An Imprompta Duel. SHAMOKIN, Pa., Nov. 23. - Sam ranklin was shot to death by William Taylor at Scott shaft, near this place in an impromptu duel. Both had been jealous of each other on account of trivial matters. Last Saturday Franklin assaulted Taylor who cut him in return with an ax. The wounded man declared that he would kill his opponent on sight. A few minutes before the shooting Taylor issued from the home of a friend, where the body of a relative was lying awaiting burial. Franklin came over from the shaft and drew his revolver. Taylor, who was standing a post, produced a like weapon. At twenty paces the men began to shoot. Taylor's first ball shattered his enemy's pistol hand just after Franklin's first and only shot had grazed the former's head. Taylor discharged his weapon four-times more, type bullets entering Franklin's body, one lodging directly above his heart. He walked into the mining company's office and without speaking fell dead. Taylor escaped to the mountains with a posse in pur

Congress will convene on the 3rd for the second sesion.

The syndicate of bankers was awarded the bond issue by Secretary Carlisle.

How long will the people allow election frauds to be perpetrated before their eyes and not rebuke it, even if it is resorted to in behalf of their own political party?

The populist party, although it died on the 6th of last menth, accerding to prediction of the democrats, will be have its "ghost" at work for time to come, and ere long it will be found out that life never did leave it as prophesied.

But little can be assertained as what will be the principle acts of the coming congress, but enough is known that there will be some fighting over the silver duestion, but as to what the outcome will be no one knows.

What is to be the presidents recomendation on the finance question is now the question with the people. The press reports state that he is inquiring of bankers and Wall Steet fluanciers as to what will be best, but if any inquiries have been made of the people it has not been so stated.

It is a plain fact before all that the issueing of new bonds is only to the benefit of the bankers, and that they will continue to demand them as long as the administration will issue them, and it is within their power to force their issuance by prying upon the gold reserve. Let congress, at the earliest moment possible do away with the law which authorizes the sale of bonds at the will of the secreta-
