Methodist Church to Have Formal Opening Of New Building, Special Services Next Week

REV. DOYLE MORTON

REV. TRAVIS McNAIR

The new educational unit of the First Methodist Church is being completed this week and formal opening of the new building will be held Sunday morning at the 11 o'clock services. Along with the formal opening of the new rooms, the church has planned a week-long preaching mission to begin Monday night and last through Friday night. Five outstanding Methodist preachers of the San Angelo district will do the preaching.

An open house for the public to inspect the new building has been set from 3 to 5 Sunday afternoon. The Rev. A. Lin Loeffler, pastor of the church, has issued an invitation to everyone in the area to come to the open house and to go through the new building.

The preaching mission, starting Monday night at 7:30, will see Rev. Travis McNair of Robert Lee doing the preaching. Rev. Warren Ellis of Junction will preach Tuesday night; Rev. Doyle Morton of Sonora, Wednesday night; Rev. Roy Schilling of Mertzon, Thursday night; and Rev. Leroy Russell of Ozona will conclude the special services Friday night.

In addition to the five guest preachers, various choirs and soloists will be here during the week

Red Cross Drive Off to Good Start

One hundred and sixty dollars was raised for the Red Cross Wednesday when a canvass was made of the business district of Bronte. The canvass was made by I. C. Oden, fund chairman for Bronte and the east side of the county, and Leonard Fletcher.

H. A. Springer, county chapter chairman, said Thursday that the fund drive has been hampered this week by rainy weather and that he hopes to get the campaign underway in full force next week.

Springer said he will get workers lined up in Robert Lee and Silver in the next few days.

Volunteer workers to date include Mrs. John R. Harris, who will be in charge of the residential section of Bronte; J. T. Henry, high school; Mrs. Conda Richards and Mrs. Jacob Morrow, Ft. Chadbourne community; and Mrs. Hurlin Lee, Juniper community.

Quota for Coke County this year is $1012.00.

The Red Cross, officials say, is badly in need of liberal contributions this year. More than the usual number of disasters occurred in 1957, and the resources of the national organization were badly depleted.

Springer urged Bronte area citizens to be liberal in their contributions. "Everyone knows that the Red Cross is the only agency which can deal with and help people in most instances where there has been major disaster. It deserves your support and help," he said.

Cambrian Wildcat Staked

L. R. Wiley, Jr. of Dallas will drill a 7,000-foot Cambrian wildcat in Coke County, six miles northwest of Bronte. It will be known as the No. 1 E. C. Rawlings. A Dual Drilling Co. rig will be used.

The location is on a 320-acre lease, and is 2,082 feet from the south and 1,698 feet from the west lines of 366-1A-H&TC.

Elevation is 2,137 feet.

The test is 2 1/8 miles northwest of Cambrian production (5,500-foot pay) and 1 1/2 miles west of Ellenburger production in the Rawlings multipay field (formerly known as Bronte North).

Seven Candidates Seek Four Offices In City Election

No more candidates have filed for any of the city jobs which are to be voted on Tuesday, April 1.

Two candidates have filed for mayor and five have filed for the three open spots on the city council.

In the mayor's race are J. A. Stephenson and Dr. John R. Harris. They are seeking the office now held by Ernest Ivey, who is not a candidate for re-election.

Three new candidates and two incumbents are in the race for councilmen spots. C. E. Bruton, Joe George Wilkins and H. A. Springer are the three not presently on the council, while Bill Thomas and Ben Oglesby are now serving on the council. All three of the new candidates have served on the council at various times in the past several years. Thomas has served two, and Oglesby, four years. The other member of the council, whose term expires this year, is Charlie Boecking, who is not running for re-election.

The city election will be held in the city hall at Bronte, with D. K. Glenn serving as election judge.

Only Two Seek Trustee Positions

At press time Thursday, only two candidates had filed for school trustee. The names of the incumbents, Allen Sherrod and Jacob B. Morrow, were filed by petition to run for the offices.

Hurlin Lee, secretary of the school board, said that he had heard no word of any other candidates running for the offices.

Deadline for announcing was Thursday.

The trustee election will be held Saturday, April 5. Voting boxes will be set up at the city hall in Bronte and at the Green Store in Tennyson.

Sen. Hardeman To Speak to PTA Tuesday Night

SEN. DORSEY B. HARDEMAN

Senator Dorsey Hardeman of San Angelo will address the Bronte Parent-Teachers Association when it meets next Tuesday night at 8 p.m. Hardeman, state senator from this district, will speak on "How Fare American Youth?" He is a member of a prominent San Angelo law firm and is well known here.

Rev. R. W. Blackmon will give the devotional and other special numbers are planned.

School patrons are asked to note the change in time which was made because of the program at the Methodist Church, set for 7 p.m.

The meeting will be held in the school auditorium and PTA officers urged all parents and others who are interested to attend.

NOMINATED AS POSTMASTER

The nomination of Noah Pruitt, Jr. was one of 50 in Texas sent by President Eisenhower to the Senate this week for confirmation.

Pruitt has been acting postmaster here since last March.

AD-LIB-BEN

Albert and Joe Rawlings received a high honor Tuesday night at the Lions-Masons banquet. They received an oil painted aerial photograph of their ranch for their outstanding work in soil and water conservation work. In order to win this award, they were named among the top 25 outstanding soil conservationists in the state. Entries from the 172 Soil Conservation Districts were entered in the contest to determine the top ranking farmers or ranchmen.

We've heard lots of people, both soil conservation experts and just regular farmers, say that the Rawlings ranch is one of the best examples they've seen of using soil and water to the very best advantage.

We were amazed when we went up to the school this week and made pictures of the two principals along with the stacks of books that students have to go through in order to graduate from the schools. In order to graduate from grade school, a student has to have gone through 178 books besides his library book assignments. The number to get through the four grades of high school is somewhat less. The high school has about 150 books to issue but every student doesn't have to study all of them, since some of the courses are elective.

The national debt nowadays is $1,600 per person in the U. S. That makes the average family of four owe $6,400, and makes most of us realize we're more bankrupt than we thought — which is pretty bad.

You can usually tell when a boy changes from a child into a man. He quits asking for an allowance and begins asking for a loan.

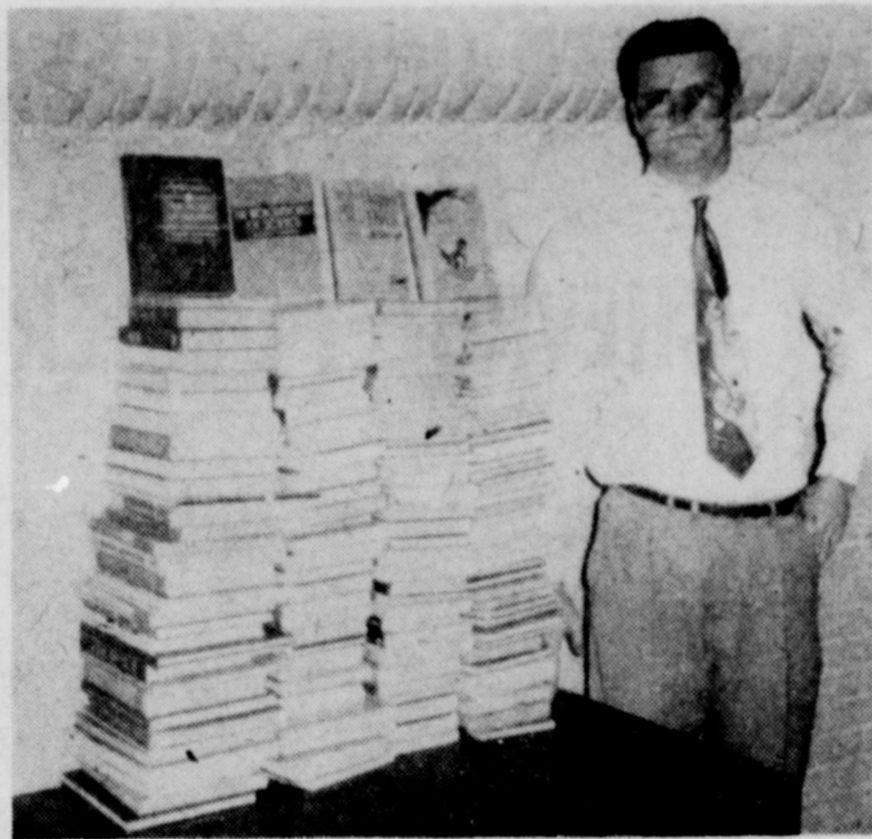

The most accurate description of a man lies somewhere between the opinions of his mother-in-law and his mother.

We again invite all our readers to call, write or come by and give us your local news. We're always glad to have it and other readers are always glad to know about your trip, your guests or other items.

Jimmy Eubanks, son of W. O. Eubanks, is in Bronte for a leave with relatives. He is to report to his station at Fort Riley, Kansas on March 11.

ATTEND MEETING

Attending a district Civil Defense meeting in Ballinger Wednesday were Justice of the Peace C. E. Bruton, Coke County Civil Defense Coordinator Steve Badley and Red Cross chairman H. A. Springer. Mrs. Sam Jay, city secretary of Robert Lee, was the only other Coke County who attended the meeting.

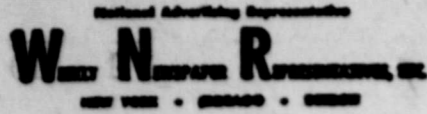

POOR KIDS— If you think you have troubles, just look what is facing a youngster entering the first grade. These two pictures show the books a child has to go through in order to finish 12 years in the Bronte school and receive a diploma. Above, Norman Porter, grade school principal, stands beside the stack of 178 books that a child is supposed to master in order to graduate from the first eight grades.

Below High School Principal Joe Simpson displays the books used by the students in their last four years. There are about 150 books in his stack. All of these books are not used by all high school students, however, as some of them are for elective courses.

Both Simpson and Porter last week were reelected to their jobs in the Bronte Schools.

A Trip to Paris

(Editor's Note: The following letter was written by Mrs. W. E. Stewart concerning a trip she made to Paris. Mrs. Stewart is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. S. Whatley, who is stationed with her husband in Germany. The trip was made late last summer and we felt it would be interesting to our readers.)

Well, I finally made my long awaited trip to Paris, and how I loved it! Billy was in Laon, France, at a school, so I drove down on Wednesday, and we left Thursday for Paris. Paris was only 80 miles away, but enroute we went through Chantilly to see a beautiful chateau that Billy had seen the week before. It was really something to behold with gardens and ponds surrounding it. It was about the size of a small town and is the home of the Conde Masoum, which was a very famous family of France. The lawns, gates bridges, etc. had many interesting statues, and the chateau had its own chapel which had lovely stained glass windows. It's hard to believe that it was the home of one family. Chantilly was also the headquarters of the Allied Forces in World War I.

We also went to Compiogne (I hope you have better luck pronouncing these places than I) which is a very famous place, and has been for hundreds of years. Joan of Arc was imprisoned here before she went to be burned at the stake. (I recently read a book on Joan of Arc and we are now reading the play "St. Joan" by Bernard Shaw. The area we visited in France is where she spent many of her days, so knowing a little of her made it more interesting to us.)

It was here that the Germans surrendered in 1918 and signed the Surrender in a railway car here. The place has been preserved and the tracks run for a short distance to the original car which has been enclosed in a building. You may remember that Hitler had his revenge in the same car in 1940, and Billy remembers seeing in the movies Hitler coming out clapping his hands and stamping his feet after the French signed their surrender.

I understand that Hitler had the house torn down so he could have his pictures taken. It was very interesting to me that everything in the building and the car proudly talks of the surrender of 1918, and not one word refers to the 1940 defeat.

There is so much history all through the land and beautiful churches. The country side is lovely but there is still much evidence of the damage of the war.

Finally we arrived in Paris about 5:30 p. m. and our first stop was at the Eiffel Tower which is the symbol of Paris to most foreigners. It was built around 1889 and is only exceeded in height by two New York buildings, and has about 1,000,000 visitors a year. We went to the top platform — there are three — and it was quite an experience! First you ascend at a slant through one of the legs, and then you change elevators at the two lower platforms, and at the top you could feel the whole thing sway under your feet. I was scared to death and Billy was terrified. It is too incongruous to me, that Billy, being a pilot, is petrified of high places, and he tried to joke going up, but after the second platform, he looked absolutely sick. I probably did too, but my greatest horror was the thought of going down. (We made a deal — next time I'll go up for him, and he'll come down for me). After we got there, Billy couldn't stand to get close to the rail — he said he always thinks of the book "The Bridge of San Luis Rey" when he goes to the top of a high place, and he thinks "This is it." It will pick this time to fall down with me up here."

Nevertheless, the view was magnificent as you could really see all of Paris. Mother, I know you would have backed out before you ever got started, and I would have liked to about half way up.)

We saw another lovely church nearby called Sainte-Chapelle and the impressive thing about it, I thought, was the 1,134 scenes that depicted the Bible.

It is impossible to tell you all we saw, but to mention a few; we saw the Palace of Justice, the Church of Sainte Marie-Madeleine which is a copy of the Parthenon erected to the glory of the Grande Armee of Napoleon, the Opera which is the largest theatre in the world, the lovely Tuilleries Gardens, the Museum of Modern Art and Museum of Costumes.

We also went many times by the Place de la Concorde, which is one of the largest and reportedly most beautiful squares in the world. In the 18th century the guillotine was erected here for Louis XVI and its victims were

Audit Completed In This Issue of Enterprise

The second and last part of the annual audit of Coke County funds is in this paper. Last week an itemized account of expenses and receipts in all funds was run, and this week a recapitulation of those accounts and a table showing the bonded and warranted indebtedness of the county is being published.

The attention of all readers of The Enterprise is invited in studying these tables. The recap table shows for each fund the amount on hand at the beginning of the year, the amount taken in, the amount expended and the balance at the end of the year.

Most all funds have good balances and appear to be in good condition.

The bond table is of interest because it shows information about each of the bond issue for which the county is now obligated.

estimated at 1,500 including Marie Antoinette. Naturally, we went to the enormous Louvre and saw the sculpture and art paintings (except for the top floor) and to our pleasure, we saw the paintings of Mona Lisa, the statue of Winged Victory and Venus de Milo. We were exhausted after a morning spent in the Louvre, and I doubt that I was the first, but I toured the second floor in stocking feet.

Oh, yes, we also went to the Invalides which houses the ashes of Napoleon.

(Due to the length of this letter we will run more of it next week.)

School Week Is Noted at Banquet

A banquet held each year in observance of Public Schools Week was held at the school lunchroom Tuesday night. About 125 persons were present.

The program consisted of a presentation of an aerial picture to Albert and Joe Rawlings for their outstanding work in soil conservation, and presentation of awards to teachers for their years of service in the profession.

A group of 4-H club members also presented a short program to the group. Occasion for the 4-H presentation was in observance of National 4-H Week which is this week, also.

More of Same Is Weather Picture

More of the same is the story on the weather this week. Practically the entire week has been misty, foggy and wet with snow last Saturday. Bronte area residents have experienced this kind of weather for the past several weeks, and complaints concerning it have been hard to find.

Farmers and ranchmen say this weather cannot be beat for helping bring back pastures which have been overgrazed and become bear during the past ten years of drouth.

A few farmers have been heard to say that they are getting behind with their work, but they believe there will be plenty of time to catch up.

Gov't Trapper Has Been Hired In Coke County

Coke County has hired a government trapper in an effort to stop the increase of predatory animals which are causing wide damage to sheep, goats and poultry.

Final action on the matter was taken at a Commissioners Court session Monday when a delegation of thirty ranchers met with county officials. The county agreed to pay $100 per month toward the trapper's salary and an equal amount will be made up by ranchmen. His additional pay comes from state and federal funds.

In cooperation with the County Agent's office a Trapper Association of Coke County was organized recently, with the following directors: Precinct 1, J. O. Rudd; Precinct 2, Walter King; Precinct 3, Finnerl Smith; Precinct 4, Bert Blaylock. Mrs. Mary Patterson, deputy in the county judge's office will serve as secretary to the group.

The association set a trapping fee of 50 cents per month per section of land, to be paid at least two months in advance. Indications are that enough acreage has been signed up to make up the $100 monthly which ranchers will contribute to the trapper's wages.

BOBCAT BOUNTIES

This week the county paid a $12.50 bounty on each of ten bobcats which had been killed. Bert Blaylock brought in five, Red Phillips from the Joe Davis Ranch at Blackwell, 4, and Ed Bagwell west of Edith, 1.

At least six of the animals were females which would have brought litters this spring.

A bounty of $12.50 is also offered by the county on coyotes. One of these animals was killed recently by J. L. Carwile on the Foster Price ranch west of Sanco.

Plans have been made for a 4-H Electric Clinic to be held on Saturday, March 15, in the Robert Lee school. West Texas Utilities Company is presenting the program in cooperation with the County Extension Service.

Beginning at 10 a. m., the clinic will end by 3 p. m. Cooking, wiring, outdoor and indoor lighting demonstrations along with the showing of films will be the program for the day.

Each person is asked to bring a sack lunch. All 4-H members, leaders, parents, F. H. A. and FFA members are invited to attend.

ATTEND FUNERAL

Several persons from here went to Dublin Wednesday where they attended funeral services for Mrs. Will Strong, 75. Mrs. Strong was a sister of the late S. A. Kiker of Bronte. The local group included Mr. and Mrs. Chester Kiker, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Phillips, and Mmes. J. A. Percifull, Carroll Robbins, B. E. Modgling and S. A. Kiker.

Rabbit Drive and Barbecue to Be At Maverick

A rabbit drive and barbecue is to be held in the Maverick community on Tuesday, March 11. All hunters are invited to attend.

Guns will be limited to shotguns and No. 6 shells. Shells will be furnished at wholesale price by Hurlin Lee at the Bronte Feed Store.

Hunters will meet at the community auditorium at 8:30 in the morning and carried to the fields in pickup trucks. At noon there will be a barbecue dinner at the community auditorium, followed by an afternoon drive.

The drive is a revival of the annual rabbit drives held in years past. Farmers report that jack rabbits are thicker this year than they can remember.

Leland Carlton is chairman of the drive. Many of the merchants in the area have contributed to the barbecue and women of the Maverick community will furnish pies, cakes, and salads.

4-H Club Work Develops Leaders

One of the principal aims of 4-H Club work is to teach boys and girls to be better leaders. Members assume responsibility in club programs and in community and council activities. There are now 5 clubs in Coke County and a County 4-H Council.

Council officers are: Jerry Jameson, Silver, chairman; Mary Francis Wylie, Robert Lee, co-chairman; Danell Dixon, Bronte, secretary; Benny Corley, Tennyson, reporter.

These officers, along with elected delegates and club presidents, plan activities and yearbooks and decide on all business for members. The group meets whenever it is necessary.

Adult leaders and parents contribute much to the 4-H program. Leaders work many hours with the girls in preparation for a team demonstration and in getting a garment ready for the Dress Review.

Some of the leaders and parents who have helped the girls during the past year and are still active are Mmes. J. A. Jameson, Pat Rives, Tom E. Rives, Jr., Weldon Fikes, Foy Moore, Finnerl Smith, M. J. Dixon, and Marvin Corley.

Leaders help the girls "learn to do by doing."

The cobra can, literally, "blow his top." He is characterized by ability to extend the sides of his head when he is disturbed or irritated.

AT HOUSTON SHOW

Coke County 4-H Club entries in the recent Houston Stock Show garnered an estimated $1500 in sales and prize money from the show on the four steers and three lambs entered.

James Pentecost, son of Mr. and Mrs. Nolan Pentecost of Sanco, had the top placing calf. His Hereford steer, that was reserve champion of the County Show, placed 9th, in the medium weight class of 94 calves.

The other entries and their results are as follows:

Today's 4-H Club Members Will Become Our Community Leaders of Tomorrow

By STERLING LINDSEY
Coke County Ag. Agent

This week 4-H'ers all over the world are celebrating National 4-H Club week. You will see the green four leaf clover with the four white H's displayed by members everywhere. The four H's, designated for development of head, heart, hands and health, call for a well rounded program of work and wholesome recreation.

Using the farm, home and the community as laboratories for practical learning, 4-H club work is conducted by local extension agents, parents and local leaders.

Take time out for a look at the 4-H program in Coke County during this week. If you see a girl or boy you know is doing a good job with her or his demonstrations, offer your congratulations. If you can, pay your neighborhood club member a visit. He or she will be glad to have you.

Coke County club members have several activities planned for the week. A delegation of members from the Bronte and Tennyson 4-H clubs presented a program at the Bronte Lions Club meeting Tuesday night and at the Robert Lee B. C. D. meeting on Wednesday at noon. Friday night a county 4-H club recreation program will be held at the skating rink in Robert Lee. Club members have placed posters at the schools and in the towns in the county depicting their actions.

Club work by the 4-H'ers in the county includes attending meetings, and accepting responsibilities, having demonstrations at home, performing public demonstrations and entering judging contests. You are possibly familiar with many of their varied activities, but are not aware of many others, such as their work on leadership, record keeping, safety, electricity, landscaping, gardening, and many other activities.

Work among the 4-H club boys in the county is varied and includes many types of demonstrations. There are some 75 boys in 4-H club work in the county with an estimated 60 home demonstrators. Many of these boys and others perform club activities and employ leadership practices. They work to be on judging teams and become proficient in various fields. They learn skills and "learn by doing" to employ the 4-H club motto.

Some of the 4-H club boys that are due congratulations on their work are Dee Arrott, James Pentecost, Gaylon Pitcock, Robert Wink with their calves; Dee Arrott, Bobby Blaylock, Eddie Glenn, with their lambs, and Dee Arrott, Robert and Kenneth Wink, Bill Newell C. L. Sparks, Bobby Blaylock, Jacky, Larry and Benny Corley, with their turkeys. Others include Lanny Dehman, Clark Godwin, James Pentecost, Gaylon Pitcock, Dee Arrott, Bobby Blaylock, Mike Krall, Robert Wink and Malcom Johnson with their swine programs; C. L. Sparks and Benny Boykin with their crop demonstrations and Jerry Jameson on his recreation and leadership activities.

These boys and girls and others are learning to do clearer thinking. It's part of their pledge. They do this by taking part in local club meetings, learning to lead and follow and they do it by carrying out many kinds of constructive activities in home economics and agriculture. They learn to keep records, organize their work, and think through problems. Through your help and cooperation, your assistance, they will be some of the leaders of tomorrow.

COKE SOIL CONSERVATION DISTRICT NEWS

Present Supervisors —
C. N. Webb, Chairman; W. E. Burns, Vice Chairman; D. K. Glenn, Secretary and Treasurer; Robert Walker; Bryan Yarbrough.

At the Bronte Annual Public School Week supper last Tuesday night, A. N. Rawlings and son, Joe, received an award in recognition of the excellent Soil and Water Conservation work done on their land. This unusual award was a beautiful 24 x 36 inch oil colored and framed aerial photograph of the Rawling's ranch. The first public showing of this picture was at the State Fair of Texas, Dallas, Texas, last October, where it was seen in the agriculture Building.

This was the first year of this awards program and Rawlings and Son are to be congratulated for being selected as one of the first year's award winners. Selection of the twenty-five outstanding conservationists was made from nominations submitted by the 172 Texas Soil Conservation Districts. From this list of nominations twenty-five directors of the Association of Texas Soil Conservation Districts then selected one farmer or rancher from his group of Districts to receive this award. Selections were based on the progress made in applying sound soil and water conservation programs on their farm or range lands.

Rawlings and Son are cooperators of the Coke Soil Conservation District which nominated them for the award.

Association President W. C. Howard and D. A. Childre, president of the Great Southwest Life Insurance Company, both report that although this is the first year of the unusual awards program that it has already attracted widespread interest and entries from more districts are expected next year.

A. N. Rawlings and Joe also received an award in 1956 for the most outstanding stock farmers in the Coke Soil Conservation District.

to provide special music.

The structure which is being completed this week is known as the Children's Wing of a master plan for expansion of the local church. It includes a Methodist Youth Fellowship room which is immediately behind the present sanctuary. Beyond this room is a wing of four Sunday school rooms and a nursery. The two are connected by covered walkways. All the rooms have two rest rooms in them, and facilities for heating baby bottles are provided in the nursery.
