AT HOME

And it will Return to You Spend it away and it is Forever Gone * *

Goods are advancing fast but we are trying to sell as close as possible. We sell everything in staple line as cheap as any mail order house, a great many things cheaper. We do not fight the mail order house but we do believe that we ought to have all the trade that we can fill just as cheap, for every dollar sent away just helps to build some other town. If we could keep all that at home it would help to build our own town and roads, They never help to bury the dead, build a church or school house, If you get burned out they never send a dollar. I have this year since the first of January 1916, given $55 for different causes. If we would spend our money at home, it would enable the merchant to carry a better stock. We are trying all the time to carry a more complete line. The receipts show that over one hundred thousand dollars go away every year. That is gone, if it was kept at home, we all would have a chance to get our part, but as it is, your money helps to build some other town and roads. We keep a catalogue on hand, we have looked it through and find that we sell many things cheaper and we try to keep a nice CLEAN stock NO OLD GOODS. We bought our Fall Stock of shoes before any advance, at 20 per cent cheaper than the same quality of shoes can be bought now, so we can save you money on shoes.

CULTIVATION OF CORN.

Conomic Factors Play Important Part in Determining Methods. [Prepared by United States department of A detailed study of farm practice in the cultivation of corn has recently been made by the United States department of agriculture for the purpose of offering to farmers in one locality an opportunity to obtain information where. Surveys were made in twentyone representative corn growing districts, which are grouped into five divisions-first, the central western; second, the southeastern; third, the south central; fourth, the southwestern, and fifth, the northeastern. In each of these dicisions it was found that more or less distinct methods and practices

Since the farmer is primarily a business man and not an agronomist, or, in other words, is more interested in making money than in raising large crops, it was found that economic factors played everywhere an important part in determining the methods of cultivation. On the most productive farms more cultivation to corn is given both before and after planting than on the less fertile soils. On good land ex-tra labor is rewarded by increased yields to an extent which justifies the cost involved. On poorer land this may not be the case. If, for example.

The question of drainage is also determined chiefly by economic considerations. Tile drainage is practiced extensively only on the most productive soils, where land values are extremely sent a profit on the investment of labor | high. The choice of fall or spring plowing is governed largely by the character of previous year. When corn follows sod more land is generally plowed in the fall than when corn follows some cultivated crop. In Texas, Oklahoma and to some extent in Kansas the practice of plowing in the fall and then listing in the spring with either a middle ployed. On the other hand, more acre ening of the subsoil without mixing it buster or a combined lister and planter mally employed is quite general. This is almost equivalent to rebreaking in the spring.

P. A. puts new joy into the sport of smoking!

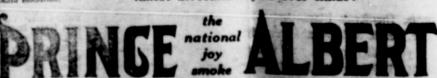

OU may live to I be 110 and never feel old enough to vote, but it's certain-sure you'll not know the joy and contentment of a friendly old jimmy pipe or a hand rolled cigarette unless you get on talking-terms with Prince Albert tobacco!

P. A. comes to you with a real reason for all the goodness and satisfaction it offers. It is made by a patented process that removes bite and parch! You can smoke it long and hard without a come-back! Prince Albert has always been sold without coupons or premiums. We prefer to give quality!

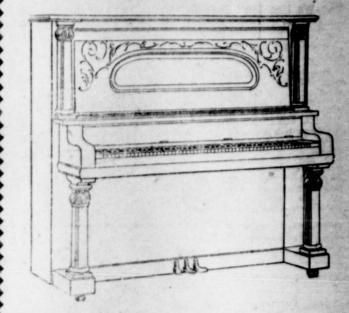

Prince Albert affords the keenest pipe and cigarette enjoyment! And that flavor and fragrance and coolness is as good as that sounds. P.A. just answers the universal demand for tobacco without bite, parch or kick-back!

Introduction to Prince Albert isn't any harder than to walk into the nearest place that sells tobacco and ask for "a supply of P. A." You pay out a little change, to be sure, but it's the cheerfullest investment you ever made!

50 per cent clear cash on everything and gives longer guarantees than any Blacksmith in West Texas. Now I have been running this discount since July 1915, and I now have five times as much patronage as I had when I started. This is money saving to each and every man and woman in Coke County that can reach me. Don't listen to anyone I DON'T and you should not. Why one of the best physicians in Coke County told me I was doing work too cheap. Now that is all he knows about Blacksmithing. I was cleaning up on his Blacksmith, that is what was the matter. You see if other Blacksmiths can't compete with my prices you come to me. Isn't that fair? I guarantee to give you the best sweep sharpening, acree shoeing or tire setting at nearly half the price of the other smiths. Now this is commonsense business talk. You need the work, I need the money. Call and get your work done at the largest Blacksmithings department in Coke County.

I shoe horses at 90 cents per four shoes, every 25th horse that is shod is free of charge. Sweeps up to 12 inches 10c each, now that saves from 21-2 to 5 cents on each sweep. 25 inch solid sweeps sharpened 15 cents. Tires set and we guarantee them for 12 months for 25 cents each now your neighbor is saving from $2 to $65 per month on Blacksmithing, why not you. OUR PUBLIC FORUM

Elihu Root ON THE CITIZEN'S PART IN GOVERNMENT.

A large part of mankind still regard government as something quite apart from the main business of life—something which is undoubtedly necessary to enable them to attend to their business, but only incidental or accessory to it a function to be performed by some one else with whom they have little or no concern, as the janitor of an apartment house, whom concern, as the janitor of an apartment house, whom somebody or other has hired to keep out thieves and keep the furnace running. In reality, government is an essential part in every act of all this wide range of human activity. If it is bad, ruin comes to all; if it is good, success comes according to capacity and courage. The fairs and most fertile parts of the earth have been for centuries wilderness and desert in comfort and prosperity, but lands that have actually done so in ast, are today filled with wretchedness and squalor, with ignorance doe, because of bad government; while under good government. To watch the budding soul, and see the flower unfold. Within my heart I rayer: "Oh, make me wise and good, that I may wear more worthily, and other receivable and other receivable."

Men may leave all this part of the business of life to others and treat the control of theirs: men may voluntarily elect to play no no part in the working out of the great questions upon which the part in the working out of the great questions upon which the part in the working out of the great questions upon which the part in the race defend; but they need not flatter themselves that these things matters apart from them, or that they are leading free and independives. Abstention is impossible under the conditions of modern life modern popular government. Men must either govern or be governed:

After many centuries of struggle for the right of equality there is a reason to think that mankind is now entering upon a struggle for right of inequality. It remains to be seen how democracy will work or these new conditions. Another lesson the experience of popular government has already made plain is that the art of self-government does not come to men by nature. It has to be learned; facility in it has to be acquired by practice. The process is long and laborious; for it is not merely a matter of intellectual appreciation, but chiefly of development of character. At the base of all popular government lies individual self-control; and that requires both intelligence and a willingness to do justice.

The public school at this place closed today. This has the management of Prof. L. E. Crutcher and his splendid corps of teachers. And now, that the school days are over, for a time, our best wishes go with the teachers and pupils through the glad vacation. We hope a blessing will follow each and every worthy effort of the teachers and pupils-and we hope that every effort of the young graduates, who are now entering the various paths of their lives, and the useful fields of labor, will be crowned with radient success, and that they will be a blessing to the community in tion." which they dwell-and, that, in the future, Robert Lee may point with pride to them, as greatness, which only comes by patient endeavor.

MAKES A STATEMENT

We always advise people who have stomach or bowel trouble to see a doctor. But to those who do not wish to do this we will say:

try the mixture of simple buck-her uncle had eaten their dinner, Mr. Smith said, "Come in my room, Angie a moment, I wan't to ask you a question.

When Angie went in, he said
"Angie, you are grown now, do you realize it?"
"Yes" was Angie's reply.

"I have raised you and watched you grow up and I learned to love you more and more Now, Angie, you know you are not kin to me only by marriage and I am glad, because Angle, want you to makery me"

"I will not," she said as she ran out of the room and upstairs to her room, putting on her traveling dress and hat. She left the house and went down to the river, where Frank was fishing and walking up to him

"Hello, Frank! Come and sit down here

Frank left his fishing and went to Angle.

Listen, said Angie, you to marry me, Frank. I know you love me, because I heard you say so when I was heard vou say so when I was not asleep, as you thought I was. Now Frank, if you still love me, go and tell your grand mother that you and I are going to be married."

"What do you mean," said Frank, "I a poor boy marry a
