Begin Gin Repairing.

Cecil Glenn is one busy man these days. He has "hooked a real hot job." He has begun to repair the gins in which he is interested for the fall ginning.

Glenn Brothers own the Maverick gin. This partnership consists of Cecil Glenn and his brother James. They are working now putting the Maverick gin in first class condition for the incoming season.

Mr. Glenn also owns a gin at Norton. Soon as the gin at Maverick is finished in its overhauling Mr. Glenn will completely go over the gin at Norton and have it in splendid condition. Mr. Glenn has the true West Texas spirit—he is looking forward, expecting and is getting ready for a big cotton season. May it be so.

Baptist Board Meets.

The executive board of the Fairland Baptist Association met at Union Sunday. Missionary Bilderback of Miles was present and made his report to the board which was a fine report and was satisfactory to the board members present. The Missionary's salary was paid in full and he was instructed to go into the summer meeting campaign.

F. O. Key and Earle Ivey "done" San Angelo Monday.

Won Art Medal.

Miss Ruby Davis, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. I. E. Davis, was a student in Simmons college, which is now a University, won the medal for the greatest advancement and best pupil in the art department the past year. The medal is in the form of a gold pin. Miss Davis appreciates it very much and her friends are happy with her in the winning she made.

Breaks Ankle.

Homer Walton happened to a painful and serious accident in the Reagan county oil field first of the week. A piece of iron fell on him, breaking his ankle. The injured limb was given immediate attention and Homer came home and is able to be out on crutches.

Jack Caudle and family have returned to their home at Hale Center after a week with friends here. Mr. Caudle took advantage of the occasion to call on The Enterprise, square his account and advance his figures a year to "the old home town" paper, for which we thank him. Personally we would be glad to see Mr. Caudle and family return to Bronte. But, "Jack" is pretty badly "sold" on the plains—he talks so glibly about that country, if one did not know, he would take Mr. Caudle to be a real estate agent.

FIRST COTTON BLOOM BROUGHT IN

Lee Graham whose home is a half mile north of town, brought the first cotton bloom we have seen this season, to The Enterprise office Monday morning, June 15th. That isn't so late after all, is it for cotton blooms? With a rain or two at the right time and old Coke will come into her own this fall in the way of a bumper crop.

Off For the Llano.

A party departed early Monday Morning for the Llano river, on fishing and a general outing and good time bent. The party consisted of Mr. and Mrs. T. C. Price, Mr. and Mrs. F. O. Key, Jack Caudle and family of Hale Center, and Mr. and Mrs. Frank Keeney. They will be out a week and went away anticipating a most delightful outing.

Shivered and Showered.

Monday night was made so hideous for Mr. and Mrs. James Glenn that they did not know exactly what the ending was to be. About the ominous hour of midnight they were awakened from their slumbers with a noise that had in it every note and sound from jazz music to cow bells and cow boy yells. Soon as they could come to themselves they recognized that they were the victims of an old-fashioned shiverer by their friends. And the noise was so large in volume that the victims thought all of Coke county had turned out to take part in the procedure.

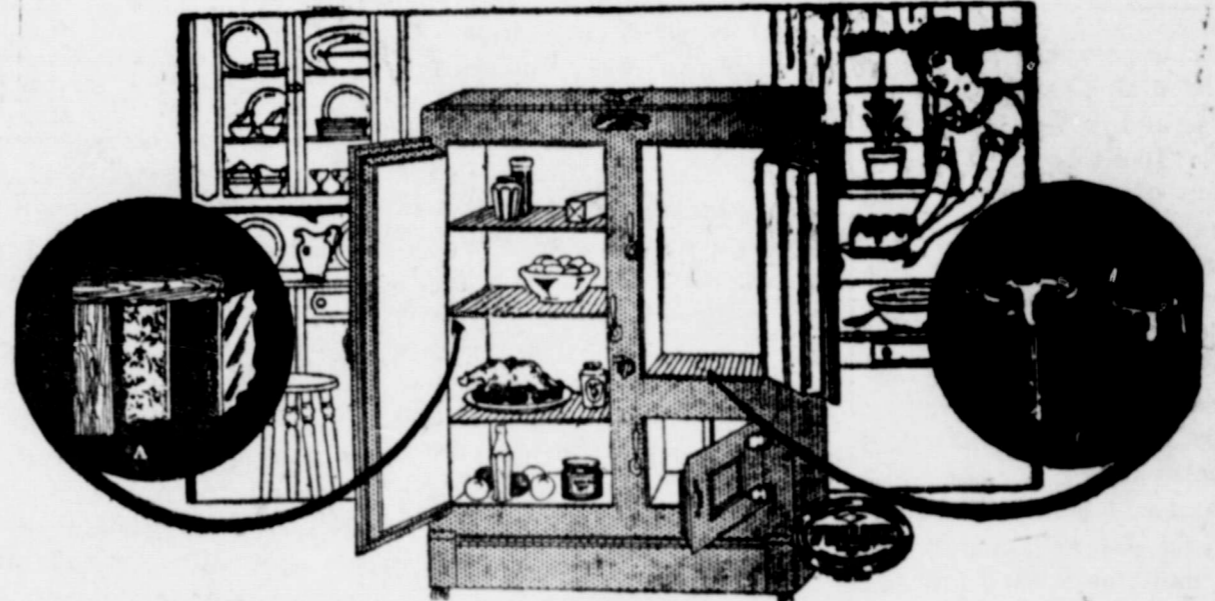

But, a bad beginning has a good ending, so goes the wise saying. And thus it proved for Mr. and Mrs. Glenn on this occasion. When they had opened the doors of their home they found that there were about seventy in the group that was on mischief bent. The young men caught Mr. Glenn and compelled him to sit down and then Mrs. Glenn was seated beside him by her friends. A large umbrella was stretched over the twin. Then the guests threw their packages at the two. It was a happy occasion.

Rev. W. E. Anderson and family went to Stamford Tuesday for a few days visit.

Ivey-Maxwell Nuptials.

Mr. Ernest Ivey of Bronte and Miss Elizabeth Maxwell of Robert Lee were united in marriage at the home of the bride's sister, in Bronte, on Wednesday evening of last week, June 10th, in the presence of a few invited guests and immediate members of the families of the contracting parties, Rev. W. E. Anderson officiating.

The marriage of these two excellent young people brings together two of the old and widely known families of Coke county. Mr. Ivey was born and reared here, and is a young man of exemplary habits and has been a trusted employe of the Oumbie & Company for a long time. The bride is the accomplished daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Maxwell, and has many friends not only in Robert Lee and Bronte but throughout this section who will join in wishing her and the one to whom she has pledged herself every blessing in life.

THE AUTOMATIC

Makes Your Ice Work Overtime

Ice in the Automatic does double duty—provides you with pure chilled drinking water—keeps your food ever fresh and wholesome and lasts much longer. Ice lasts longer in the Automatic because of which keeps cool air in and hot air out. The continuous one-way circulation of the Automatic gives you an absolute DRY COLD food compartment, which is essential to keeping food flavors. Any kind of vegetables may be safely placed in the Automatic food chamber with open milk vessels. The patent provides pure chilled drinking water without any extra ice. Placed conveniently in the partition wall between the food and ice compartments it does not lessen the space in either.

The most momentous question of the hour: Have you been fishing?

That woman who killed her husband because he would not dance with her is a "back number"—most of 'em are killing their husbands these days because they dance with the other man's wife.

It is a serious thing to entertain the belief that another is a hypocrite, much less to express the belief. For hypocrisy means insincerity and there can never be insincerity without falsehood either spoken or acted. Serious people are slow to express the belief that another is insincere in any matter, especially in matters of morals and religion, unless they have the indisputable proof of the hypocrisy of the one in question. In that event, it is alright to speak, provided you speak, not in a spirit of bitterness, but only that the facts may be known to all, so that truth and justice may obtain and such hypocrisy exposed and condemned.

"Amen corner hypocrisy" is the most diabolical and damnable false of any species of hypocrisy. To sit up in the congregation of worshippers and sing psalms and offer prayer, then, go out and simply because the hypocrite fails to make some one do just as he wants him to do, take advantage of his place in the church and of church relations to injure the one at whom he becomes angry, is a course of conduct of which the devil himself would be ashamed. For when a man stoops that low and prostitutes relations sacred as the Bible teaches church relations to be the devil knows that such a man will come to the place where the devil himself can't use him, for his hypocrisy will become so outstanding, when the hypocrite's course becomes generally known, he will be just such character as Christ had in mind, when he said, "Without he is a whitened sepulchre, but within he is full of dead men's bones." According to Christ's conception of such a fellow in the foregoing, he is an infamous character, so much so that he becomes a stench in the nostrils of every fair minded person, just as fast as the facts become known. And the Bible says, "Be sure your sin will find you out."

Disgraces will continue to occur, with all their consequent shame and sorrow, long as thoughtless mothers continue to give their daughters the liberties that young women generally are taking today. No mother should be so foolish as to think that her strain is too pure blooded and too high minded for such to befall her offspring. In spite of the fact that the "high brows" don't want to believe it and deceive themselves into thinking that their particular strain of family blood has a superiority over the "common herd," the Book says "we are all of one blood." And passion is a common heritage—not a curse except when abused and prostituted to shameful ends contrary to moral and civil law—of all normal beings. And parents are criminally guilty when they turn their girls and boys loose to associate together promiscuously, and spend their nights together out in cars. Shame and sorrow deeper than hell will be the portion, every time, parents allow it. Three mothers of boys have said since we have been in this town that they have lost control absolutely over their boys because of the waywardness of girls with whom the boys in question associate. Sad comment isn't it? We say it with charity for all, and with the deepest sense of responsibility, but, mothers, you had better watch the step of your little girls and some of the older ones. We could tell some parents in this

We also carry all kinds of tires and tubes, both of the best grades and as cheap as the inferior grade. Whatever you need in the auto line come to us. town some things that would make their cheeks burn with shame and that would provoke a killing. Yet these very parents are guilty of the thing against which we are warning—permitting their daughters to be out at night with young men, left to themselves, no one knows where, in cars. Fathers and mothers, you'd better listen to this plea of a friend, if you really love your children, before it is too late and shame finds its way to your own door step.

Forest, Homer, Wylie and George Clark had a successful fishing trip on Spring creek first of the week.

M. E. Church Notes.

The sun shone with all his rays of light filled with a soothing atmosphere Sunday, and many gave up and took the day for sleeping. However, there was a goodly number for Sunday school and church services who interred into the spirit of the services and went away feeling that it was good to attend upon the services of the church.

The services at Hayrick were well attended and all seemed to enjoy the hour.

We just got through about half of our discussion on the mode of water baptism, and we will finish same Sunday morning.

We will decide Sunday morning whether we will have a Sunday school picnic next Wednesday or not.

Come, we bid you welcome—join in the song service.

Eustin Woullard "Guilty."

We had heard the report two or three times, but could never get the direct proof on Eustin. But, Monday, while in San Angelo, we came face to face with the "evidence." We had heard that he was married, but could never get the absolute facts. But the other day as we walked leisurely down the streets of San Angelo we saw something at a distance which proved as it came nearer to be a smile. And we then discerned that the smile was on Eustin's face. Then we discovered walking by his side one of San Angelo's fair young women. Our first thought was, "we've caught him." But, Eustin came right on up and met us and introduced the young lady as "my wife." It's a little late, but here is our very best wishes for Mr. and Mrs. Woullard as they go on life's journey together.

Glenn-Johnson Nuptials.

Mr. James Glenn and Miss Angle Leta Johnson were married Sunday afternoon at 5 o'clock at the home of the bride's mother, Mrs. L. Johnson.

Pink and white predominated in the color scheme. Ferns and roses were profused throughout the home, giving a pleasing effect. As the strains of Mendelssohn's wedding march played by Mr. Lamar Chapman were heard, Rev. W. E. Anderson entered, followed by the maid of honor, Miss Patsy Caudle, of Hale Center, who was attractive in powder-blue georgette and lace with hat and slippers to correspond, carrying an arm bouquet of pink and white sweet peas, accompanied by Mr. McNeil Wylie, who was best man to the groom.

Then came the bride and groom and paused under a large white wedding bell which helped to form the improvised altar.

The bride was lovely in filet lace with tuck net over orchid. Her hat was orchid lace, and slippers harmonizing. She carried a shower bouquet of white and pink rose buds.

Through the beautiful and impressive ring ceremony, said by Rev. Anderson, fraumeri was played very softly. Immediately following the ceremony the bride and groom led their attendants and guests into the room where their beautiful and many gifts were to be seen, and there received the congratulations and heartfelt wishes of the members of their immediate families and friends present.

Of the forty-two guests registered those out of town were Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Caudle and Miss Patsy Caudle of Hale Center.

Mrs. C. C. Glenn presided at the table where punch and angel food cake were served.

The groom and bride presented the best man and the maid of honor each with a lovely gift.

These are two of Bronte's finest and most popular young people and they set sail on the seas of married life, with the good wishes of their host of friends.
