Wait a minute...

By Kerry Craig

From now through the next few weeks we will, most likely, be hearing stories about how hot it has been. If it gets much hotter, the time and temperature sign over at Peoples just may run out of numbers.

We have seen it up to 110 and around in that area for the past few days with only enough rain in the forecast to give the weather guys something to say.

By the middle of next winter, however, we will probably be complaining about how cold it is.

I have just learned of another goodie our legislators slipped by us in the form of a constitutional amendment that we voted on in the last general election.

The issue was worded, I guess, in such a manner that the voters really did not know what they were voting for, or against.

The same thing happened several years ago when the central tax appraising districts were created by mandate of the voters.

This latest thing provides for the taxation of religious, fraternal, benevolent, and civic organizations. The same groups that do so much for our communities with the monies they raise each year.

Let us look at an example: We will call this club the Little Community Lions Club. A Lions Club in a small community has, over the years, built and paid for its own building. That building just happens to be the only meeting place in the community and it is used, not only by the club that owns it but, by the entire community. That building and lot are considered real property and, under the provisions of the constitutional amendment, considered subject to ad valorem property taxation.

In that tournament, the Winters girls defeated Dyess AFB with a score of 29-8. Winning pitchers were Joni Barrett and Mandye Hale.

Heather Selby and Wendy Johnson were responsible for triples in that game while Jill Johnson scored with one home run and Joni Barrett hit two homers.

In their next game, the girls defeated the Merkel-Trent All-Stars with a score of 31-6. Winning pitchers were Jill Johnson and Rachel Edwards.

On Thursday, the girls rallied again, this time to defeat the Clyde Area All-Stars with a score of 16-8. Winning pitcher was Joni Barrett. Rachel Edwards hammered in two doubles in the game.

On Saturday, the Clyde Area All-Stars won over the Winters girls 13-6. Pitching for Winters was Rachel Edwards. Doubles were hit by Heather Selby and Jill Johnson.

In the finals of the tournament this past Monday evening, the Winters Area girls defeated Clyde with a 25-16 win on the efforts of winning pitcher Joni Barrett.

Jill Johnson racked up one home run and one double while Wendy Johnson and Heather Selby both hit doubles.

With the district championship in their possession, the Winters Area Girls All-Stars now advance to the Sectional tournament to be played in Dumas.

By winning the Dumas sectional tournament, the Winters Area girls can advance to the regional finals which will determine the state championship and put the girls into the national finals.

Winters Area Girls All-Star officials said that donations would help the girls in the sectional meet. The trip to Dumas is a six-hour drive and the girls will have to stay in motels while there. Any donations would be greatly appreciated.

The first game in Dumas will be held Sunday, July 23, at 6:00 p.m. with the District V Champion Winters Girls meeting the District I Champion Girls.

Area Little League says Thank You

The Winters Area Little League is most appreciative to all those businesses and individuals who have contributed their time, money and service to make the program available to the boys and girls in our community. THANKS-player agents, purchasing agents and sign painters. THANKS-ground keepers, score keepers and concession stand workers. THANKS-President Gary Goff, team mothers and grandparents.

And especially THANKS to those named below who have so willingly contributed $175 of their hard earned money to be a Team Sponsor for the 1989 season. Without you, our kids would be playing with sticks and rocks instead of bats and balls. We DO appreciate your support.

Board of Review to consider exemptions

The Runnels County Appraisal District Board of Review will hold a special meeting Thursday evening, July 20, to discuss taxing fraternal and civic organizations such as Lions Clubs, Veterans of Foreign Wars Posts, American Legion, SPJST and others.

The meeting will be conducted in the District Courtroom in the Runnels County Courthouse and will begin at 8:00 p.m.

The issue to be discussed will involve whether the appraisal district's directors want to tax the civic, benevolent, and fraternal groups. In the last general election, voters in Texas approved a constitutional amendment that provides for the taxing of such organizations.

Officials said that, although the amendment requires the taxation, the ultimate decision rests with the Board of Review. If the Board of Review bows to pressure from some of the taxing entities in the county, non-profit organizations will be taxed for any property they own.

A major concern that will face the members of the Board of Review is that the organizations that may be taxed are, in fact, non-profit and only a few in this county actually own any real estate.

If these are to be taxed, the tax dollars that would be paid by these organizations would have to come from funds raised for much-needed community service programs that, for the most part, meet the needs of people who could not otherwise be able to meet the needs.

Everyone interested in this important issue is urged to attend the Thursday evening meeting. Clubs, groups, and organizations planning to attend should each select a spokesperson for that group to speak to the Board of Review.

Runnels County 4-H Fashion Show held

On Saturday, July 15, the Runnels County 4-H Fashion Show was held at the Carnegie Library in Ballinger. The Fashion Show is an achievement event that includes 4-H clothing projects. Fifty-eight (58) 4-H'ers were involved in this activity, according to Patricia Hohensee, County Extension Agent-Home Economics.

Toby Virden served as commentator for the evening with Deron Robinson giving a welcome. Recognition of the leaders was given by Leslie Moeller of Miles. Tracye Binder gave acknowledgments for the evening.

Prior to the public show, the 4-H'ers competed in two rounds of judging: construction and appearance of the garment on the 4-H'er. The results of the judging were announced at the conclusion of the show.

Champions in each age division and fashion category were:

Awards and All-Stars cap Little League season

The Winters Area Little League held its annual awards ceremonies Thursday, June 29, on the Little League Field.

Participating in the program this year were teams from Bronte, Robert Lee and Winters.

President Gary Goff presented awards to both T-Ball teams from Winters along with Bronte and Robert Lee.

Awards were presented to the five Minor League, the Cardinals, Indians, Giants, and two teams from Robert Lee.

In the Major League, first place honors went to Robert Lee followed by the Dudes and the Jets of Winters.

In Girl's T-Ball Winters Blue Jays won first place and the teams from Robert Lee and the team from Bronte finished the awards.

In the Girls Minor League, Bronte and Winters' Bears were tied at 7-4 at the end of the season and a coin flip settled the tie with Bronte taking first place and the Bears in second. Winters' Panthers and Robert Lee trailed in the season.

First place trophies were presented to the winning teams.

Named to the Boys Major League All-Stars were: Eric Hood-Robert Lee; Aaron Hood-Robert Lee; Jerrid Vincent-Robert Lee; Jeremy Vincent-Robert Lee; Nathan Collins-Jets; Chane Reagan-Dudes; Zane Guy-Dudes; Archie

Torch Run

Hallie Sims and three other motor home owners met at Amarillo recently to join in the Law Enforcement Torch Run for Special Olympics.

Nine different areas sent runners from the combined Law Enforcement Association of Texas. Starting points for this area were Lubbock, Big Spring, Fredericksburg and Amarillo.

The Good Sams (Samaritians) of Texas provide drivers and motor homes as support vehicles for the officers who do the running. Here they can rest, cool off and be served some light refreshments. There are six runners to each vehicle and they take turns running 24 hours a day.

Others who assisted as sponsors were Mr. Gatti with pizzas and cokes and Texaco who furnished the gas and refreshments. Sims said she had a tub full of Gator Ade iced down and 31 packages of sandwich meat in her refrigerator plus loaves of bread and all kinds of fruit.

During the five days no one took a bath, or slept except for naps. No meals were prepared. Runners ate sandwiches and fruit, but no sweets.

Some of the runners took turns assisting their drivers who had only short rest periods themselves. Sims drove from Winters to Amarillo before leaving on the 545 miles to San Marcos, the destination of the run. The mayor of Amarillo presided over the send-off ceremony and signed a proclamation for the opening of the Olympics from Amarillo.

Sims had nothing but praise for Lt. Derrel Garner, coordinator of the Amarillo run, and those who participated.

They ran from Amarillo to San Marcos in the heat of the day and the darkness of the night with only headlights of the police car behind them and the moon above; stepping aside to miss a rattle snake or scorpion on the pavement. The odor of dead animals filled their nostrils occasionally. Mosquitoes buzzed around their bodies dripping with sweat. As they traveled up hill and down hill, they encountered dust and 40-mph winds at times. There was no complaint among them because they had a purpose, they were doing this for their handicapped friends who were unable to help themselves.

Their destination was San Marcos where evening ceremonies officially opened the Special Olympics at the Bobcat Stadium of Southwest Texas University, beginning with the lighting of the Olympic "Flame of Hope."

At the last count, $241 thousand dollars had been collected for Special Olympics, to help those with special needs learn that they can benefit from participation in sports, adapted to meet the needs of those with mental and physical limitations.

Thank You

Dear EMS and Hospital Staff
The Hall family, from Corpus Christi, that was passing through Winters on July 1, would like to thank all of you for your immediate and professional attention we received following a car wreck. Because of your personal and caring treatment, our stress and pain were minimized and we felt that we were among friends. We are all doing fine, although a recent x-ray showed that Alex has a fractured jaw, and again we greatly appreciate your time and service.

HUGHES & WESTBROOK INSURANCE

Fred Kennedy - Owner

The people of this area are indeed fortunate to have in their midst a friendly insurance agency that has built a fine reputation in this area by serving local needs through all types of insurance, including life, health, home, auto, etc. from reliable companies.

There are a lot of insurance agencies and agents in this area. What makes one stand out above all others? It's the service and personal interest that they take in the welfare of you, your family and your personal property.

Most of us do not want to think about the many things that could happen to us or our property...and there is no need to if we have a competent insurance agency planning for our future security.

For security and peace of mind, we the editors of this 1989 Business Review recommend HUGHES & WESTBROOK INSURANCE located at 2038 West Harris in San Angelo, phone 949-1931 for information or an appointment. We know you'll be glad you did.

Shea Reed to National Finals

Shea Reed, 17, of Sharyland, Texas will represent the State of Texas July 24 thru 30 at the National High School Rodeo Finals. Shea finished 3rd in the average at the State Finals to qualify for the National Bareback Bronc riding. He is the great-grandson of Nina B. Puckett, grandson of Mr. and Mrs. J. T. Sprinkle and son of Elmer and Beverly Sprinkle Reed.

Son of former Winters resident writes first book

Marshall Harrison was born in Dallas, Texas and now lives in Lubbock, Texas. He retired in 1973 from an air force career. This former military pilot has been, at various times, a special education teacher in the public school system, a crop-duster in England, Africa, and the U.S.; and a corporate pilot. During his twenty years as an air force officer he held several positions within the national intelligence community.

A Lonely Kind of War is Harrison's first attempt at commercial writing and is a personal account of his third combat tour in Vietnam. It was undertaken, he says, in response to queries about his role in the war. "I tell people that I was a forward air controller, or FAC, and they just look at me blankly. They don't know that we virtually controlled the aerial battlefields of that war and probably had the highest fatality rate of any aviators over there. Besides, though there have been a great many books written about the Vietnam war, most have been written from the perspective of a eighteen year-old grunt or a forty-five year-old general. I like to think that this book puts forth a more balanced account of combat from the viewpoint of a mature man, yet one who was still young enough to be in the actual fighting."

The book, published by Presidio Press, has projected release date of August 1, 1989. A Lonely Kind of War has been selected by the Military Book Club as the Main Selection for October 1989. A paperback edition is expected in 1990.

Harrison received the Master of Education degree from Texas Tech University. He is a member of the Retired Officer's Association, the Air Force Association, and the Order of Daedalians. He is currently working on his first novel.

Marshall Harrison is the son of the late Orbie Lou Harrison, formally of Winters. Mrs. Harrison taught school in the Winters school system for many years prior to her retirement.

Stenholm

Congressman Charles W. Stenholm (D-TX) on Tuesday, July 11, presented petitions with almost 60,000 signatures on them in opposition to the recent Supreme Court ruling allowing individuals to burn the American flag.

In his address to the House of Representatives, Mr. Stenholm noted the petitions were all from the 17th Congressional District and requested that congress enact legislation preventing any form of desecration toward the flag.

"The people of America feel very deeply about the American flag," Stenholm said. "These petitions represent only a small portion of the number of signatures that are going to be coming to my office and to many other Congressional offices."

Stenholm agreed that Congress should move quickly to take steps to protect the flag but pointed out that the flag issue required a bipartisan effort.

Stenholm has cosponsored several constitutional amendments now being offered in Congress to prohibit defiling of the flag. Noting his reverence for the Constitution and reluctance to amend the document that is at the foundation of the nation's laws except when absolutely necessary, Stenholm also said he would look at whether the issue could be resolved through a carefully worked statute.

Stenholm pointed out that an effective statutory approach could be enacted faster and with fewer possible complications, since the constitutional amendments require passage by two-thirds of both Houses of Congress and ratification by 38 state legislatures.

Chamber honors Gramm

U.S. Senator Phil Gramm is awarded the Spirit of Enterprise Award by the U.S. Chamber of Commerce for his consistent support of the free enterprise system during the 1988 Senate session. Albert D. Bourland, right, presented the award, which recognizes "legislative skills and diligence."

Understanding your grass

According to Melinda Hudson, Soil Conservationist, in order to understand how to maintain grass, you must understand how grass functions as a living plant. Water is one of the key ingredients needed for a plant to survive.

When water is given off in the form of transpiration, a water deficiency occurs in the leaves. The plant replaces this water deficiency by pulling water from the soil. This process continues until the available water within the root zone of the grass is depleted. At that time the grass goes into permanent wilt.

There is a correlation between intensities of grazing and soil-plant moisture relationships.

Grazing has very little, if any, effect upon a plant's ability to pull moisture from the soil until more than 50 percent of the current green leaves and stems are removed. When more than 50 percent of the leaves are removed, the plant's ability to pull water from the soil is affected. As a comparison, a plant that still has 50 percent of its leaves can pull moisture from the soil until the soil has only 1 to 2 percent moisture left. A closely-grazed plant, one that has 90 percent of the leaves removed, will go into permanent wilt when there is still 6 to 8 percent moisture in the soil.

We might compare the leaves of a plant to the handle on a pump. It is very difficult to pump water from a well with out the pump handle. The same is true on overgrazed ranges.

Root growth stoppage also enters into this whole process of soil-moisture relationship. A closely grazed plant not only loses its ability to pull moisture from the soil but its roots also stop growing. When these conditions exist over a prolonged period, the top dies back and a new growth must come from the buds at the root crown. New growth does not start until soil moisture again approaches field capacity. This explains why continuous overgrazing shortens the green grass period and reduces forage yields.

Adequate moisture must be available during the entire growing season for maximum production. When moisture is adequate native grasses produce 65 to 70 percent of their total production during the first half of their growth period, and 30 to 35 percent during the last half. Adequate moisture during the last half of the growth period will not compensate for an inadequate moisture supply during the first half of the growing season.

Just remember to play it safe keep half of your grass plant and graze half. Also, learn to adjust your grazing management for dry years. For more information contact your Soil Conservation Service in Ballinger.

Crews

By Hilda Kurtz

It seems that most of the trouble folks get into these days is through their mouths—either eating, drinking or talking.

Hopewell Church began their revival Sunday night, July 16, runs through Wednesday night. Rev. Bill Bruster of Abilene will conduct the services. David Speegle of the Winters church will be song leader and Carolyn Kelly, Abilene, will be playing the piano. Sunday visitors in church were, S. J. and Helen Brevard of Coleman, Carolyn Kelly and her two children.

Chester McBeth, his daughter, Sybil Tounget of Blackwell and sister, Mable White, Tuscola, attended the McBeth reunion in Cisco Saturday, around 40 attended.

Friday night about 20 friends gathered in the Ken Baker home for a 42 party and refreshments. On Saturday the Bakers and more Baker clan drove to Brownwood to see a movie and ate out, it was Kenneth's birthday. On Sunday Sam and Dee gave Ken a dinner. Others who came were Steve and Benie Stubblefield, Tiffany Prater, Paula and Dee Benaé.

Ray, Sherry, Amanda and J. T. Cooper spent Sunday with Pat and Earl Cooper.

Hazel Mae Bragg, Odessa and M. L. Dobbins ate supper out Saturday night. During the week with Doris and Marion Wood were: Mr. and Mrs. Asa Phelps, Ft. Oscar and Janie Fanning, Abilene; Jewel and Richard Denny; the Maloy Bryant family, Abilene; Larry Calcote and boys, Winters; Robert and Jennifer Bryant; Bernie Faubion; and Frances Mincey.

Effie Dietz, Canterbury Villa, Ophelia, Gaston and Elissa Ernst of San Antonio, came for the Hambricht reunion and spent the rest of their time at the old home place out here. Effie called me Sunday evening and we had a nice talk. She was real proud of the pretty pink pantsuit Ophelia got her. She says hello to all the Crews friends.

Friends from Wichita Falls, Dave, Coleen and Brian Phipps, spent Sunday and Sunday night with Eileen, Jeremy and Tiffany Prater. Other supper guests were Rodney, Gene and Brian Faubion and Harvey Mae and Noble Faubion.

Walter Pape, Santa Anna, spent Monday noon with the Noble Faubions. Noble and Harvey Mae were in San Angelo for Noble's therapy on Monday.

Jerry Kraatz is doing fine after surgery on his neck last Monday in San Angelo.

Ruth and Bradley Pape had a nice visit Friday night when Bro. Jim Lanning, Southside Baptist Church, came out for awhile.

Grandson, Blue Alexander, returned to his home in Lubbock, after a week here with Helen and Norval Alexander.

Judy and Ernst Cooke, Winters, spent Sunday afternoon with Selma and Hazel Dietz.

Ronald and Eugenia Hill spent Friday with Claudia and Robert Hill. Mike and Von also of Sweetwater spent the weekend.

Ann Terhune of Arlington spent several days with her mother, Lillie Presley, and other relatives.

After church services Sunday Natalia and Adolph Minzenmayer had lunch with Marie Kurtz. Odetta and Roy Minzenmayer came later.

Nila and Therin Osborne attended the Hambricht reunion in the Winters Community Center Sunday, close to 40 attended. All three of the Hambricht children were present. Bessie Baldwin, Clarence Hambricht, Winters and Effie Dietz Canterbury Villa, Ballinger.

Adeline Grissom spent Thursday with Mae Hoelscher in Ballinger and put up pickles.

I spent awhile with Agnes Andrae Sunday before church services.

Texas Ranch Roundup slated

Texas Ranch Roundup, Wichita Falls, Texas, August 18-19, 1989. Sample Texas' rich ranch heritage at the ninth annual Texas Ranch Roundup—a unique, western experience where 11 of the state's largest ranches compete for the grand title, "Best Ranch in Texas."

Working ranch hands get down and dirty showcasing true cowboy skills such as team branding and wild cow milking during two fun-filled evenings of arena events. And around noon on Saturday, ranch cooks will serve-up mouth-watering fare such as rattlesnake enchiladas and hobo potatoes during the chuckwagon cook-off.

Browse through western art, country crafts and award-winning photography displays, and let the younger cowpokes entertain you with home-grown skits during the talent competition.

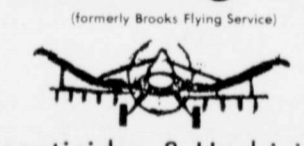

Arena competition starts at 7:30 p.m. both evenings in the Wichita Falls Mounted Patrol arena; other events begin at 10:30 a.m. Saturday. Co-sponsored by Budweiser and the North Texas Rehabilitation Center, the Roundup benefits three state charities. For ticket information, call Teresa Tillman at Cash a Check, 817/691-1723.

Another book written about Six White Horses

Trouble, The Horse Who Is Different, is the fifth in a series of books about Hardin-Simmons University's famous Six White Horses to be published.

Written by Dr. William O. (Bill) Beazley, coordinator of the Six White Horses and vice president emeritus, and illustrated by Loretta Ruth Jackson, both of Abilene, the book is published by J.L. Press of Abilene and printed by The Printe Shoppe. Beazley writes that "Trouble" is a native of Arizona.
