37 Put Up $25 Sewer Deposit; Council Urges Full Cooperation

The $25 tie-on fees, which are being collected before construction can begin on Bronte's new sewer system, are coming in somewhat better this week, according to Mrs. Helen Kirkland, city secretary. Up to Wednesday noon 37 deposits had been left with Mrs. Kirkland.

City officials are trying to meet requirements set up by the Housing and Home Administration before that agency will buy the $85,000 in revenue bonds voted by local citizens to build the sewer. One of the requirements of the agency is that the city get prospective users signed up and their tie-on deposits in hand before the bonds can be bought.

Bronte's officials are still urging all persons who expect to use the sewer system to put up their deposits as soon as possible. They emphasized that the longer local residents take to put up their money, the longer it will be before the bonds can be sold, the contract let and actual construction begun.

The money will not be spent, it

AD-LIB-BEN

This week marks the end of an era in Coke County's journalistic history. A. J. Kirkpatrick has sold The Robert Lee Observer to John King II of Big Spring. We have been closely associated with Kirk during the past 12 years and both he and we have had our ups and downs in the business of putting out Coke County's two newspapers.

We consider it a distinct privilege to have been associated with him during these years. He is a good newspaperman, pretty much of the old school, and, even though we feel pretty seasoned by now, he no doubt considered us pretty wet behind the ears when we came to Bronte in July of 1948. He never tried to tell us how to run The Enterprise, but by simply reading his paper we gained lots of valuable information on what a small weekly paper should be, because he has always put out a good one.

During these dozen years, Kirk has written lots of things that we wished we had written first. And, he has written some things that we are gosh awful glad we didn't write. However, we firmly believe that he always wrote the news as he saw it.

Kirk's selling out is not like it is when most newspapers change hands, because he is not moving on to another paper. He is retiring and will continue to make Robert Lee his home. So we expect to continue to see him and enjoy his friendship.

Now, as dean of active newsmen in Coke County, we would like to welcome John King and his family. He is a young man, full of vigor and ambition and will undoubtedly put out a good paper for his subscribers. He has had many years of experience working for various types of publications and for the past 10 years has been national advertising manager for the Big Spring Herald. Welcome to the weekly ranks.

Dana Eubanks and her mother, Mrs. Meta Eubanks of San Angelo, made a recent weekend trip to Carlsbad Caverns and other points in New Mexico.

was pointed out, until the sewer system is actually in operation. It will be placed in an escrow account in the First National Bank of Bronte until that time and then will be used as an operation fund for the system. Officials say that the money will be refunded if anything develops that the sewer cannot be built.

Deposits should be made to Mrs. Kirkland at the city hall.

Kickapoo Church Revival Meeting Starts Sunday

A revival meeting will begin Sunday at the Kickapoo Baptist Church in Bronte. The special services will continue through Sunday night, Aug. 14. Rev. Curtis M. Carroll, editor of the Baptist Progress, will do the preaching. Song leader during the meeting will be Rev. Jimmy Rogers, pastor of Pecan Baptist Church near Robert Lee.

Morning services will be held each day from 9:30 to 10:30. Evening prayer services will be held at 7:30, with preaching services following at 8 o'clock.

Rev. R. W. Blackmon, pastor of the church, said this week that a cordial invitation is given to everyone in this area to attend the services. "Brother Carroll is a man of God, young, energetic, and full of the Holy Spirit. He is editor of the Baptist Progress, official journal of the Baptist Missionary Association of Texas," Rev. Blackmon said.

On Friday night, Aug. 12, Rev. Carroll will show slides which he made on a trip last summer to the Holy Land. In his travels he visited 14 countries and three continents, making pictures and writing articles for his paper. He has shown the slides to over 90 churches, civic organizations and other groups.

Kickapoo Dams Are Assured for This Area

F. S. Higginbotham, chairman of the Kickapoo Water Control and Improvement District, announced this week that things are shaping up well for construction of dams on the Kickapoo Creeks north of Bronte.

"We have been assured that everything is going through," he said. "Our bill will be on the front steps Monday morning when Congress convenes, and we're expecting passage during this special session of Congress."

Higginbotham also stated that most of the easements for the structures have been secured and

Grand Jury Returns Two Indictments

From Robert Lee Observer

Two true bills were returned by a grand jury in 51st District Court here Monday. They involved:

Jay Chatham, for rape, and L. C. Williams and Lester Williams, charged with theft of property valued at more than $50.

Chatham, 19 year old San Angelo man, is alleged to have been involved with a female under 18 years of age on a statutory rape charge.

The Williams brothers are charged with having stolen two truck wheels and tires from George Taylor, foreman for Collins Construction Co. which is building the new highway south of Bronte. The property was valued at $166.

Sheriff Paul Good stated that both the Williams men were in custody. Chatham has been free on bond and is not in custody at present.

Judge Joe L. Mays presided over the court session Monday and the prosecution was handled by Justin Keever, district attorney.

that remaining ones have been assured.

Work toward getting such a project started several years ago after Bronte and the surrounding area were heavily damaged in two floods. A planning party completed a survey on the project several months ago, and their data showed that the project is economically feasible, when the damage incurred during the two floods is considered.

The Kickapoo district was created by an act of the state legislature in July, 1959, and the wheels started turning toward actually getting the project developed. Shortly after the district was created, Higginbotham was elected president of the district, and D. K. Glenn was named vice president. J. A. Percifull is secretary, with Preston Davis and Austin Sandusky, directors.

Rites Held Here For Mrs. J. R. Kevil

Funeral services for Mrs. J. R. Kevil, 69, a resident of San Angelo 14 years and formerly of Bronte, were held last Thursday, July 28, at 4 p. m. in the Methodist Church here. Burial was in Fairview cemetery here.

Mrs. Kevil died at her home in San Angelo about 9 p. m. Tuesday, July 26. She was born March 23, 1891 in Rome, Ga.

The former Ludie Gregory, she married Mr. Kevil Aug. 10, 1913 in Norton. She was a member of the Norton Methodist Church.

Survivors include her husband; two daughters, Mrs. Jack Baker and Miss Myra Kevil, both of San Angelo; two sons, Leonard Kevil of San Angelo and J. D. Kevil of Odessa; two grandchildren; and three sisters, Mrs. Newt Watson of Hale Center, Mrs. Will Mackey of Bronte and Mrs. Myra Wardlow of Fort Worth.

Game of Year Saturday Night Threatens Tranquility of Area

A lucrative deal for the Boy Scouts of Bronte will come off Saturday night when the Old Men and the Old Women meet at the local field for a softball battle. The largest crowd in history of any kind of sport is expected for this massacre, and the Boy Scouts will be the beneficiaries of all contributions made by fans.

Bob Wilson, manager of the Old Women, says his team is in first class shape, and he should know, as he is one of this area's top authorities on the shape of women. Wilson says that without a doubt his girls will have the Old Men worn out by the end of the third inning.

Hurlin Lee, manager of the Old Men, has had his team in secret workout camp all week preparing them to meet the female onslaught. He says, "We're ready for 'em. Our team is in the best condition I ever saw for a bunch of men who are not professional athletes. In fact, we have some offers from professional outfits for some of our stars."

Feeling concerning this contest has continued to run high this week, and Wilson and Lee have stayed on their respective sides of Main Street for fear of stirring up something they would find impossible to stop without having somebody maimed.

Marshall Stephenson and Marvin Corley have been retained to umpire this contest, and with their vast experience, a fairly called game is guaranteed. Wilson, however, has accused both the umpires of taking payola and leaning toward calling the game for the Old Men. "It doesn't matter, though," he said. "We can beat Hurlin Lee's players and umpires both."

This reporter had not considered the far reaching implication of the rivalry between Lee and Wilson, until it was announced that Supt. C. B. Barbee will play for the men. With both Lee and Wilson on the school board, we had thought that a man in his position would not take sides, but since he has made a decision, we feel it was altogether appropriate that he play for the men. After all, Lee is chairman of the board.

Lee announced that he has such confidence in his men that just in case any of them fan out, they will be fined 25 cents which will be donated to the scouts.

Bill Thomas announced that a distance and accuracy ball throwing contest will be held before the battle proper begins. Winner will be given a new bedroom suite. Any player on either team is eligible to enter the contest.

When the rivalry between these two teams first began, Hurlin Lee announced that he was disowning his son, Martin, who is co-manager of the Old Women. He stated emphatically, "A son who would manage a bunch of broken down old women is something up with which I cannot put."

Several rough characters will be deputized to keep law and order at the game. Among this group are Otis Smith and Les Wilkins. They have assured fans that they can feel safe in attending the game. However, they recommend that all fans be sure their hospitalization insurance is paid up and in good standing. Local physicians are expecting a busy night. Game time is set for 8 p. m.

Church of Christ Meeting Will Be Concluded Sunday

A gospel meeting and vacation Bible school are underway this week at the Bronte Church of Christ. Preaching services are being held each evening at 7:30 o'clock and Bible school classes are from 9 to 11 a. m. each day.

James E. Priest of Beaumont is the evangelist for the meetings. He is well known in this area as he conducted similar services here last summer.

A spokesman for the church invited all residents of this area to attend the remaining services.

HIGH SCHOOL TEAM LEADS

Coach Bob Howard's high school softball team is still in the lead in the Winters league. Remaining games are set for Aug. 6, 8, and 13, when the season ends.

WOMEN BEAT BABES

The Women's Softball Team (the same group that play the men Saturday night) bested the Bronte Babes Monday night, 11-6, in a game at the local park.

A. E. Rusk has returned from a vacation trip to Oklahoma, New Mexico and California, where he visited relatives and friends.

GEORGE KNIERIM'S JOB HELPS BACKWARD PEOPLE'S FARMING

Mr. and Mrs. George Knierim and son, Larry, from Bangalore, India, are here visiting his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Charlie Knierim. The younger Knierim is in government service under the point 4 program.

The following news release was received this week from the International Cooperation Administration explaining Mr. Knierim's foreign service more fully.

NEW DELHI, INDIA — Farmers in the Tungabhadra valley of India are learning to use their new irrigation facilities and soon hope to be raising two or three crops of rice, millet, cotton and maize a year instead of a single parched crop. To help accomplish this, they are receiving assistance from an American irrigation engineer George C. Knierim of Chandler, Ariz., who has been teaching them to make simple tools and devices for better use of their new source of water.

When Mr. Knierim came to India in April 1959 as an agricultural adviser for the International Cooperation Administration, Indian farmers were making little use of irrigation water provided by the 146 square mile reservoir of a dam opened in 1953. Farmers had been practicing dry farming for centuries, depending for moisture only on the four-month monsoon season. They had few farming tools and had little idea of how to practice wet cultivation.

The first problem confronting Indian farmers who were converting to wet cultivation was the levelling of their fields. When crops were rainfed, they relied on their eyes to guide them in levelling operations since it did not matter if the land was only moderately level. But for proper irrigation, the land had to be very level.

Mr. Knierim showed the farmers a simple way to accomplish this. He devised an inexpensive water-level gage which they could make themselves. The device consists of two bamboo poles to which are strapped lengths of clear plastic tubing. The two tubes are connected by a 50-foot length of rubber tubing. The tubing is then filled with water which seeks its own level on markers on the poles, indicate the slope of the land. Thus it could be levelled more accurately.

To smooth the land, Mr. Knierim helped farmers construct a land leveler. Drawn by two pair of bullocks, yoked one behind the other, this heavy wooden drag with cross pieces smoothes ploughed land by scraping off the high spots and filling in the low places. With the soil well smothered by this inexpensively made device, there is no trouble making irrigation water flow where the farmer wants it.

Knierim also taught farmers that drainage was equally as important as irrigation. He helped them develop a pipe from local clay, baked by local potters, which was put into the furrows. If too much water flows into a furrow, the pipe is raised and if too little water flows, the pipe is pressed deeper into the earth.

In addition to introducing these and other devices, Knierim also held demonstrations and conducted training programs for them.

Knierim received a B. S. degree from West Texas State College and an M. S. degree from New Mexico College of Agriculture and Mechanical Arts. He was the farm manager of the U. S. Department field station at Sacaton, Ariz., and taught vocational agriculture in Chandler, Ariz. Prior to his assignment in India, he was an ICA irrigation adviser in Iraq for over a year and an agriculture adviser for ICA in Nepal for two years.

Mr. Knierim is on leave in the U. S. with his wife, the former Beulah Robinson of Wheeler, Texas, and his sons, Willis 19 and Larry 9. The Knierims plan to return to India next month.

UNCLE HUIE from HOG CREEK says

DEAR MISTER EDITOR:
I ain't got much work done the last few weeks on account of keepin' up with them political conventions. With everybody living off'n the Government these days, figgering out who's going to run it fer the next four years and figgering out where your next meal is coming from is gittin' to be about one and the same.

The boys in town is divided on the results of both conventions. Some thought they pikked 'em right and some said they got the wrong man. My neighbor was lamentin' that both choices was bad, but, like I told you onct before, he is a great feller to lament about ever thing. He ain't never voted in his life and sets around all day smoking nickel cigars and lets his old lady do all the work while he cusses the Government and low-kinfolks. My old lady says the only defference between me and him is that I vote.

As a matter of fact, Mister Editor, me and him differs in several ways. I smoke three-fer-a-nickel cigars and do all my low rating on my wife's kinfolks. She traces her ancestors clear back to Adam and Moses so that gives me a pritty good range to work on.

Gitting back to the conventions, I was doing pritty good at sizing up the results until I got to listen in to them high priced commentaters that explains everthing. Now I ain't shore about nothing. I think the system they had when I was a boy was much better'n the one they got now. In them days Grandpa brung home the news from town and Grandma diagnosed it fer the whole family. And she usually figgered it out about right. Now we got "commentaters" and when they git through we don't know nothing.

Fer instant, both platforms has the regular plank about balancing the budget, but one of them commentaters explained that the Secretary of the Treasury always considers this plank in the "abstract only." I reckon that means he ain't much concerned with paying as we go. Well, I always figger that when money matters is concerned, a pore man ought to sorter take his cue from the rich, so who am I to say the Secretary of the Treasury is wrong? Them that I owe please take note.

And to wind up the political situation fer this week, I see a piece in the papers saying that one out of every nine Government employees is injured each year. I'll bet half of 'em gits sprained ankles from lettin' their foot slip off the desk while they're sleeping.

Yours truly,
Uncle Huie

D. K. Glenn Heads Boys Ranch Drive

D. K. Glenn has been appointed as a Wagon Boss of the Boys' Ranch of West Texas fall stock drive. Mr. Glenn will participate in a drive to get stockmen to donate sheep or cattle to Boys' Ranch for sale in August.

Glenn is one of sixty stockmen in a large area of West Texas who has been asked to serve as "Wagon Boss" to contact ranchmen in their own communities and urge them to donate a few livestock as gifts, tax-deductible.

Livestock given will be marketed through regular channels on specified sale days at Producers Livestock Auction Company in San Angelo. Plan is to auction sheep August 17, and cattle August 19. Livestock in the various communities will be taken to central gathering points Monday, August 15, then trucked to San Angelo. Any class or number of livestock will be acceptable, whether they be good calves and lambs or old cows and ewes. The only requirement is that they be salable.

General chairman of this West Texas project are Fred Ball and Jack Drake of San Angelo. Both men are well known in the livestock business.

All proceeds from this First Annual Fall Roundup sale will go to Boys' Ranch for the Ranch's operation. The animals are to be sold, not retained for the Ranch. Letter written to the donors by Ball and Drake said the move is "simply an attempt to help finance the Ranch through donations which none of us will miss as individuals but which, in total, will amount to an important sum. Your own contribution may be only one or two animals which you are not very proud of, or it might be sheep or cattle which will bring top market prices." They said the contributions would be "assistance to hard-luck kids who may turn out to be outstanding citizens simply because we gave them a little help at the right time."

The Boys' Ranch is a West Texas Project, organized in 1947 to serve "hard-luck" boys of West Texas. The Ranch has served boys from almost every county in this West Texas area during its thirteen years of operation, and is currently planning to expand to accept the increasing number of applicants. Some five hundred boys have been served by the Ranch and presently there are fifty to sixty boys at Boys' Ranch.
