Bronte Pioneer Business Man Dies After Long Illness

G. L. Bridges, a resident of Bronte for a third of a century, and one of the town's pioneer business men, died, at the family residence, Wednesday at noon, July 29, 1942. His death terminated the most remarkable struggle for recovery from affliction, perhaps, in the history of all this part of the country. It was about twenty years ago that the health of deceased failed him. Of a determined spirit he fought the malady, and lived in hope for a long time that he would recover. But within a short time he became bedridden and for nearly two decades he endured his sufferings without murmur or complaint.

Deceased was born in Hunt county. He came first to Llano and then in 1909 he came to Bronte. He formed a partnership in a hardware firm which enjoyed a good business. Then deceased came into possession of the business and operated same until his health failed—since that time the business has been under the direction of Floyd Bridges, son of deceased.

Deceased lacked only one day being in his seventy-fourth year. He is survived besides his son, by his widow and a daughter, Mrs. Clint Duncan, and three grandchildren.

Funeral services were held Thursday morning at ten o' lock, at the Bronte Baptist church. The services were held by Rev. N. W. Pitts, a former pastor of the local church, but now of Coahoma. A large number were in attendance not only in and around Bronte but from other communities.

In the days of his active life, deceased was not only a successful business man, but he always took an interest in the affairs of his town and community. He had many friends among the old timers who will pause and shed a tear at his passing, but will cherish fine and happy memories of him, for his fortitude throughout the long years of his affliction.

The Winners

O. C. Fisher of San Angelo, who led in the three-cornered race for congressman of the 21st district in Saturday's primary—who now becomes the winning candidate in view of the fact that as we go to press this Thursday afternoon, information comes that Mr. South has withdrawn from the race, thus leaving Mr. Fisher the winner.

Ralph Logan, San Angelo, who won in Saturday's primary, over W. C. (Bill) McDonald of Robert Lee, as a candidate for the office of district attorney of the 51st judicial district.

MRS. J. ROBERT KNIERIM was Miss Melba Abbott of Mart before her marriage July 17 in Bronte. The couple is at home in San Angelo.

Coke County Will Have Junior Livestock Show in the Spring of 1943

(By H. E. Smith, County Agent)

In spite of the handicaps due to the War Efforts where transportation is concerned the Coke County Livestock Association feels that the importance of more production in our War Effort offsets such handicaps, and in order to encourage the breeders and feeders of Coke county to increase the production of pounds of beef, pork and mutton, and especially those junior feeders, the 4-H clubbers and Future Farmers, they have announced that there will be a junior Livestock Show for the Coke county youth this coming spring. They urge that these young feeders place their demonstration on more of a commercial basis for this year. Plans for the show are being worked out on a classification basis rather than an individual animal competition basis, as has been the custom of past County Shows.

Ribbons and premiums will be awarded. Probably a special award will be offered to the boy producing the largest number of pounds of quality beef, pork and mutton. The directors of the Association in a called meeting, voted to purchase a War Bond with the funds which are in the building fund of the Association, due to the difficulty involved in a building program at this time. The present setup calls for the Association's show expenses and all other activities to be financed by donations from the various livestock producers in Coke county. When this program was initiated in the county it was decided that when the premiums, awards and other expenses incurred in promoting a county show had been paid, all remaining funds should be set aside and used toward a Coke Song Meet at Ft. Chadbourne 2nd Sunday in Oct.

John Coalson, president of the Coke County Singing Convention, requests The Enterprise to announce that the date set for the all-day singing of the county meet is the second Sunday in October.

The summer meet of the convention was to have been at Ft. Chadbourne the third Sunday in July. But, due to a conflict with the West Texas Singing Convention which was scheduled to meet at Winters on that date, Coke county meeting was dispensed with, with the understanding with the Fort Chadbourne community that the meet would be there at a later date.

Let everybody be advised as to the above occasion, the date and so forth, and keep it in mind—for Fort Chadbourne folks are known far and near as entertainers and it is going to be a day you can't afford to miss.

permanent building fund. And that each year the show should be financed by new donations. The producers will be notified in the near future in regards to this year's donations.

J. T. Henry, Vocational Agriculture instructor of the Bronte High School, was elected to fill the vacancy in the office of secretary, caused by the resignation of P. P. Fitzhugh. Mr. Fitzhugh will report for officer's training in the near future.

new in this part of the country and that therefore few experienced workers can be found, Mr.
Ruttle said that free National Defense training schools have been established by the state and federal governments for the purpose of providing the necessary training. More than 80 per cent of the jobs already filled in war industry plants, he asserted, have been taken by people who prepared themselves by attending these schools.

"There is and will continue to be a heavy demand for women as well as men in many types of jobs. All local men and women who wish to serve their country and at the same time earn good wages, should enroll in these training schools and secure the knowledge necessary to perform on these jobs," Mr. Rut-tle said.

gine Mechanics, Aircraft Sheet Metal (including Riveting) are the courses offered. The courses are open to men between the ages of 18 and 65 years, and to women between the ages of 18 and 45. The demand for women workers is increasing.

Mr. Ruttle stressed the fact that the training is entirely free. The only cost to a trainee being that he must support himself during the six to 12-week training period. Even this is not true in all cases, since many younger trainees can be assigned to National Youth Administration war work centers where they will be boarded and paid a small wage while obtaining work experience.

Thanks Again

Dear Folks

For, since the fine vote you gave me in Saturday's primary, it encourages me, at least, to believe that you feel, I am trying to serve you faithfully and conscientiously, as your county judge. And such encouragement always is a stimulus to one to do his best, whatever his task may be—and that is my promise again to the good people of Coke county —to give you the very best service of which I am capable, every day, in the best way possible, each and all alike.

So, now, good people, lets go in for an all-out war program in Coke county. Lets all have the same mind and work together to save our rights and liberties as a free people.

Again, let me say, sincerely, that

I Thank You
