Architect's drawing of exterior of remodeled elementary school.

WISD bond election Sat.

Voters go to the polls Saturday to decide whether to allow the Winters Independent School District Board of Trustees to issue up to $1.75 million in bonds. The money would be used to renovate the primary/elementary school building. The building was built in 1954 and has had no major renovation or repairs since that time.

Voting will take place at the Winters School Cafeteria from 7 a.m. to 7 p.m. on Saturday, January 12. The last day for absentee voting was Tuesday, January 8. Any registered voter who was registered at least 30 days prior to election day may vote in the election.

The Board of Trustees has worked toward the renovation of the elementary building since a report by the thirty-five member Citizens Advisory Committee in August, 1990. Preliminary plans call for renovation from floors to roof, retaining the basic structure.

Following selection of an architectural firm to advise on costs and recommendations for methods of renovations, the Board voted unanimously to call the bond election. A financial advisor was selected to guide the Board through the bond election process and if passed, the selling of the bonds.

The Board also has planned for the temporary relocation of students during the construction period by building a metal building over the concrete slab at the northeast corner of the building. The building would be retained following construction as a physical education facility for primary/elementary students. Temporary classrooms would also be set up in the old gymnasium in order to keep all students on the campus.

Detailed plans have not been made available, because they will not be drawn until such time as the bond issue passes. At that time the bidding process could begin and specifications will be drawn up by the architects as to what the Board has outlined and the architects have recommended.

School officials have said they feel the bond issue can be paid by the same 21 cent debt service tax rate as is presently levied. The bond issue of 1981 will be paid off before any payments on the new bond issue would be required.

Senior citizens were reminded by officials that if they are 65 years of age or older, residence homestead taxes (a house plus one acre) are frozen at the amount paid for the first year the exemption was received.

If the bond issue passes, plans are for the renovation to begin on June 1 of this year. Completion could come as early as January, 1992 if all goes well.

In a talk before the Winters Lions Club on Tuesday, Board President Gary Don Pinkerton stated, in answer to a question, that there are no alternative plans in the wings in case the bond issue fails.

Everyone is urged to get out and vote on Saturday, January 12.

Vote "for" the bond issue

Opinion by Roeneal Boles

The $1.75 million bond issue to be voted on Saturday is an important step for Winters Independent School District and the citizens of the Winters area. The outcome of the election will send a message to the children who will be effected, the faculty of our schools and the people in the surrounding area. Should the bond issue fail, our school district will no longer be able to claim to be the leader in education in this area.

Detailed plans cannot be made until the bond issue is passed. Following the passage of the bond issue, the Board can get into detail as to what floor coverings will be used, where and how many restrooms there will be, etc. Some have faulted the Board for not being more specific as to what will be done. Before the money is available, only general planning can be done.

In attending the School Board meetings and hearing the members discuss what could and should be done, they are sincere in saying they have done everything they can in order to plan the renovation for the least amount possible.

On Saturday, go to the cafeteria and vote YES to the bond issue and FOR the future of our town!

Two former residents die

Harry London, longtime manager of Heidenheimer's in Winters, passed away in Hamlin on January 5. Winters area residents will remember Mr. London for his interest in the community. He was a 60 year member of the Lions Club, most of those years in Winters, and retained his active membership until his death.

Mr. London also would be remembered by those who grew up in Winters and shopped at Heidenheimers and after buying a new pair of shoes or boots "throwing in" a new pair of socks.

Harry London's funeral services were held in his hometown of Anson on Tuesday, January 8.

Another former resident, Robert (Bob) Gans died December 30 in Grand Prairie. Mr. Gans will be remembered as the director of the Winters Blizzard Band from 1955 to 1965, when the band won sweepstakes awards for those ten consecutive years at contest.

Mr. Gans left Winters to become the band director at Borger. He had retired from Grand Prairie High School in 1980.

OIL BUSINESS . . .

By Reg Boles

For those faithful who have been reading my columns, I may have left the impression that the oil business is no fun at all.

I have raved about the inevitability of declining production on any given well and the resulting unceasing search for new wells and fields that must occur to prevent liquidation of an operator's value. I have repeated myself many times on the unfairness of government regulation and taxation of the petroleum industry. The list could go on and on if I wanted to repeat the ways I have repeated myself in the negative vein.

All things considered, I have been much like that mean old school teacher who is sure he knows all the answers and all of them are depressingly grounded in a grim reality. In the process of teaching (loosely defined, here), I have neglected some of the positive and uplifting aspects of the oil patch.

Please forgive me if you will, for it seems most people are sure that those involved in the petroleum industry are all filthy rich and have no problems. In my zeal to deflect that type of stereotype, I have forgotten that we oil people have it pretty good in several ways.

As the new year is upon us, I will try to throw in a few of the positive things about the oil patch along with those "grim realities". A "New Year's Resolution" of sorts. I think I will start with this week's column.

(Another resolution I might be well-advised to make is to make these introductions a little shorter.)

I certainly think the oil & gas business is worth being in, or I would seek another profession. So, I will start by sharing some of the ideals and romance I see in this line of work.

No where else can someone become so rich in such a short period of time. (I guess that confirms to all of you that money is near the top of my list.) Yes, it is expensive to drill wells and such, but if some enterprising soul can find that "can't miss" prospect and make it a reality (luck is a big factor, I admit), then an individual can leap from destitute to high tax bracket in a matter of weeks.

Even though it often requires several misses for every hit, hard work and honesty can pay off big, if the Lord wills it. (If I were being my regular 'ole negative self, I would say a lot of people go broke trying to hit the big one, but there is no reward without risk.)

In the big picture, it is easy to get depressed when the "experts" speak of all major oil fields already being discovered, and when they speak of little hope of finding anything new—especially in Texas where everything has been drilled up. Thank goodness experts don't know much.

The King Sand drilling down in Concho county and the Hruc-betz Field in Runnels and Coleman counties are prime examples of finding a hidden gold mine right under our collective noses.

The King Sand in Concho county, a few miles west of Eden, is about 2000 feet deep—relatively shallow for oil production. Many deeper wells in the area had been drilled without discovering the potential of the King Sand. Some isolated King Sand production had even occurred in the general vicinity with excellent primary and waterflood production, but no one saw fit to continue exploration for additional King Sand reservoirs—until recently.

Production is now in excess of 2000 BOPD from the King Sand in the area. Up from 25 BOPD less than three years ago.

The Ellenburger in the Hrucbetz field had been ignored for years because it was either too thin or too wet, depending on who you asked. When someone finally decided to challenge the "conventional wisdom", a prolific producing field was discovered that made operators and royalty owners very happy. The too thin and/or too wet Ellenburger resulted in the drilling of 40+ wells and significant reserves during the shortages of the early '80s.

These kind of hidden opportunities make the oil business exciting to be a part of. (I just hacked-off a bunch of English teachers by ending that sentence with a preposition.)

The oil patch helped build the idea of the Texas image as self-made people who found their own fortunes. Plenty of other professions have made that type of persona a reality, but oil people exemplify that ability to take control of one's own destiny.

That sums up the "romance" that the oil business holds for me. In many ways, that is why I stay in this business through thick and thin. So, chin up and get ready for a great year, "roller-coaster" to be sure, but exciting none-the-less.

Wagman finals horizontal well with significant test in Runnels County

Wagman Petroleum has closed out 1990 with a significant horizontal completion in Runnels County. The Rhone -119- #1H has been completed at a rate far in excess of most of the state's horizontal wells outside of the Austin Chalk trend in south Texas.

The well was completed flowing 300 BOPD and 15 BWPD in the Tulie Field's Dog Bend formation approximately 15 miles SE of Winters. The well is the second drilled by Wagman in the area as a horizontal test.

The well was drilled to 3284, vertically, and then plugged back at 2945 and drilled to the horizontal to a measured depth of 4096. The top of the Dog Bend was encountered at 3144 (TVD) and 3226 measured depth during horizontal drilling operations. Win-Tex Drilling was the contractor on the well. All other information regarding the well and possible development plans have been kept confidential by the operator.

Hoppes to celebrate 60th wedding anniversary

William "Bill" and Josie Hoppe will celebrate their 60th wedding anniversary, Sunday, January 13, 1991, at St. John's Lutheran Church, Educational Building, from 1:30 to 4:00 p.m.

Hosting the reception will be their daughter, Elaine and Dan Miller; grandchildren, Dawn and Brent Bryan, Francine Miller of Munday, Texas, and J'Dan Miller; and great grandson, Scott Bryan.

Bill, son of the late A. G. and Annie Hoppe, was born south of Winters and attended Hatchel School.

Josie, daughter of the late August and Lena Spill, was born east of Winters and attended Crossroads and Victory Schools.

The couple was married January 11, 1931 on a cold, wet, dreary Sunday afternoon at St. John's Lutheran Church.

They have lived east of Winters for 59 years. The Hoppes wish to invite friends and relatives to this special occasion. They request no gifts, but ask for shared memories to make a scrapbook.

Video Games for the Kid in All of Us

News USA

(NU) - Wondering what treats lie in store for the kid in all of us? Imagine your own personal tour of the Magic Kingdom hosted by Mickey Mouse, Donald Duck and Goofy. Or enter a dream world where the hero subdues his enemies by feeding them candy. Or help two other lovable Disney characters, Chip and Dale, rescue their partner Gadget from the evil Fat Cat.

These video pleasures are available for the entire family through three Nintendo video games created by Capcom U.S.A.: Disney's Adventures in the Magic Kingdom, Little Nemo the Dream Master and Chip 'n Dale Rescue Rangers.

Disney's Adventures in the Magic Kingdom Mickey Mouse, Donald Duck, and Goofy need help in their quest for the six keys that open the Enchanted Castle in Disney's Adventures in the Magic Kingdom. Along the way, the trio takes an exciting ride on Magic Kingdom attractions, making the search a true adventure.

Little Nemo the Dream Master Based on the adventures of a well-known turn-of-the-century comic strip character, Little Nemo the Dream Master invites kids to travel through Slumberland.

Players follow Little Nemo as he visits the castle of the lonely princess in Slumberland. When King Morpheus is abducted by the evil King of Nightmares, little Nemo embarks on a wild adventure to rescue the King and restore Slumberland to its former happiness.

Chip 'n Dale Rescue Rangers The No. 1 rated syndicated animated Disney detective series, Chip 'n Dale Rescue Rangers is now a family-oriented, action-adventure game.

In his evil attempt to gain control of the city, Fat Cat has kidnapped Gadget, Chip and Dale's partner. Players join Chip and Dale as they courageously search the town and face the dangers of Fat Cat's henchmen, deadly killer bees, rabid robot rats and mechanical dogs.

Capcom is one of the first video game companies to focus on entertainment that appeals to the whole family. These and other exciting Capcom games are available at most popular retail outlets.

Afternoon kindergarteners, Frank Ortiz, left, and Tacarra Belk and Matthew Meyer, right, bundle up after school on Monday. Freezing temperatures and thin patches of ice delayed the beginning of school two hours for the first time this year. The afternoon kindergarten classes were not affected by the delay. Their classes began and ended on schedule.

Who Cares???

By Louis Halford
Somebody Cares Ministries

Read Matthew 7:1-5
Some people think they have achieved their best, but there is always room for improvement. We should strive to be the best person that we can.

If God had made all men to be exactly alike, life would be so boring. However, because everyone else isn't just like us, we seem to think we can find faults among our neighbors.

Taking a look at international affairs, we see evidence of this. The Hindus are feuding with the Moslems, as are Jews and other Islamic nations. Many countries are struggling with communism.

In the U. S., lawsuits are constantly filed. Even the body of Christ is often found feuding! We call ourselves a Christian nation, but all the acts of judgement we commit do not resemble Christ's intentions for us.

At times, we act as though we have forgotten we are not faultless. We must remind ourselves that only Jesus is perfect. Therefore, every time we judge our neighbor we are bypassing our own faults, and being hypocrites. There is only one judge for earth, Jesus. In time, each and everything shall be judged, until then, my goal is to concentrate upon praying for people instead of judging them. Will you join me?

If you have prayer requests, we are here to pray with you. God loves you and cares for you and He hears and answers prayer. Please call 754-4790. And remember.....SOMEBODY CARES.

This is the only tug your heart should feel.

Spirit Filled Happenings

By Dixie Leverett
Church Editor

You are reading this so it is safe to say you are alive, at least physically. Instead of making New Year's resolutions, I have a few questions for myself and you.

1. Is serving God a burden instead of a blessing?
2. Have you lost interest in prayer?
3. Have you lost the joy in your life?
4. Have you lost interest in God's word?
5. Is attending church only a formality?
6. Are you jealous of someone or do you have a grudge against someone?
7. Was there ever a day in your life when you were closer to Jesus Christ than you are today?
8. Are you physically alive but spiritually dead?

If you want 1991 to be the best year of your life, there is only one way to do it! And that is through knowing and serving our Lord Jesus Christ. Serving Jesus can put a smile on your face, a song in your heart, and lighten all your burdens. Hebrews 13:8 "Jesus Christ the same yesterday and today and forever."

We invite you to come worship with us at Guiding Light Spirit Filled Baptist Church, located at 1017 N. Cryer. Guiding Light Spirit Filled Baptist Church is a spiritual light growing ever brighter in a seemingly darkened world. Reverend John Haley is Pastor.

FROM A GOLDFISH BOWL

BY PASTOR STEVE BYRNE

I am a sucker for a mystery story. I have read all the Sherlock Holmes stories at least twice. When I take vacation, I usually average reading a Sidney Sheldon or Andrew Greeley novel a day.

That is why I like Epiphany so much.

Epiphany marks the visit of the magi to see the Christ child. Up until that time, most of the revelations concerning Jesus' birth had been more or less private.

The angel Gabriel speaks to the Virgin. The angel appears to Joseph and persuades him to be the earthly father of The Baby. A whole host of angels fill the night skies for the shepherds. But these are rather isolated events, not meant for the whole world. Just for the participants.

The revelations of Simeon and Anna about the identity of this Special Child are, likewise, given to a rather limited audience. Those gathered for the circumcision of Baby Jesus.

But when these three foreign dignitaries showed up at the house where Mary and Jesus were staying some time after the manger event, God was going public with his revelation. The three magi bring with them gifts that are reserved for dignitaries to give to kings. Aha! Our first public clue to the Mystery of Incarnation.

We travel on through the Epiphany Season to gather our clues as to the real identity of The Nazarene. The Baptism of Jesus. The Confession of St. Peter of Jesus as "the Christ." Philip's confession to Nathaniel of who Jesus really is and Jesus' subsequent self-revelation.

Then, of course, we have the Conversion of St. Paul. Jesus' calling of those first disciples. The presentation of Jesus in the temple (at the time of circumcision) as Joseph and Mary's first-born for the service of the Lord. Jesus' first, and quite decisive, battle with an evil spirit. Finally comes the Transfiguration of Our Lord.

Like all good mysteries, each clue, by itself, could be coincidence. Nothing to get excited about.

But for us "Scriptural sleuths," we put them together, and "Eureka!" The identity of our Mystery Man becomes clear!

God has, Himself, created a story and unfolded it, in a way that we mystery lovers can appreciate and love. So we can appreciate His Epiphany even more!

New Life Events

The New Life Pentecostal Church, 601 N. Cryer, would like to announce that due to adverse weather conditions, the services originally scheduled for December 23 have been rescheduled for a later date. Reverend A. L. Creel of the Pentecostal Church of God in San Marcos was to be guest minister. The new schedule will be announced at a later date.

The Pentecostal Young Peoples Association met January 7, 1991 at the Pentecostal Church of God in Carlsbad. The PYPA goal is striving to reach young people for spiritual or other needs.

Jack B. Davis, Sr. is pastor at the New Life Chapel Pentecostal Church in Winters and invites everyone to come and worship during services.

We Urge You to Vote FOR the School Bond Issue

As taxpayers and as parents in the Winters School District, we urge you to vote FOR the School Bond Issue to renovate the Winters Elementary Building.

We have an excellent school system and we want to maintain our facilities in the most efficient manner. We feel that the proposal is the best alternative and the most cost effective plan. Also important is that the bond issue will not increase our school taxes. Most senior citizens taxes are frozen, so it will not affect them.

We support our elected school board in this endeavor and encourage each citizen to vote on Saturday, January 12.

First graders to receive books

First grade students in the Winters Elementary School will all receive a beautiful gift-book entitled My Favorite Book.

My Favorite Book is designed and written to bring "positive" influence into each of these children's lives.

It illustrates the beauty of their work and the people who are in it, especially themselves.

The civic-minded leaders of Mac Oil Field, Lawrence Brothers, and Winters Funeral Home, Inc. who are sponsoring this program see it as a valuable contribution toward the development of the young people in the community.

Wingate School

We're back from the holidays and everyone is rested and ready to prepare for six weeks and semester tests. It is hard to believe that on January 15, this school year will be half over.

Ms. Emry's kindergarten class is working on writing proper names. They made an unusual type of play dough to form their names with. If this dough isn't worked with, it turns to slime. The students did a beautiful job forming their names and they were baked so they will be preserved.

Mrs. Hogan's first and second grade class is studying animals. They are making models of different animals.

Results from the Runnels Soil and Water Conservation Poster Contest winners have been announced. Winners from Wingate were: Michael Pritchard - Second Place Overall District.

Blizzards stake the Indians

On Friday, January 4, 1991, the Winters Blizzard varsity boys and the Jim Ned varsity boys met at the Tuscola gym.

The first quarter of the game saw the Blizzard team leading 16-11. Much of a repeat in the second, with Winters scoring another 10 points to their 6. At the end of the third, the score was 38 to 29 in the Blizzards favor. Final outcome of the game was 58 to 42; yet another Blizzard victory.

Willie Belk and Keith Gerhart were high scorers with 16 points each. Following right along were Greg Tamez with 15 points, Craig Slaughter with 6 points, Leo Campus with 4 points, and Russell Parramore with 1 point.

High rebounder and stealer was Keith Gerhart. Making the most assists were Leo Campus.

The Blizzard team completed 22 of 60 free throws and thirty-six percent of all shots from the field.

This win gives the Blizzards a 12-5 record for the season and a 3-1 record in district play.

On January 7, seventy-two sixth grade students of Winters Elementary were awarded diplomas during graduation ceremonies for the completion of the D.A.R.E. (Drug Abuse Resistance Education) program.

Runnels County Sheriff Bill Baird and Officer Randy West presented certificates to the students, assisted by L. C. Hounsel, Elementary Principal.

OPERA HOUSE PRESENTS MARX BROS. and COMPANY

MARX BROTHERS AND COMPANY ... In the early years of this century the Marx Brothers were serious singers and actors. They were appearing at the Opera House in Nacogdoches. During their "serious" show a team of mules ran away with a wagon. The entire audience ran out to see the runaway. When they returned the angry Marx Brothers began to insult and make faces at the crowd. The audience loved it ... and "comedian" Marx Brothers was born.

Twain Talk

Ho, Ho, Holiday Recovery!

Have you gotten over the holidays? If so, guess you made it through that dreaded activity of putting away all the Christmas decorations. Isn't that just the pits! I think it's a lot worse than getting everything out to start the season.

I don't know about your family, but mine seems to fall into a real stupor as soon as the last gift is snatched out from under the tree and opened.

They start to take on new personalities. The same kids who were so sweet (and manipulative) only a few short weeks before have now become zombies with a profound inability to comprehend the English language. The second I mention that "it's time," they become strangely ill with some vague symptoms. Or they evaporate from the house.

They may even become overwhelmingly compelled to work on their term paper. Or even stranger, they read a real book "for extra credit" at school!

And sweet hubby decides all of a sudden that it's time to put down winter fertilizer in the front yard even though there's a foot of snow outside.

But being the "perfect" mother that I am, I know that my family needs to share this wonderful "quality time."

So I get a big stick and chase them, threaten to return both their gifts, and finally, as a last resort, I hit them with the real biggie - no more Blue Bell ice cream until the decorations are stored!

Well, wonders never cease. No sooner do I get down off my "high horse" than all the little cherubs begin yanking, wadding, throwing and smashing the heirloom decorations into anything that will hold them.

This makes for great fun next year when we frantically search for Aunt Tilly's handcrafted, dough-art camel that more likely resembles Humpty Dumpty after the Great Fall.

Hubby doesn't feel quite as obligated to help. Seems every year he does the same thing. He quickly points out to the rest of the family that all his decorations are neatly packed away already. (The secret to his success is that he never took them out of the box.)

He has six boxes of outside house lights still sitting in the corner of the garage. The only trip those lights have taken has been down the attic stairs and directly into the same corner for the past four years.

At least he gets all his stuff together every year. It really gets under my skin to spy a leftover Christmas ornament four days after I've packed everything away. Why can't I see a big wreath hanging on the mantle?

(I secretly believe my kids do this to me on purpose, just to watch that vein pop out on my forehead.)

Anyway, in keeping with one of my resolutions for 1991 to be more patient, I've decided not to fret over the decorations dilemma. Whatever goodies are still out, I'll just consider a headstart for next Christmas.

Bob Moore announces candidacy for state representative

Bob Moore, 57, of 100 Nelson & Hogan Street, P. O. Drawer 72, Comanche, announced that if Representative Jim Parker resigns from the legislature, he will become a candidate in the Special Election to fill the vacancy.

Moore is a veteran, educator, oil and gas owner-operator with agriculture experience as employee and owner.

Moore's experience is as follows: Korean War Veteran 4 years, Sul Ross University graduate, teacher-coach 10 years, Paymaster Seed Co. 1 year, agriculture aerial spraying business, commercial licensed pilot, resided in Eastland County 12 years where he created two successful businesses, the Bob Moore Transport Co. and the Bob Moore Oil and Gas Production Company. He became a drilling consultant for Energy Development Corp. in Abilene, working his way to Executive Vice President of Operations with a gross of $5 million annually. He retired about one year and then purchased a ranch in Comanche County and operated it for 5 years before selling to the present owner.

Moore is married to Beverly Moore who teaches second grade in the Comanche Primary School. They have five sons: JoBob of Cisco who is with Cisco Pump and Supply; Byron of Southland who is an attorney in Lubbock; Blake of Lubbock who is a state bank examiner; Blair of Ralls who is a farmer; and Bobby of Honolulu who is employed by Continental Airlines. Bob and Beverly also have five grandchildren.

In a statement to The Chief, Moore said, "I'm excited about running for your state representative! I feel I am highly qualified for this position because of my varied and versatile background. I have been an educator and certainly realize all the problems existing in that area. The educators in Texas need a friend in Austin and I will try my very best to be that person, not because my wife has been one for 24 years, or that I was one for 10 years, but because there are problems in Texas and District 65 needs someone to speak up and to defend their rights."

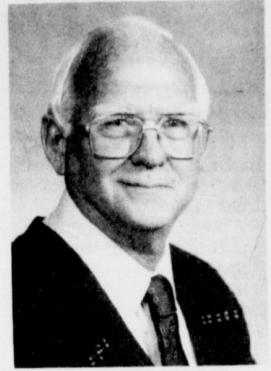

"I have built several businesses, agricultural and other, from the bottom up to a very successful level. These involved budgets and personnel and I know the issues that will be involved in these areas. District 65 needs a person who can give them 100 percent of their time and energy and since I'm retired I can do just that."

"I will try my very best to make a difference in our district, for all the people, big or little, educators, businesses, and the agricultural, who are the backbone of this area."

"Their issues and platforms are vital and I hope I can be elected so I can meet them head-on. I'm certainly not afraid to speak my mind and those who have served on boards with me know that I will defend strongly what I believe is the best. Sometimes that doesn't gain you any friends, but I won't be going to Austin to become popular. I will be going to do what is best for each and every one of you, in District 65, if elected."

Day seeks state representative seat

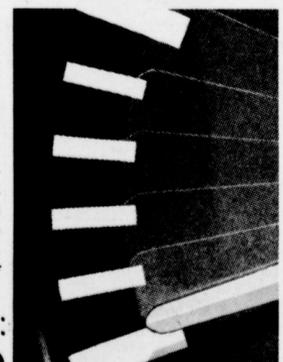

Bob Day, Chairman of the Brown County Democratic Party, has announced his intention to be a candidate for the 65th District State Representative seat expected to be vacated by Jim Parker. Day was a delegate to the Democratic National Convention in 1988 and took a very active part in the recent campaigns of all of the top elected officials in Austin. He feels that he will be well positioned to look after the interests of the 65th District.

Day attended school in Bangs and Brownwood and graduated with highest honors from Howard Payne University with degrees in Psychology and Biology. He is an Air Force veteran who served in both the Korean and Vietnam wars. He owns Brownwood Teaching Aids and is a member of the Brownwood Chamber of Commerce and the Downtown Brownwood Association. Due to the nature of his business and the fact that both his wife Joyce and daughter Thea Griffin are teachers, he is extremely aware of the problems in the area of education in Texas. Day presently serves on the board of directors of the Brownwood public library and is treasurer of the Pecan Valley Genealogical Society. He is Past Commander of the Disabled American Veterans and is an active member of other veterans' organizations.

If elected, Day said that he would represent all of the people of the 65th District, and not the Austin establishment or the lobbyists. Furthermore, Day said that "Unless the people of my district told me to do otherwise, I would vote against pay raises for the Legislature and oppose any new taxes. I want to emphasize that if I go to Austin, the voice of the senior citizen, the veteran, the small business person, the teacher, the farmer, and the ordinary person who works for a wage will be heard just as loud as that of the fat cat and high roller. THIS IS USUALLY NOT THE CASE."

"I feel that as a conservative, I am in step with the majority of the citizens of the 65th District," said Day. "I am one of the real people whom I seek to represent in Austin."

This year's cookie sale will encourage girls to continue to "grow with pride in Girl Scouting," as the funds raised provide troops with many opportunities that they could not otherwise afford. While Girl Scouting is lots of fun for each girl, it is also a growing and learning experience. The cookie sale is designed to help girls learn about a variety of areas including: sales techniques, money management, planning and goal-setting. Girls become more responsible by serving their customers, handling money, and planning what they will do with the profit. Through the cookies that each girl sells, she can earn her way to summer camp and other Girl Scout program events.

Girl Scout council president, Janice Smith of Weatherford, says that the cookie sale is much more than a simple fund raising activity. "As we begin our sale this year, we realize that we are carrying forward a tradition of quality-quality program for the girls in our communities and a quality product for the hundreds of thousand of customers who enjoy Girl Scout cookies each year," Smith said.

There are currently more than 79 girls in 6 troops in Winters who are benefitting from the Girl Scout program. Volunteer leadership for the girls is provided by more than 43 adults in our community. Girl Scouts in Winters are part of the Heart of Texas Council which serves more than thirty-five hundred members in central Texas.

While earning is a vital reason for the annual cookie sale, learning continues to be the value that takes precedence for the Girl Scout organization.

Girls establish their own sales goals. They have an opportunity to learn that: a well-known product whose quality is carefully controlled is easy to sell; customers appreciate courtesy, promptness and reliable delivery of goods; effort and initiative are rewarded by the incentives and awards system; the hard work of each member contributes to the shared success of all members in reaching program goals.

Girls take pride in earning their own way for special events, including summer camp. Camping facilities were built and are maintained through the cookie sale. Heart of Texas Girl Scout Council has operated a resident camp at Lake Brownwood since 1956.

Planning and decision making, an important part of the Girl Scout program, are also an inherent part of the cookie sale. It offers girls an opportunity to set goals for a special project, to make worthwhile choices for the use of money, to establish and live within a budget, to be responsible for management of their own bank account.

According to president Smith, the Girl Scout cookie sale is not perceived by the public as just another fund drive for very good reasons.

"Girl Scouts have been selling cookies for more than fifty years. In a sense, we have raised our own market. Grown up Girl Scouts who are wives and mothers today have fond memories of their cookie selling days. They remember being scared to death to knock on that first door to make that first sale, and they remember that each new sale made them walk a little taller as they discovered friendly, interested, caring support of their Girl Scout aims," Smith said.

For more information about the Girl Scout Cookie Sale in this area, contact Service Unit Cookie Chairman Teresa Davis at 754-5422.
