School, City Elections Set

AD-LIB-BEN

Citizens of the Bronte Independent School District have an obligation to go to the polls Saturday and vote for two men they want to serve on their school board. Five candidates are running for the two jobs, so a choice has to be made. We do not propose to try to tell you how to vote in this election, but we would invite your attention to a few matters for consideration.

We believe that Bronte School has made great progress during the past few years. Our new building attests to the interest of many patrons and friends of the school. They are an asset to the student body only insofar as they are used to promote and improve the school's program of instruction.

Since we do have sound academic and athletic programs set up in our school, the new buildings should greatly enhance the good things that children learn and take with them when they leave the Bronte Schools.

We believe that most school patrons are well pleased with the school's programs, and we would suggest that you elect the two candidates who you feel are the best qualified to continue our progress.

Being a good school board member is a hard, time consuming job. We need men who have the background, insight, patience and time to work at these jobs, and who are willing to do the job.

A city election will be held Tuesday. The candidates are unopposed, but we feel sure they would greatly appreciate a good turnout.

Insurance adjustors and roofing people have been thick here this week, after last week's hail. We were expecting a nice insurance check on the roof damage at the Enterprise office, but so far have been unable to find anyone who thinks we had enough damage to count. Next time we buy a roof, we're going to get one that isn't quite so durable.

This beautiful spring weather reminds us of one little warning which should be heeded by all our male readers: "A wise man never plants more than his wife can hoe."

Waymon Percifull of La Veta, Colo., told us Wednesday that he is moving back to Bronte, after 15 years up in the Rocky Mountain region. He said they have bought the old Keeney place and he will lease his father's place

Students Find Way Back To Classes

Students of Bronte School were forced to change their routine Wednesday morning when they had to get up and go back to school, following a six day holiday. The Spring or Easter vacation began last Thursday afternoon.

Longer than usual, the holiday was extended because classes have not had to be dismissed on account of weather or epidemics during the current school term.

Jacobs Expects Rush For Tags

County Tax Assessor and Collector O. B. Jacobs said Wednesday morning that he is expecting a rush in the license tag business Thursday and Friday. He said that he has sold a total of 1800 vehicle licenses and figures there are 600 more to be sold before the Friday deadline.

Jacobs indicated that he felt his office force could take care of the situation without too long a wait for anybody, but he did feel that they would be busy.

All vehicles on public roads must display the new plates by Saturday morning, April 1.

Appliance Center To Open In RL

(From Robert Lee Observer)

Robert Lee Appliance Center, one of the newest businesses firms in town, will have a grand opening today (Thursday), from 10 a. m. to 4 p. m.

The new firm is owned by John Drummond, long time appliance dealer of Colorado City, and will be managed by Mrs. Juanice Jameson, former Silver resident who is well known here.

Mrs. Jameson said that everyone in this area has a cordial invitation to visit during the open house, when free coffee and donuts will be served. A door prize will be given to some lucky person who registers during the day. A drawing will be held at the conclusion of the open house. The winner does not have to be present to win, nor does he have to purchase anything to be eligible to win. Mrs. Jameson did not divulge what the door prize would be, but she did say it would be something the winner would enjoy having.

Robert Lee Appliance Center will handle a complete line of General Electric merchandise, as well as evaporative coolers and other smaller items.

Included among the GE items will be television sets, washers,

The interest of Bronte area citizens is centered this week on the school trustee election which comes up Saturday. Five candidates are seeking two positions which will become vacant this year.

A city election will also be held during the next week. Balloting will take place next Tuesday, April 4, to elect three city councilmen. However, only three candidates are on the ticket, so their election seems fairly certain.

Two polling places will be set up for Saturday's school trustee election: in Bronte city hall, with Mrs. Otis Smith serving as election judge, and at Tennyson, with Mrs. W. T. Green serving as election judge.

Conda O. Richards is the only candidate who is presently serving on the board. He is the current president of the school's governing body. The other four candidates are David W. Crockett, Norman R. Kiker, C. M. Ho-

D. Corley First In High Jump At SA Relays

Bronte's high school track team ran into some pretty stiff competition at the San Angelo Relays, held last Friday and Saturday at Bobcat Stadium. The local lads managed a tie with Wall for seventh place in the Division IV competition. They totaled 14 points.

Davis Corley's first place win in the high jump was the big gainer for the Longhorn team. He cleared the bar at 5 feet, 8 inches. David Glenn accounted for the second most points as he cleared 11 feet, 6 inches in the pole vault competition, to take second place.

Doug McCutchen tossed the discus 132 feet, 10 3/4 inches for fourth place in that event. Corley also chalked up a fourth place in the broad jump with an 18 foot, 10 inch leap.

The track team will participate in an invitational meet at Borden County School in Gail next Saturday.

Rites Held For James C. Ault, 66

Funeral services were held in Sweetwater Tuesday afternoon for James C. Ault, 66. He was a brother of Mrs. Joe George Wilkins of Bronte.

Mr. Ault died Sunday in Simmons Memorial Hospital there. Preston Cothan, minister of the Fourth and Elm Street Church of Christ, officiated at the services in Cate-Spencer Funeral Home Chapel at 2 p.m. Burial was in the Garden of Memories.

ward and Harold Moon.

The other trustee whose term expires this year, besides Richards is Jacob B. Morrow, who is not seeking reelection.

Other board members who have either one or two more

HOME FROM GERMANY

Alonzo Robbins, son of Mr. and Mrs. Carroll Robbins, is home after serving 18 months in Germany. He has received a discharge from the U. S. Army after two years service. He graduated from high school at Fort Stockton and attended Sul Ross College at Alpine.

He plans to visit here a while, then will work at Fort Stockton.

Nurses Cap For Judy Lee Coates

Mrs. Judy Lee Coates has completed the 126 weeks professional nursing program at Shannon West Texas Memorial Hospital School of Nursing in San Angelo. She will be graduated and receive the graduate cap, school pin and diploma at a candlelighting ceremony to be held at the Angelo State College Auditorium Friday, April 7, at 7:30 p.m.

She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James N. Lee and a graduate of Bronte high school.

Mrs. Coates was a member of the Angelo State College Science club; was student council representative of her nursing class during her freshman and junior years and was vice president of the nursing class during her senior year.

George & Margo's Has Big Day Saturday

Mrs. George Latimer said this week that she had a big day Saturday when she held open house at George & Margo's casual wear shop in Bronte.

Door prizes consisting of a shirt went to Mrs. Charles Ragsdale and a blouse to Mrs. Collins Sayer.

Mrs. Latimer served coffee and cookies all day Saturday to her visitors.

CORRECTION

An item in last week's Enterprise told of local residents attending a funeral service for W. G. Taylor of Coleman. This information was in error, as the funeral service was for Mrs. W. G. Taylor instead of Mr. Taylor.

Mr. and Mrs. David Kuykendall of Fort Worth and Vic Glenn of Baylor University, Waco, were Easter holiday guests in the home of their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Clark Glenn. Ed Gerber of Angelo State College was also a weekend guest of Vic Glenn.

years to serve are Horace Taylor, A. E. Bell Jr., Wayne Arrott, Joe Rawlings and Bill Thomas.

County Board Voting

County wide voting will be held for trustee at large. D. K. Glenn is the only candidate on the ballot for this position. Voters of Precincts 2 and 4 will also cast their ballots for county trustees. Noah Pruitt Sr. of Precinct 2 and C. E. Arrott of Precinct 4 are the only candidates running for these positions. They are presently serving as county trustees.

City Election

In the city election which will be held next Tuesday at the city hall, Horace Grigg and Marvin Bryant are seeking a regular two year term on the city council.

Bill Clark is also on the ticket for a one year term. He was recently appointed to fill the unexpired term of Buddy Reed, who has moved from Bronte. However Texas law provides that a vacancy may be filled by appointment only until the next regular city election. Therefore, Clark is running for the office for the year which remains in Reed's term of office.

Sergeant Maxwell Gets Duty at Dobbins AFB

Marietta, Ga.—Staff Sergeant Thomas E. Maxwell, son of Mrs. H. C. Maxwell Sr. of Rt. 1, Bowman, Ga., has arrived for duty at Dobbins AFB, Ga.

Sergeant Maxwell, a transportation supervisor, previously served at Houma Air Force Station, La. He is assigned to the Air Defense Command which provides aerospace defense against hostile aircraft and missiles.

The sergeant attended Bowman High School and completed requirements for his high school diploma after entering the Air Force.

His wife, Lela, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Horace Sikes of Rt. 1, Bronte, Texas.

League Meets To Be Held

Tennis participants will compete in district contests in San Angelo Friday for the north zone championship of this district.

A large delegation of elementary school students will go to Sterling City Saturday when they will take part in the district elementary school literary events contests. Supt. C. B. Barbee said that grade school students will enter in all events.

Bronte High School's golf team entered district competition Wednesday in San Angelo but results were not available at press time.

Public Invited To Tour R-Lee Damsite

Everyone will have an opportunity Sunday afternoon to see the progress that has been made on the giant Robert Lee dam across the Colorado River.

Guided tours will be conducted from 1:30 to 5 p.m. The tours will begin at the entrance to the site on Highway 158 (Sterling City highway) and will be completed at the other entrance on Highway 2034 (Water Valley highway).

Sheriff Melvin Childress said the contracting firm, Clement Bros., has issued a cordial invitation to everyone who wants to see the project to be on hand between the hours of 1:30 and 5.

The tours will be continuous throughout the afternoon, with groups leaving at regular intervals.

A great many persons have expressed a desire to see the big construction job, but the nature of the work has made it impossible for the contractor to allow many visitors on the site. High speed giant earth movers, trucks and other equipment are constantly on the move in the area, and safety of visitors could be endangered if they were allowed in the area during regular work time.

Sheriff Childress said tours will not be a regular thing at the dams site, but he added that tours will be conducted periodically, as announced by the contractor.

It's easy to be an expert at cooking chicken.

That's because there are so many easy ways to fix chicken, even the novice cook can turn out a tasty meal that will win the approval of all the family.

What can you do with chicken? What can't you do with it would be a better question. You can bake it, broil it, broast it, fry it, braise it, barbecue it, stuff it or stew it. Or, try cooking chicken parts in vegetable casseroles with potatoes, creamed corn, spinach, broccoli, green beans, mushrooms or tomatoes. And ah...that Coq au Vin. Add the gourmet touch with spices, wines, fruits, vegetables stuffings, marinades and cheeses.

And don't forget those extra servings of leftover chicken. They're perfect for salads, sandwiches, casseroles, a la kings, curries, croquettes, souffles, pies, and various fillings. Some say they're great on pizza.

Good chicken meals begin with good quality chickens. One way to assure quality is to look for the circular inspection symbol of the U. S. Department of Agriculture on the chicken you buy. This symbol means that the chicken was healthy, that it was packaged under sanitary conditions and that it is truthfully labeled.

Store fresh chicken, loosely wrapped, in the refrigerator and cook 1 to 2 days after buying. Keep frozen chickens until time to thaw, and cook them promptly after thawing.

Ready-to-cook broiler fryers are indeed ready to cook — merely rinse them in cold water, drain and pat dry. If the chicken is to be fried, broiled or oven-browned, make sure it is dry because a wet surface will prevent the chicken from browning properly.

Broiler-fryer parts or cut-up chickens usually take an hour of cooking in a moderate oven; pan-fried, deep fried, or broiled parts cook in 30 to 45 minutes or more depending on the size of the parts.

Frozen chicken parts can also be cooked without thawing. To do this, simply handle them in the same manner as the fresh, except that the cooking time will be about 15 minutes longer.

Chicken is done when it is "fork tender," or when the meat on the thickest part of the drumstick is soft to the touch.

Many people overcook chicken, especially the breast, which makes it dry and chewy. When cooking cut-up chickens remember that the breast will cook in a shorter length of time than the thicker parts like the leg. Give the legs a 10 minute headstart before adding the breast and you will find that the breast will be more juicy and tender.

The care and storage of cooked chicken is just as important to the health of your family as the care of the uncooked chicken. Cooked chicken should be cooled quickly and stored loosely wrapped in the coldest part of the refrigerator. Don't leave it standing at room temperature. Refrigerate stuffing promptly.

Any leftover broth or gravy should be refrigerated promptly, and then reheated to the boiling before serving. Use cooked poultry, stuffing, broth or gravy within 1 to 2 days. Or, store the chicken with the broth or gravy in a freezer for up to 6 months.

County Agents News Column

By STERLING LINDSEY

When Spring rolls around people begin to think about making things grow. The farmer in his fields, the gardner in his garden and the home owner in his yard all want to get things going and growing.

We still need that good rain (rains really), but the perennial plants are putting out anyway. The good rains in the fall put some moisture underneath.

Also starting will be the insects. Nature has a way of taking care of itself. One of our major insect problems the past few years has been on peaches. Catfacing and tunneling insects ruin many of our peaches.

Now is the time to start treatment to control part of these insects, the major ones.

The following spray schedule is recommended. Spray the peach tree or trees with either Carbaryl (Sevin), malathion, methoxychlor or diazinon when 75 percent of the blossom petals have fallen. Make the second or shuck split application 10 days after the first application with one of the insecticides listed for first spray. Then 10 to 14 days after the second application make the third spraying with one of the recommended insecticides and 13 to 21 later make a repeat application of the number three spraying.

The home gardener can do a satisfactory spraying job with a small power sprayer or a hand sprayer if close attention is given to the thorough coverage of the tree. Use enough spray to wet all fruit, leaf and bark surfaces.

Should infestations of fruit-damaging insects occur following the completion of recommended spray schedule, Carbaryl (Sevin) can be used effectively up to within one day of harvest.

Insecticides are essential tools in the home garden, however, they should be used in accordance with the rate and safety directions printed on the container label.

Carbaryl may be applied to peaches up to one day before harvest; that malathion should not be used within 7 days of harvest; methoxychlor within 21 days of harvest and diazinon within 20 days of harvest.

A number of people call each year about galls on trees. Fortunately, these small, usually spherical abnormal growths are not often a serious problem. Most healthy plants can tolerate a large number of galls with no apparent injury.

But there are exceptions, says Lyndon K. Almand, assistant Extension entomologist at Texas A&M University.

"Under certain conditions, gall insects can build up in sufficient numbers to damage the plant," he said. "Unhealthy trees are damaged more by galls than trees in a vigorous state of growth."

Many kinds of insects and termites can cause galls. Attack of each species results in a distinctive deformity on leaves, twigs or stems. Some of the more important gall makers are mites, plant lice or aphids, tiny flies called midges and tiny wasps.

If control is necessary, it is important to remember that control by insecticide is next to impossible if galls have already begun to form. Egg laying or hatching by the bug pest stimulates the plant to form the abnormal growth or gall, which becomes a protective cell for the developing young. Insecticide chemicals can't make contact.

"In many instance, the best time to apply insecticides is not known. Some species of gall insects attack early in the spring, while others may attack throughout most of the growing season. Preventive spray treatments early in the growing season may reduce gall infestations."

Almand suggested that plants besprayed in early spring just as new growth begins and continued at weekly intervals until leaves are fully developed.

Why The Christian Science Monitor recommends you read your local newspaper

Your local newspaper is a wide-range newspaper with many features. Its emphasis is on local news. It also reports the major national and international news.

THE MONITOR COMPLEMENTS YOUR LOCAL PAPER

We specialize in analyzing and interpreting the important national and international news. Our intention is to bring the news into sharper focus. The Monitor has a world-wide staff of correspondents—some of them rank among the world's finest. And the Monitor's incisive, provocative editorials are followed just as closely by the men on Capitol Hill as they are by the intelligent, concerned adult on Main Street.

WHY YOU SHOULD TRY THE MONITOR

You probably know the Monitor's professional reputation as one of the world's finest newspapers. Try the Monitor; see how it will take you above the average newspaper reader. Just fill out the coupon below.
