New Money Order System Is Started By Post Offices

Mrs. Carrie Williams said this week that Bronte's post office was one of more than 42,000 in the United States which have adapted a new and more convenient money order system. The new postal money orders became available Monday morning, July 2.

Mrs. Williams said that, in her opinion, the new system was more convenient for the customers as well as the post offices and banks. Principal changes in the new money order system will make it possible to have a money order cashed at any of the nation's post offices or it may be collected through any bank in the same manner as the cashing of a check.

The new money orders appear in the form of a punched card instead of the customary paper slip. The purchaser will fill out the same form and pay the same fees as has been required in the past.

The regulation that money orders must be cashed at specific post offices has been eliminated. Mrs. Williams added. Money orders formerly had to be cashed in the office where it was issued unless an additional fee was paid.

The postal department urges all users to remember that the new money orders must not be folded, stapled, or mutilated in any way since they are to be issued on punch cards and processed by machinery.

All new money orders will clear Federal Reserve Banks in the same manner as Treasury checks or other cash items. The Federal Reserve banks will then turn over the paid money orders to the proper regional Post Offices.

The new money order system is in keeping with the program to modernize and improve the operation of postal service, as well as to affect economy and better serve the general public.

Bronte Citizens Spend Quiet Fourth of July

For the most part Bronte citizens celebrated the Fourth of July quietly and with little activity. Hayrick was the scene of the annual barbecue. Approximately 200 persons were present for the affair.

Mr. Monroe McCutchen, who has served as chairman of the yearly occasion for many years, turned in his resignation. The group elected Wesley Labenske as chairman to replace him and Carroll Robbins as secretary of the organization. Everyone there reported a lovely dinner which is customary of the meeting.

Rev. Fred J. Brucks of San Angelo was the main speaker of the day. Rev. J. E. Fuller, pastor of the Bronte Methodist church, also took part on the program.

This all-day barbecue on July 4 began over twenty years ago as a family reunion of the Monroe McCutchen family and for some years was held on the River. About twelve years ago, they moved the picnic site to Hayrick and the Independence Day observance became a community affair. A host of old-timers, former residents of Coke county and members of the McCutchen family enjoyed the day.

In Bronte, most of the stores were closed with the exception of some of the Service Stations and the City Cafe. The First National Bank observed a legal holiday, as did the post office.

Bronte Is Loser To Strong Olfen Nine

Bronte lost their second game of the season last Friday night when Olfen won by a score of 10 to 9 at Olfen. The leading hitter for Bronte was Duane Tucker who connected for four hits. He had a triple, double and two singles in four trips to the plate.

In the final inning, Tucker injured his ankle when he was out sliding into home with the potential tying run. Bob Wilson did the pitching for Bronte.

Bronte was scheduled to meet Veribest here Monday night but wet grounds forced a postponement of the game.

Postal Receipts Increase Over 1950

4-H Club Turkeys Checked for Gains

More than 500 4-H turkeys were checked recently. The turkeys are being raised for the Dallas Fair and some for Coke county fairs. Fifteen 4-H boys and girls are planning to enter ten turkeys each in the Junior Market Turkey Show at the Dallas Fair in October. Some are planning to show at Abilene and Houston also.

Right now plans are being developed to stage a Coke county turkey show just prior to the Dallas and Abilene shows. This will be a one day show and will give Coke county folk an opportunity to see what the youngsters are doing. Last year, the average net profit per turkey was $6.50. Prospects look good for a strong market this fall.

From each flock five toms and five hens were weighed. These are the total weights of the toms and hens from each flock at 14 weeks of age: Tommy Hood, 59 and 45.5; Jim Cox, 65 and 45; Kenneth and Leslie Nell Wink, 62.5 and 45.5; Jerry Hurley, 52.5 and 41; Byron and Morgan Russell, 64.5 and 48; Jerrel C. Harmon, 51.5 and 39; Lynn Davidson, 54 and 47; Robert and Sue Skipworth, 56 and 41; Norman Roberts, 56 and 46; Mrs. C. E. Arrott, adult demonstrator, 61 and 48.5.

The average weight per turkey for all groups was 11.84 for the toms and 8.95 for the hens. Toms weighing up to 14 pounds were found in three flocks, while ten pound hens were found in five flocks.

Parents' Problems

By DONALD M. MAYNARD

"Bossy" Youngsters

What is the best approach to a five-year-old who is inclined to boss her younger playmates?

Inasmuch as you imply your daughter's "bossiness is not extreme," there is no cause for alarm on your part. Five-year-olds frequently tend to boss younger children, although it also should be noted that many at this age become a bit less "bossy" than formerly.

As you supervise the play of these children, suggest to your daughter that it's fun to take turns doing what each one wants to do, and then quietly guide their activities so that the younger children have some of their wishes granted.

In doing this you may need to guard against the tendency to pay more attention to the young children's wishes than to your own child's desires. In other words, try to see that there is fair play on the part of all.

If your child should become extremely demanding in her play with younger children, it may reflect a resentment against older children who boss her, or even against you and your husband. I don't believe this is the cause of your daughter's behavior, however.

Therefore, let me recommend quiet suggestions rather than scolding or any form of excessive punishment. Sometimes parents tell their children that they can't play with younger children until they are willing to do so without bossing them.

At times this may be effective, although there is a danger that it may stifle qualities of leadership that temporarily are expressing themselves in this unfortunate manner.

Paying for Home Work

Should children be paid for doing work at home—washing dishes, mowing the lawn, and so forth?

This problem of whether or not one should pay children for work done at home cannot be separated from that of an allowance.

As a member of the family each child should have some of the privileges that go with family membership. One of these is a share of the family income. This will take the form of an allowance, the amount to be determined by the age and needs of the child and the status of the family bank account.

Generally speaking, the allowances should be large enough to meet the basic needs of the child and to provide a few luxuries, but should not be so large that he feels no need for saving or wise spending.

Just as the child should have some of the privileges that go along with family membership, so should he assume some of the responsibilities that inhere in this relationship. These involve work around the home and yard. Let children and parents decide together what are to be the responsibilities of the children.

If, for example, washing dishes and mowing lawns are included, as well they may be, certainly children should not be paid for them. There will be emergencies, also, when it is necessary for the entire family to pitch in and help, without any thought of monetary award.

On the other hand, if, over and above the duties regularly assigned to children, they are asked to do specific tasks for which the family ordinarily pays someone else, then I see no reason why they should not be paid for doing them. But these will be exceptional cases and I would guard at all times against letting children think of work at home primarily in terms of monetary award.

The Family Circle

We hear much about how important it is for families to be together. Our children are reaching the age when they want to be with the gang most of the time. They don't like to hang around home, play games with the family, etc. Frankly, we like for them to be with their friends and we like to be with ours. Should we try harder to keep the family together?

I'm not sure that you should.

When children are young, many happy hours may be spent playing games and having other interesting family experiences. There comes a time, as it has come for your children, when youngsters want to be out with members of the gang most of the time. You are quite right in feeling that they should have the privilege of being with their friends and you with yours. Certainly you should not chide them because they are not spending more time with you.

Nevertheless, it is unfortunate if, as children grow older, families never have any time together for fun and fellowship. Perhaps members of the family can make definite plans to stay at home and enjoy each other one night a week, or, if that is too often, one night a month.

Some families may enjoy making popcorn and candy and playing games together; others may enjoy listening to records; still others may want to work on individual hobbies, or just to talk. Occasional trips together as a family may be enjoyed. Some families enjoy going to a ball game together. In other words, it is wise to plan for occasional family "get-togethers."

It should not be forgotten that gangs usually must have some place to go! Encourage your children to bring their gangs to your house, and then to be sure to remain discreetly in the background while they are there. Let them use the living room and the kitchen for their activities.

Your house may not remain as spic and span as it would otherwise, but after all, youngsters are more important than having a house in perfect order!

SOMETHING "EXTRA" FOR SIDEWALK ENGINEERS!

A special Spectators' Gallery, with cushion seats and awning, has been erected by the Republic National Bank of Dallas during the construction of its new 40-story building—the tallest and most modern bank and office building in the Southwest. The gallery also has soft drink vending machines and a telephone for members of the Republic Bank Chapter of Society for the Promotion and Encouragement of More and Better Sidewalk Engineers. A membership card is issued to all visitors and periodically a newspaper giving progress of the new building is mailed to all members of SPEMBSE.

How many "Independence Days" have we left?

"We hold these truths to be self-evident; that all men are created equal; that they are endowed by their Creator with certain unalienable rights; that among these are Life, Liberty and the pursuit of Happiness. That to secure these rights, governments are instituted among men, deriving their just powers from the consent of the governed . . ."

Immortal words from the Declaration of Independence, adopted on the first 4th of July, just 175 years ago.

THESE WORDS are the stones upon which man built history's greatest work—the United States of America. Remember them well!

" . . . all men are created equal . . ." That means you are as important in the eyes of God as any man ever brought into this world. You are made in His image and likeness. There is no "superior" man anywhere.

" . . . they are endowed by their Creator with certain unalienable rights . . ." Here is your birthright—the freedom to live, work, worship and vote as you choose. These are rights no government on earth may take from you.

" . . . That to secure these rights, governments are instituted among men . . ." Here is the reason for and the purpose of government. Government is but a servant—not a master—not a giver of anything.

" . . . deriving their just powers from the consent of the governed . . ." In America, the government may assume only the powers you allow it to have. It may assume no others.

From Concord to Korea, your kinsmen have fought and died for the principles of America's Declaration of Independence: belief in God . . . belief in the God-given rights of man . . . belief that man is more important than government . . . belief in the vital need for morality in all man does.

But on this Independence Day, as never before, these beliefs are in deadly peril. There are people in America who would deny your God-given rights, who prefer expediency to morality, and who would make government the master—not the servant—of man. These people are the advocates of an all-powerful, all-providing socialistic government to control your destiny from cradle to grave.

The time has come to answer them with your own "Declaration of Independence" . . .

Declare that government is responsible TO you—rather than FOR you.

Declare that freedom is more important to you than "security" or "survival."

Declare again that the rights God gave you may not be taken away by any government on any pretext.

Our founding fathers accepted the truths of America's Declaration on faith alone. Today, our nation is proof—absolute and irrevocable—that these truths work. They are the last great hope for the protection of human civilization.

FREEDOM NEEDS YOU

On this 175th anniversary of the Declaration of Independence, help give the day the spiritual, religious meaning it had to the founding fathers.

Renew your faith and allegiance to the immortal truths stated in the Declaration. Make them an active part of your thinking, your acting, your voting.

Pray for help in maintaining man's closeness to God, in preserving man's God-given rights and responsibilities against those who would make you dependent upon a socialistic, all-powerful government.

" . . . we need only to recall that the substance of (America's) formula is continuous, strict and closely guarded limitations upon the power of government. Neither the peril of war nor the promise of welfare must ever serve to relax any item of this formula . . ."

From "The Key to Peace" by Dean Clarence Manion, College of Law, Notre Dame University, published by The Heritage Foundation.
