BRONTE, COKE COUNTY, TEXAS, AUGUST 19, 1938.

NUMBER 32.

Norton Minister to Preach Here Sunday Morning

Rev. J. H. Thompson, pastor of the Bronte Methodist church, requests The Enterprise to announce that Rev. Hubert Crain, pastor of the Norton Methodist church, will fill the pulpit of the Bronte Methodist church at the 11 o'clock hour Sunday morning.

Rev. Thompson is leading in a meeting this week for Rev. Crain and his church at Norton.

Rev. Thompson states that Rev. Crain is a capable pulpit speaker and therefore he will have a message Sunday morning that will please and that will be inspirational and hence the pastor insists on all who will to hear the visiting minister Sunday morning.

There will be no worship in the Bronte Methodist church Sunday evening.

Rev. Thompson reports that the Norton meeting is making progress and he is hopeful of a final good result. "However," said the minister, "Norton is a church town and nearly all the people are already members of the church."

Another Coke Rattlesnake Story is This

Recently The Enterprise carried a rattlesnake story to the effect that a lady near Bronte shot three mother rattlesnakes and immediately more than a hundred baby rattlers, ranging in length from four inches to eight inches came out of the mother snakes at the gunshot wounds and were killed by the lady.

Our good friend, E. J. Lambert, manager of Higginbotham's at Winters, a man "whose standing for truth and veracity" is known everywhere, assailed this editor personally, the other day and said that was "just simply too many little snakes."

Since our friend does not want to believe our "little snake story" we here now give him "a big snake story."

B. A. Bell, carrier of route No.

Bronte Young Lady in the Path of Tropical Storm

Miss Virginia Youngblood, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. L. T. Youngblood, who is on a trip to Cuba and other points, wrote her parents that her ship crossed the path of the tropical storm that was raging on the Gulf of Mexico, the latter part of last week, as Miss Youngblood was en route to Havana.

Miss Youngblood graphically described the storm and her feelings in her first experience in a storm at sea. She said that she and Miss Charlene Morrow of Robert Lee who is with Miss Youngblood on the trip decided, perhaps it might be true, they were not "landlubbers," but was definitely settled for all time to come that they are "landlovers."

Misses Youngblood and Morrow will be away some weeks, visiting different places of interest before they return.

One of the mails of the United States out of the Bronte post office, is something of a "snake-killer" himself as well as a faithful and popular distributor of your Uncle Samuel's mails.

This morning as we were rushing to get to press Postmaster R. J. Epperson came running into our office with the hair of his head standing straight, and breathlessly exclaimed, "Come, quick!" Thinking there might be a "down town fight" about "passing the biscuits" or some other vitally important question we rushed out "post haste" leaving our typesetting machine running. Just as we got out in the street Mr. Bell threw the hideous monster out of his car at our feet. When measured the reptile measured exactly five feet and nine inches by the yard stick. And in circumference the snake was not less than six inches.

How's that for a "big snake" story?

Now, it's your time—you tell one.

H. P. Fancher was carried to a San Angelo hospital Thursday for treatment. Mr. Fancher is one of the truly oldtime pioneers of this section and his many friends will wish for him restoration to his usual good health.

"NIGHT PROWLERS' CLUB" BEING ORGANIZED

This is an age of clubs—no doubt about that. But, it seems that Bronte with its progressive spirit always seeks to go in the lead along all lines.

Therefore, we hear it talked in whispered tones on the streets that a new club is in the process of organization. From the best information gathered from the "whispering campaign" the new club is to be one of the real "aristocratic kind." There is some dispute yet, it seems, between the promoters of the new club as to its name. But, there is a leaning to the name "The Night Prowler's Club."

There are said to be two very rigid constitutional qualifications as to membership, without which one is not eligible to become a member. The first is the ability of the prospective member to get his wife away from home. The second is the adeptness of the prospective member to amble down the back alley on the darkest night without getting caught or otherwise getting his reputation or the reputation of his beloved club injured.

It is said that the new club is bound to go over with a whizz and a bang!—for, both the brains and the money of the entire community are behind the club's existence. The promoters are said to be L. T. Youngblood, Bronte's banker, and B. B. Covey, Bronte's school superintendent.

Of course, it is here and now understood that anyone who gets a copy of this issue of "the old home town" paper into the hands of the wives of the promoters will be regarded as the eternal enemy of the "night prowlers"—as both ladies are away from home.

Deeply does the editor regret that he is not eligible to membership—for, we are not possibly mentally capable sufficient to get our wife away from home—only one way and that is the price of a new dress, which we don't have. If we could raise sufficient to buy a few yards of calico and tell her to go to the city and get the new dress that is always coveted, then, we'd have a chance—but, as it is, Alack!—no prospect for any "night prowling" for us—and it is not worth while to pay lodge dues and not get the benefits.

Therefore, gentlemen and promoters of this very necessary club, we express our regrets at our ineligibility to membership, but wish for you, each and every member, the depths of the delights of "night prowling."

The fact is, now, confidentially to our aroused readers by this time, it could be that the two gentlemen involved in this new club organization could be giving us "a hand out," for this publicity of their daily (or rather their nightly) conduct, since the wife of each one is away from home, and this will mean that both ladies will be coming home without any further requirements, upon the information of the leanings of their husbands to become "night prowlers."

TO BLOIS CAMP MEETING

A party of Bronte people departed Tuesday for the Blois Camp Meeting near Fort Davis.

The party consisted of Mrs. Louise Johnson, Mrs. T. C. Price, Misses Anna Lee and Ruth Price, Mrs. Omar McQueen and little daughter, May Ruth, Mr. and Mrs. D. K. Glenn and Mrs. E. C. Rawlings.

"Dem Coloradah watermilions sho an mighty fine!" So, says everybody—and they are just now getting luscious and fine!

Homecoming of the Pioneers at Edith, Sunday

The annual homecoming of the pioneers of Edith and of Coke county will be held Sunday.

For several years this annual event has been held, and have always been most inspirational and enjoyable occasions. They are occasions that are always largely attended. Many of the best citizens Coke county ever had in the pioneer days came and settled in that section in which Edith is located. And there, which was then away out on the western frontier, both men and women, the noblest heroes and heroines, known to history, they fought back the many obstacles, overcame the difficulties of this great frontier country and established here a civilization that challenges the admiration of the world.

Hence, it is meet and is tenderly beautiful in its sentiment for the people today to meet in annual gathering devoted to the memory of those hardy pioneers.

Lunch will be served at noon, old fashioned picnic style to all who attend, according to word from Mrs. Sam Powells, a member of the program committee—but let all bring a well-filled lunch basket, for the burden is too great for those of the immediate community to entertain at lunch the large numbers expected to be in attendance.

The editor acknowledges both with honor and delight an invitation from the committee to be the memorial speaker for the day, speaking on "To the Pioneers—Those Who Have Passed On and Those Who Remain."

OBSERVES 84TH BIRTHDAY

A picnic style lunch, on the Colorado river, Sunday, was the way the children and grandchildren of Mrs. T. M. Herron, and other relatives had her to observe her eighty-fourth birthday.

The birthday cake with eighty-four candles had been cooked, which were lighted and "grandmother," as she is affectionately called by all, blew out the candles.

There were six children and a number of grand children and great grand children and a few invited friends in attendance.

Those present were Mr. and Mrs. James Herron and sons, Dwain, Bill, Jack and Burleson, San Angelo; Mrs. Carrie McDorman, Texaco, New Mexico; Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Sharp, Helen, Buster and Harem, Eldorado, Texas; Mrs. Ed Hickman, Edward, Jr., Mac and Fred, Edith, Texas; Mrs. Frankie Turner and Frances Beth, Edith, Texas; Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Warner and Miss Pearl Mae, Bronte; Mr. and Mrs. Walter Modgling, Miss Iva Dell, Wayne and Don, Bronte; Mrs. Lillie Pruitt and Misses Hortense and Ernestine, Bronte; Mr. and Mrs. Noah Pruitt, Noah, Jr., Francis, Dwain, and Maxine, Bronte; Mrs. Austin Sandusky, Mary Louise, Judge, and Dewey, Bronte; Mr. and Mrs. Pat Beaver, and Warren and Dean, Bronte; G. A. Best, Alvie Best, Bronte; Norman, Montie, Doris and Mary Louise Alexander, Bronte; Murl Andrews, Robert Lee; Hyman Teague, Ballinger.

The Enterprise editor joins with her many friends in wishing this gracious grandmother many happy returns of the day yet before she shall leave this earthly way. Some of life's most golden memories are associated with this dear aged woman—for we

Local Banker to be in Local Pulpit Sunday Morning

Rev. A. V. Bradley is engaged in a meeting at Barnett school house in Runnels county, near Ballinger, this week and hence could not fill his pulpit with his congregation Sunday morning.

But, Rev. Bradley counts himself fortunate as pastor in having at least one man in his congregation who is not only capable but is also willing, in the absence of the pastor, to take hold of the church's worship and carry on in the pastor's absence.

The gentleman in question is L. T. Youngblood, president of the First National Bank. While always quite a busy man with his many private affairs, yet Mr. Youngblood always finds time—or rather takes time, to give attention to the demands of his church.

Mr. Youngblood will fill the pulpit for his pastor Sunday morning. Upon request from The Enterprise for his topic for the Sunday morning address, Mr. Youngblood said that his topic will be "Forgiveness."

The Enterprise does not intend to turn moral lecturer or spiritual advisor—but we do pause to say that it is a most wonderful topic, this busy, everyday business man has chosen as a theme for discussion, and one that is supremely practical because it is a most timely topic. Indeed, it would be worth while for our entire populace to attend this hour of worship and hear this discussion—"for, if ye forgive not men their trespasses against you, neither will your heavenly Father forgive you."

C. C. Glenn Has His Norton Gin in Fine Condition

C. C. Glenn, the Norton gin man, announces in this issue of The Enterprise that he now has his Norton gin plant in ship shape and is ready to "gin the first bale."

Mr. Glenn has given his plant a thorough overhauling, from the engine room to the press room. Mr. Glenn has installed a new automatic hydraulic press—the very latests and best there is.

Mr. Glenn has been in the gin business many years and knows the absolute importance of having his gin machinery in A-1 condition. For a long time he has owned and operated his gin at Norton and has many business friends among the farmers of the Norton country. Hence, he always does his best in the matter of keeping his machinery in up-to-the-minute condition.

Let our readers in the Norton section of the country who are interested in the question of ginning cotton read Mr. Glenn's announcement elsewhere in this issue of The Enterprise.

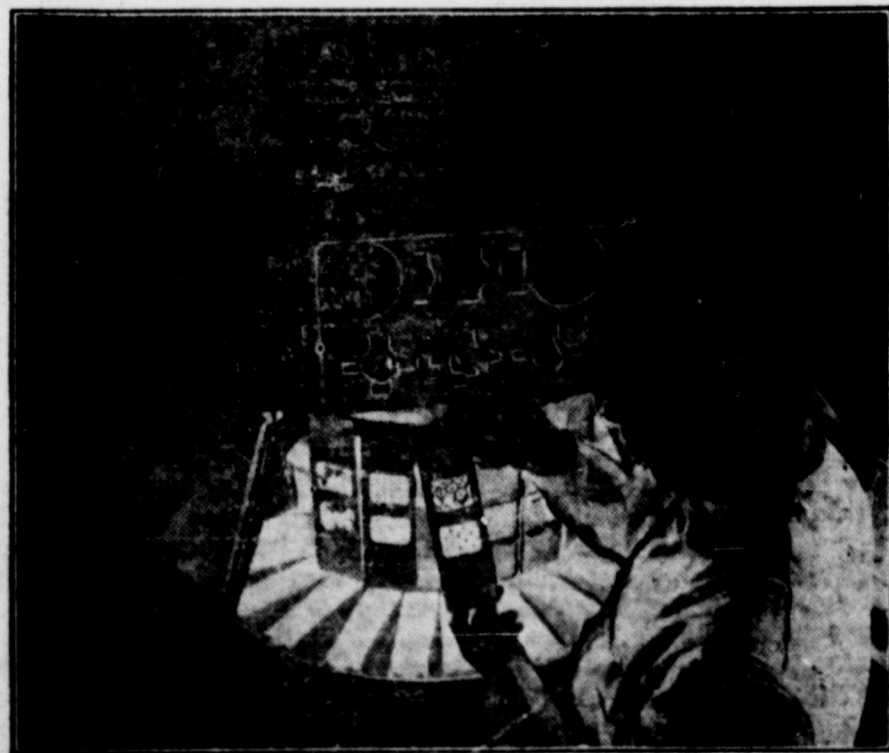

CROP PROSPECTS

Crop prospects in most of the country of Bronteland, just at this time seem to be most encouraging. While the worms and other insects are doing some damage, yet not as much as they are doing in other parts of the country, according to reports.

With normal prices it seems Bronteland at last has its face turned towards the East again.

have known her from our babyhood. She and husband and the parents of the writer were neighbors before we were born.

Science Beats the Sun

INDUSTRIAL engineers have now developed the device shown above. Consumers information reports, to test colorfastness of fabrics, so that manufacturers can make sure in advance that their materials won't fade in the sun. Women never used to be sure that their dresses and draperies would retain their original brilliance until they had actually been exposed to sunlight. But through the use of this machine, developed by industrial research experts, it is now possible to tell whether dyed fabrics will hold their color. This is just one more of the many examples of how industry helps the consumer.

METCALFE'S FIGHT AGAINST OLD FOLKS
Brings to Mind the "Builder Poem"

An old man going down a lone highway,
Came at the evening, cold and gray,
To a river, vast and deep and wide,
The old man crossed in the twilight dim,
That sullen stream had no fears for him,
But he turned when safe on the other side,
And built a bridge to span the tide.

"Old man," said a fellow pilgrim standing near,
"Why waste your strength building here,
Your journey must end with the end of day,
You never again will pass this way,
You've crossed this river so deep and wide,
Why build you this bridge at evening tide?"

The builder lifted his old gray head,
"Good friend, along the path I've come," he said,
"There followeth after me today,
A youth whose feet must pass this way.
That river which was but naught to me,
Might to that fair haired youth a pitfall be,
He too must cross in the twilight dim,
Good friend, I'm building this bridge for him."

Yes, these old folks who have built this bridge for us are now down and out. These folks who have pioneered this State so that we might prosper and live in a land of plenty have reached the western slope of life. Mr. Metcalfe says to them by his vote you are not deservant of a decent living but should be given only a pittance upon which to live.

NOT SO with Ross Prescott. He says by his vote that 30 dollars a month is not much, but that each old person should be entitled to that much. Ross Prescott is not an ingrate, but believes that these fine old people should be adequately cared for during the declining years of their lives. These statements substantiated by House Journal 45th Legislature: pages 386, 387, 342, 466, 730, 852, 853, 878: PRESCOTT'S PENSION PROGRAM IS IN LINE WITH O'DANIEL.

CHOOSING A PUBLIC OFFICIAL

In making a choice between two people for public office the voters should keep in mind first of all the character and ability of each one.

At least two other questions are worthy of study.

One is the extent to which each one is in need of the job. Last week that question was answered for one of the candidates through the papers.

Other one, Miss Myrtle Hurley, it is appropriate that the voters be advised of the fact that the gross income for her entire family consisting of five persons does not exceed $50 per month, excepting a small pension which her aged father receives and uses mostly to take care of his medical needs.

She does not have any other job in view, and has no college degree making her eligible for advancement to lucrative positions with the PWA or other government work. She does not have a relative in the C. C. C. paying her $18 a month or more. She doesn't have any other person in her family who is eligible for employment except one sister and she is only temporarily employed without promise of permanent work.

These conditions have existed for a large part of the 27 years she has lived in Coke County and she has met them nobly, patiently, and heroically. The other question is the matter of devotion to the welfare of the people of the County.

AS TO MY FINANCES

To the voters of Coke County:

It seems there is quite a bit of misunderstanding in regard to my financial status and since it will be impossible for me to contact a great number of the voters before the run-off on August 27, I feel it is essential that I make a public statement of my financial resources.

I am classed in the WPA sewing room as an intermediate at a maximum salary of $31.50 per month; I gather news for the Robert Lee Observer for $2.50 a week and for the San Angelo Standard at the rate of 7c a column inch and I phone deaths and occasionally write a feature

A Final Word

To the voters of Coke County:

It is going to be utterly impossible for me to see each one personally before the second primary because of the lack of time and my duties at home.

This is to say, dear friends, I will appreciate everything you do for me—both with your vote and your influence.

CANDIDATE FOR COUNTY TREASURER

story for the Abilene Reporter-News for which I have received an average of $1.25 a month—some months as much as $3.00 and other months nothing but my subscription to the paper. My maximum earnings for any month of the past two and half years has not exceeded $47.00 and roughly estimated, it has averaged $41.00 and with this I have to feed four, pay house rent, lights, and every other bill that goes with maintaining an ordinary household. It would have been a physical impossibility for me to work full time in the WPA sewing room, gather all the news and at the same time make any sort of a political campaign and for that reason my total earnings for the month of July was $28.60.

Two of my five children are still at home and in school and, to correct another misunderstanding that is current, we have had no support for the past two and a half years other than the earnings of the children and myself.

Sincerely yours, Mrs. B. M. Gramling Candidate for County Treasurer.

Miss Sybil Wynn, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Wynn, departed Wednesday for Porterfield, California, where she will enter school. Miss Wynn was a graduate of the Bronte schools in the 1938 class. Miss Wynn made a fine record in the Bronte schools and all her many friends know that she will do the same thing in the California school—in fact, it is yet to be seen if California has a girl that keeps up with a Texas girl when it comes to mastering the courses in the textbooks. Anyhow, The Enterprise joins with the many friends of Miss Wynn in wishing a delightful stay in the Golden Gate State, a successful term of school and a safe return home next spring. Of course, "dad" and mother have our sympathy in their lonely hours while their "baby girl" is away from home. Miss Wynn will stay with her sister and family.

"Lonesome? NOT AT ALL!"

Convalescence is much less tiresome when you have an extension telephone in the bedroom, for you can then talk with many more friends than could possibly come to see you. Convenience is another reason you'll want one . . . an extension telephone saves many steps each day. And privacy . . . so you can have personal conversations without the embarrassment of having others overhear.

And a bedroom telephone gives a reassuring sense of security at night, should emergencies of any kind arise.
