CHOW TIME — This generous and gentle old cow doesn't seem too particular about what receives her milk, as these pigs make themselves right at home at the dinner table. The cow and the pigs belong to Hiram Brock, who said he had never seen pigs suckle a cow before. Brock has 12 pigs and two calves on two cows at his place east of Bronte. He said he first got to noticing the interloping diners when his calves didn't seem to be doing quite as well as they should. When he found he had 12 pigs also taking advantage of the milk supply, the mystery was solved.

Subscription Special Passes Halfway; Still Time to Save 50c on Enterprise

The Bronte Enterprise's annual subscription special passed the halfway mark this week with a large number of readers taking advantage of the 50 cents savings.

"Many of our regular readers have renewed during the subscription special," said Publisher Ben Oglesby, "and even the number of new subscriptions has been surprising."

A 50 cents reduction in price has been in effect all during July and will continue through the remainder of the month. The reduced price is good on any subscription — new, renewal or extension.

The regular price of $3.50 in Coke and adjoining counties has been reduced to $3.00, while the regular price anywhere else in the country of $4.50 has been cut to $4.00.

Subscribers may take advantage of the offer by coming by The Enterprise office in Bronte, by mailing in their orders, or by contacting the Enterprise representative in their communities. These representatives are Mrs. Rocky Thompson in Blackwell, Mrs. Herbert Holland in the Brookshire area, and Mrs. Tom Green or Janet Thomas in the Tennyson community.

Only 12 days, not counting Sundays remain during the bargain rate period, and the offer will not be made again until next July.

AD-LIB-BEN

Our older daughter, Margi, is having some rather unusual experiences this summer for a WASP (White Anglo Saxon Protestant), and more especially for a girl from a small town in West Texas.

She wrote us a letter last week, parts of which we would like to share with our readers.

In order for you to understand this letter, it is necessary to give a bit of background information on her summer job.

She is working in Good Samaritan Center, a multi-service agency, located in a poverty section of San Antonio which is predominantly Mexican American. This center is sponsored by the Episcopal Church, and in addition is funded by money from the United Fund and from private donations. It has been in operation many years and is respected, though maybe not always liked by most of the residents in the area.

The purpose of her work and others who are spending their time working in the center this summer is to try to improve the lot of people, particularly the youngsters, in the neighborhood. Even more important, perhaps, is to try to show the young men and women who are working, the plight of many of the people who

Newby Changes Name of Business

George Newby is announcing this week the change of names for his funeral homes at Robert Lee and Bronte. Newby purchased the businesses in October 1968 from Sam Williams and has continued to operate under the name of Williams Funeral Homes. However, as of today, the firms will be known as Newby Funeral Homes.

Newby pointed out that the name of the Robert Lee business still is carried as Williams Funeral Home in the temporary phone directories for Robert Lee with new numbers which went into effect Wednesday morning. He added that the new name will be in the regular new phone books which are due for delivery some time in September.

Newby and his wife moved to Robert Lee last October after buying out Mr. and Mrs. Sam Williams, who had operated the funeral homes for about five years.

Before moving to Coke County, Newby was in the funeral home business in Ballinger and served other operators in Eden, Winters, Bronte and Robert Lee.

In an ad in this week's paper, Newby is announcing the name change and also is telling the public there will be no change in personnel nor in services rendered by the funeral homes.

Newby said it has always been his intention to provide a service that is thorough, sympathetic and personalized, and this policy will continue.

STREET SEALCOATED

Main Street in Bronte was deserted Thursday morning, as Texas Highway Department workmen were sealcoating the street from East Railroad Street to Highway 277. Work was under direction of J. B. Arrott of Ballinger, district highway official.

Apparently work is almost completed, also, on Highway 158 between Bronte and Robert Lee, which will give a new road from Highway 277 to the county seat.

Highway 158 has been torn up for more than a year, and completion of the construction will be welcomed by Coke County residents.

An election to establish East Coke County Hospital District has been called by Coke County Commissioners Court for Aug. 23.

A notice of the election and order from the court are being published in this week's Enterprise.

The election was called following approval by the Texas Legislature to set up a hospital district which would include precincts two and four of Coke County. The district was okayed with the passage of House Bill 1462, sponsored by Rep. George Baker.

Polling places will be set up at the city hall in Bronte with Matthew Caperton as presiding judge and Noah Pruitt as alternate judge, and at the schoolhouse in Tennyson, with Sam Gaston as presiding judge and James Arrott as alternate judge.

Absentee voting will be conducted at the county clerk's office in Robert Lee during the period of 20 days to three days before the election.

Only qualified resident voters of the area to be included in the proposed district and who own taxable property and have rendered it for taxation will be permitted to vote in the election.

Backers of the proposal began a movement early this year to get the district created, mainly with the idea of using the district as a means of building a nursing home in Bronte.

The need for nursing care, particularly for the elderly, is becoming more necessary all the time, they said, and a home located here would be a great convenience for local citizens who need the care, as well as being an asset to the area.

All Stars Entered In Area Tourney

The Colorado River Little League All Star team was scheduled for its first game in tournament playoff Thursday night, after this week's Enterprise was printed Thursday afternoon. The best players of the league teams were selected for the All Star group and they were scheduled to play Ballinger All Stars at 7:30 p.m. Thursday.

If the game is lost, the local lads will be through with baseball for 1969, but if they win, they will play Winters All Stars Friday night at 7:30, also in Ballinger.

Starters on the team include Wayne Alexander, 2B; Jim Dan Raughton, SS; Terry Wojtek, 3B; Jesse Freeman, 1B; Alan Barbee, P; Mike Davis, CF; Kit Carlton, LF; Craig Bessent, C; Robert Cruz, RF. Reserves include Russell Davis, Melvin McCabe, James Beaty and Joe Rivera. Eddie Alexander of Bronte is manager of the All Stars and Dale Wojtek of Robert Lee is coach.

The Bronte Yankees, who are well represented on the league team, wound up the season first place and had a 11-1 record.

Bronte fans were invited to Ballinger Thursday night, and if the All Stars win, they have a cordial invitation to go back Friday night and back the team.

Trash & Treasures Sale Going Strong

The "Trash and Treasures" sale sponsored by the Bronte Longhorn Band was going great Thursday morning, according to Band Director Louis Thornton. He reported their receipts were nearing the $400 mark and they still had "a world of merchandise" left for sale. The sale is being held in the Ditmore building on Highway 277.

Bake Sale Planned

The band members and Band Boosters organization plan to add a little spice to the sale Saturday morning when they will also have a bake sale. Fresh baked pies and cakes will be available for very reasonable prices, they said.

Thornton said the bandmen can still use more merchandise and all donations will be appreciated. He urged everyone to bring in their donations as soon as possible "so we will have plenty of time to sell them." Anything that anybody has and does not want will be accepted, the band members said.

Purpose of the sale is to raise

Austin — Stiff resistance is forming to a proposed 11.4 per cent average private auto insurance rate hike.

Gov. Preston Smith promised a "full scale" investigation of soaring rates after State Insurance Board rate experts recommended the new increase.

Smith said the proposal "borders on catastrophe" and the car insurance situation "has become intolerable for many of our citizens." Governor announced an early meeting with insurance company executives and said he is considering appointment of a select panel of citizens outside the industry to make a thorough study and recommendations.

Board rate authorities blamed the increase on the number and cost of auto accidents. Labor cost for repairs, in particular, was emphasized.

Recommendations and testimony at the public hearing will be reviewed by the board before Aug. 1. New rates will take effect with policies written or renewed on or after Sept. 1.

Liability rates, under staff recommendation, would go up 5.5 per cent. (Bodily injury coverage actually would be reduced 3.7 per cent, but property damage would increase 21.4 per cent.)

Collision insurance would increase 17.5 per cent.

physical damage would climb 24.9 per cent.

Commercial vehicles, with better safety records, would get lower rates. Figuring all classes of vehicles, the statewide average increase would be 9.2 per cent under staff recommendations.

Insurance company spokesmen urged even higher increases, but AFL-CIO spokesmen argued for reduction, rather than raise.

"An automobile is an absolute necessity in our current society, and, I, for one, do not intend to sit idly by and see it priced into a position of being a luxury," said Smith.

TREASURE HUNT CAUSES RUCKUS — A story which began in 1952 still is one of the state's headline items.

Lawsuits, sharp exchanges between state officials and threatened impeachment proceedings raged over what should be done with the treasure recovered from a Spanish galleon which sank in a storm off Padre Island more than 400 years ago.

Land Commissioner Jerry Sadler incurred the ire of a legislative committee earlier when he declined to cooperate with members probing his agreement with the Gary, Ind., firm of Platoro, Inc. Sadler's proposal was to salvage artifacts from the sunken ship and divide the loot 50-50 with the state.

Sadler announced that he had recovered all the artifacts taken from the galleon by Platoro and has them in his custody. He got a court order temporarily restraining Platoro from further salvage operations which firm, according to Secretary of State Martin Dies, engaged in the Padre Island treasure hunt without the proper state permit.

District judge at Corpus Christi postponed a hearing on disposition of the treasure until after the special legislative session. Meanwhile, he named a committee to determine if the Gary salvage firm still has some of the treasure and if so, how to get it back. Serving on the committee are Col. Wilson E. Speir, director of the Department of Public Safety, Atty. Gen. Crawford C. Martin, and Ed Harte, Corpus Christi publisher.

State Rep. Jake Johnson of San Antonio threatened impeachment of Sadler over his contract with Platoro.

DEER HUNTING LONGER — Longest deer hunting season yet has been set by the Parks and Wildlife Commission.

Season will open on the morning of November 8 and continue until sunset on January 7, 1970.

Commission agreed to reduce the white wing dove season drastically. Shooting will be permitted only on one weekend in September, since experts reported the dove population down 20 per cent from last year.

Mrs. Charlie E. Alford

Miss Barbara Elaine Glenn, Charlie E. Alford Exchange Vows in Amarillo Church Ceremony

The Ridgecrest Baptist Church in Amarillo was the scene last Saturday for the wedding of Miss Barbara Elaine Glenn to Charlie E. Alford. The double ring ceremony was read at 4 p.m., July 12 by the Rev. C. L. Quesenbury, pastor. The church was decorated with white tapers, with white gladioli and roses, and votif cups down the aisle.

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. Vernon Glenn and Mr. and Mrs. Jim Alford, all of Amarillo. The Glens are former Bronte residents.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore an empire sheath gown of white organza over bridal taffeta appliqued with French re-embroidered alencon lace, with a modified scoop neckline and bell sleeves with lace motifs. The detachable sheer organza tiered cathedral train was lavishly appliqued with French re-embroidered alencon lace. A pearl and crystal design was on the motifs of the dress and train. A tiered elbow length veil of imported English silk illusion fell from a headpiece of pearl trimmed silk illusion and lace. She carried a colonial bouquet of red roses and gardenias.

Matron of honor was Mrs. Jeneen Williams of Amarillo, Cousin of the bride. Other attendants were Mrs. Terry Koetting, Panhandle; Mrs. Ronnie Hillin Waynesboro, Mo., Mrs. Lisa Glenn, Amarillo; Miss Linda Alford, Amarillo and Mrs. Carrie Clark of Amarillo.

Lonnie Hillin of Waynesboro, Mo., was best man. Ushers and groomsmen were G. M. Walls, Pampa; Wilbur Walls, Mason Glenn, Jim Box and Jimmy Vaughan, all of Amarillo.

A reception followed the wedding at the church.

After a wedding trip to Missouri until July 20, the couple will live in Amarillo at 2010 Bonham.

The bride graduated from high school in Amarillo and attended West Texas State University in Canyon. She is employed as a dental assistant.

The bridegroom also attended West Texas State University. He was a member of Phi Delta Theta fraternity. He is now in the cattle business near Amarillo.

Facts on Flammable Fabrics

All fabrics can burn. This means that the clothes you wear, and the furnishings in your home, will burn under the proper set of conditions.

Children and the elderly, who are less able to protect themselves are most vulnerable to clothing fires. Mothers should keep this in mind when they purchase sleepware for their children, blankets and clothes for the baby, or a bathrobe for grandmother.

The most common source of clothing igniting among adults is careless smoking. Following smoking, the cook stove, rubbish fires, and heating stoves cause the most frequent accidents. Clothing fires also occur when flammable liquids such as gasoline or lighter fluid are spilled on clothes and accidentally ignited.

Children are burned when their clothing ignites while they are playing with matches, or when they get too close to heating and cooking stoves or to a trash fire.

What factors affect flammability? Fabrics vary greatly in their flammability. The degree of flammability depends on the fiber, weight and weave of the fabric, surface of the fabric, and design of the garment.

Fiber: Of the basic fibers, wool is comparatively flame resistant. It will ignite, but it burns slowly and the fire usually goes out once the source of ignition has been removed. If wool is combined with another fabric, however, it may not be flame resistant.

Glass fibers (fiberglass, PPG Fiber Glass), modacrylics (Verel, Dynel), saran (Royana, Velon), and some other man-made fibers are fire-resistant. Glass fabrics though sometimes are blended or treated with finishes that make them less flame resistant.

Synthetic fibers such as nylon, polyester, or acrylics are usually less flammable than the fibers of cotton, linen, or rayon. But synthetics can actually melt as they burn, and the sticky, syrupy substance that is formed produces deep, localized burns.

Cotton and rayon burn readily. They can be treated with chemicals to make them flame-retardant, but manufacturers have just recently begun to use this treatment on clothes sold in retail stores.

Weight and weave: Tightly woven, heavy fabrics burn more slowly than sheer, lightweight, loosely woven fabrics.

Surface of the fabric: A napped fabric with air space between loose, fine fibers will ignite much more readily than will a fabric with a smooth surface. In general, fabrics with a shorter pile and a greater density are less likely to burn than those with a high, fluffy pile.

Design of the garment: Close-fitting garments are less likely to go up in flames than are loose-fitting ones. Flowing robes, flared skirts, blousy sleeves, and ruffles and frills on garments are most likely to catch fire and burn.

What should be done if someone's clothes catch on fire? Force him to drop or lie down wherever he is. If a rug, coat, or wool blanket is available, roll the person into it to smother the fire. If no heavy article is handy, roll him over and over until the flames are put out.

The natural tendency when clothes catch fire is to run. But this only makes the fire burn faster and increases the danger of flames and smoke sweeping up toward the face.

Self-Adhesive Wall Coverings

Self-adhesive wall coverings bring new life to wornout interiors attractively and fast. This easy-to-use product (just pick a pattern, peel off the protective backing and press) offers many decorating ideas.

Ideas for the home decorator to use include covering a plywood screen with a woodgrained pattern or even a different pattern on both sides for a new room divider. Or enliven old bookcases by lining the shelves with a bright floral covering. Or give personality to windows by simply pressing a lively pattern over an ordinary shade.

One new variation is a design of nylon flocking over printed vinyl. Since these coverings are plastic and the flocked pattern is nylon, dirt and other stains can be washed off without damaging the color or material.

Food Facts

Who needs milk? Everyone is the answer. Milk provides calcium — the mineral that helps form bones and teeth and keeps them strong. Milk protein builds body tissues, helps the body fight infection and supplies energy. It's also rich in riboflavin, B vitamin that helps keep skin healthy and vision clear. Children need three or more glasses of milk each day; teenagers need four or more; and adults need two or more.

Lettuce stored with other fruits and vegetables is more likely to develop russetting, a type of browning on the inside leaves, according to Extension food specialists. Store lettuce separately.

Portales. He has served as a member of the advisory board of Lubbock Christian College since its beginning in 1957.

Both his sons, Eddie, 17, and Mark, 15, were born in Bronte. Eddie completed a distinguished high school career last May at Stephen F. Austin High School in El Paso. He has been chosen for a scholarship in physics at Rice University where he will enroll this fall. He has served two years as one of the choir directors at Grandview Church of Christ, where his father is minister.

Mark is a sophomore in Stephen F. Austin High School, where he, too, is active in choir, Student Council and other activities. He was one of the speakers for the Northside Church of Christ youth rally held in El Paso this past May.

A spokesman for the church said everyone in the community is invited to attend any of the services. "So many of the Bronte folks know Leon, we feel sure they will want to hear him preach, and we feel that having his sons along as song leaders should make the services even better," he said.

An ad in this week's Enterprise announces the series of meetings and lists the topics of Sharp's sermons.

money for more new band uniforms. The school's board of trustees voted earlier this year to purchase 65 new uniforms and they were ordered, but when prospective 1969-70 band members signed up, it became apparent there would be more than 65 members in the band. Consequently, band members and the Booster Club members started a campaign to raise money for additional uniforms.

They recently had a car wash and raised enough money for two more uniforms, and they hope their "Trash and Treasures" sale will make enough for several more.

Everyone in the area is invited to shop the sale Friday and Saturday, as a large selection of all kinds of things is still on hand.

live in the area.

Her letter tells some of the things she has experienced and we think probably the most interesting is the other side of the coin in the matter of racial discrimination. She writes as follows about going to a meeting of meat-cutters who were on strike:

"We've gone to some meetings at night — went to one meeting of a meat-cutters strike which was quite an experience. A bunch of speeches in Spanish — 'The Gringo is our enemy. We must be the united race,' etc. Some of the people from the center were there (these were Mexican American workers) and I couldn't tell if they were glad or sorry to see us. At any rate they told us that we weren't 'Gringos,' we were 'Anglos.' I think I am learning to have a lot of courage (there wasn't any physical danger, of course — it was just an embarrassing situation). You really have to know who you are to face discrimination like that and remain yourself and not run away from it.

"It's almost like going to someone's house and having them tell you they want you to leave because they don't like you, and you turn around and say that if they don't want to like you, that's their right, but you like them and are interested and don't intend to leave.

"Not very much of that stuff goes on, but when you run into it, it takes a lot of self-possession and just plain old ordinariness gut. I think it is good for anyone and probably particularly good for me to have to face people who don't like me. I really see clearly now how destructive racial discrimination or things like that can be to a person's self-respect."

Margi's letter told us about how she was unhappy to some extent because she couldn't see enough accomplishment in what she is doing. However, she related later that perhaps it was best some of her plans didn't materialize:

"Instead of getting up-tight because my team isn't getting anything done, I've been concentrating on getting to know people — my kids and the staff — and some of them are absolutely amazing. I had planned to start 'my own thing' but I never had the courage to go out and do it. I guess God was taking care of things. I had planned to start a group of kids on the corner of 21st and Tampico. When I talked to Mrs. Kehl, my 'trainer', she said she was glad I didn't do it because that was a gang area. It would have been in the daytime and there would have been no physical danger (as long as the sun is shining, it's o.k.), but it could have been very embarrassing both to me and to the center."

Several pages of the letter were devoted to telling how much she admires some of her fellow workers who grew up in the area and now are trying to help improve the conditions they know so well. She said, "I admire these people exceedingly. It must take someone who is not only very strong but also very flexible to live through what they've lived through."

Her concluding paragraph before she got into personal things read as follows:

"I'm very happy and very interested in living — there are more things in heaven and earth than I will ever be able to dream of."
