"Specialties"

Pianist - Mrs. Joe Long Snead, Director - Gladys Preuit, "Coast to Coast" is a clever story of the poor but proud young lovers who are menaced by the threat of a villain to foreclose the mortgage. Serio-Comic developments keeps the audience in suspense until the final moments of the play, when everybody is happy but the monstrous villain. The action of the show is brightened by many catchy tunes and snappy dancing choruses.

The home talent cast consists of Robert Lee's best talent and they have worked hard to give everyone a good entertainment.

In connection with the play, we have a baby contest. Don't forget to vote for your favorites.

Grade School Pupils Move In New Building

Several hundred grade pupils had a thrill this week that does not come often in a life-time, an experience that most of them will likely never have again--the joy of moving into a new school building, one that is comfortable, modern and fully adequate to their needs. And if anyone thinks those youngsters aren't proud of their new quarters, just let him park at the terraces some afternoon and watch the kids linger while the bus drivers fuss and fume.

The heating plant that has held up the moving for two weeks was put in working order last week. This week representatives from the Texas Scenic company are installing the new curtain and stage fixtures which costs the P-T. A. more than $700.00. The staging is beautiful and attests the hard work and loyalty of the P-T. A., especially the curtain committee.

When the old building is remodeled into an up-to-date high school, teachers and pupils will wonder how they ever managed under the crowded conditions that have existed for several years back. In a few more months the district can boast of a school plant that would be a credit to any town of this size. And it will be evidence that those in charge of running the school affairs had the foresight and courage that such an undertaking requires.

P-T. A. News

An all-business session of the local P-T. A., Mrs. H. E. Smith, president, presiding, was held in the school building Tuesday afternoon with interest centered chiefly in the report of the curtain committee. Mrs. J. S. Craddock, secretary-treasurer, reported enough funds on hand, including advertising on the curtain, to pay the cost of the curtain and leave a balance of $10.00. The group voted to allow money to make the payment in full and as an expression of appreciation for their untiring efforts, the committee was given a rising vote of thanks. The following slogan was adopted and will be printed on the curtain in space reserved by the P-T. A. "Loyalty to your church, school and community costs nothing and brings vast returns.

The annual Founder's Day program was set for the third Tuesday in February. Mrs. Joe Long Snead, chairman of the program committee, hopes to have this program at a night meeting. This matter, however was not definite-

Official Visit

Mrs. May Jennings, Deputy Grand Matron of the O. E. S. Dist. 5, made an official visit to the local chapter and reviewed the work in a stated meeting last Thursday night. Preceding the meeting of the chapter, the officers of the order had a social meeting with Mrs. Jennings in the G. C. Allen home where Mrs. Allen entertained with a buffet supper, honoring the Deputy Grand Matron and Mrs. Griffin Atkins of Ballinger.

During the social hour following the close of the chapter, refreshments were served and Katie Sue Good entertained with piano numbers.

Tentative plans were also made for entertaining the County Council of the P-T. A. on the afternoon of the third Saturday in February, the meeting to be held in the new school auditorium.

The P-T. A. voted to accept an agency for the Morgan Floral Company, San Angelo, on terms suggested to the curtain committee. A local representative will be appointed later.

In response to several requests it was decided to continue the offer of $1.00 award each month to the room having the best representation of mothers at P-T. A. meetings.

Due to a lack of time, the program planned was deferred.

Harry Hines Favors Pavement For Two Roads Out Of City

A party of men consisting of Judge McNeil Wylie, Commissioner H. C. Varnadore and J. S. Craddock, went to Wichita Falls last Thursday, the 13th, where they had previously made an appointment to meet State Highway Commissioner, Harry Hines, in the office of Mr. J. J. Perkins, Friday at 2 o'clock.

At this appointment, the road situation in Coke County was thoroughly gone over and explained. Mr. Hines assured the party that he could give them all cooperation possible in the location of Highway 208 from Robert Lee to the Mitchell County line. This will greatly benefit the people of Coke County, and has been a long sought and needed road.

In discussing the Bronte and Robert Lee road which has been State Maintained for the past 10 years, Hines indicated he would furnish aid in the near future.

He also made the statement that there would be $100,000 spent on the road between Bronte and Ballinger within the next year or two.

These men consider this a very worthwhile trip, and are very proud of the consideration shown them by Mr. Hines and are also appreciative of the hospitality shown them by Mr. Perkins.

Tuesday, January 18, Mr. Harry Hines visited Robert Lee for further information concerning the State Highway situation of Coke County. Upon his arrival he contacted Mr. Craddock at the Coke Motor Co. and let it be known immediately that he was here for business, that he wanted to see the County Judge and Commissioner Varnadore, as well as the Highway Committee.

In a hurried "get-together" meeting it was decided to drive over a part of the Robert Lee and Colorado City road and the Robert Lee and Bronte road. Mr. Hines said that he could readily see that we had been very badly neglected as to these roads. That these roads were necessary in the State Highway System and that they were in a very bad condition, and the work that he anticipated for these roads was badly needed.

BRONTE-ROBERT LEE HIGHWAY TO BE PAVED

In considering the improvement for the Bronte and Robert Lee road Mr. Hines had this to say: "I am a firm believer in Highways from County Seat to County Seat, and in order to give Coke County immediate relief as to their County Seat connection I will immediately get behind pavement from Robert Lee to Bronte, thereby giving your County Seat an all weather road through Bronte to San Angelo and Sweetwater".

ROBERT LEE AND COLORADO CITY HIGHWAY ASSURED

After driving over a part of the Colorado City road Mr. Hines was very favorably impressed with this route. He stated that this road was badly needed in the State Highway System and was a County Seat to County Seat road, and in view of the fact that Coke County had already expended some $40,000 from Robert Lee to the Mitchell County line, he would immediately take steps on this route for a construction and drainage job, as well as pavement.

ROBERT LEE-COLORADO CITY ROAD AN OLD ESTABLISHED ROAD

Since Robert Lee was established back in the '80's, there have been numerous routes traveled between the cities of Robert Lee and Colorado City by covered wagon, buggy and automobile. In 1929 Precinct No. 1 voted a $100,000 bond issue for the purpose of building a State Highway from the Tom Green county line through Robert Lee, Sanco and Silver to the Mitchell county line. After this bond issue was voted, every effort was made that was humanly possible to secure aid through the State Highway Department to match said Bond issue, but all to no avail. Eventually the Commissioners Court expended this money, placing $40,000 to the Tom Green county line, and $40,000 to the Mitchell county line, and $20,000 for a bridge across the Colorado river. The south end of this road is being worked through a W.P.A. job, while the Commissioners Court has hoped to secure a contract for construction on the north end. Recently the court secured a designation and an order for a location from Robert Lee to the Mitchell county line.

A Safety Stunt

A Cleveland, Ohio, man has suggested that it might help to reduce auto accidents if every time a motorist kills a pedestrian a bright red license tag be substituted for the regular one he has on his car. The number would remain the same, of course; only the color would be changed, and that a bright red crimson. In this way the public would know he points out, the moment it spied a car with a crimson tag that it had been the agency through which someone met death, and other drivers, fearing the publicity and comment such a tag would bring would naturally drive far more carefully. We have heard many suggestions for safer driving offered by motorists but never anything touching on this line, and while such a suggestion will never be adopted by any state in the union, it shows to what extremes those who make a study of safety are willing to go to cut down the nation's annual death roll.

Health Department

"Trichinosis is a disease caused by eating raw or partly cooked pork which contains the trichina worm. This disease caused several deaths and an undetermined amount of illness in Texas in 1937," states Dr. Geo. W. Cox, State Health Officer.

Definite symptoms and signs of illness are associated with trichinosis. In the beginning there are abdominal pains, nausea, vomiting and diarrhea, lasting about a week. Migration of the embryos in the blood stream causes fever and severe muscle soreness, especially in the diaphragm and the muscles of the arms and legs. The third stage, during which cysts surround the larvae in the muscle, is the critical one. If infection is severe, there may be edema, or swelling of the eyelids and elsewhere, makes loss of weight, weakness and delirium.

The prevention of trichinosis depend primarily upon the thorough cooking of all pork. Most cases follow the indigestion of wieners, sausage or other pork products, eaten in raw or partly cooked form. The hazard of this disease is greater in connection with home butchering, unless safeguards are exercised. Rats should be exterminated because they play an important part in the spread of infection among the swine. Prolonged refrigeration, as carried out under federal supervision, destroys trichina larvae. Thorough cooking and the use of meat which bears the stamp of federal inspection are against trichinosis.

Notice to Delinquent Tax Payers of the Robert Lee Independent School District

I have been employed by the Board of Trustees of the Robert Lee Independent School District to collect the delinquent school taxes due such district, and have been empowered and directed to use all the means afforded by law to effect such collection.

All parties knowing themselves to be delinquent for such taxes please see me at once and make payment. These taxes are a lien against your property and must be paid to clear your title. Some tax payers are delinquent for all taxes since the district was organized, and each year is adding penalties and interest against their property. The time has come when the School District must take legal action if some effort is not made to pay them.

If you cannot pay all of these taxes at this time, if you will see me perhaps I can suggest some way out of difficulties. See me anyway and let me know whether you intend to pay these taxes or not.

If suit should be filed for the collection of these taxes, under the new law the city, state and county will be compelled to come in and set up their claim for delinquent taxes, thus increasing the demand to that extent in the suit. It will be to your interest to give this matter your prompt attention.

G. S. ARNOLD,
Tax Attorney for Robert Lee Independent School District

NOTICE

The legislature of this state has enacted Article No. 1371-a, and this Article is now the law of this state, and said Article provides among other things that all those owning or controlling any dog or dogs must register same and pay the prescribed dog tax.

The citizens of Coke County have by a majority vote decided to make this law apply to Coke County; therefore now it is in violation of law for any person or persons to have or control an unregistered dog.

I have tried to explain all the phases of this law through your local newspaper, but I again state that you are violating the criminal laws of this State by not registering your dog, and that I will prosecute any person in this county upon complaint that you have or control an unregistered dog.

All dogs must be registered and each day you put this off you violate the law. Our criminal laws are just as strong as you citizens make them; My duty is finished when I have taken the complaint and prosecuted that complaint before a jury.

And I want you to report to me the name of any person owning or controlling any unregistered dog, and if you will come to my office and file a complaint, I promise you that I will prosecute each complaint filed and do my very best to obtain a conviction.

THE LAW HAS BEEN VIOLATED BY THE PERSON FAILING TO REGISTER HIS DOG, and any person failing to register his dog is guilty of an offence against the Criminal laws of this State.

So please register your dog, and in the event you get caught or a complaint is filed against you for not having your dog registered, then don't come to me for any favors, as I shall prosecute all these dog cases regardless of who you may be.

Thanking the people of Coke county for cooperation during my tenure in office as your County attorney, I am,
Respectfully yours,
W. C. McDonald,
County Attorney.

Standard Accounting System

Offering the means for the first thorough-going check ever made of governmental finances in each of Texas' 254 counties, Comptroller George Sheppard has announced completion of a standard accounting system for Texas counties.

Mailed to every county were two large books of sample form sheets and manuals of instructions, outlining in detail a simple and understandable system of accounting designed primarily to standardize bookkeeping methods throughout the governmental subdivisions.

If counties follow this system, Sheppard said, it will give a control ledger so that any person examining it may see where the public money is coming from and where it is going.

Tax Receipts

Although state, county and school taxes have been coming in steadily, less than a third of the voters in the county had been issued poll tax receipts up to Wednesday of this week. This is uncommonly slow for an election year but Paul Good sounded an optimistic note when interviewed. He expects a rush on the sheriff's office in the next few days to bring the poll tax payments to around 1,500.

S. E. Adams claimed the honor of obtaining poll tax receipt No. 1 while Condie Clark of Ft. Chadbourne was the first to pay a poll tax after January 1.

Senior News

The senior class has been in a terrible uproar the last few days. It seems that they are not progressing as much as a senior class should. Through the lack of cooperation on the part of the students and other reasons, they have practically quit trying to do anything. The last semester is usually an important occasion for seniors, and why not make it important. We do not have any social gatherings whatever, and unless we have more and there is more cooperation throughout the organization, dissatisfaction will linger on.

The senior class is now studying the life of Longspere and Shakefellow.

SWEDENBORG WAS A PIONEER IN MANY REALMS OF SCIENCE

Marking the 250th Anniversary of His Birth, Plans Are Made to Commemorate His Contributions to Science and Philosophy

EMANUEL SWEDENBORG, the 250th anniversary of whose birth will be observed on January 29, 1938, was one of the great scientific pioneers of his day. Part of his life was devoted to a science almost unknown in his time, psychology.

Though he lived and died before the American Revolution, Swedenborg evolved a psychological system—astonishingly modern in its views of the individual's relation to society, and in its completeness, answering many questions only partially dealt with by psychologists of today.

Two centuries ago thinking on the subject of the nature of the mind was almost entirely confined to the philosophers, who produced dead and abstract theories; they did not base their psychology on any practical observation of nature. Swedenborg began his study of the mind and its relation to the body by thorough research in physiology, and in these studies was the first to arrive at certain modern conceptions of the functions and activity of the brain and the nervous system.

This physiological approach is now taken as a matter of course by modern psychologists, who study exhaustively the mechanisms of mental life and the machinery which underlies our thinking. Swedenborg, with his training as a philosopher, was not satisfied to stop at this point, but carried his investigations into the nature of mind or spirit in its relation to the body. He came to regard the body as the region in which mind or spirit functioned. In his earlier work he wrote of the actions of the body in their effect on states of mind; one volume he published treated of the interaction of various states of mind.

Freud and other modern psychologists have developed similar views to Swedenborg's, that the mind is made up of different forces and impulses and functions on different levels of consciousness; Swedenborg held the view 200 years ago that the mind functions on different planes and that we are usually unconscious of most of its activities. He held that the practical problem of life for each human being is to evolve harmony out of these conflicting mental forces, and states that this can be achieved by mental growth on the spiritual plane.

Unlike the idealistic philosophers who preceded him he believed that spiritual growth cannot be achieved in withdrawal from everyday life. The "natural" is the servant and expression of the spiritual, and natural things have a correspondence with spiritual things. The "soul's" salvation or mental health depends on a practical life of usefulness in the natural world, with acknowledgment of a divine power which is greater than the individual and operates through him for good.

According to Swedenborg, the earlier Christian ideal of withdrawal from the world and complete self-abnegation was psychologically unsound. In the ordinary business and pleasures of life the personality finds expression and growth in usefulness to society, and in recognition of the divine harmony that operates through all things.

Information regarding the life and achievements of Swedenborg will be sent without charge by application to the Swedenborg Foundation, New York City.

Swedenborg's Contribution to Physiology

By MAX NEUBERGER, M. D.

Professor of the History of Medicine, University of Vienna
Everybody that has even made a slight acquaintance with the two chief anatomical-physiological works of the Swedish Aristotle knows that there is scarcely a chapter in them but surprises us with brilliant anticipations of modern science. Wherever we penetrate into the mine of Swedenborg physiology we strike a vein of metal so rich that the united strenuous effort of the world's scientists would be needed to mine the whole of it.

TIPS to Gardeners

Soil Study Important
A few minutes' study of your garden soil just before planting may make a marked difference in your success as a gardener.

Clayey soils require the most careful handling, but they are heavily productive. Sandy soils are "earthy" and sandy loams are just about ideal for most home garden crops.

In some southern states two crops may be grown, one in the spring and one in the fall.

Peas, lettuce, cabbage, broccoli, cauliflower, beets, carrots, radishes, and onions prefer plenty of moisture and moderately cool temperatures during development, according to Harold Coulter, vegetable expert. These vegetables should be planted about as early in fall as weather permits.

The following vegetables are not as hardy as those listed above and had best be grown in spring crops: Sweet corn, beans, tomatoes, peppers, eggplant, cucumbers, melons, squash and pumpkin. They like abundant sunshine. They do best on loamy soils.

MINISTERING TO PHYSICAL NEEDS

LESSON TEXT—Mark 1:29-45.
GOLDEN TEXT—And he healed many that were sick.—Mark 1:34.
PRIMARY TOPIC—When Jesus Went to Peter's House.
JUNIOR TOPIC—When Jesus Went to Peter's House.
INTERMEDIATE AND SENIOR TOPIC—Helping the Sick.
YOUNG PEOPLE AND ADULT TOPIC—Christianity's Concern for Physical Health.

"The Mystery of Painlessness" is the title of a book published some years ago, in which the author pointed out that instead of bemoaning the physical ailments of man we should thankfully recognize that much of life is without pain. There is point to the suggestion, but one who has reached the years of maturity and who has stood shoulder to shoulder with suffering mankind is very conscious of the never-silent cry of those whose bodies are in need.

Our Lord was tender and solicitous of man. It was to him that the great host of impotent folk—the lame, the halt, the sick, and the blind—came for healing, and they came not in vain. Note, however, that in the midst of his works of mercy he did not forget his real objective, which was to deal with man's sin.

I. Healing (v. 29).
First, we find our Lord tenderly sharing the sorrow of the home of a friend. One can picture the anxious hush that hovered over the home as distressed relatives and friends sought to alleviate the suffering of the one with a fever. They knew the possibility of a serious outcome of the illness. Many of us have gone through that dark valley. All at once there was new hope, and soon there was joy. Jesus had come and had brought healing. Many of us have also had that blessed experience.

Note that the healing was instantaneous and the restoration complete. She arose to serve. This typifies God's healing of the sickness of the soul. If you are saved you are ready to stand up and serve.

Christianity is not a selfish faith, if it follows its Lord. We see in verses 32 to 34 that all the city came to his door with the diseased and demon-possessed, and he healed them all. The account of the kindly and intelligent care of the sick is written large on the pages of the history of the Christian church.

II. Praying (v. 35).
The Son of God sought out a place and a time for prayer communion with his Father. How often we who profess to follow him fail to pray at all. Certainly we need the grace and power that prayer can bring far more than Jesus did. But, we say, we are so busy. So was he. We are tired. So was he.

III. Preaching (vv. 36-39).
Jesus said, "Let us go . . . that I may preach . . . for therefore came I forth." It bears repetition in this age when men magnify the doing of mighty deeds, that while Jesus did many miracles (and not for a moment would we detract from their worth and glory) yet he repeatedly, by word and act, emphasized the importance of preaching.

Foolish though it may seem to the natural man (read I Cor. 1:18-25), preaching the gospel in the power of the Holy Spirit is now, as it has been through the centuries, God's chosen means of turning the world upside down (Acts 17:6). What a pity that churches and pastors are forsaking it for book reviews, dramas, social hours, forums, community centers, and what not! God give us a revival of great, humble, and fearless preaching of the Word!

IV. Cleansing (vv. 40-45).
There is a sense in which the cleansing of the leper was another act of healing, but leprosy is such a striking type of sin that the incident calls for special consideration.

Leprosy is like sin in that it is a destructive malady that pursues its insidious way without revealing its true nature until it is far advanced. It renders a man unclean, loathsome to himself and dangerous to others. At least such it was in the days of our Lord.

Is there no hope for the leper? Yes; Jesus has come. The smitten man cries out, "If thou wilt thou canst make me clean."
So, also, may the sinner be cleansed, for "whosoever shall call upon the name of the Lord shall be saved" (Rom. 10:13). He will not turn the vilest of sinners away.

A Lift Toward Spring

GOOD frocks and true are these currently exhibited by your favorite designers, Sew-Your-Own. There's an ultra-polished model for informal evenings (dancing and that sort of thing), called the "Good-night frock." Then there's the more home-loving "Good-morning" number, and, to complete the trio, a swell little afternoon frock for tea-time goings-on. Why not spend happy days ahead in these very frocks? All you need do, you know, is to Sew, Sew, Sew-Your-Own!

Spring Frock.
The girl who has a flare for streamlining will see at once that the frock at the left is meant for her—just for her. She will make it of satin if she's thinking ahead to Spring; of wool if her mind is on the present or near future. She will puff the sleeves gently, give the girdle tie a fair but firm snug-ging-up, adjust the chic cowl neck—and she'll be something lovely to look at. Yes, Milady, this is the "Good-night frock" and if it's the last thing you do, you must add it in your new wardrobe.

To Start the Day.
When you greet the little family with that bright and cheery "Good morning," be sure your frock reflects an equally sweet note. Sew-Your-Own's most assuring number to this end is pictured above center. With a copy or two in gay gingham or seersucker you'll breeze through your day's work like nobody's business. The shirt-waist styling offers style and comfort that make this your best bet for early season's wear.

A Go-Gittin' Style.
And for a charming "Good Afternoon," choose a frock with plenty on the personality side. Such is the new young model at the right. Buttons in a line down the front tell you in so many dots and dashes that here you have "go-gittin'" style, for Spring, 1938. Princess lines cared for fastidiously by a belt, and a collar with much of what it takes—these are things that prompt Sew-Your-Own to put this frock in its Fashion-First Review for the Spring season. Make your version soon, Milady. That invitation to tea will find you unafraid and eager to go.

The Patterns.
Pattern 1410 is designed for sizes 12 to 20 (30 to 38 bust). Size 14 requires 4 1/2 yards of 39-inch material, plus 1/2 of a yard contrast for trimming sash as pictured.
Pattern 1438 is designed for sizes

Real Tongue Twisters

"Peter Piper picked a peck of pickled peppers" may be a tongue twister to some people, but to conductors on a railroad running through this section of Florida, according to Ed McCarthy of Orlando, it is nursery English.

Pity poor trainmen who must call Kolokee, Chuluota, Bithlo, Pocataw, Wewahottee, Salofka, Topokee, Holopaw, Illahaw, Nittaw, Apoxsee, Lokosee, Yeehaw, Osowaw and Hilolo, all station names on their line. But that's not all, when the locomotive puffs into the last station conductors must puff out an "Okeechobee last stop." The names were left by Seminole Indians who called the territory their finest hunting grounds.

36 to 52. Size 38 requires 4 1/2 yards of 35-inch material.
Pattern 1211 is designed for sizes 12 to 20 (30 to 40 bust). Size 14 requires 3 1/2 yards of 35-inch material, plus 3/4 yard contrasting for collar and cuffs.

HEADLINES FROM THE LIVES OF PEOPLE LIKE YOURSELF!

"Bailing Out With Death"

By FLOYD GIBBONS
Famous Headline Hunter

HELLO, EVERYBODY:

Adventure flies high in the air today, boys and girls, with Joseph Baltric of Brooklyn, N. Y. How would you like to step out of a plane several thousand feet in the air with a parachute strapped to your shivering body and then just as you started your first jump find that Fate had chosen you for an accident? Wow! What a thrill! And how few live to tell of it! I've seen flyers and balloon observers "bail out" and, by golly, every time I see one drop into space I think I'm more frightened than the jumper.

I always hold my breath—in those few seconds before the chute opens—and then sigh with relief when the merciful silk spreads out, like a big mushroom and floats gently down. Joe Baltric was a student at the Air Corps School of Parachute Rigging when he was called upon to make the "live jump" that all students make voluntarily before graduation. They call them "live jumps" in the air corps but Joe says his came very near being a dead one.

Hanging From the Plane's Wing.

With four other students Joe took off from Chanute Field at Rantoul, Ill., on June 5, 1931, to make their "maiden" jumps. The boys went up in five O-38 planes, Joe says, flying in formation. The other four made their jumps without incident and Joe saw them all and thought it would be a cinch. When it came his turn, he swallowed the lump in his throat, stepped into space and pulled the cord of the chute.

The chute opened but instead of floating free in the air Joe felt a sudden tug and heard a ripping sound and looking up saw to his horror that the shrouds had fouled the plane and he HUNG SUSPENDED FROM THE TIP OF THE PLANE'S WING!

Any aviator knows what a desperate situation pilot and jumper were in. Joe saw that the parachute impeded the movement of the "flipper" and knew at once that the plane could never land without that control. The pilot knew it, too. Of course, he could have jumped—and saved himself—but they don't do things like that in the air corps.

Around and around the field went the paralyzed plane with Joe swinging helplessly in mid-air. Joe, for the life of him, couldn't figure how he could possibly escape with his life. Even if the plane did make a landing he was certain to be dashed to death on the hard ground and he saw that his chute was so damaged that it would no longer support him.

Well, sir, down on the ground those hard-boiled flyers had seen the predicament of flyer and jumper and were getting their heads together. Joe could see them rustling around and finally he saw a plane take off. It didn't give him much hope though because he couldn't figure what they could do for him. So he just hung there and waited for death.

Looked Like a Sure Crash.

The worst of it was, Joe could see that his plane was gradually losing height—only the powerful "Conqueror" engine was keeping it from crashing. The pilot was having his hands full keeping the ship up as Joe's body cut down the speed in half. And Joe, meantime, was swinging crazily around and around like a top on a string and getting so seasick that he didn't care what happened.

It seemed to take hours for that other plane to come alongside of them but, when it did, Joe says, he felt a lot better. Somebody had chalked "follow me" on the fuselage of the other plane and Joe's pilot was doing the best he could to obey. Joe recognized the flyers in the second plane—they waved encouragement to him and he waved back—a last salute to the dead!

Ordered to Cut Loose.

The other plane maneuvered into a position above Joe and the man in the rear cockpit started lowering something on a string. Joe couldn't make out what it was for a few minutes—he was swinging so—but, as the object came nearer, he saw that it was a butcher knife.

THAT MEANT ORDERS TO CUT HIMSELF LOOSE!

A piece of delicate flying followed as the pilot of the plane above tried to bring the swinging knife within Joe's reach. Joe grabbed at it several times and then an air current would snatch it from him.

It seemed to Joe that this went on for hours—it did last for over half an hour—when finally the knife struck Joe in the chest and he grabbed it and held on. The string broke and floated away. IT WAS UP TO HIM NOW.

Joe held the knife firmly and looked at the shrouds of his chute. "Shrouds" was a good name for those cords, he thought, then he raised his arm—held his breath—and drew the sharp knife across them. The strands parted. Joe fell.

Down, down, down, his body shot straight for the earth. As he turned over and over in his fall Joe could see the hangars beneath him. He mumbled a little prayer.

And then, boys and girls, Joe pulled the cord of his emergency chute and floated safely to Mother Earth.

Come to think of it, I guess I didn't mention before that he had a second chute but you see Joe didn't mention it either until the end of his story and I—well, I thought it was a secret.

Dickens' Visits to United States

Dickens came to the United States in 1842. The result of this journey is to be found in "American Notes," published in 1842. His second tour of the United States began late in November, 1867, and lasted until the middle of April, 1868. During that time he took in as a result of his readings a sum approximating $100,000. During his second tour he tried to correct his impressions of America and publicly acknowledged his change of feelings at a farewell dinner (which cost $40 a plate).

Whitman's Tribute to Bible

Wait Whitman's tribute to the Bible is as follows: How many ages and generations have brooded and wept and agonized over this book! What untellable joys and ecstasies, what support to martyrs at the stake, from it! To what myriads has it been the shore and rock of safety—the refuge from driving tempest and wreck! Translated in all languages, how it has united this diverse world! Of its thousands there is not a verse, not a word, but is thick-studded with humor and emotion.

HOW TO SEW

by Ruth Wyeth Spears

A Bandanna Doll Has Old Time Charm

IF YOU want to make a very big doll, use two hanks of yarn and the biggest red bandanna handkerchief you can find. Smaller dolls made from one hank and a medium size handkerchief are also attractive.

Tie the hank at the top as at A, then cut it across the bottom. Make the head by tying the yarn in as at B, then separate part of the strands at the sides and bind them together to make the arms as at C and D. Cut these strands off as at E to make the hands. Bind the rest of the yarn around as at F to define the waistline. Thread a large needle with white darning cotton and make the mouth and eyes with several stitches made as shown here. Sew small black buttons or beads in the middle of the eyes.

Cut a square out of the center of the handkerchief. The square piece you cut out should be big enough so it may be cut through the center from corner to corner to make two triangles—one to be used for the head kerchief for the doll and one for the three cornered shoulder kerchief. When this is done, gather around the square hole in the center of the bandanna and draw up the gathering thread to make the full top of the skirt. Every Homemaker should have a copy of Mrs. Spears' new book,

SEWING. Forty-eight pages of step-by-step directions for making slipcovers and dressing tables restoring and upholstering chairs, couches; making curtains for every type of room and purpose. Making lampshades, rugs, ottomans and other useful articles for the home. Readers wishing a copy should send name and address, enclosing 25 cents, to Mrs. Spears, 210 South Desplains St., Chicago, Illinois.
