At The Methodist Church

Sunday morning has been designated as "Family Day" at the Methodist church. The Pastor will preach on "The Church That Is In Thy House," and families will sit together.

The Sunday School, of which Mrs. J. S. Gardner is superintendent begins at 10 o'clock.

The evening worship will begin at 8 o'clock. A cordial invitation is extended to all to come and share in the services of the Methodist church.

Cooler Place in Town Club Cafe

During last weekend four Robert Lee citizens went on a fishing outing down on Pecan creek and stopped a few minutes with a seine, so long, which turned out to be too long. Lake Smith rode by and no one thought anything about it until Monday morning when Pat Close, State Game Warden, came over and two men, R. E. Jay and J. C. Jordan were fined $37 a piece, and the the seine got a trip to Austin.

Barbara June is the name given the little daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Turney Casey. The mother and baby were brought home from the hospital Sunday and both are doing well. Mrs. Casey's mother, Mrs. Schooley, is with her.

John Wilbourn Richardson of Robert Lee, received a BS degree in electrical engineering at the twelfth annual summer commencement of Texas Technological College, August 24.

YES!!

The sentiment of the average number of people of whom we have contacted are very enthused over the proposition of Coke County getting a New Court House. Letters are coming in but not yet like we hoped for. We have, at this time, a poll tax list. Now, what we want is a "yes" or a "no" from every voter in Coke County whether you are or are not in favor of the Commissioners' Court call an election so you can vote on the proposed New Court House. If you are not interested in the welfare of your county enough to want to leave it better, for the younger generation to remember you by, then say so and we will drop the subject, but remember when the present old court house cracks some more and cannot be used and a new one will have to be built and you or your children will have to help pay all the bond instead of 59% now, remember "we told you so".

Please phone us, or see us or mail us a post card your "yes" or "no". We will keep your name confidential for the time being if you wish. If you wish for the proposition be explained more clearly, let us know, and we will get the county judge explain just what will have to be done before an election can be called and a New Court House could be built.

Another proposition which should be given a little more attention eventhough a new court house may not be built soon is this:-- You have probably noticed in the passing years one by one the evergreen trees that help beautify the court house square as well as the city, die now and then, and mostly from the want of water. What we want to know is, why can't the city be proud enough that the court house is here to furnish water and help keep the square beautiful? Some trees are needing water bad right now, if you will notice? Then why can't grass be planted there and kept green and growing? If a new court house is never built at least this CAN be done. You can bet your boots Bronte would be proud to have the Court House enough to fix up and water the yard. -- Eh! Bronte!

SPARKS-CREECH

The marriage of E. B. (Push) Creech and Miss Geraldine Sparks was solemnized Sunday afternoon at the Baptist parsonage in Bronte, the pastor, Rev. Bradley, performing the single ring ceremony. Attending the couple were his sister, Madelle Creech and her brother S. B. Sparks.

For her wedding the bride chose a navy blue crepe afternoon dress. The bride is a daughter of Mrs. E. T. Sparks and Mr. Creech is a son of Mrs. E. B. Creech. Both young people were reared in Coke county.

G. A. Harmon who has done the shoe repair for hundreds of school kids during the past five years, sold his machinery and equipment recently to E. T. Lowrance of Bronte and rented him a room for the shoe shop. Mr. Lowrance took over the business, Monday of this week but due to a shortage of rent houses, he will have to continue residence in Bronte for some time. Mr. and Mrs. Lowrance are both well known here.

The old Sam King home place has been wrecked and is being rebuilt into a modern stucco bungalow. It is the residence of Mr. and Mrs. Dave King.

Mrs. Ray Teller and son, of San Angelo, visited relatives here, Monday.

Members of the Baptist church who attended the association at Miles Tuesday and Wednesday were Mrs. M. J. Cumbie, E. D. Jordan and Rev. DeLashaw. Bro. Tubb of Silver attended for the first time in 35 years.

Mrs. B. E. Davis, Bobby Lee Davis of Robert Lee and Fred McMullen and Sybil Wynne of Bronte returned last Friday from a 5000 mile tour of 10 Northwestern States. They report a fine time, having seen Grand Canyon Petrified Forest, Boulder Dam, Rocky Mountain, National Park and many other places of interest States included were New Mexico, Arizona, California, Nevada, Utah, Wyoming, Colorado, Nebraska, Kansas and Oklahoma. They also had the pleasure of playing in snow in Colorado and seeing Sir Malcolm Campbell and the "Bluebird," the world's fastest racer in Salt Lake City, Utah.

Out of the tour of ten States, the crops are reported to be much better in Coke county than any State through which they traveled. Bobby Lee says he knows now where our dust storms originate, having come across Kansas.

BOLL WORMS

Boll worms are doing extensive damage to cotton throughout central and south Texas and many people are mistaking this insect for the pink boll worm and are so reporting it to Texas A. and M. College, according to R. R. Reppert, entomologist of the Extension Service.

The pink boll worm never reaches a length of more than 3/8 inch and a diameter of more the lead of an ordinary pencil, Reppert said, while the boll worm is much larger. The common boll worm varies in color and some individuals have a pinkish tinge, but the size should enable farmers and others to make the distinction between the two species.

Boll worms that have developed to a size where they hollow out the boles cannot be poisoned as they do not consume a great deal of the surface of the leaf or of the boll tissue. Before they have attained their full size however, they feed actively on the leaves and in this stage applications of calcium arsenate are effective.

To destroy these younger worms and to prevent later damage to the bolls, Reppert advises that calcium arsenate be applied as a dust at the rate of 8 pounds per acre. This should be applied with a machine capable of directing a powerful blast of the poison downward over each row.

The first application should be followed with another 5 days later and in cases of heavy infestation a third should be made after the same interval.

County agricultural agents in sections north of the present infestation are advising farmers to watch for the appearance of prepare to poison before damage is done.

Old-Time Revival

Real old-time preaching in an old-time style is being appreciated by those who have attended a revival at the Baptist church that began Aug. 21 and will continue through this coming Sunday. It is a real treat to the older ones to hear the heartfelt message of Rev. H. B. Ramsour and to feel with him the support and encouragement of "Amens" from old greyhaired men in the front pews. Sunday night special recognition was given a number of men present who were seventy years of age and past.

New-Ranch Home

A new ranch house is under construction on the Ralph Harris ranch about eight miles south of here and is being built on the site of one of the oldest ranch homes in this part of the country. The original ranch house will remain for the present. Vic Collett is forman of the ranch.

Delbert Harmon is doing the building the building under a contract let to W. E. Newton. It is expected the work will be finished this week.

The Fred Roes are doing quite an extensive job of remodeling at their ranch home. Some rooms are being added, several changes made in the interior arrangement, all floors will be redressed and new paper through out.

Mr. and Mrs. T. J. Mullins and baby moved to town Tuesday and are at home in the residence built by Roy Brey and now owned by Miss Naomi Brown. Mr. Mullins, new football coach and general director of athletics, is a brother of W. W. Mullins who holds a similar position in the Bronte schools. Seems it may be another case of brothers facing eachother in the heat of battle.

Ray Jackson underwent an appendix operation Tuesday morning at San Angelo. He was reported, Thursday to be doing fairly well. Rays operation will cause the loss of a fast player on the football team.

Your water bill must be paid by 10th of each month or service will be discontinued.

Hitler Woos Central Europe With Overtures to Hungary

By Joseph W. LaBine

Foreign

At Nickelsdorf, Austria, an imposing triumphal arch was raised. Vienna's railway station was decorated. At Kiel a 10,000-ton battleship awaited launching. Thus, feeling like a girl with several ardent suitors, Hungary's Regent Nicholas Horthy sped in glory last week from Budapest to Berlin.

Not since Benito Mussolini visited Adolf Hitler last spring had Berlin made such plans. Indeed the same trappings that greeted Il Duce now greeted Admiral Horthy. But Adolf Hitler had more than benign friendship in mind.

Hungary lies directly in the path of Germany's "drive to the east" in which she would swallow Czechoslovakia, Rumania and Jugo-Slavia, thereby unifying all central Europe. As Nicholas Horthy closeted himself with Hitler, rumors of proposals began flying. Rumors: (1) Joint proposal by Italy and Germany to incorporate Hungary in the Rome-Berlin axis; (2) proposal that Hungary leave the League of Nations, declaring the Trianon treaty of 1920 void; (3) offer by Italy and Germany for extended Hungarian minority rights in Czechoslovakia, Rumania, Jugo-Slavia; (4) German-Hungarian economic unity.

What made Regent Horthy feel like a sought-after maiden was another offer, this one from foreign ministers of Czechoslovakia, Jugo-Slavia and Rumania, whose Little Entente met at Bled, Jugo-Slavia. Their offers included a nonaggression pact and military equality.

Labor

President William Green of the American Federation of Labor had two reasons to be happy last week. Smallest reason was that Franklin Roosevelt agreed the Wagner labor act must be amended. Biggest reason was that John Lewis' Committee for Industrial Organization was embroiled in several family quarrels.

Several weeks ago, Homer Martin, president of C. I. O.'s United Automobile Workers, expelled five vice presidents for alleged communist leanings. Last week these vice presidents called a convention of U. A. W.'s insurgent bloc in Toledo, asking Boss Lewis to end the fight. Specific requests were (1) appointment of a "dictator" for U. A. W., and (2) an election to let members themselves decide the issue.

Meanwhile, in western Kentucky, President Joseph Ozanic of the Progressive Mine Workers of America gave John Lewis another headache. Four thousand miners, who left C. I. O.'s United Mine Workers three years ago, took out membership in A. F. of L.'s Progressive body.

Final quarrel was that between Francis Gorman, United Textile Workers president, and Sidney Hillman, head of Amalgamated Clothing Workers of America. Last week Gorman asked his followers to desert C. I. O. because of "dictatorship and communism."

War

In Paris, Premier Edouard Daladier jolted France from its vacation sluggishness to demand abolition of the 40-hour week "in the interests of military and economic defense." In Germany, Adolf Hitler's giant war maneuvers entered their second week. In both Rome and London, eyes focused from distant China to nearby Spain, theaters of 1938's two wars. The war picture:

● Having set Britain's Neville Chamberlain back on his ear by refusing a proposal for evacuating foreign soldiers, Insurgent Generalissimo Francisco Franco opened his drive to end Spain's civil war before a third winter sets in. Aimed at loyalist Barcelona were crack Navarrese and Italian troops, while overhead rebel planes rained death. Along the Ebro river front, 5,000 government militiamen were captured. But biggest news of the Spanish war came not from Spain, but from Switzerland.

At Zurich, Premier Juan Negrin arrived for conferences with the duke of Alba, Franco envoy. After three days of hide-and-seek in which neither Negrin nor Alba could be found, observers wondered whether Spain's two emissaries were hiding from each other or had agreed on terms.

● While China's Chiang Kai-Shek led his troops in defense of Hankow last week, Former Premier Wang-Ching-Wei threatened to supplant him as leader of what little government now remains in that battle-pocked country. Tired of war, Japan mobilized 1,000,000 men and looked to Italy for help.

Britain has already refused negotiations with Japan unless her rights in China are safeguarded. But after two months of secret mediation, Italy came out in the open with a plan to establish Wang Ching-Wei as head of a revised Chinese central government. That Germany belonged in this picture was apparent; one of Wang's chief aims would be adherence to the German-Jap-Italian pact.

Domestic

New York rushed to work one morning last week. All subway stations were crowded; at one the crowd was too great. Pulling away from this station a train stopped momentarily to free a woman caught in the door. Behind, unable to stop, rushed a second train piloted by Motorman Salvatore Cota. His train crashed into the rear of the first, telescoping. Then came explosion, darkness, panic. Half-hour later authorities were able to report two dead, 40 injured. As Mayor Fiorella H. LaGuardia looked on, Motorman Cota had his leg amputated.

Politics

"Purge" crept into John Public's vocabulary last week with devastating speed. More than ever before, U. S. voters looked at New York, Maryland and Georgia where reside Franklin Roosevelt's three favorite "purgees," Democratic legislators he wants ousted in next month's primaries because they oppose certain New Deal measures. Last week these senators caused this news:

● In Georgia, Purgee Walter F. George drew support from James W. Arnold, Republican national committeeman who asked G. O. P. partisans to vote for George against his Roosevelt opponent, Lawrence S. Camp. Two days earlier, RFC Attorney Edgar B. Dunlap was asked to resign because he was stumping for George's re-election.

● In Maryland, Purgee Millard E. Tydings thundered into a microphone that his commonwealth "will not permit her star in the flag to be purged from the constellation of the states."

● In New York, Purgee John J. O'Connor picked up "the gage which the President has thrown down," promised to fight Franklin Roosevelt's "invitation to a dictatorship." Three days later Franklin Roosevelt and WPA Administrator Harry Hopkins found themselves embarrassed when New York's Worker's Union, a WPA union, announced plans to raise a $50,000 war chest to use against Representative O'Connor. Said Harry Hopkins: "I don't like it. . . I don't know what can be done about it."

MILLARD E. TYDINGS The purgee refused to be purged.

C. Houston Goudiss Asks Will Your Child Be Ready For School?

Noted Food Authority Outlines a Correct Diet for the Growing Youngster

By C. HOUSTON GOUDISS

6 East 39th Street, New York City.

WHEN school closed last June, most parents looked forward to the long weeks ahead when their children could play in the sunshine, get plenty of rest, and build up a splendid fund of vitality to last them all through the new school year.

Some mothers resolved to do everything possible to prevent a recurrence of last season's disheartening colds.

Others planned to look into a blood-building diet that would give Mary or Johnnie more pep and rosier cheeks. Perhaps there were teeth that required attention, or a nose or throat condition to be corrected. Now, within a few weeks, the children will be returning to school, or in some cases beginning their school life. Every mother should ask herself whether she has made the most of the opportunities offered by the vacation period.

Have you put forth a conscientious effort toward making your children 100 per cent fit for school? If not, there is still time! You cannot finish the job in a few weeks, but you can make a good start. And you owe it to your children to begin at once. For whether they enjoy school or find it tedious, whether they make excellent records or lag behind their fellows, depends in large measure upon their physical fitness.

Every child is entitled to good health, safeguarded by high resistance. And in this age of amazing scientific discoveries, every child should enjoy these blessings.

Top health and resistance to disease are the result of an intelligently planned and carefully executed health program. It should include proper diet, adequate sleep and rest, an abundance of sunshine and fresh air, freedom from physical defects, and the avoidance of physical or mental strain, or fatigue.

Diet—The Key to Health

Perhaps the most important factor of all is the carefully balanced diet. When planned to take full advantage of modern nutritional discoveries, it will insure normal growth and health, and build up high resistance that is like a protecting wall to safeguard your children.

With our present knowledge of the power of food, there should not be one ill-nourished child in our land. Yet the spectre of malnutrition rears its ugly head among children of the well-to-do as well as in homes where money is scarce. For, as a rule, it is not lack of money, but lack of knowledge of food values, or faulty eating habits which are responsible for the tragedy of an incorrectly fed child

Don't Overlook Protective Foods

A child's diet should be built upon a foundation of the protective foods—milk, eggs, fruits and vegetables. Milk takes precedence over all of these because it is an absolute necessity if children are to develop strong, straight bones and sound teeth.

The penalty for breaking this fundamental rule is retarded growth, fragile, crooked bones, decayed teeth and possibly nervousness. How dare any mother inflict such punishment upon her children? A fine amount of calcium, high grade protein, and some of every known vitamin can be furnished so easily by providing children with a quart of milk daily—either as a beverage, or in soups, cream sauces, puddings, cocoa or with cereals.

An Egg Every Day

Eggs rank next to milk in importance, because of their protein, iron and vitamins. A child's diet should normally include one egg daily, or at least three or four weekly.

Green, leafy vegetables must not be neglected, as they supply iron and precious vitamins. Yellow vegetables, such as carrots and sweet potatoes are notable as a source of vitamin A.

Fruits, especially the citrus varieties, are important for their vitamin C, which helps to safeguard the health of teeth and gums. However, tomatoes, or tomato juice may also be used as a source of this vitamin. Bananas are an excellent fruit for children. Dried fruits furnish iron and are high in energy values. Fruits and vegetables in general are likewise an important aid to regular elimination.

As a rule, school children may have lean meat, fish, chicken or liver once a day, and a second protein food, such as cheese or legumes, is usually introduced at another meal.

Energy Foods in Abundance

There must be plenty of energy foods, such as potatoes, rice, macaroni, bread and butter, and cereals, to help prevent the physical fatigue which lowers resistance. At least one starchy food belongs in every meal.

A well-cooked cereal should be provided once daily; in warm weather a ready-to-eat cereal may be used instead. In order to provide an abundance of minerals, and vitamin B, nutritionists place emphasis upon the whole grain varieties.

For desserts, choose rice, tapioca and bread puddings; gelatine, either plain or with fruit; fresh or stewed fruit; milk sherbets or ice cream.

In planning meals for children, it is important at all times to keep the menus simple, and prepare foods so that they are appetizing and easily digestible.

Aids to Good Nutrition

It is important also to bear in mind that the most perfect diet will not provide sound nutrition unless the food is properly digested and assimilated. Adequate sleep and rest, which do away with fatigue, are therefore essential. However perfect the diet, overexertion and undue fatigue, if continued, will soon bring about a state of lowered resistance.

In planning a program of daily living that will make and keep your children fit for school, put food first. But consider also rest, fresh air and sunshine, and regular habits. It would be well, too, to check up on the child's general health before he returns to school, so that he will not be handicapped by some physical defect, such as bad teeth, diseased tonsils, faulty vision or impaired hearing—all of which interfere with the ability to learn.

Never forget for a moment that a child's happiness and success are closely related to his health. All mothers should remember this, for it is no exaggeration to say that THE POWER OF A NATION DEPENDS UPON THE HEALTH OF ITS CHILDREN.

Questions Answered

Ms. G. B. F.—Weight for weight, fresh spinach has four times as much vitamin A as good butter. When the amount of butter in the diet is curtailed, it is advisable to consume an abundance of green, leafy vegetables and milk. It is also possible to obtain margarine fortified with both vitamins A and D.

Miss A. G. M.—The bleaching agent used in wheat flour is not objectionable and this product makes a perfectly satisfactory food. It is desirable to include in the diet every day some products made from whole grain flours, as they are richer in minerals and vitamins. But that should not be interpreted to mean that white flour should be avoided.

WNU—C. Houston Goudiss—1938—28.

Do YOU Know HOW TO PLAN A Blood-Building DIET?

EVERY MOTHER SHOULD KNOW WHICH FOODS ARE RICHEST IN THE BLOOD-BUILDING MINERALS, IRON AND COPPER.

C. Houston Goudiss will gladly send you, free of charge, a bulletin listing those foods which are high in iron and also those that are notable as a source of copper, together with suggestions for planning a diet that is exceptionally rich in these elements.

MORE MILK

With modern education advanced to the stage where greater emphasis is laid on mental efficiency, with numerous tests to classify the student into his or his or her intelligence category, we are apt to lose sight of the fact that the body is necessary in the operation of learning, as the mind. Mayor LaGuardia of New York, said to a meeting of school teachers in his city, "Before you give a child the Binet test (intelligence rating) be sure and give him the Borden and Sheffield test. I mean, find out if he gets enough milk - just plain cow's milk". We know that a growing child needs plenty of the right kind of food, and today most of us are aware of the various vitamins contained in food, especially in milk. Without proper feeding there has been many a child who has seemed incapable of learning, but often this same dull youngster can be made alert mentally by seeing that he gets two or three glasses of fresh milk every day. It is far easier to govern this on a farm and in rural districts where folks are more apt to be milk conscious. Some city schools, at a small cost to each pupil, serve milk and graham crackers during the regular school session. This is in kindergarten and the early grades. Such procedure may seem foolish and unnecessary to some Robert Lee citizens, but consider the various nations who serve extra meals each day to renew the energy of their workers. They say a mind does not tire, that it is only the body, but we must keep the body strong to have the desire to use the mind.

FADS ARE NOT FASHION, SAYS NOTED DESIGNER

ONE of the greatest problems of women today is being able to distinguish between fads and fashions, according to Hattie Carnegie, whose fashionable dress shop serves the elite of Hollywood and New York.

Observing that women sometimes get off on a strange tangent and as a result often do themselves injury by developing queer hats, gowns, and head dresses that were silly in the first place, Miss Carnegie says, "the advice I would give to any woman who wants to be well dressed and smart is: Be in fashion to a reasonable extent, but never be too extreme or too fanciful in your dress."

"Smart women know that beautiful clothes must always have an air of simplicity, no matter how intricately they may be cut and stitched and seamed to attain this air, and that these simple, beautiful clothes must enhance the charms of the woman who wears them. If you have a dress that is too often admired, be proud of it. If people say your dress is lovely instead of you are lovely, the dress somehow isn't right."

The greatest craze in history for absurd fashions, according to Miss Carnegie, came in the 18th century.

Women in the 1800's were famous for wearing dresses that weighed close to a hundred pounds and hats like freight trains with a complete cargo above the brim.

18th Century hairdressers were really inspired. One of them conceived coiffures that were deliriously insane. One famous coiffure was a Dutch landscape wig... tiny, key-wound motors hidden under the hair caused windmills to turn, miniature men to wave flags, and water (honest-to-goodness water!) to run downstream and turn a little water wheel.

A Frenchman who lived during this craze wrote: "Never before have French women spent so much money simply to make themselves ridiculous."

Today, says Miss Carnegie, "our husbands and beaus say the same thing about us when they see some of our hats. I like silly hats, myself. I think that a hat can be frivolous, full of flowers or fruits or quaint veiling, and that even the gentlemen won't object, if it is becoming. It's not gay, silly, fashions which men really dislike. It's clothes that don't flatter and suit you that make them say: 'why do you women have to wear such crazy hats?' Or dresses, or shoes, as the case may be. If you never buy anything simply because it is amusing or smart or new, but wear only clothes that make you amusing, you smart, you new, you'll be the envy of all the women you know, the admiration of all the men."

In the September issue of Pictorial Review, the famous designer analyzes "fashions and fads" and gives reasons for her observations.

THANK YOU

I wish to express deep gratitude to the gracious people of Coke County who have been kind to me in so many ways during my campaign, to those who came to my aid when the old car broke down, to those who gave their loyal support and to those who cast the vote that put me over in Saturday's election. For those supported my opponent, I have no ill will and while I am humbly thankful for the victory, I have no feeling of exultation over my opponent.

It is my earnest intention to devote the best of my time and efforts in the performance of my duty as County Treasurer and I trust those who voted against me will lay aside personal prejudice and corporate to the good of the public interest,

Very Sincerely,

"In Texas during 1937, 698 mothers lost their lives through childbirth and associated conditions. Fatality struck 8618 babies under one year of age and 3,972 infants were stillborn. These facts become particularly distressing when it is realized that at least two thirds of this motherhood mortality could have been avoided," states Dr. Geo. W. Cox, State Health Officer.

Coke County had 85 total live births during 1937, of which 78 were white and 7 were black. Of the infants were male and 46 female. Physicians attended the births of 84 infants, and midwives 1. 1 of the births was in a hospital and 84 at home. Two children died under one year of age, a rate of 23.5 per 1000 live births.

'Tragedy Closes In'
By FLOYD GIBBONS

HELLO EVERYBODY:

You know, they say troubles never come singly, and I know doggone well that is true in at least one case. It's the case of Amy Castaldi of Chicago. When fate began piling grief on Amy's shoulders, she piled it up high.

It was a Friday morning, the second day of July, 1933, when things began to go wrong. Amy's eight-year-old son, out playing with some other kids, burned the pupil of his right eye. He was in constant pain, and for two days and nights after that Amy never left his bedside until a far worse calamity forced her to. And right on the heels of that accident came the news that an uncle had died in Louisville, Ky. Amy couldn't go to the funeral. Not with her boy in constant agony. So, on Saturday night her husband went without her, leaving her to take care of her son, and her two young daughters.

Fierce Gale Struck Her House.

Night had come on. Amy had put her two little girls to bed and they had gone to sleep. She was back at her son's bedside, weary and worn, for another long night's vigil. The hours rolled on. The wind had begun to rise. At 2 o'clock in the morning it was blowing a young gale. The Castaldi's house was completely exposed to that wind on three sides. On the other it was protected by a factory, but the gale wasn't blowing from that direction.

The wind rose steadily. It whistled and howled in the telephone wires outside. The whistle rose to a shriek, and still it kept on rising. Then, suddenly, the lights went out in the street. A burst of hailstones rattled against the house. And at almost the same time a window crashed in the front of the dwelling.

The house was shaking—shaking violently. It was about all Amy's frazzled nerves could stand. She let out a scream. The scream woke up her two little girls, and they came running from their beds. The little boy was already awake. He, poor kid, hadn't slept for two nights.

Fled With Her Three Children.

Another window broke with a clatter, glass falling to the floor. The kids huddled around Amy, clutching at her dress. One by one the windows crashed, there was a louder crash—a shriek of rending wood—and a huge piece of sheet metal came TEARING RIGHT THROUGH THE SIDE OF THE HOUSE!

The wind had stopped howling now. Instead, it tore by with a loud, steady, hissing roar. The house was deluged with water that came through the broken windows. Now rocks and pieces of lumber came hurtling in and Amy could hear more flying debris battering against the side of the house with a force that was all but tearing it to pieces.

"I was about to faint with fright," Amy says. "I grabbed my children and ran for the back door. I took hold of the knob and tried to open it. It wouldn't budge. The movement of the house under the force of the storm, had wrapped it tightly shut. My children were screaming, and their cries gave me strength. I tugged at the door with renewed vigor and finally opened it."

But when the door opened, Amy paused and looked out on a scene that looked almost as uninviting as did the inside of her home. Before her was nothing but the blackest of darkness and the terrible hissing roar of the wind. Thunder boomed and a streak of lightning rent the sky. As the flash illuminated the heavens she could see that the air was full of flying debris. More rocks and pieces of sheet metal—boards, bricks and everything imaginable.

Just Escaped a Live Wire.

Says she: "My head was reeling. I almost fainted again. A piece of sheet metal landed near us, barely missing our heads as it fell from above. For a minute I wondered if the world were coming to an end, and I began to pray. Then, with what little strength I had left, I gathered my children close and made for the gate of our back yard."

The wind tore at her, almost sweeping her off her feet. Clinging to all three of her children, she led them across the yard. When she came to where the gate should have been she found it gone—and the rest of the fence along with it. Across the street was the factory—the nearest solid building—and she headed for that.

"We walked and stumbled—fell and picked ourselves up again," she says. "I thought that trip would never come to an end, but finally we reached the factory. We learned later that we had walked over a live wire that had been blown down and we can only thank God that none of us stepped on it. But once we were inside the building the night watchman came to our rescue."

When Amy went back to her house the next morning she found every window broken. The furniture was water-soaked and broken by flying debris and the whole doggone place looked—well—like a cyclone had struck it, which was the truth. "But I didn't care about that," says Amy, "for my children were safe. The next day the papers carried stories about the freak tornado and told about the damage it did. But no newspaper will ever be able to describe the way I felt during those awful moments while it was occurring."

Strangest Portrait

A Cheerful Word

Have you ever had your day suddenly turned sunshiny because of a cheerful word? Have you ever wondered if this could be the same world, because someone had been unexpectedly kind to you? You can make today the same for everybody. It is only a question of a little imagination, a little time and trouble. Think now "what can I do today to make somebody happy?"—Maltbie D. Babcock.

THE CHEERFUL CHERUB

There is joy in the very fact of living, To grumble and complain I hold a crime.

We can all be cheerful for a minute And we only live a minute at a time!

IF SMOCKING seems to be time consuming, here is a short cut that saves hours. The first step is to shirr the material by machine. Loosen the tension slightly and stitch in straight rows; then pull up the bobbin thread to gather the material.

You will note in the sketch that some of the simple hand stitches are made over two rows of gathers and the others over a single row. Much of the beauty of mock smocking depends upon the spacing of the rows. The double rows of gathers in the sketch, No. 2 and 4, are  $\frac{1}{4}$ -inch apart. The space between these and the single rows should be about  $\frac{3}{4}$ -inch.

Another important point is the choice of colors and an interesting variety of stitches. In the arrangement shown here, rows 1, 3 and 5 are made in the darkest color by back-stitching over the gathers as in row 5 and then working loop-stitches through the back-stitches as in row 1. Row 2 is a version of plain feather stitch-

WANT to see what kind of role Clark Gable drew in his early days of making pictures? Then you'll have to go to "Painted Desert," recently made by RKO-Radio with George O'Brien, originally filmed by RKO-Pathé in 1930.

Lee Shumway plays the villain originally played by Gable. By way of delving into the past again—all the still existing sets that were used for pictures made by Mary Pickford and Douglas Fairbanks were demolished the other day. Some of them were nearly 20 years old. They'll make room for a setting for the next Goldwyn production, "The Last Frontier."

The latest fashion news is to the effect that soon the girls will be wearing adaptations of the styles of 1904—the reason being that Claudette Colbert will soon be seen in "Zaza," and that the clothes she wears in the picture are so fetching that everybody's going to want clothes like hers.

Felix Knight, the young tenor who's being heard more and more often on the air, is going to keep right on until autumn with his nation-wide program that is heard Fridays from 6:00 to 6:15, EDST, over NBC's red network. One of the things he gets excited about, between broadcasts, is the number of young people whose voices are being ruined because they're going to teachers who aren't really good. Says he knows any number of boys and girls in California, where he used to live, who would be successes if only they were properly taught.

But he can't tell them how to go about finding really good teachers—says that he just happened to be lucky; that he heard some people sing who sang the way he wanted to, and hunted up their teacher.

If you happen to be in New York and want to see some of your favorite radio stars when they're off duty, the place for you to go is the drugstore in the building where the NBC studios are located. Visiting movie folks and stage stars haunt the restaurants, but for some reason the radio stars turn like homing pigeons to that drug store.

Did you happen to be listening to the radio while the music from "Carefree," the new Rogers-Astaire picture, was broadcast with Irving Berlin, its author, in the studio? It's nice music, and apparently it's also a nice picture—but still the rumors grow and grow, to the effect that Astaire wants a new dancing partner, and Ginger wants a new leading man.

Fred Astaire

ODDS AND ENDS—Fred Ibbett, a veteran in the field of radio production, declares that his line of work offers the greatest opportunities to young newcomers of any phase of industry. . . . Tyrone Power had a lot of fun on his trip East—one of his engagements being for luncheon with Mudge Evans. . . . Mudge, incidentally, has fallen for the new fad of painting her finger nails white. . . . Remember Julie Haydon, who left the stage for the movies, and couldn't get anywhere in the movies, and now is a terrific hit on the stage? . . . Well, the movie producers are after her again—can't see how it happened that she just never got any good parts when she was in Hollywood. . . . "Four's a Crowd" is a pretty good picture; better put it on your list.

Lesson for September 4

SAMUEL: SPIRITUAL REVIVAL

LESSON TEXT—1 Samuel 7:3-13.
GOLDEN TEXT—Prepare your hearts unto the Lord, and serve him only. 1 Samuel 7:3.

"Revivals are costly. The spiritual awakening which our country so much needs must begin with a spiritual deepening which the church so much needs. There is a price to be paid. . . . Strange gods must be put away, gods of worldly pleasure, worldly ambition, love of ease and self-gratification. It is the unwillingness to pay the price that keeps us from the richness and power of the full spiritual life" (Prof. L. M. Lowell).

Israel had come to the place where the people recognized that they were on the brink of national disaster. They knew they had come to the end of the trail, and were ready to do something about it.

I. Return Unto the Lord (v. 3.).

Samuel appears in his first public ministry to call on his people to return to the Lord. Back of that public act is the history of a godly life and devoted service to the Lord and to His nation. Such a man can consistently urge others to turn to God.

The response of the people was wholehearted. They were thoroughly sick of their sin and separation from the favor of God. The earnest of their sincerity was their obedience to the admonition of Samuel that they turn from idolatry.

II. Put Away False Gods (vv. 3, 4).

Israel had learned from their heathen neighbors to worship their false gods. These they must put away if God was to be able to bless them. The same prerequisite to spiritual revival exists today. But some may say, we do not worship heathen gods. Perhaps not, and yet one is astonished at the close similarity between the ritual and worship of some secret cults and orders and the ancient religions of heathendom.

III. Gather Together and Pray (vv. 5, 6).

Spiritual life thrives on the gathering together of God's people. The crisis in Israel was met by a great convocation of the people. We need to revive the great soul-stirring religious gatherings of a generation ago.

"I will pray," said Samuel. He was a great intercessor. (See 1 Sam. 15:11; Ps. 99:6; Jer. 15:1.) Revival never comes without a history of faithful intercession on the part of those whose hearts are really burdened. Ask yourself, How much have I really prayed for a revival in my church, my community, and my nation?

IV. God Will Save Us (v. 8).

"Behold, the Lord's hand is not shortened that it cannot save, neither his ear heavy that it cannot hear" (Isa. 59:1). "Thus saith the Lord. . . . have I no power to deliver?" (Isa. 50:1, 2). God saved Israel and delivered them out of the hands of their enemies. The Philistines, seeing them gathered together to pray, assumed that they were preparing to fight and attacked. In the previous battle at that very spot (1 Sam. 4:1-10) Israel had fought with the weapons of men and been disgracefully defeated. Now they fought with the weapon of prayer and faith in God, and great was the victory.

America is valiantly battling against the social and economic problems of these distressing days, but one fears that all too often the weapons are those of the arm of flesh which will fail us. Let us look up instead of to one another. "God will save us" (v. 8).

V. Ebenezer (v. 12).

Our forefathers, familiar with the truth of Scripture, used biblical words in naming their children. The present generation all too often know the names simply as the strange signatures on old letters. The word "Ebenezer" might well merit a bit of a revival itself. Here Israel had met a disastrous defeat. They were broken by it and had become an almost hopeless people. Now God had given them victory in the very same spot and they raised a stone of remembrance of God's help. The word "Ebenezer" means "stone of help," but also carries with it the meaning of Samuel's word, "Hitherto hath the Lord helped us" (v. 12).

There is an inspiring word of hope here for every troubled soul. You may, like Israel, have fallen into sin. Your life may be defeated. You may be utterly discouraged. Return to the Lord, put away sin, gather with God's people, pray, and God will give you victory, even at the very point of former defeat.

Wise and Otherwise

No matter how lazy a man may be, his laziness seldom extends to his tongue.

Charity used to begin at home; nowadays nobody stays home long enough to start it.

Some folks pick their friends carefully; others to pieces.

Money, says the moralist, is a poison. And the antidote is marriage.

"Golf is the most dangerous game in the world," says a writer. Risk of spontaneous combustion?

In five years the output of real silk stockings has increased from a million dozen pairs to five million dozen. What one might call the worm's turn?

And for rich taste and mellow mildness, Prince Albert's made-to-order "makin's" smokes. No bite, no harshness—just easy-rolling tobacco, full of fragrant, tasty goodness. "P. A.'s some smoke," say roll-your-owners. (In pipes too P. A.'s some smoke.)

MORE TASTE, MORE DOWNRIGHT SMOKIN' JOY—AND AROUND 70 'MAKIN'S' SMOKES IN EVERY BIG, RED PA. TIN. NO WONDER IT'S PRINCE ALBERT FOR ME!

C. J. COOPER (right) tips off "makin's" smokers who haven't tried P. A. yet. "Try Prince Albert," he advises, "for 'A No. 1' smokin' joy. It rolls faster and smokes smoother. The best costin' so little, I'm for P. A.—in a big way."

70 fine roll-your-own cigarettes in every 2-oz. tin of Prince Albert

ODD THERMOMETER

Long before Galileo invented the thermometer, people could tell temperature by the cricket—provided it was not colder than 50° F., at which temperature they cease making any sound. The warmer it is the faster crickets chirp. All you have to do is count the chirps per second and add 40 to this number. The resulting figure is an accurate degree of temperature.

THERMOMETERS PROTECT OLD DOCUMENTS

The new Archives Building at Washington is an interesting example of how temperature control can protect valuable records. Excessive moisture in the air may cause molding in stored papers and documents. Extremely dry air and high temperatures make paper brittle and decrease its life of service to a marked degree. Thermostatic thermometers will hold the temperature at 70 degrees F. during the winter and 80 degrees F. during the summer. In addition to temperature control devices, government records are protected from acids in the atmosphere, abrasive dust, and daylight, all of which contribute materially to the deterioration of paper.
