Austin — "Future financing of public schools in Texas is the most talked about, but least understood, problem in the state today," Sen. Pete Snelson told the West Texas Press Association at their winter meeting in Midland. "The courts have said that the wealth of a school district cannot be the criteria for future financing," he explained. "And all future school financing in the state is affected by the court suit on the Edgewood district of San Antonio. Public school financing has been challenged in the courts in 30 states."

He compared Edgewood with Odessa's school district. Odessa has 24,984 pupils, 1,119 teachers with a starting salary of $7,445. Edgewood has 22,134 students, 805 teachers with a starting salary of $6,000. This is not the "equality" promised under the 14th Amendment, the courts have ruled—and the U. S. Supreme Court is looking at the appeals on this and other state cases.

The U. S. Supreme Court decision will write the next public school financing formulas in Texas, Snelson added, which might force a special session of the Texas Legislature—after this 63rd session has adjourned.

He speculated on the future of school districts—pointing out that ideas have ranged from a "statewide school district" to more "consolidations of school districts"—unitizing all districts in counties and statewide "property assessment at true market value."

Snelson, vice chairman of the Senate Education Committee, quoted an El Paso newspaper clipping which said: "We are watching the demise of public education in Texas."

"The wealth of Texas as a whole will determine our future laws on public education," Snelson concluded—and asked these questions: "What will be the effect on the state tax structure? What will it do to consolidation of 1,100 school districts?" and "Will there be room for local enrichment programs?"

CONSTITUTIONAL PANEL PICKED — Legislators have until the end of the week to lodge their objections to the 37 members Texas Constitutional Revision Commission selected by the state's top six officials.

In order to reject the slate, a majority of both houses would have to signify their objections with the Secretary of State. Apparently, a relatively small number of objections will be lodged, although complaints on equality of the representation on the Commission were lodged by blacks, Republicans, women, youth and a West Texan. Mexican-Americans were also among signers of the objection petition.

The Commission includes four Republicans, four women, three blacks and three Mexican-Americans. Neither group was satisfied with its numerical representation, although individuals named by the selection committee generally drew commendation.

Former State Supreme Court Chief Justice Robert W. Calvert, chairman of the Commission, is expected to call the group together soon after the Legislature's "veto period" expires. Members were warned they may as well be prepared to block off at least half of their time for the next year to the revision task.

SALES TAX RECOMMENDATIONS — Tens of millions of dollars in sales tax collections are not finding their way into the state treasury, a Senate committee reported last week.

Former Sen. Joe Christie said the final report of the interim committee to study the sales tax reveals "glaring deficiencies in the way sales taxes now are collected."

Christie said the report is not meant as an attack on the office of the comptroller, the state's chief tax collector, but as an effort to suggest better and more efficient ways to get maximum yield out of the lucrative and sensitive sales tax.

In the committee's opinion, the state lost $18.2 million in 1971 due to faulty administration of the levy.

Committee members offered these recommendations:

- * Employment of more auditors to monitor payments by business firms to the state.
- * Authority for cities to pursue in the courts collection of sales taxes once they are declared delinquent by the comptroller.
- * Requirement that business firms post bond to insure payment of their sales taxes.

The report charged Comptroller Robert S. Calvert has "pursued a policy which encourages sales tax delinquency" and has refused to demand adequate assurance of payment from new and consistently delinquent taxpayers.

The proposed bonding requirement passed the House last week but failed to clear the Senate.

WELFARE BUDGET QUESTIONED — Lt. Gov. Bill Hobby asked additional data from the Welfare Department to justify its case for major budget increases.

Hobby complained the department is asking for 2,851 new staff positions at a time when the federal government will take over cost of public assistance payments to some 275,000 aged, blind and disabled. While more Texans may qualify for state Medicaid coverage under the new federal provisions, Hobby said, he is not convinced the number of recipients of the medical care will be doubled as estimated by the Welfare Department.

Texas Research League, meanwhile, accepted Governor Briscoe's request to make an analysis of the impact of new Social Security amendments on state finances and welfare programs.

Short Snorts

The Senate confirmed appointments of Joe Christie of El Paso to the Insurance Board, Maj. Gen. Thomas Bishop of Austin as adjutant general and Joe Gorman of Dallas to the state board of cosmetology.

Attorney General Hill filed suit in federal court to force release of $138.4 million in 1973 and $165.7 million in 1974 by the federal government for use by the state and cities of Texas in building waste treatment plants for pollution control.

Forty-two private colleges want $16.4 million (nearly four times what they are now getting) in state tuition grants.

Governor Briscoe has been suffering from a painful virus infection in both eyes that required bandaging and bed rest.

After high school,
 will your kid
 go to work,
 or to college?

High school is the end of Free Education.

If your child decides to go on to college it'll take money. Lots of money. Money that you should probably be saving right now.

And there's no better way to start a college savings fund than by joining the Payroll Savings Plan where you work. That way an amount you specify will be set aside from each paycheck and used to buy U. S. Savings Bonds. Before you know it you'll have a nice little college fund on hand.

Now there's a bonus interest rate on all U. S. Savings Bonds—for E Bonds, 5 1/2% when held to maturity of 5 years, 10 months (4% the first year). That extra 3/8%, payable as a bonus at maturity, applies to all Bonds issued since June 1, 1970... with a comparable improvement for all older Bonds.

Join the Payroll Savings Plan. And, if your child keeps studying and you keep saving, you'll both be ready for college.

Bonds are safe. If lost, stolen, or destroyed, we replace them. When needed, they can be cashed at your bank. Tax may be deferred until redemption. And always remember, Bonds are a proud way to save.

Take stock in America.
 Now Bonds pay a bonus at maturity.

Planting Plans Postponed... Six Counties Lose... What's Your Beef... International Cooperation.

The 1973 Texas spring planting season is off to a slow start. Cotton planting in the Lower Rio Grande Valley has been delayed at least a month due to cold, wet weather.

Texas Department of Agriculture officials report less than five per cent of the Valley's cotton has been planted thus far, and probably most of that will have to be replanted. Normally, about two-thirds of the crop would be in the ground in the Valley by now.

Meanwhile, on the High Plains—550 miles to the north—harvest of the 1972 cotton crop is now virtually complete. Rains and cold weather delayed harvest in that area for several weeks.

Wet conditions over the state are also causing some headaches for livestock producers, who normally welcome rains. Too much rain is keeping fields too muddy for grazing in many areas of the state. Supplemental feeding is continuing with some shortages of hay and cottonseed products reported.

SIX counties in Texas have lost their "modified-certified brucellosis" status because of non-compliance with certain minimum requirements of the cooperative state-federal brucellosis eradication program.

The counties in Texas are Denton, Freestone, Harrison, Kaufman, Navarro and Wood.

Counties initially receive the "modified - certified brucellosis area" status when the areas are in compliance with all requirements of the eradication program.

According to officials, the counties did not meet one or more of the following requirements:

Retest infected herds for brucellosis within six months;

Test or quarantine the herd of origin when an infested animal is found through the market cattle testing program;

Test a dairy herd within 30 days after a suspicious brucellosis milk ring test has been reported.

Necessary corrective steps are being taken so that the counties may again receive their modified-certified brucellosis area status.

IF YOU'RE concerned about getting the most for your food dollar—and who isn't—you should be utilizing some information from the Texas Department of Agriculture about beef. TDA has available some tips on how to get the most from your beef dollar.

These include a beef chart showing the cuts of beef and cooking instructions for the various cuts and a pamphlet titled "Stretching Your Beef Dollar." Both are available by writing the Texas Department of Agriculture, Box 12847, Austin, Texas 78711.

INTERNATIONAL cooperation is providing Texas agriculture producers with better varieties of grain sorghum and forage sorghums. About 200 acres of grain sorghums are being grown to determine purity tests in Guatemala and Mexico.

This program is being carried on through the seed division of the Texas Department of Agriculture under direction of Bill Staffel. Texas is the largest producer of hybrid sorghum in the world. "We have the highest quality of certified hybrid sorghum seed in the nation," Texas Agriculture Commissioner John C. White said.

Texas produces about 40 per cent of the nation's supply of grain sorghum annually.

Rudd Wagon Boss For Boys Ranch

Bill Shaw, 1973 West Texas Boys Ranch Roundup chairman, has announced the kickoff of the Annual Boys Ranch Fund Drive with a Wagon Boss meeting for 10 a.m. March 10 in the Dunn Bar East Restaurant.

Shaw said that over 30 Wagon Bosses from as many counties are expected to attend the meeting to receive information on Roundup, view slides of the Ranch and obtain materials to help in soliciting livestock donations.

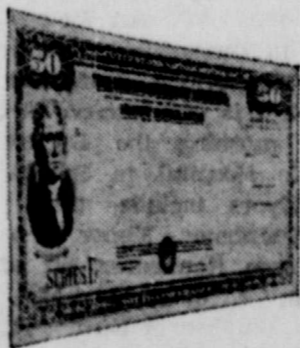

Shaw announced this week that he has secured the services of 36 Wagon Bosses in counties of this area. His selection for Coke County is J. O. Rudd of Robert Lee. Rudd has served in this same capacity for a number of years and he asks the cooperation of Coke County ranchers in this drive for funds for Boys Ranch.

Rudd pointed out that all livestock donated to West Texas Boys Ranch is deductible for tax purposes. This is the 14th Annual Roundup for the 72 boy Ranch which has served over 800 needy boys since 1947.

West Texas Boys Ranch is located 18 miles west of San Angelo on U. S. 67 and 963 acres. Livestock donated to the annual Roundup may be consigned to the Ranch at area commission houses or sent directly to the Ranch.

Both Rudd and Shaw urged that Coke County ranchers be generous in their donations.

Weatherwise, this winter has been a record breaker. In Texas we hear there has been more snow recorded than ever in modern times, and in Washington there's been less. In fact, the Weather Bureau reports that never before since 1888 has there been no recordable snowfall up to this time during a winter season.

Motorbikes are replacing horses and, to some degree, jeeps and herdsmen, in sheep raising in Australia. In areas where terrain lends itself to motorbike use on the range, many larger operators keep a fleet of them.

"The Hondas are good for roundups," an Australian said to me. "They are rugged and last well, and except for low grade fuel we don't have to feed 'em."

Campaign tactics and effectiveness of candidates' expenditures have been the subject of study and analysis in Congress recently. Legal limitation on such expenses is rather strict, but the job now is to try to close loopholes.

Reports of unethical campaign practices are also being aired. This reminds me of an experience I had last year when an opponent, with a straight face, informed the public that during 32 continuous campaign weeks I had sent out 100,000 Newsletters weekly, at a cost to taxpayers of $281,000.

The truth: I never sent out even as many as 1,000 Newsletters in any one week since I came to Congress.

I am one of those who contributes 4 1/2 minutes each week to WOAI-TV's "At Your Service" program which is carried each Sunday morning between the hours of 9 and 10.

Seven sensible reasons why you should join the Payroll Savings Plan.

1. You'll save money.
2. It's easy, all you do is sign up once and money is automatically set aside from each paycheck.
3. The money is used to buy U.S. Savings Bonds. There isn't a safer way to save.
4. Bonds now pay the highest interest rate ever. There's a bonus interest rate on all U.S. Savings Bonds—for E Bonds, 5 1/2% when held to maturity of 5 years, 10 months (4% the first year). That extra 1/2% payable as a bonus at maturity, applies to all Bonds issued since June 1, 1970... with a comparable improvement for all older Bonds.
5. The government replaces it if a Bond is lost, destroyed, or stolen.
6. You never see the money. It's deducted and saved before you can get your ever-spending hands on it.
7. Our seventh reason is really hundreds of reasons. Bad reasons, like you may lose your job someday or a medical emergency might come up. Good reasons, like that trip you always wanted to take, retirement, a home, a college education, a boat, a car or whatever else you may see in your future.

Bonds are safe. If lost, stolen, or destroyed, we replace them. When needed, they can be cashed at your bank. Tax may be deferred until redemption. And always remember, Bonds are a good way to save.
