Austin — Dec. 31 is the deadline for owners of advertising signs along major interstate, U. S. and state numbered highways to apply for permits under the new Texas Highway Beautification Act.

The act is designed to control all outdoor advertising from big boards to fence signs along the right of way. It requires that no sign can be erected within 660 feet of an interstate or federal aid primary highway without a special $25 outdoor advertising license.

An additional $5 permit is also required for each sign. On premise signs — those advertising activities on the land or offering the property for sale — are exempt.

The law, passed and made effective last June 29 to avoid loss of federal road building aid, will be implemented in stages.

License applications, first stage in the process, must be accompanied by a $2500 bond for each county in which signs are located up to a $10,000 maximum for owners with signs in more than three counties.

Permits will be issued for signs in place prior to June 29 whether they conform to the law or not, and these will be allowed to stay in place until programmed for acquisition or removal. New signs must conform to the law before permits are issued. The Highway Department also has begun removal of abandoned and illegal signs on controlled highways.

Those planning to erect new signs on controlled highways are advised to check with Highway Department district offices to determine if the location conforms to the law. Property owners have also been advised to contact the department's district offices concerning signs located on their land without permission.

LEGISLATORS BRIEFED — State legislators received briefings last week on three major issues to confront them in January.

A pre-session legislative conference at the Lyndon B. Johnson School of Public Affairs of the University System here provided details on:

—Need for judicial reorganization. The court system was termed a hodgepodge of independent operations with "nobody minding the whole store."

—Federal revenue sharing and its impact on state and local finance. Legislators were advised Congress and taxpayers will be looking over their shoulders to see that new federal windfalls are wisely spent.

—Property taxation and school finance. Major overhauls in the system of financing public education and in property tax administration are needed, tax authorities said.

AG OPINIONS — A recent opinion by Atty. Gen. Crawford Martin warned that closed meetings of governmental agencies with attorneys and staffs can be held only for limited purposes.

Martin's opinion, requested by Beaumont Criminal District Attorney Tom Hanna, said agencies can meet privately with attorneys only to discuss pending or contemplated litigation. It concluded the agencies can meet with staff members only to discuss matters of internal administration.

In other recent opinions, Martin found: * The state may sell or rent property bought in delinquent tax sales before expiration of the two-year redemption period.

* A law making it a penal offense for any bond seller to make a financial contribution to a State Board of Education candidate is unconstitutional.

* Parks and Wildlife Commission has no authority to issue licenses for hunting from aircraft.

COURTS SPEAK — Court of Criminal Appeals affirmed a

1,000 year sentence assessed a Dallas black for raping a white girl, overruling a defense complaint that no blacks were on the trial jury.

The State Supreme Court affirmed a Plainview jury and Amarillo Court of Civil Appeals, finding that an insurance company owed damages for accepting health insurance premiums from an old couple without intending to pay claims.

A Tyler man lost an appeal to the Supreme Court in a suit for $25,000 in insurance on his wife who died of gunshot wounds nine days after she applied for coverage.

CANDIDATES SPEND MILLIONS — U. S. Sen. John Tower and Gov.-elect Dolph Briscoe spent a record $5 million in their campaigns.

Tower, best financed congressional candidate in the country, reported expenditures of $2.6 million.

Briscoe reported he spent $2.4 million.

Tower's Democratic opponent, Barefoot Sanders, said he spent $625,674. Briscoe's Republican opponent, State Sen. Henry Grover, reported outlays of $1.2 million.

Tower listed contributions of $2,597,466 and debts of $19,371. Briscoe itemized contributions of $1,939,896, indicating he picked up and paid for out of his own personal wealth a $500,000 deficit.

Short Snorts

State Insurance Board held a hearing Wednesday on changes in fire and homeowners insurance rates.

A bill providing for semi-monthly payment of state employees and a constitutional amendment to control proliferation of water districts have been pre-filed in the Senate.

The Payroll Savings Plan can make part of your paycheck part of your future.

If you've got a dream, you probably want to make it a reality someday. Chances are, it'll take money to do it.

Where's that money going to come from? The same place it's disappearing from right now—your paycheck.

All you have to do to make part of your paycheck part of your future is sign up for the Payroll Savings Plan where you work. An amount you specify will be automatically deducted from your paycheck and used to buy U. S. Savings Bonds.

And now there's a bonus interest rate on all U. S. Savings Bonds—for E Bonds, 5 1/2% when held to maturity of 5 years, 10 months (4% the first year).

That extra 1/2%, payable as a bonus at maturity, applies to all Bonds issued since June 1, 1970... with a comparable improvement for all older Bonds.

Give your dreams the chance to become reality. Join the Payroll Savings Plan. It's the easy way to save for tomorrow.

Bonds are safe. If lost, stolen, or destroyed, we replace them. When needed, they can be cashed at your bank. Tax may be deferred until redemption. And always remember, Bonds are a proud way to save.

Take stock in America. Now Bonds pay a bonus at maturity.

Peppers — Vitamin Rich

Economical, vitamin rich and versatile—that's how to describe peppers.

They can be an important source of vitamin C when used in generous amounts.

Since the human body can't store this vitamin, it must be supplied daily in the diet. Raw peppers contain more vitamin C than cooked ones because some of the nutrient is lost during the cooking.

Peppers also contribute a good share of the daily vitamin A allowance.

Since they are perishable, peppers should be used as soon as possible after bringing them home from the store. After washing them, store in a covered container in the refrigerator.

Take care to prevent bruising and to remove excessive moisture before storing.

Sweet peppers brighten up many dishes — by adding color and flavor. Fresh peppers may be broiled, pan fried or baked, indicating their versatility.

Peppers combine well with food and are used in salads, sandwich fillings, casseroles and soups.

Raw peppers add crisp texture, bright color and nutritive value to salads and relish plates, or they may serve as a garnish.

And when parboiled and stuffed with any desired combination of meat, poultry, fish, vegetables or rice, they are both economical and appetizing.

When cooking sweet peppers, allow 15 minutes to bake at 350 degrees after boiling them for five minutes. But when using them in stews or chowders, wait until shortly before the rest of the dish is completely cooked before adding the cut up peppers.

A quick way of preparing these vegetables is to pan fry them — it takes only five minutes. However, many people remove the seeds and membranes completely because they are sharper in flavor than the green flesh.

Broiled or fried peppers break up easily after they are cooked, so handle them with care.

Many families freeze or can peppers for year round use. Although they may or may not be blanched before freezing, blanched ones lose more crispness but have better flavor when stored longer than six to eight months.

Treat canned pimientos, peppers and pepper relish as any other canned foods and pickles.

Store them in a cool dry place until opened. But after opening, cover the container and keep refrigerated. They will keep well in the original glasses or tins in which they come.

Contact my office for recipes for canning Jalepeno peppers and for making relishes.

HD CLUBS HELPING COLLECT GIFTS FOR S. A. CENTER

Coke County HD Council and Clubs are helping collect Christmas gifts for residents of the San Angelo Center at Carlsbad.

Clothing items are needed for both men and women. Another big need is grooming items for both men and women. Games and toys, records, instant coffee and tea, cookies, candy and most everything is needed to make sure that the 500 men and women residents of the center have a Christmas gift.

The HD Club women have placed containers at Roach's in Robert Lee and Cimble & Mackey's in Bronte where gifts may be left.

Only new merchandise should be donated and it should be placed in the containers unwrapped. All gifts should be left by Dec. 10.
