tanks and other spills at the site, located four miles south of Von Ormy. In addition to assigning the penalty, the Commission order directs the company to cease further discharges and bring the lease into compliance with Commission rules.

Penalties for inactive and unplugged wells included $14,000 to Jack Webb of Dayton for seven wells on the Webb lease, Harris County; $3,000 to Vernon Brinkman, Lancier Brinkman, and Tommy Stokes, doing business as Brinkman Oil and Gas of Austin, for four wells on the Vogt lease, Bexar County; and $1,000 to BT Operating Company of Houston for a well on the Argosy Dilton lease, Webb County.

Also Jimmy Pautsky of Holliday, $4,000 for two wells on the John Matus lease, Foard County; Dwight O. Northcutt of Liang, $1,000 for a well on the Robert Sneed lease, Brown County; and J&B Energy Company, Inc. of Luling, $4,000 for two wells on the C. Nethery lease, Caldwell County; Texana Enterprises, Inc. of Ganado, $3,000 for one well on the Guy F. Stovall III lease, Wharton County; and Martex Resources, Inc. of Tuscola, $3,000 for a well on the Graham lease, Taylor County.

Three other companies received $500 well plugging penalties, including Westwind Petroleum Corp. of San Antonio, one well on the Lucille Noble Shipley lease, Frio County; E. C. Leamon, J. C. Childress, and D. D. Davis doing business as Trico-Jay-Dee of Borger, one well on the Perkins lease, Cottle County; and Joseph C. Martino of Pasadena, one well on the Helen Harbison lease, Jim Hogg County.

Northern Oil and Gas, Inc. of Borger agreed to pay a $5,000 penalty without admitting any violation of Commission rules. Commission inspectors found modifications on a saltwater injection well on the company's Cockrell lease, Hutchinson County, that made it impossible to check the amount of pressure on the well.

To date in 1989, the Commission has levied more than $538,000 in pollution and well plugging penalties. Last year, the Commission assessed some $951,000 in such penalties.

Beating the heat for the elderly

(2nd part in 3 part series)

Signs of Heat Stroke

Heat stroke victims experience numerous symptoms including the following:

- * Severe confusion
- * Dizziness
- * Headache
- * Elevated temperature
- * Nausea and vomiting
- * Low or high blood pressure

In the advanced stages of heat stroke, a person may even have seizures or go into a comatose state.

Heat Stroke and the Elderly

"Heat stroke is more common and more life-threatening for the elderly," says Dr. Jew.

Why are the Elderly More Susceptible and Affected by Heat Stroke?

The elderly are more susceptible to heat stroke for several reasons.

Because of the changes that occur in the sweat glands with aging, elderly people do not sweat properly, which means that their bodies do not cool themselves down as well when they become overheated.

Abrupt Heat

Elderly people are generally not as acclimated as other people either. "They may stay inside for long periods of time; so when they do go out in the sun, the abrupt heat puts too much stress on their bodies," explains Dr. Jew.

No Air Conditioners

Many elderly citizens do not have air conditioners, which is certainly another risk factor.

Medications and Substances

"Medications and substances which an older person may be taking, such as diuretics, alcohol, sedatives and antidepressants, can also affect his ability to sweat and his perception of how his environment really is," explains Dr. Jew.

Mental or Physical Disabilities

Mental illness can also affect the person's perception of temperature.

Because of either mental or physical disabilities, the older person may not be able to care for himself properly or protect himself from the heat. (Part 3 continued next week)

VA marks 45th year of GI Bill

The Department of Veterans Affairs Regional Office in Waco joined other VA offices on June 22 in marking the 45th Anniversary of the "GI Bill," a program that has paid education benefits to millions of military veterans since World War II.

"The GI Bill is the most widely used of all the benefits VA offers," said Dr. Stephen L. Lemons, Director of the Waco VA Regional Office. "It has helped veterans get a formal education, improve their skills and help them compete for better paying jobs."

Although the original GI Bill was changed and adjusted for succeeding generations of veterans, its purpose, declared by President Franklin D. Roosevelt when he signed the legislation in 1944, has not. "This law," he said, "gives emphatic notice to the men and women of our Armed Forces that the American people do not intend to let them down."

Since its inception near the close of World War II, the GI Bill and succeeding programs for veterans have provided more than $69 billion in educational and training assistance to more than 20 million veterans, dependents, active duty members and reservists.

GI Bill assistance benefited 7.8 million World War II veterans and 2.4 million Korean Conflict veterans. Some 8.1 million veterans and active-duty service personnel of the Vietnam era, and those with peacetime service after Korea or Vietnam have participated so far in their version of the GI Bill, which expires on December 31, 1989.

Lemons pointed out that some newer veterans may be eligible to receive benefits under the VA's current education program: the Montgomery GI Bill. This program provides benefits for servicemembers who agree to have their first year's pay reduced by $1,200 in return for up to $10,800 in educational assistance after they meet certain active duty requirements.

"Approximately 4,000 Texas veterans have enrolled in education programs under the current law," said Lemons, "with a considerable increase expected in the next few years." In order to handle the workload, according to Lemons, four regional processing sites have been established.

Claims filed by veterans living in Texas will be handled by the Muskogee, Oklahoma VA Regional Office.

Over the years 1.1 million disabled veterans have been aided by VA vocational rehabilitation programs. More than 560,000 eligible dependents and survivors have gone to school using VA education assistance benefits.

Current-year spending for VA readjustment benefits programs will amount to more than $733

FROM A GOLDFISH BOWL

BY PASTOR STEVE BYRNE

Once upon a time there lived some very poor people. They had very little in the way of earthly goods. In their daily struggle for existence, they heard of a country far away, which promised a life far better than their standard surroundings.

These people pooled their resources. They built make-shift wagons, using anything they could find. Hitched up teams of whatever livestock they had. Together, as of one mind and heart, they departed on the journey.

The men hunted with whatever weapons they had so that the community could eat. Everyone worked hard. No one complained. They were committed to reaching their destination and a new life.

The hunters excelled at their task. Soon, discovering that they could kill more than they needed, they would go to the nearest settlement and sell or barter their excess kill.

These sojourners began to accumulate things. In time, many of the wagons took on new images. They replaced make-shift wheels with perfectly rounded, factory built wheels. Some even had hub caps—just for looks.

More and more these once-poor travellers began to accumulate wealth on the journey. One evening around the camp fire, after supper, the people evaluated their accumulations. They needed some sort of security guard to protect their goods from robbers and thieves.

They would give up their quest for the land for which they had set out, originally. The men set their wagons in a circle for protection from invaders at that very place. They stopped moving forward. No longer committed to the original journey, they began to organize around protecting what they owned.

They removed the wheels from the wagons, underpinned them, and began building bigger and better dwellings. Occasionally, a family or two would wander into the camp. If the community liked them, and if they had useful skills, and if they were committed to helping everybody hand on to what was theirs, they would be invited to pull their wagons into the circle.

Before long, other wagon trains, her people having accumulated a bit, and weary of the journey, began to settle nearby. They quickly grew suspicious of these strange new neighbors. Security patrols were stepped up in each community, guarding their respective valuables.

In a few years, the wagons stopped coming by. No one was interested in continuing the journey to their original destination. There was no common commitment any more. Just each person working for his own well-being.

The community members quickly grew dissatisfied and suspicious of each other. They fought and they fussed a lot more now because there was no common goal toward which every one was working. Each looked out for him/herself. The community which prospered so well as a wagon train began to fall apart.

This is just a story. Fiction. There never really was such a wagon train. And any similarities between this story and the state of society and the church is purely intentional.
