der was also a member of the class but is not pictured here. Scoring first on the final test was Doris Richards; Ozella Wilkins was second; and four were tied for third, Christine Corley, Betty Gardner, Verdie Mae Hooper and Zell Moore.

Nurses' Aides Receive Pins

Members of the Nurses Aide Class received their pins and certificates in a ceremony Thursday night, July 1, at the Methodist Church.

Mrs. James Allen, R.N., who taught the course for the past several months, gave the welcome to guests and presented pins to the class. Mrs. J. W. Martin, coordinator of the program, was mistress of ceremonies and presented the certificates. Melissa Lee, accompanied by Mrs. Martin Lee, gave a vocal solo. Rev. Fred Brown said the benediction.

Four Bronte Lads On All-Star Team

Four members of the Bronte team have been named to the Senior Little League All-Star team. They are Kim Barrett, Jim Dan Raughton, Andy Eubanks and Wayne Alexander.

First all-star game is scheduled for Thursday, July 22, at Wingate against the Ballinger All-Stars. Benny Rogers of Robert Lee will manage the team and Eddie Alexander of Bronte will serve as coach.

The local team wound out their regular season last Monday night with a loss to Wingate, 11-9. They defeated the Winters Astros last Thursday night, 6-2. They had an 8-3 season and tied with Robert Lee for first place in the league.

Members of the team this year have been: Randy Gibbs, Alan Barbee, Kevin Gibbs, David Chapman, Nelson Coulter, Joe Rivera, Randy Scott, Raughton, Alexander, Barrett and Eubanks.

E. G. Collins New Master of Lodge

E. G. Collins was installed as Worshipful Master of Bronte Masonic Lodge Thursday night, July 1, in a joint installation with the Hayrick Lodge of Robert Lee. The installation ceremony was held in Bronte Masonic Hall.

Other new officers include: Bill Luckett, Senior Warden; Charles Ragsdale, Junior Warden; Royce Fancher, Treasurer; H. O. Whitt, Secretary; C. R. Blake, Chaplain; Jack Glascock, Senior Deacon; Glenn Culp, Junior Deacon; Noah Pruitt Jr., Senior Steward; Leonard Fletcher, Junior Steward, and Royce Lee, Tiler.

Arthur Rannion was installed Worshipful Master of the Hayrick Lodge.

CLIFFORD DANIEL RETIRES AFTER 35 YEARS SERVICE

Clifford Daniel of Miles retired June 30, after 35 years with Lone Star Gas Co. Daniel started with Lone Star in Hillsboro.

For the past 14 years he has been service man in Miles, and has served Robert Lee and Bronte since Lone Star installed natural gas in the two Coke County towns.

Daniel was honored with a supper June 30 in San Angelo and was presented a gold watch for his 35 years of service.

No successor has been announced.

Funeral Services For Geo. R. Bivins

Funeral services were held Wednesday of last week for George Ross Bivins, 70, in the First Christian Church of Iraan. Masonic graveside rites were conducted at 3:30 p.m. in Fairview Cemetery here.

A former mayor of Iraan, Mr. Bivins was a brother-in-law of Mrs. Olive Keeney and Mrs. Vetal Flores. He died Sunday, June 27, in St. John's Hospital in San Angelo.

He was born June 28, 1900, at Santa Anna and was married to Lucy Lowry in June 1942 in Iraan. She died Nov. 7, 1969. He was a retired service station owner-operator and served as mayor of Iraan for three terms, 1962-68. He also was an oil well driller and had real estate interests.

Survivors include a daughter, Mrs. Nelda Walls of San Marcos; a son, Jerry Bivins of Gonzales; a brother, Howard Bivins of Clear Field, Utah, and four grandchildren.

Subscription Special Now Going Full Swing

The Enterprise annual subscription special is in full swing and a large number of persons have already taken advantage of the 50 cents savings which is being offered.

A 50 cent discount on any subscription may be had during the month of July. The discount makes a regular $3.50 subscription in Coke and adjoining counties cost $3.00. A subscription anywhere else regularly sells for $4.50 and may be had for $4.00.

New Beds Arrive For Nursing Home

Forty new beds have been received for the Bronte Nursing, according to the Rev. C. R. Blake, chairman of the board of directors. They were purchased early at a considerable saving, he said, because of the expected rise in the cost of steel. They are stored in the Caperton Building at present.

Blake also said a rumor making the rounds to the effect that they would not accept donations is groundless. He said they would be glad to accept gifts from individuals and groups, but added that it would be wise to check with the directors or L. O. Clark, administrator, to see what is needed. Memorial gifts are often presented to hospitals and nursing homes and the local hospital will be glad to have them, the chairman said.

QUIET JULY 4TH HERE

Law enforcement officers reported this week that Bronte and Coke County observed a quiet July 4 with no injuries reported. Oak Creek Lake and Lake Spence were crowded with holiday visitors, and clear, hot weather prevailed over the long weekend.

Patrolman Bobby Hart and Deputy Grady Coulter reported that their main work for the weekend was traffic control.

Customers may bring or mail their orders to The Enterprise office or those living in outlying communities may contact their Enterprise representative. Those who live at Blackwell should see Mrs. Rockey Thompson; Tenny-son residents may contact Susan Arrott or Mrs. Tom Green; and persons who live in the Brookshire area may see Mrs. Herbert Holland.

Publisher Ben Oglesby said an increase in subscription rates is likely in the near future, due to rising production costs and postal rate increases, and invited everyone to take advantage of the savings now.

Park Improvement Money Made Available To Small Cities

Concho Valley Council of Governments' Regional Services Director Tom C. Adams met with the city councilmen of Robert Lee and Bronte at the Robert Lee City Hall on Tuesday, July 6, to inform them of the assistance that rural local governments may receive under the "Legacy of Parks" program.

July 1, 1971, marked the date for the initiation of the new Legacy of Parks program, administered by the Department of Housing and Urban Development. The $200 million of federal funds are available for matching local monies in order to improve the environment and meet urban recreation needs by saving fast disappearing open spaces in high density urban areas.

The needs for area development in smaller towns and communities has caused the Legacy program to be made available to them on the same basis as for high intensity areas. Eligible projects could include parks, mini parks, playgrounds, open spaces, nature study and environmental education areas, park-school sites, as well as open spaces involving historical sites. Bike trails, jogging paths, and other recreation sites are also eligible.

The "Legacy of Parks" program will make increased park financing available on a speeded up delivery system. Local governments will be able to obtain 50-50 matching funds for new parks, playgrounds, and open spaces, and up to 75 per cent for sites that guide urban development.

High priority will be given to the development and improvement of land already in public ownership, such as undeveloped parks and playgrounds, tax delinquent lots, and property not needed by other local agencies.

For more information on the Legacy of Parks program, individuals and organizations, as well as local governments, may contact the Concho Valley Council of Governments, 505 7 West Twelfth Building, San Angelo.

northwest and 19.7 per cent in the central area. Extended coverage for dwellings is up 25 per cent on the coast and north-northwest, 19.3 per cent in central part of the state.

Fire insurance coverage increases 5.2 per cent—or 7.1 per cent for dwellings.

AUTO INSURANCE UP AGAIN? — State Insurance Board staff recommended an average 2.8 per cent statewide passenger car insurance rate hike effective Sept. 1.

Board heard recommendations at a public hearing here June 30 and indicated a decision will be made about mid-August.

Industry, which won a 14 per cent boost in rates Jan. 1 after asking 27.7 per cent, is asking 9.8 per cent increase (average statewide) on passenger car coverage.

Seven state legislators and the state AFL-CIO president argued that a decline in accidents justifies lowering rather than raising rates. Since rates are fixed by territories, not statewide, some areas under Board staff recommendations would receive reductions in certain lines of coverage.

MORE WELFARE WOES LOOM — A top court decision declaring needy non-citizens eligible for assistance, threat of increasing finance burdens from federal legislation and rising medical costs put the State Board of Public Welfare on red alert again last week.

Board was told the federal bill would "save" the state $57.1 million in existing payments — but might double the number of Texans eligible for medical benefits (which will cost $135.7 million next year).

Supreme Court decision on aliens would add 20,000 to state welfare rolls overnight at a cost of more than $10 million a year, Deputy Welfare Commissioner Herbert Wilson estimated.

New Welfare Commissioner Raymond Vowell said negotiations are under way to place limits on runaway medical care costs, while maintaining adequate services.

18 YEAR OLDS CAN VOTE— Texas' 18, 19 and 20 year olds who are registered to vote can participate in any election starting this month, Secretary of State Martin Dies Jr. points out.

Ratification by the 38th state of the teen age voter constitutional amendment placed it into effect immediately, Dies said.

Any election which is now in progress "must allow those 18, 19 and 20 years old to vote if they are presently registered," Dies, chief election officer for Texas, advised.

Young voters not now registered must wait until registration period reopens Oct. 1.

COURTS SPEAK — First case in which the Nixon administration sought to force busing in the desegregation of public schools, a federal judge at Austin gave Austin schools and U. S. Department of Health, Education and Welfare until July 16 to come up with a compromise plan "minimizing busing." Court found no official segregation against Austin Mexican-American pupils.

UNEMPLOYMENT UP—Texas

unemployment increased 15,500 from mid-April to mid-May to a total of 196,500, Texas Employment Commission reported.

During last year, unemployment increased 28 per cent, and number of claimants for jobless benefits jumped 42 per cent.

Seventeen of the major areas reported unemployment growth during the past month. Four had a decrease, and one remained unchanged. Unemployment rate (as percentage of work force) was 4.1 per cent compared with 3.3 per cent in May 1970 and 3.8 per cent in April.

Short Snorts

State general revenue deficit dropped from a peak of $173.5 million April 29 to $11.9 million June 24 and will go into the black by Aug. 31, State Treasurer Jesse James reports.

Parks and Wildlife Department won three major awards in international competition for best conservation information programs.

WASHINGTON
 "As it looks from here"
OMAR BURLESON
 Congressman
 17th District

Washington — Six times in the last seven years Congress has been asked to step in at the last minute to settle disputes and prevent a nationwide tie-up in railroad and airline transportation.

Each time it has been a national emergency and each time the Congress has responded.

The most recent strike involved railway signalmen. In this instance, the union demanded a 54 per cent wage raise. Management offered 3 per cent and a Presidential board created under the Railway Labor Act set a 42 per cent increase which neither side would accept and the strike resulted.

Within 24 hours hearings were held by committees, the House and Senate passed a bill and the President signed it into law. Included in this action was a 13½ per cent increase in the pay of signalmen and a ban against striking until next Oct. 1.

Unless legislation is enacted providing better legal machinery for settling disputes, another strike at that time is likely. Even now the United Transportation Union is giving notice of a strike on July 16, unless there is a settlement, and action by the Congress in connection with this Union's action may come even sooner than we think.

Several proposals for dealing with "emergency strikes" are now in the committees in both the U. S. House of Representatives and the Senate, which have as their purpose a wide range of actions which the President can take to prevent strikes and settle disputes. Two laws giving the President authority to stop strikes are now on the books—The Railway Labor Act and the Taft-Hartley Act. Neither has proved adequate to assure that our nationwide transportation system will not be paralyzed by a tie-up. Thus far the Congress has been treating the symptoms instead of the disease.

The administration has recommended putting the transportation system under the Taft-Hartley Act entirely, which at least has the effect of postponing work stoppage for a longer period of time.

At least a half dozen other approaches are proposed. A bill introduced last week sponsored by more than 40 members of the House gives wide authority to the government to control and end strikes. Hearings will soon be scheduled by the Interstate and Foreign Commerce Committee. One of the most important features would permit selective strikes by unions against a limited number of companies. In other words, it proposes to ban nationwide and industry-wide work stoppage.

It is recognized that the right to strike, the complete opposite of totalitarian economic devices, must be preserved wherever possible to do so.

The second step has to be a frank recognition that the right to strike, in an absolute sense, does not and cannot exist throughout our economy.

The nation cannot stand a nationwide railway strike for more than a few days. The effects on commuters, national defense, the supply of perishable foods, the mails, the electric power industry and other basic industries such as automobiles, steel, coal and paper could in a few days paralyze our whole economic system.

Prof. Jerre S. Williams, in a prize winning essay on labor disputes articulates this position:

"We cannot continue to hold a false belief that the right to strike is unlimited. We cannot insist that all bargains must be made through the collective bargaining process. We can and must make every effort to have the keen edge of collective bargaining so that it is an effective tool in all but the very hardest cases. But, we must be courageous enough to handle the hardest cases another way."

In the past emergencies it is pretty obvious that the Congress itself, by the very nature of things, is neither qualified nor equipped to settle strikes. It can and has acted to grant what amounts to an injunction against strikes but it is in no position to legislate pay rates.

The chairman of the House committee with jurisdiction over this matter states the obvious: "The problem," he says, "is to be fair to the working man, to management and to the American people." He adds that when hearings begin it will take months and months of consideration to arrive at a conclusion on these goals.

The only trouble is that we may have another nationwide rail strike on our hands unless action is taken soon.

By MRS. FAY C. ROE

While no woman wants to contemplate the possibility that her spouse might die suddenly — many financial advisors suggest that a talk about the husband's estate be predicated on just such a possibility.

If this advice seems a bit drastic, consider the fact that every year a great many new widows find that they are completely ignorant of their husband's financial affairs.

The irony is further magnified when you consider that very few husbands discuss life insurance proceeds with their wives, according to the Institute of Life Insurance. And yet, life insurance—whose primary purpose after all is to provide income to replace a paycheck that no longer comes in—is owned by no less than four-fifths of our adult population.

Since statistically there are four widows for every widower in the country, here is some advice from the institute to husbands and wives who have delayed the discussion for reasons of delicacy or from sheer apprehension about broaching the subject.

Make a List

Keep in mind that the toughest part in bringing up the subject is—bringing up the subject. Once that is over—wives and husbands should discuss each item thoroughly, and either of them should make notes as they go along.

The instructions to assist the wife in meeting financial problems should include a complete listing of all life insurance policies, health and accidental death insurance, employee group policies as well as the name of the agent or agents involved. The list should be kept in an accessible and, preferably, fireproof place. Bear in mind, too, that a safe deposit box may be sealed by the bank at time of death until access is granted by the tax authorities. In the case of a life insurance policy, this could mean unnecessary delay in securing the proceeds.

Along with the policies, all other assets such as cash, securities and personal possessions should be listed along with their approximate values.

Updating Is Important

The location of all bank accounts and safe deposit boxes should be noted, not to mention the whereabouts of the keys to these.

A list of all current debts should be drawn up for the wife's benefit, as well as another listing individuals who owe the husband money along with proof of their debts. The list should be updated periodically.

The location of property and other ownership records should be discussed.

Also, be sure that the wife is informed of the location of the will. While a frantic and lengthy search for the whereabouts of the will have provided many a movie with thrills and excitement, it can cause only unneeded problems in real life.

Buying Canned Foods

Up to 20 per cent can be saved on most fruits and vegetables if you buy according to intended use and read labels.

Saving food dollars means shopping comparatively among different brands. House brands, or items carried by one particular chain or group of stores, and brands in regional distribution may cost less than brands in national distribution. Also, many packers and distributors sell merchandise under several different labels, ranging from first to fourth and even fifth grade quality products.

When you do find one particular brand you like write down the name for repeat purchases.

Assorted and irregular-piece canned fruits and vegetables are marked with lower prices, and can be used satisfactorily when appearance is not an important factor. For example, it's a waste of money to use fancy pack canned tomatoes for chili when the tomatoes completely lose their identity during cooking. A lower grade tomato, then, will serve equally well at less cost.

Unopened cans of fruits and vegetables should be stored in a moderately cool place away from heat. Avoid storage near steam pipes, radiators, furnaces, kitchen ranges and refrigerator condensers.

Canned foods will keep as long as nothing happens to the container to make it leak. Extremely long periods of storage at high temperatures may result in some loss in color, flavor, appearance and nutritive value, but the foods will remain wholesome. A regular turnover about once a year, however, is best.

Unused portions of canned foods can be stored in the refrigerator in the can. Acid foods, such as grapefruit juice, may dissolve a little iron from the can if they stand in the refrigerator for a long time. This is not harmful, but it does produce an unpleasant taste. So if you aren't going to use an acid product within a short time, it's best to empty the contents into some other container.

As new fruit and vegetable crops are harvested and processed, storage space in the supermarket is in demand. As a result, processed foods are often offered at special prices, such as four or five cans for a dollar. This savings is offered to the consumer in order to make room for the new crop in the supermarket. So take advantage of these specials as they fit your budget and menu plans.

1500th Flood Dam To Protect State

The 1,500th upstream flood prevention to be built in Texas was contracted for construction this week, reports State Conservationist Clyde W. Graham of the USDA Soil Conservation Service.

The dam is Site No. 13 in the Hickory Creek watershed near Denton. The Hickory Creek project will provide flood prevention and recreation for the City of Denton while protecting cropland, roads, bridges and other property in the watershed.

The project is similar to the one in East Coke County on the Kickapoo Creeks north and west of Bronte.

The Denton County project, including land treatment in the watershed, is expected to keep 58,000 tons of sediment out of Garza-Little Elm Reservoir each year when completed. Garza-Little Elm serves as a water supply for Denton, Dallas and other cities in North Texas.

"The 1,500th dam marks another milestone in the watershed approach to resource management in Texas," Graham said. "Upstream watershed projects have vast environmental benefits; they not only cut flood damages but they also reduce erosion and sediment damage. And sediment is still our state's biggest pollutant. It fills lakes, streams and harbors; it kills fish and ruins spawning grounds."

Graham said watershed lakes also provide recreation areas while creating new fish and wildlife habitat.

State Conservationist Graham said some 2,200 upstream watershed lakes have been planned in Texas in 118 watershed projects now in operation. The projects usually include a combination of stepped up soil and water conservation work in the watershed plus a series of dams to retard floodwater during heavy rains. Sediment storage space is provided in reservoir areas which form small lakes averaging 15 to 25 acres in size.

Other measures which can be included in upstream watershed projects include treating critically gullied areas, municipal water supply storage space, floodwater diversions, and cleaning out sediment choked stream channels.

Sponsors of watershed projects secure all land, easements and rights-of-way needed for construction at no cost to the federal government. Sponsors also maintain completed projects. The Soil Conservation Service provides planning and installation services and administers construction funds appropriated by Congress.

New Laws Affect State Boat Owners

Boat owners in Texas will operate under new rules as a result of actions of the 62nd Legislature.

Of immediate interest to boaters is the new law requiring children 12 years old or under riding in a Class 1 or Class A motorboat while underway to wear life preservers of the sort prescribed by the regulations of the Commandant of the Coast Guard.

The only such approved life preserver is a U. S. Coast Guard approved preserver.

If a boat is underway, and if the child does not have the life preserver, the operator will be ticketed, says the new law.

The new law does not apply to canoes, rowboats or sailboats, but these boats after Sept. 1, are required to have a Coast Guard approved life saving device on board for each person. These boats were heretofore exempted from this requirement.

Also new is the requirement that after Jan. 1, 1972, all motorboats must be registered with the Texas Parks and Wildlife Department, regardless of length or horsepower.

Mr. and Mrs. Rhyce Fancher are vacationing this week in Minnesota.

PATROLMAN HART TO SPEAK TO METHODISTS

Highway Patrolman Bobby Hart will be speaker for three Sunday School classes at 10 a.m. Sunday, July 17, at First United Methodist Church. His subject will be "Christian and Civil Law" and he will speak to the combined Friendship, Fellowship and Sunshine classes.
