NUMBER 45.

CARL HENSLEE

Carl Henslee, cashier of the Winters State Bank, who died at the family home in Winters, Saturday afternoon, November 5. Interment was in the Winters cemetery. Deceased had resided in Winters for nearly twenty years. Religious services were conducted at the Winters Baptist church of which deceased was a member and a teacher of the men's Bible class. He was a successful business man, a splendid citizen, a man of genial and likeable spirit, devoted to his family, loyal to his community and to his friends—indeed, a good man has passed and West Texas has lost one of its most useful citizens.

New Methodist Pastor is to Arrive Saturday

Rev. Reginald Hardy, the new pastor of the Bronte Methodist church, and family, are expected to arrive in Bronte, Saturday from Friona, where Rev. Hardy was pastor before being transferred to the Southwest Texas Conference and assigned to the pastorate at Bronte.

The ladies of the church, aided by the other members, have set the parsonage in order. They have put a new roof on the building, and painted it on the exterior and re-papered the interior and otherwise beautified the interior of the building. It now has a striking and beautiful appearance. Likewise the ladies have completely rearranged the furnishings of the parsonage. They have had some of the furniture newly upholstered and made to look like new.

Hence when the new pastor and family arrive they will find a good and comfortable home awaiting them.

The Enterprise in behalf of not only all the members of the congregation which Rev. Hardy comes to pastor, but in behalf of all our people we extend welcome to Rev. Hardy and family, and join with all in the good

J. W. Stephenson Dies in a Fort Worth Hospital

No death of a young person in or around Bronte, in many years, caused more universal sorrow than did the death of J. W. Stephenson, who died in the Methodist hospital at Fort Worth, Thursday, November 10.

The body was returned to Bronte Friday and interment was in Fairview cemetery, at Bronte, late Saturday afternoon, following religious services, at the Kickapoo Baptist church, three miles north of Bronte.

The parents of deceased had taken him to Dallas to a heart specialist for examination, from which ailment deceased had been a sufferer for some years. They had started on their return home with him. As they reached Fort Worth he was stricken and was instantly in a dangerous condition. He was taken to the hospital and all that could be done, was done to relieve the sufferer, but he found no surcease until death came and caught away the spirit of this fine boy.

Deceased, son of Mr. and Mrs. Will Stephenson, was born August 28, 1913, making him to be in his twenty-fifth year when death called him from life, much as he loved life and desired to live.

Deceased professed faith in Christ at the age of twelve and united with the Kickapoo Baptist church, of which he was a member until death.

The religious services were tenderly beautiful and comforting. One of the largest concourses of people ever known to attend the funeral of a young person was present. It was a warm, gentle, beautiful autumn afternoon—the hour was growing late and the autumn sun was over in the western sky. The pastor, Elder C. L. Carrol, Rev. J. A. Branaman of McAdoo, former pastor of the family of deceased, and the writer, conducted the religious services. The flower-laden casket was placed at the altar. The choir sang the old hymns of the church, with some special numbers being given. The pastor read the Scriptures and spoke some fine words as to the life and character of the dear boy who had passed. The writer, as an old friend of the family, at their request, also spoke. Elder Branaman, also an old time friend and former pastor of the family, spoke. All that was spoken was fine and inspirational and comforting in its sentiment. Glenn Branaman of Levelland and his sister, Miss Archie Branaman, sang a special number to the memory of deceased. Glenn Branaman and deceased were boyhood chums for many years—hence, it was tenderly beautiful for Mr. Branaman, now a business man in his home town, to trek his way back to the scenes of his childhood and sing the beautiful number, with his sister, to the memory of his boyhood friend.

Following the religious services the body was carried to the cemetery and placed there as the sun was setting, and as the old week was dying, to sleep undisturbed until time shall be no more.

From the human angle it is tragic that one so young and so full of the ambitious dreams of youth as was "J. W." had to be taken in the early morning of life—yet, from the viewpoint of the Christian concerning death

FLOWERS FOR THE LIVING

The editor is in receipt of the following beautiful bouquet of flowers in sentiment from H. O. Whitt, Adjutant of the local George Scott Post, American Legion, for the small part we had, both in these columns and in a personal way in the Armistice picnic and program sponsored by the legion, Thursday evening, November 10. It is just like H. O. Whitt to make one "feel plum good" with his fine words—in fact, it is just like the American Legion to make others "feel good." They certainly made all America to "feel good" when they went across and whipped the kaiser and his cohorts.

Thanks to you, Mr. Whitt, for the kind words—but, in reality, we feel the words of appreciation are due to come from others, as well as the writer, to the local "dough-boys" for the delicious picnic lunch and the excellent and highclass program that was rendered:

Bronte, Texas,
November 12, 1938.
Dear Bro. West:

We appreciate so much your every kind act, in putting our picnic over and are so happy to know that people like you are always willing to help with their talent and facilities to make it possible for a community to have get-togethers like we had. We are very grateful to you and want to say "thanks a MILLION."

Sincerely,
H. O. Whitt,
Adjutant.

President and Governor, on Red Cross Work

H. E. Smith, of Robert Lee, county agent, sends The Enterprise the two letters below with request that same be published:

The American people rightly look upon the American Red Cross as their great national relief agency whenever and wherever disaster strikes. They know that when their sympathetic instincts are aroused by the human suffering which follows in the wake of catastrophe it is the Red Cross, representing all of the people, which speeds practical, sympathetic relief to the families of the stricken community. We have had very recent evidence of that in the wake of the tragic hurricane which devastated New England and parts of New York.

Immediately after that disaster the various Federal agencies, working in close cooperation with state and municipal officers and with the Red Cross, were able to be of tremendous service in their respective fields to the afflicted communities, and are continuing their activities.

In order that we may continue to rely upon this great institution of mercy to thus serve suffering humanity in our name, we must all do our part when the Red Cross calls upon us. Each year there seem to be ever increasing demands for Red Cross service, both at home and abroad. We have learned through the years that these calls are never in vain.

Once each year, during the period between Armistice Day and

Armistice Picnic and Program a Happy Affair

One of the happiest social occasions enjoyed by the people generally in and around Bronte was the Armistice picnic and program, sponsored by the local Geo. Scott Post, American Legion, Thursday evening of last week.

From the first to the last feature of the evening's program, everything was delightful to the last degree. The program consisted of a picnic lunch and a literary and musical program of varied features.

The picnic lunch was served at the Baptist tabernacle, a la cafeteria. The menu consisted of barbecue chicken, kid, mutton and beef, and cakes and pies of the delicious kind that only the mothers, wives, sisters and sweethearts of the "buddies" can cook. The barbecue was the last word in deliciousness in the style in which it was cooked and served.

Following the picnic the people repaired to the Methodist church where a program of worthwhile and fine features was rendered. The chief speaker of the evening was Senator Penrose Metcalfe of San Angelo, who, himself, is a "buddy." Hon. Metcalfe brought a patriotic message that was inspirational, couched in choice diction, which caught the popular ear of his auditors.

H. O. Whitt, adjutant of the local post, assisted by all the others of the members of the post, directed the various features of the evening, which was to the constant delectation of all in attendance.

Indeed, the local post is made up of some of the finest and best citizens of the town and community and they are "making good" in "the arts of peace" as they did in "the arts of war" in 1918.

THE RATLIFF STORE HAS UNIQUE AD OFFER TO LADY CUSTOMERS

J. C. Ratliff, owner and manager of the Ratliff store, believes in going after business in every fair and legitimate way. So, in this issue of The Enterprise he is launching a unique offer to the ladies of all the Bronte trade territory and all others who desire to take advantage of the offer. The Ratliff store has full explanation of the plan and it means elegant hose to the ladies without cost. Read the ad.

Dr. H. A. Swan of Abilene, a specialist, will be in Bronte Monday. Read Dr. Swan's ad in this issue for particulars and if you suffer from any of the diseases he treats Dr. Swan invites you visit him.

Thanksgiving, the Red Cross appeals to all our people to share in its work for the coming year through individual memberships. The membership dues are paid at that time make possible its continued service—local, national and internationally. I urge most earnestly that this appeal be answered by our people everywhere.

(Signed)
Franklin D. Roosevelt.
In Texas, as in other states, the American Red Cross will again conduct its annual membership enrollment during the period, Armistice Day to Thanksgiving, November 11 to 24. What

MISS BERNICE BANNOWSKY

In a quiet home wedding, with only the members of the families of the contracting parties present at 2 o'clock this afternoon, at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. J. Bannowsky, Miss Bernice Bannowsky will become the bride of B. G. Stephenson of San Antonio, with Rev. D. M. West officiating.

Miss Hazel Spiller of Junction, a chum and friend of the bride, will be the bridesmaid, while W. T. Stephenson of Bronte, brother of the groom, will be the best man. The father of the bride will give her in marriage. Miss Cloreta Bruton will sing "Cathedral in the Pines," and Mrs. Chester Bannowsky of Junction, aunt of the bride, will play the processional and will also play softly on the piano as the nuptial vows are administered.

The bride is one of Bronte's fairest and most cultured young ladies. She was a graduate of the 1938 class of the Bronte schools and has a host of friends who will wish her increasing happiness as she enters life with the one to whom she is giving herself in marriage.

The groom is a Bronte young man, the son of Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Stephenson of the Brooksheer community. He is now enlisted in the army, at Camp Nor-moyle, at San Antonio, in the 55th Quartermaster's Division. He is a technician in the Maintenance Department. He is a young man of fine and splendid habits and has made good in his work as an army technician.

A buffet luncheon will be served following the celebration of the nuptials. The bride will cut the bride's cake which will be on a silver service plate which is of English design and is more than one hundred years old, belonging to the great grandmother of the bride.

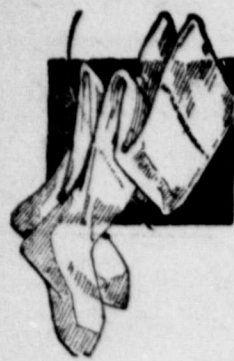

Following the luncheon the happy two will depart for San Antonio where they will make their home.

W. A. Bannowsky from Junction, the grandfather of the bride, and quite a number of other relatives of the bride from Junction, and also an uncle from Kansas City will arrive this morning to be in attendance at the wedding.

The Enterprise editor wishes for these two happy young friends bon voyage as they set sail on life's seas together.

REPAIRING STOCK PENS
The Santa Fe railroad has a crew of workmen here, rebuilding and repairing the company's stock pens. When the job is finished Bronte will have one of as complete stock pens as the railroad has.

Entered as second class Matter at the Post Office at Bronte, Texas, March 1, 1918, under the Act of Congress, August 12, 1871.

established 676 Highway First Aid Stations; aided 220,600 service and ex-service men or their families; gave nursing care to 193,281 persons; enrolled 9,070,058 children in the Jr. Red Cross service; contributed 2,539,101 hours of Special Volunteer Services, and yet found time and energy to carry on a Home and Farm Accident Prevention program which reached 10,000,000 American dwellings.

In Texas or elsewhere we would be hard pressed to find one county which in some way has not benefited considerably from this work. But there are still hundreds of treacherous places on the highways where First Aid stations need to be established. Thousands of people are still in need of training in Water Safety, in First Aid, in Home Hygiene and Care of the Sick. At least 89 disasters on the average statistics furnished me.

Thus, in order to maintain the regular services of the Red Cross already established and to meet the additional needs existing, I urge every adult in Texas with an income to re-enroll if already a member, to join if not.

Signed
James V. Allred,
Governor of Texas.

Methodist Ladies Enjoy "Cootie" Party

In memory of World War days the ladies of the Women's Missionary Society of the Methodist Church enjoyed a "Cootie" party in the home of Mrs. E. L. Ellis November 10.

The hostesses were Mesdames Austin Jordan, E. L. Ellis, C. J. Harris, Geo. Hartin, C. B.

Smith and A. J. Jones.

Progressive "Cootie" was played and the shouts from the tables were convincing that the game was enjoyed by all.

Miniature bronze soldiers were favors on a plate consisting of Doughboy's fare — Doughnuts and coffee—with red, white and blue candies.

Mr. and Mrs. T. A. Carlisle had as their week end guests Mrs. Carlisle's cousins, Mr. and Mrs. Otto Lindner of Comfort, Texas.

Week of Prayer Observed

The Methodist Missionary Society held their week of prayer meeting at the church Monday with an all day meeting and a covered dish luncheon. A program on home missionary work was given in the morning and a program on foreign missionary work was given in the afternoon. There were 21 present.

Exton Talley and family of San Angelo were driving in Bronte Sunday afternoon. Mr. Talley is owner and operator of Talley's print shop in San Angelo, and is one of the finest of the smaller print shops in the country. We acknowledge a delightful, though brief, call from Mr. Talley—he just wanted to see our shop. He expressed himself surprised and pleased at what he found in our shop for which we thank him. Mr. Talley in reality came out just for the thrill that comes from just even visiting "a plum good country town." Come again, Mr. Talley.

BRONTE TEXAS

Bronte Merchants Thankful

for Blessings of 1938

Think not so much of what thou hast not, as of what thou hast; but of the things which thou hast, select the best, and reflect how eagerly they would have been sought if thou hadst them not.—Marcus Aurelius.

Another Thanksgiving approaches, and pursuant to the custom of our forefathers, we citizens of Bronte, Coke County and the Nation, pause from our daily cares and worries on this day to give thanks to a bountiful Creator for His many blessings to us as individuals, and to us as a Nation.

Thanksgiving is essentially a day of feasting, merriment and happy family reunions, as well as thankfulness. We have all heard the expression, "A smile is worth a million dollars, and does not cost a cent." So it is with the Spirit of Thanksgiving. Like attracts like, and in maintaining the attitude of being grateful for what we have, instead of dwelling on what we have not, we become attuned to and in a receptive spirit for even greater future blessings.

We have modern conveniences and luxuries we have come to consider necessities, which our forefathers never dreamed about. Gone are the days of making soap all day and knitting stockings by candle light, as well as the days of Indian raids and prowling wild beasts. In comparison to war in China and rumors of wars in Europe, it seems true "America, God shed His grace on thee and crowned thy good with brotherhood from sea to shining sea."
