Faces and Places of the Yesteryears

The editor and Mrs. editor had a most delightful time the last week end.

The place was Rockwood, in Coleman county.

The occasion was the "home-coming" celebration of the Rockwood Baptist church.

All former members and pastors of the church who yet survive, were extended pressing invitations to attend.

And they were there!—they came from everywhere. They were present from Luling all the way to West Texas. Eighty-six visitors were enrolled in the guest book. These were eighty-three former members and three former pastors.

The writer was one of the three former pastors.

The occasion and the visit carried us back to the yesteryear of life. Our entry into public life had its beginning partially at Rockwood—it was the second church the leadership of which we ever assumed.

The time of our relations with the congregation and community were away back, and back into life's beginning with us. We were a young man then—barely out of our teens. To be exact, it was thirty-six years ago. And we had never retraced our steps back to the old church and community. But through the years we have cherished memories of the place and its people that have been sacred—for, they are those, not only those of the immediate church, but the people of all the community, who took a kindly interest in us as the "boy preacher." Hence when the invitation came, like a boy waiting to go to the circus, we could hardly wait for the time when we should go.

The visit was one back to see "the faces and the places of the yesteryears." For, we not only went to Rockwood but returned by Santa Anna, where we also were pastor of the Baptist church beginning in 1900 and concerning which place and our friends there we have cherished memories as hallowed as those of Rockwood and its people. However we have visited Santa Anna since leaving there and have kept more in touch with them.

But, Rockwood, we had not seen since leaving there—and we looked into faces and greeted and mingled with those we had not seen for well nigh forty years. The boys and girls of the days of memory are now old enough to be, and some are grandparents. A scattering few of the "old guard" yet remain. Most of them however, of the older ones of the other days have grown old and not so very active in life. As we walked among them again and renewed friendships of the long ago, we felt almost as if we were in some strange dreamland and conversing again with those of a long, happy, golden past.

Reaching the town, we inquired for Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Rutherford. Being advised that they yet abide and were still at the same place, we drove out to their home, about a mile from town. It has never been the writer's privilege to enjoy a more intimate and enduring and happy friendship than that with Mr. and Mrs. Rutherford. The children have all grown up, gone out and married and have established their homes. So, we found Father and Mother Rutherford in the evening-time of life happy notwithstanding the oncoming years have taken most of their vitality, and Mother Rutherford suffers from impaired eyesight. It was like going back to the home of our own parents, almost, to visit these two life-long and faithful friends again. And we found many of the homes that were there in the other days to which we were bidden welcome and which would have been delightful to us to visit again.

The gathering at the church was all the name of the occasion, "home coming," implies. Not only the members of the immediate congregation but the people of the entire town and community united to make the visit of the returning former members and ministers, one delightful to the last degree. Old-fashioned picnic lunch, with abundance of barbecue, was served each day at the church.

One of the happiest features, aside from the fellowship of the occasion, was the singing by Joe Trussell, song evangelist of Brownwood. Mr. Trussell is well known in Bronte and all know with what power he sings. Mr. Trussell asked about many of his Bronte friends.

Two of the very busy and happy people of the crowds were Rev. and Mrs. W. D. Kirkpatrick. Rev. Kirkpatrick is the present pastor. He and Mrs. Kirkpatrick are doing a great work, not only for their immediate church but the entire community. Rev. and Mrs. Kirkpatrick were here some time ago and directed a church school. They sent regards to their friends at Bronte.

Another happy surprise to the writer was to meet Rev. E. W. Swearingen, formerly pastor of the Methodist church at Norton and Marie. Rev. Swearingen is pastor of the Methodist church at Rockwood. He is esteemed not only by members of his congregation but by the entire community and he is doing a most excellent work. Rev. Swearingen addressed the gathering Saturday evening and his was a happy and helpful message. He made inquiry about his friends and the people generally of Norton and Marie and the entire Norton-Bronte country. His many friends throughout this part of the country will be glad to have this greeting from Rev. Swearingen and to hear of his continued success.

One of the most greatly and most happily surprised of all, perhaps, was the Mrs. editor. Prof. E. L. Allison is superintendent of the Rockwood school. Mrs. editor taught with Prof. Allison when he was superintendent at Menard. That was in 19—well, Mrs. editor forbids our saying how long ago that was, for it would make her to be beyond 35 now. Anyhow, both she and Prof. Allison were gladly surprised to meet each other again. It also developed that Prof. Allison and the writer had known each other since 1904. It was a genuine pleasure to meet him again.

The three former pastors present were Rev. C. V. Carroll, Brownwood, Rev. Edgar Owens, Bangs and the writer. Everybody seemed to regard Revs. Carroll and Owens as "old men," while the writer, of course, they regarded "just as a kid." Ahem!

In the early afternoon on Sunday "good byes" began to be said, as the visitors began to depart for their homes—the visitors going away with choked emotions heaving in their bosoms because of the memories of "the old home church and home community" and the fresh, gentle memories that would linger with them because of the "home coming." And the home folks likewise were both gladdened and saddened because of the coming of the "old time" home folks and

THE WOMAN'S PROGRESSIVE CLUB

The Woman's Progressive Club met on September 5 with Mrs. O. W. Chapman hostess at the home of Mrs. R. E. Cumbie. This being business day the house was called to order by the president Mrs. Lucy Warner resigned as president and also Mrs. R. L. Keyes resigned as reporter.

The club elected Mrs. Frank Keneey as president and Mrs. O. H. Willoughby reporter.

The club has for their study this winter "International Relations Through Travel."

The program for the afternoon was on France, which was rendered well. Each member felt like they had been to France at the close of the program.

The club welcomed a new honorary member, Mrs. Louis Stucky, and also had present four guests, Misses Elizabeth Leonard and Mildred Rawlings, and Mesdames F. S. Higginbotham and O. P. Heidel.

A delicious salad plate was served by the hostess.

Bronte Band Nucleus of One Hundred Piece Band to Play at Dallas Fair

"Big things are doin' " for the Bronte band.

There is not a band, even in the larger cities of West Texas that has gained wider recognition than Bronte's band.

And the end is not yet—even greater glory awaits this musical aggregation from "that little town out West that has that fine band."

The latest and most important recognition, perhaps, that has been given the Bronte band is that it has been chosen as a nucleus around which a 100-piece band is to be assembled from over the state, at Dallas on the 20th of this month, which will give concerts at the Texas State Fair for two days—from the 20th to the 22nd.

J. K. Morris, state director of the F. F. A. Band of Texas will be in charge of the assembled band at Dallas. Mr. Morris believes that with the Bronte band as a nucleus around which to build a 100-piece band, he can and will get together a musical aggregation that will become "the talk" not only of the South-west but of the entire country.

The showing the band makes in its concerts at Dallas the above dates will determine as to whether or not the band will go to Kansas City this year, as they did, last year, to fill an engagement at the National F. F. A. Convention.

Of course, everybody in these parts believes that if a trip to Kansas City is contingent only on the laddies "putting over" a concert program in a great way, they will "bring home the bacon."

Do your dead level best, boys, and "here's hopin'."

Prof. Fitzhugh, instructor in the Vocational Agriculture Department of the Bronte school, and C. C. Holder, the band's director, will also go along with the boys.

BLACKWELL HAS A TRADES DAY PLANNED

Recently the business men of Blackwell and other progressive citizens of the town and community organized a Blackwell Commercial Club.

Already the town and community have begun to "cash in" on their co-operative effort in behalf of community affairs. Recently they had a "Get Together" party that was largely attended and was a most enjoyable affair.

The Club is now sponsoring a Trades Day. The fourth Monday in each month has been set as the regular Trades Day. The first Trades Day, therefore, will be Monday a week, October 23.

They are planning to "pull a big un," and The Enterprise has turned out for them a lot of advertising literature.

Everybody is invited to the big affair and there will be much "a doin' " that day.

After long months of suffering and being bed-ridden, Prof. T. J. Kellam was down town the other afternoon shaking hands with his many friends and talking and laughing almost as if he had never been ill. It certainly is a matter of much rejoicing to his friends that this man who has put a smile in the heart of the world, all over the country, as a chataqua entertainer, is now coming back to health and strength.

Hon. Frank Dickey of Ballinger and M. C. Cobb of Paint Rock passed through the other day, going to Robert Lee. They took time to give us a brief but most delightful call. We don't know what we have done to deserve such delightful consideration at their hands. Mr. Cobb is now engaged in the ranch business in Concho county.

DISTRICT COURT

District court convened at Robert Lee Monday, with Judge John F. Sutton presiding.

An indictment was returned by the grand jury of assault with attempt to murder against Merie Price, Philip Anderson and Carl Stewart of Brownwood. The charge was based on the shooting of T. F. Sims, night watchman at Bronte, some three weeks ago.

Three Mexicans were billed for theft, growing out of the robbery of several stores in Bronte some months ago. The two men were given 22 years on the three counts.

Indictments also were returned against two white men for bootlegging, in connection with the taking of the largest still in these parts, some time ago, by the sheriff's force.

RODEO AND RACE MEET TO BE HELD IN BRONTE

Plans are fast taking shape for a rodeo and race meet in Bronte.

The big event will be staged Thursday and Friday, October 26 and 27. Bronte has, perhaps, the best rodeo grounds and equipment of any place in the West. And the management propose to see to it that everything is "on the square" and that those who attend will get their money's worth in clean western sports. Many of the widely known entertainers will be present.

One of the leading features of the two days program will be a nanny goat milking contest between lady entrants—this is said to be something worth while in the way of sports.

There will be carnival attractions and a real worth while entertainment is promised by the management.

Community Talks

BY ULMER S. BIRD

"MY BROTHER'S KEEPER"

The interest of every community in the county affects every other community.

If the young people are going to the bad in one community, the influence reaches over into other communities for miles around. Your own home is apt to suffer because of the neglect in the community life of a place ten, fifty, or even more miles away.

So it behooves us to do all in our power to help build God-honoring, moral, upright communities all around us—for the welfare of our own as well as others.

THE BRONTE ENETRPRISE
Editor and Business Manager
D. M. West

Entered as Second Class Matter at the Post Office at Bronte, Texas, March 1, 1918, under Act of Congress, August 12, 1871.

STATEMENT OF OWNERSHIP

Of The Bronte Enterprise, as to its ownership and indebtedness, as required by law, for October 1, 1933:

The owner, editor and business manager is D. M. West, Bronte, Texas.

Mortgage holders: Intertype Corporation, Brooklyn, N. Y.—against intertype typesetting machine only.

Duly subscribed and sworn to as required by law.

With "Machine Gun" Kelly and "Katharyn" off the front pages, who will be next?

Work on highway 70, started in Tom Green county Thursday. It may be that old Santa will give the traveling public highway 70 as a Christmas present, completed to San Angelo, except the topping.

That gangster that was shot down in Chicago the other day, when he realized that he was going to die, called for a minister. We recall that "Uncle Bill" Kellis has said that a preacher is a "handy man" around a funeral—but elsewhere he is not "worth hell room." So, "Uncle Bill" and gangsters seem to be of one mind at least in one matter.

Congratulations to Blackwell's business men and their cooperative effort to bring trade to their town and to put new life into their community. They are a set of boosters and community builders. They are taking the "de" and "i" out of depression. Let it be hoped that they are the Moses to lead some other communities hereabouts out of the wilderness of confusion and "do nothing."

A leader of Jim Ferguson forces in San Angelo, addressing a gathering in that city the other night, advised all Ferguson supporters to pay their poll tax. Hence, it is evident that they are getting ready to follow the Ferguson fortunes again. If their plan is to pit "Farmer Jim" against "Silent Tom," there ought not to be much of a race of it— for "Silent Tom" will be afraid to speak if there is someone who disagrees with him, according to his illustrious attitude on the liquor question.

"Uncle Bill" Kellis and his brand of democrats certainly should feel complimented, in the light of what is being uncovered at Austin, with reference to their boasted loyalty to the party nominee. It was the vote of yourself, "Uncle Bill," and others like you that elected the Fergusons to power. They are the products of the votes of democrats like yourself. You can't plead that you did not know it would turn out thus. So, "Uncle Bill," for the sake of party loyalty you should stand hitched and train your "editorial machine gun," on any man that would criticize the Fergusons. They are the choice of the majority of the democrats of Texas, and it is treason against the party and a kind o' double crossing your own candidate.

FAMILY REUNION

A family reunion of the M. G. L. James family, in the Brookshier community, Sunday, October 1st.

The reunion was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. M. Hibbs. Mrs. Hibbs is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James. Mr. and Mrs. James reside at San Angelo.

There were sixty-two relatives present and enjoyed the day together. There were eleven children present. It had been four years since the family were all together.

A beef was barbecued which with the other delicious edibles made a sumptuous repast.

Merry conversation was indulged during the day and a general good time was enjoyed by all.

PASSION PLAY IN SAN ANGELO BY BOY SCOUTS

Many persons from Coke county who saw the European Passion Players from Frieburg, Germany, when they gave the great Passion Play in the Municipal Auditorium in San Angelo in the spring of 1930 have said they were going back to see it again next Thursday or Friday because of the spectacular character of the play and because it is to be given this time in English.

The Passion Play attracted the largest crowd of any performance that ever has been shown in West Texas. It is particularly significant this year because this is the 300 anniversary of the Oberammergan Passion Play. The Frieburg Passion Players have been presenting the play in Frieburg for over 160 years. This is their farewell tour of this country as their passports have been extended for the last time permissible by law. Many of the actors are descendants of the original cast. Only four of the actors have been changed from the troupe which presented the play in San Angelo three years ago.

On its previous performance the tickets sold for from $2.50 to $1.00 each. This year the prices have been greatly reduced. There are 1000 tickets at 50 cents for the night performance and 800 reserved seats at 75 cents and a dollar. The afternoon performances are 25 cents for school children and 50 cents for adults, no reserved seats.

Pastors of the churches in Coke county have been asked to make announcement of this greatest of all modern dramatizations because it portrays so vividly and truthfully the greatest lesson in history.

All the profits of the engagement will go to the fund for making improvements at Camp Louis Farr of the Boy Scouts of West Texas. Even the newspaper advertising and space and all the radio and billboard announcements have been donated so that the fund will be large for the Scouts of this section.

As in previous shows the seats may be reserved by patrons living outside of San Angelo simply by mailing in their reservations to the Boy Scouts of San Angelo or to the Standard-Times office.

CANCER'S TOLL IN TEXAS

Austin, Texas, October 12.—"The increasing number of persons in Texas dying from cancer, justifies a warning at this time against cancer quacks and so-called cancer cures. While newspapers, as a rule, do not carry any advertising of this type, there are many other ways by which misinformation can reach the public. Undoubtedly there are many persons who, being thus detoured from seeking proper advice, unnecessarily become cancer victims, while others not having cancer, are fleeced out of much money for a cure," stated Dr. John W. Brown State Health officer.

"There are but two ways of treating cancer. First, by surgery; and second, by the use of radium or X-ray. Treatment must be started early and in the hands of a competent surgeon. Surgery is relied upon to remove cancerous tumors and is used in nearly two-thirds of the cases. X-ray or radium is used to advantage in one-third of the cases. Frequently the two methods are combined. Self-modification, serums, colored lights, pastes and salves, and diets are valueless.

"The great bulwark against cancer is early diagnosis. Every case is an emergency and it is unfortunate that the majority of those with cancer do not seek medical advice until beyond permanent cure. No hope should be placed in fake cancer prophets and their treatments. Rather, the annual physical examination and an immediate reporting to your physician of any symptoms which may be suspected to be the beginning of cancer, should be relied upon. These symptoms are: Any unusual bleeding from any body opening, any lump in the breast or other part of the body, any persistent sore, particularly on the face or mouth, and chronic indigestion. These conditions may not be cancer, but sometimes they are forerunners of the more common types of this disease. Where cancer is suspected, do not delay, but consult your physician at once."

“Thank Goodness, Jim,

COLD WEATHER NEVER DELAYS US!

Ann: “Betty would be late on our first air trip, but as usual when it gets cold, it's to be expected.” Jim: “You mean that temperature actually has an effect on her promptness?” Ann: “Yes, she is very prompt ordinarily—it's a case of car trouble in cold weather. Bill doesn't see that the difficulty is in his choice of gas and oil.” Jim: “Well, Ann, you couldn't expect everybody to buy Conoco, could you?” Ann: “If everyone knew how Conoco oil and gasoline protect both you and your motor against the difficulties of cold weather driving they would!” Jim: “Guess I'd better get Bill on the phone and see what the delay is!” Ann: “Please do!”

Betty: “We had the most awful time, Ann! We were ready to leave in plenty of time, but when Bill tried to get the motor started, it wouldn't budge. After running down the battery he rolled the car out of the garage and got some one to push it till it started—and just in time. The car just doesn't seem to work right.” Ann: “It isn't the car, Betty, it's the oil and gas Bill buys. Why don't you tell him to get Conoco Germ Processed Motor Oil and Conoco Bronze Gasoline—they are more economical and have cold weather performance that gives us instant starting and “Hidden Quart” protection.” Betty: “I'm sold!—and Bill will be too just as soon as I get to him!”

CONOCO at the sign of the Red Triangle

Full motor protection, especially in cold motor starting, can be found only in Conoco Germ Processed (Paraffin Base) Motor Oil because the penetrative oiliness, called “The Hidden Quart,” stays up in your motor and never drains away.

Instant Starting and Lightning Pick-up can best be obtained with Conoco Bronze Gasoline, and without sacrifice of Long Mileage, Greater Power and Anti-Knock advantages. For cold weather starting it cannot be excelled.

When planning a trip for business or vacation, write the Conoco Travel Bureau, Denver, Colo., America's largest Free Travel Bureau.

REPRESENTATIVE H. O. JONES WRITES LETTER

Representative H. O. Jones of this the 92nd Representative District, writes from Austin, under date of October 11, as follows:

To the People of the 92nd Representative District:

I know you are wondering why I have not been keeping you posted as to what has been done during the Special Session, but even the newspaper reporters could not do this.

In the first place, will say that we were called down here by the Governor to consider three subjects, one the Anti-trust bill; the bond bill and the refrigeration and repairing of the Governor's mansion. We have had all of these bills under considand disposed of the Anti-trust bill and the refrigeration bill. The bond measure is still in conference as the House and Senate could not agree on the amount that was to be issued and the method as to how it should be handled. Besides these three bills, there has been more than 300 bills offered in this session. We have been quite busy and I fear that there are some bills that have passed the House that should not have passed. While there are some bills that will be for the benefit of the people, but others I fear will not. I have tried to study each of these bills and vote for the best interest of my district.

I noticed in the morning paper in big headlines that the Solons are calling for an extraordinary session to keep them here another possible 30 days. I want to say that I was not one of the ones that signed this petition to the Governor, and think that we have done all that is necessary in legislation at present. From what I can understand, it is a bunch that wants to call a special session to raise revenue, and it seems to me that instead of us trying to raise revenue, we should try to cut expenses to meet our present income. I am opposed to another called session and believe the majority of my people are of the same mind. I am trying to represent my district in a way that will be for the best interest of all Texas.

Should there be another special session called, I want it understood that I am not one of the ones that has insisted on the call. There was a petition yesterday presented to the House and I understand that there has been something like fifty names signed to it, and it seems now that another special session is going to be called.

Hoping that it will not be called, and that I will soon be home again with you, I beg to remain,

Yours very truly,

H. O. Jonts,
Representative 92nd District.

now their going away again. Memories! Memories! How they shall live and bless and gladden all who were present to the end of life's earthly way!

The Coleman County Baptist Young People's Convention met Sunday afternoon with the Santa Anna Baptist church. Miss King, one of the fine young women of the Rockwood church, is president of the county convention. On invitation from her, the writer was privileged to return to Santa Anna and deliver the address of the afternoon before the young people. Hence, it was another hour of "faces and places of the yesteryears." It was a magnificent group of young people, and the privilege of looking into their faces and addressing them was, and is, indeed, an inspiration.

The young people's meeting over, after saying "howdy" and good bye to the old-time friends and the new-made friends the editor and Mrs. editor turned their faces back to "the golden West" and to home, arriving about nine o'clock at night, tired and sleepy, but lay down to dreams of the gladsome day and of old-time and new-made friends—of "faces and places of the yesteryears"—pleasant and sweet as "songs in the night."

Pay your cemetery dues—do not neglect this.

It's subscription time. Thanks.

MARRIED

Friday afternoon, October 6, 1933, at the home of the editor, the writer officiating, Mr. Charlie Fletcher of Bronte and Miss Lucille Vinson Tennyson were united in marriage.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Vinson and is one of the popular and cultured young women of that section, and has many friends who wish her much happiness in the married life.

The groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. E. B. Fletcher. He was born and reared here and comes from one of the old-time families of this section. He is receiving the congratulations of his friends upon his good fortune in winning the one he has as his life companion.

The Enterprise joins with their friends in wishing these happy two every blessing in life.

J. L. McKown of Oak Creek is another to divide "cotton money" with us. Thanks.

Due to a belated shipment of newspaper stock The Enterprise will reach some of its readers late, which we very much regret.
