By the time you read this column we hope to be in Fort Worth attending the Diamond Anniversary Convention of the Texas Press Association. It is supposed to be quite an affair, and if it compares with the last one we attended in Cow Town, our time will have been well spent.

It's mighty hard to find a host who knows as much about hosting as does Amon Carter of the Star Telegram. Then, too, the education aspects of the convention are noteworthy. In addition to top newspaper people in their various fields, the program will include such speakers as Secretary of Health and Public Welfare Oveta Culp Hobby; our favorite columnist, Paul Crume, a West Texas boy who writes the Big D column in the Dallas News and weekly newspaperman Allan Shivers, who has interests in the weeklies at Mission and Woodville. Mr. Shivers is also governor of Texas. And Stanley Marcus of Neiman-Marcus, will also be a featured speaker on the program.

Another interesting aspect will be big feeds by the Swift and Armour Corporation and helicopter rides at the Bell Aircraft Corporation, makers of the egg beaters.

Another important thing is the association and exchange of ideas with dozens of people in our business. We always come away with lots of new and good ideas, whether we use them or not.

Seems as if the Geneva Conference is being strangled with "Red" tape.

No general agreement has been reached as to the proper flower to be worn on Father's Day, but a group of Pennsylvanians have suggested the dandelion, "Because the more it's trampled on the more it grows."

It was a sad day for us Tuesday, because the Charlie Phillips moved to San Angelo. In addition to both of them being good friends of ours, Erma Ruth has worked with us for the past two years. We have come to count on her for lots of things and her never-failing good humor did a lot to brighten up a drab print shop. She had an easy job, which included: gathering and writing news, selling advertising, collecting, waiting on customers, pulling and reading proofs, folding papers and mailing, going after coffee, answering the telephone and keeping as many salesmen as possible out of the back shop on Thursday—just to mention a few. Incidentally, the desks in the front haven't been completely cleaned off since she left.

But rather seek ye the kingdom of God, and all these things shall be added unto you.—(St. Luke, 12, 31.)

A man may have the newest car, the best house, the biggest bank account in the neighborhood and yet he will be unsatisfied, unhappy, unless he has sought and found the kingdom of God—for without God within him, a man is indeed but a poor, empty shell.

SENATOR REPORTS

By Lyndon B. Johnson

COMMUNIST PATTERN: It seems clear that the communist aggression in Indo-China and the shipment of Iron Curtain arms to Guatemala are pieces of a pattern — a pattern designed to keep the United States off balance in the months ahead.

More pieces of this sinister pattern will be revealed as the communists unravel the web they have spun. We have got to keep an alert eye on other "soft spots" in the world.

COURSE OF ACTION: Obviously we cannot police the whole world. American soldiers cannot act as fire brigades rushing to stamp out flames spurting up at isolated corners of the globe.

This would be a fruitless undertaking. It would exhaust both our economic strength and our manpower.

We have to pick and choose. We must select the ground upon which we will stand — and know clearly just who will stand with us.

We do not want to abandon any unwilling people to communist tyranny — nor should we. We do not want to break relations with countries that are our friends and allies — nor should we.

Nevertheless, we must take a long, cool look at the realities of the world today.

HARD TASK: Our foreign policy is a complicated network of alliances, pacts and understandings which have been put together in the last few years. Some parts of that network have worked well. Some parts have been severely strained. Some may have failed altogether.

We must examine this network and determine the strengths and the weaknesses. Perhaps some parts should be propped up. Perhaps others should be abandoned altogether.

It is not a job to be accomplished in a week or a day. It is a hard plugging task that will take time — even though we cannot afford too much time.

But it must be done. And the first step in doing it must be the promotion of national unity.

The times call for a bipartisan review — in a nonpartisan spirit — of our whole foreign policy.

REASON TOGETHER: We need to recall and act upon the Biblical injunction from Isaiah: "Come now and let us reason together."

As Americans, we have our agreements and our disagreements. Regardless of that, I am convinced that practically all Americans hold one objective in common.

That is peace and freedom for our country.

It is not an abstract objective. It means an opportunity to plan for the future. It means security for our children. It means liberty in thought and in deed for our posterity.

Most Americans I am confident want these things for themselves. I believe they also want them for their fellow-Americans.

We can attain them by uniting in mutual confidence and trust — in holding to a steadfast determination that the lamp of freedom shall ever burn brightly on this earth.

Sam Connally, 38 year old candidate for Congressman from the 21st District of Texas, visited here recently to get acquainted with local residents and to lay plans for a more intensive campaign later.

Connally also is a strong advocate of a comprehensive water conservation program. He favors a program with a minimum of Federal control, consistent with the local situation; and greater participation and control on state and local levels.

NEW WARNING ISSUED ON SNAKE BITES

AUSTIN — A warning about the dangers of snake bite has just been issued by Dr. Henry A. Holle, State Health Officer. A number of cases of snake bite are reported each year in Texas during the summer and early fall; however, few of these result fatally.

Most of the bites occur on the hands or feet, which indicates that stepping or falling in the immediate vicinity of an unseen snake or picking up objects under similar conditions are the hazards of contracting snake bite. The pain following the injection of the poison is most intense. Other symptoms are swelling, giddiness, difficult breathing, hemorrhage, weak pulse, and vomiting.

If one is unfortunate enough to be bitten by a poisonous snake, such as the rattlesnake, the following first aid measures should be carried out.

After making proper incisions at the site of the wound, apply suction and continue for at least half an hour.

Apply a tourniquet above the site of the wound, releasing same every ten or fifteen minutes for about 5 seconds at a time.

If the proper antivenom serum is available, apply it according to directions, but most important of all is to remove as much of the poison as is possible so as to prevent its absorption.

Secure the services of a physician at the earliest possible moment.

ment. If one is bitten by a poisonous snake do not run or get overheated and do not take any alcoholic stimulants because circulation increased by alcohol or exercise serves to distribute the poison much more rapidly through the body. Don't injure the tissues by injecting permanganate of potash, which is known to be of no value as an antidote. Don't depend upon home remedies or so-called snake-bite cures, for they are of no value.
