NUMBER 51.

Former Bronte Boy Writes Most Patriotically

Morton Caudle, son of Mr. and Mrs. Elihu Caudle, who is in the Navy Dispensary at Norfolk Virginia, wrote his sister, Miss Wilma, a few days ago—and the letter is so full of the true spirit of patriotism that The Enterprise is glad for the privilege of printing same. It shows the true spirit of all true American boys and of all Bronte boys especially. Morton was home recently but was called back before his furlough had expired. The letter follows:

December 22, 1941

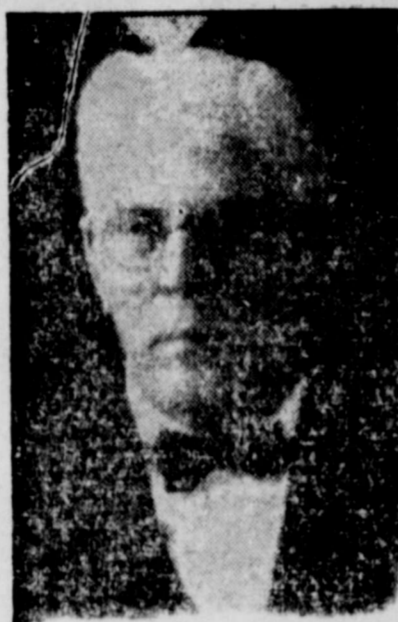

Dear Sister:

Here is a small article that I have written for the paper. Will you please see that it gets to the editor.

To many of the old heads, this is just another chapter in their lives of too many of us this is, indeed, the first chapter. Now that the treachery of international diplomacy, the everlasting struggle for nations to be humans, has thrown us into a war. We are a people and the individual ceases to live except in the hope of the time when if he himself can not enjoy the things he wants, some one else of the same nationality will have those privileges that he has so long wanted to enjoy.

The meaning of the words "For the cause" is very far reaching in the heart of every American. It is his solemn promise that he has ceased to strive for personal gains and happenings and has placed his shoulder to the wheel to humbly take his share of the punishment. These words place him side by side with his fellow men. It is with this oath that all of us except the challenge to fight for complete victory. Surely those of us who survive will see the peace that all of us want.

I went to services at the Unitarian Church last night and can well say that that was my Christmas. No matter what might happen on the 25th, nothing will be able to impress upon my mind more vividly the true meaning and feeling of the Christmas spirit. Just like the rest of my life has been, it was purely a "hunch" that I went to the church at all. I was standing out in front of the "Y", waiting for a car to take me to the First Christian Church and by mistake I got into a car that was going to this other place. Well, I did not stay in the car because of lack of will power to get up and get out, but rather because of the fascination to see services at a place where I had never been. As I was about to say in the beginning, this was quite unlike any service that I have ever attended and I feel sure the plan of entertainment: no, it could not be called a sermon, was very original and never before presented in that fashion. There was no choir, all the singing that the audience did not do was played from a record. The selections were the best of Christmas songs and were sang by the best choirs from all the land. The minister was a young fellow of the most interesting and daring type. He spent only a few short minutes in the pulpit explaining about the church and about the night's service. After that, all the lights were turned out except the candles and we listened to Ronald Coleman's dramatization of Charles Dickens' story "The

MRS. R. B. HAMBRIGHT

R. B. Hambrights, Norton, Have 50th Anniversary

Mr. and Mrs. R. B. Hambright observed their 50th wedding anniversary, at their home, near Norton, Monday December 22. Eight of their nine children were home with the celebrants for the happy occasion.

Mr. Hambright is a native of Georgia while Mrs. Hambright was born in Mississippi. They were married in Hill county, Texas, December 22, 1891. They came to Norton in 1909, where they have since made their home and while rearing their family, they have had a part in everything that has made for the good of the life of their community and of Runnels county.

The children are E. Y. Hambright, Artesia, New Mexico, who could not be present; Mrs. E. A. Holloway and Mrs. C. C. Lollar, Happy, Texas; Mrs. Clark Mackey, Abilene; Mrs. D. M. Crockett, Mrs. Grady Barrett, Jim, L. B. and Joe Hambright, Norton.

It was a happy day for the honorees and for all the children and grandchildren and Mr. and Mrs. Hambright received the congratulations of their friends—and in that The Enterprise joins and wishes for them many happy returns of the day.

Robert Buford from Amarillo spent the holidays with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. E. K. Buford. Robert has a good job with the Smelting plant at Amarillo.

D. C. Brunson who makes his home at Roby spent the Christmas holidays with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. D. C. Brunson—D. C. returned Friday morning.

Christmas Carol". Of all the Christmas stories, bar none, even those in the Bible. None is finer and richer in Christmas spirit and of all actors that have come down to us from the pages of history, none could tell a story in a style to match Ronald Coleman. The service was indeed a heart quickening experience and I can well say that I have already had my Christmas.

To you and to mother I must say that I fully realize that you bear some anxiety about my safety. I only hope that you will be American enough to realize that I had rather die than see the Japs and Germans win. To me, life is not as dear as liberty and I will gladly give mine to confirm the liberty and chance for happiness of some one else. Should I not return, would you, please, remember that it is all for the finest and most just cause that war could be for.

Love,
Morton.

Gary Edwards Got Good Results From Enterprise Ad

Gary Edwards ran a Christmas ad with The Enterprise the week before Christmas, and was happily surprised with the fine results he got.

Mr. Edwards advertised Christmas specials, especially laying emphasis on his lines of Christmas candies and nuts. Speaking to us about the results he obtained Mr. Edwards said:

"I certainly got most satisfactory results from the ad. I had sold all my lines of nuts and on Monday before Christmas, I had two men call and ask for nuts, saying that they had seen my ad in the Enterprise. I really did not expect such results."

The Enterprise is always glad when its advertisers get results—for, when an advertiser places his ad with us we become his salesman and we want to give him good service. We say it modestly, but based on what our readers for twenty years have told us, we believe we get out as readable little country town newspaper as can be found anywhere. And a paper that reaches the people and is eagerly read by them is the kind of newspaper in which to advertise.

Former Bronte Boy Killed In A Car Accident

Eldon Hensley, 20 year old son of Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Hensley died Wed. afternoon, in a San Angelo hospital, from injuries received Monday in a car wreck, west of Mertzon.

Interment was at Bronte, Friday afternoon, following religious services, conducted in the Methodist church at Mertzon.

The family formerly resided at Bronte, before they moved to Mertzon, and have many friends here who sympathize with them in this untimely death.

Dr. John Knierim from Sulphur Springs was a holiday guest of his brother, Robert Knierim and family. The many friends of "John," as everybody calls him, were glad to see him again.

Allen Bell of San Diego California had a very painful accident, recently breaking an ankle which incapacitated him for work for a while but he is now able to be about on crutches.

Mr. and Mrs. D. C. Humphries and daughter, Betty of Javton visited Mr. and Mrs. Dick Humphries, Friday.

Mrs Tannehill's Aged Mother Dies In San Angelo

The happy Christmas-tide closed for Mrs. J. N. Tannehill and others of her family with a midnight darkness—for, Friday noon, December 26, her aged mother passed away at the family home in San Angelo.

Deceased was 80 years old, and was a gold star mother of World War I, giving to her country at that time her son, Eddie C. Byrd. She had been ill for some time, but bore her suffering with heroic spirit as she had done throughout life as to all the things that came to bring her hurt or pain or sorrow.

Mrs. Byrd was born in Freestone county and being a native Texan was always proud of her native state. She was the mother of seven children, five of whom preceded her in death.

Those who survive are her husband, W. P. Byrd, and two daughters, Mrs. Charles Bond, San Angelo, and Mrs. Tannehill. There are eleven grandchildren and seven great-grandchildren.

Funeral services were held at San Angelo, Saturday afternoon at 2 o'clock at the Massie chapel, with Rev. E. D. Henson, pastor of the First Christian church of that city, officiating, assisted by Rev. Lawrence Hayes, pastor of the Park Heights Baptist church, of that city. Interment was in Fairmount cemetery of San Angelo.

Pallbearers were grandsons, including C. M. Cade, Ed Cade, Roy Bond, Raymond Bond, Byron Byrd and A. C. Wike.

Truly, one of the gracious heroines of Texas has fallen on sleep. The writer extends deepest and tenderest sympathy to Mrs. Tannehill and the others who sorrow.

ANNOUNCEMENT

We are striving earnestly, far as we can, to get arrangements perfected so that we can personally return to Bronte, to edit The Enterprise and carry on its business affairs—and we hope within a short time to have such arrangements completed.

Until such time as we can return, we are glad to announce that we have secured the services of Mrs. Marshal Sims, to edit The Enterprise locally and to have charge of its advertising and other affairs. Mrs. Sims has acted as news gatherer for several weeks, and the newsy features of the paper show that she is competent and is interested in her work. Any courtesies shown Mrs. Sims in anywise, in her work, will be appreciated by us. If you know of anything that happens that has news value, get the information to Mrs. Sims. We seek the aid and cooperation of all, to the end that Bronte may continue to have a local newspaper equal to the best of the smaller town weeklies.

D. M. West.

Referring to the above, we are glad to be associated with Bro. West in the editing and management of The Enterprise, and to be the news gatherer and local representative of Bronte's old time newspaper. Without any flattery to our editor, as everyone knows, Bronte has a newspaper that compares favorably with the newspapers, even in towns much larger than Bronte—and, folks, lets keep it that way. And to this end we ask the cooperation and aid of each and all, in our work to keep The Enterprise up to its usual high standard, as a country weekly. Again pledging the readers of The Enterprise and Bronte and the Bronte country, my very best efforts.

Sincerely,
Mrs. Marshal Sims.

Are You A Stenographer?

—Remember Pearl Harbor—
Buy Defense Bonds and Stamps

The Government needs stenographers for National defense. One is prone to think of National defense in terms of soldiers, sailors and marines. But there are many types of defense work behind the lines. A large army of civilian personnel is now on duty as stenographers in the Government service to take the dictation of the thousands of executives and administrative officers, and transcribe it into typewritten documents. Some of this material is of lasting importance. Some of it will set into motion Government events of historical consequence.

It is estimated that the Government has approximately 85,000 stenographers, typists and secretaries on the payroll. Many young men and women are responding to the call. Thousands more are needed.

Aside from the present emergency, the opportunities for stenographers in the Government are always in demand. The positions pay $1,440 a year to start, with a good chance for advancement to positions of greater responsibility, such as secretarial positions, in the case of those who have the ability.

The examination announced by the Civil Service Commission for stenographers is open until further notice. The examination consists solely of a dictation test at 96 words a minute and transcription of notes. All persons who can qualify are urged to apply now.

The stenographer examinations are held at several hundred cities throughout the United States. In order to arrange for greater convenience to applicants, the Commission is planning to increase the number of places where the examinations will be held.

Utilization of old flashlights by having them repaired, instead of purchase of new, is urged by Leon Henderson, Director of Civilian Supply, OPM. Millions of flashlights in possession of 70 per cent of America's families apparently have been forgotten, tucked away in attics and cellars. Mr. Henderson said, Needless purchase of new flashlights when the old can be repaired results in a costly drain on critical materials and plastics, he said. Fifty pounds of waste paper a month from every American home is the goal in the OPM salvage campaign. Newspapers, magazines, wrapping paper and old boxes should be saved and bundled for salvage. These may be given to charitable or other collecting agencies, or, where large amounts are saved, may be sold to waste dealers. Local defense councils and committees are being asked to organize local salvage committees to GET IN THE SCRAP. Waste dealers will see that salvaged waste paper, scrap metals, old rags, and old rubber get back into production for war use. Communities having no waste dealers should locate their nearest dealer or assist in establishing a nearby salvage market available to surrounding communities, OPM officials suggest.

Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Ragsdale of Blackwell and Mrs. Joe Oden and Master Billy J. Oden went to Littlefield Sunday and returned home Tuesday. Master Billy Joe returned home with a well developed case of measles.

Father And Son Remembered By Employers

Santa Claus came to at least two who spent Christmas in Bronte—they are John Leathers and son, Carroll. Mr. Leathers and son are in the employe of the Zachary Construction Company at San Antonio, and have been for several years. They have come to be two of the most valued and most trusted employees of their company. And their employers proved their appreciation of the father and son by making them substantial Christmas presents.

The Company gave the elder Mr. Leathers a Gift of 250 "smackers," while to the son they gave $100. Needless to say that the receivers were duly proud—as was also "friend wife and mother," and the other sons and brothers. Congratulations to both—and may the purse be increased to $1000. next year.

Bad Accident Narrowly Averted

Mathew Caperton and Dale Glenn had what came very near being a fatal accident Monday night. They had been to San Angelo and came back by the Irving Cuike home and the young ladies had gone into the house. The boys started their car preparatory to going home. Just as they drove up on the highway a car came along with a trailer. The car passed the Glenn car, safely, but the trailer swung around hitting the Glenn car and practically demolished it but no one was hurt seriously.

Mrs. Louise Ivey received word Saturday that her brother had been killed in a car accident. Mrs. Ivey left immediately for Dallas where her brother made his home being employed at the Ford assembly plant. None of the particulars are available.

Mr. and Mrs. O. H. Willowghby spent Christmas with Mrs. Willowghby's sister and brother-in-law Mr. and Mrs. Harold Durham at Eastland and also visited Mrs. Willowghby's mother Mrs. Kate Griffin of Dallas.

Mr. Reese has been teaching at Borger for some years—but the job he has accepted offered unexcelled opportunities. Therefore it took him and Mrs. Reese away from home and out of Texas, yet he felt he should accept it. Mrs. Reese is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Knierim and is known as "Miss Louvenia."
