NEWS from YOUR COUNTY AGRICULTURAL AGENT FOR FOOD FOR VICTORY
TEXAS A. & M. COLLEGE EXTENSION SERVICE

The farm labor situation failed to improve last week; however, two year round farm hands were in desiring jobs. There was no one on file wanting such labor which means the men could not be quickly placed. Anyone needing farm labor is again urged to register at the county agents office just in case some labor might show up from some unknown source.

Plans are now being made by a group of farmers and myself to visit the Experiment Station at Amarillo again soon. This station is doing a lot of work on grass seeding of all kinds and also testing the different grazing values of the different grasses. Anyone wanting to know more about re-seeding grasses on cultivated land in Castro County would find a trip to this experiment station invaluable. If you would like to visit the station with the group let me know and we will let you know the arrangements.

Several farmers have asked me whether or not Raymond Annen will have any crested wheat grass for sale this year. In a visit to Mr. Annen's farm the other day Mr. Annen tells me that he will probably not make more than enough for his own use. Inquires about the grass still pour in from several state and far off counties about the grass. Mr. Annen's grass still looks excellent in every respect and any Castro County farmer interested in getting some land back to grass should not miss the opportunity of seeing the work being done with crested wheat grass by Mr. Annen.

The use of good herd sires was again shown to me this week on visits to the farms of Buck Crum and Raymond Annen. Both of these Castro County men have excellent calf crops which shows that their selection of Hereford or an excellent garden again next bulls to head their herds were year.

If insects are bothering your garden come in and get a bulletin on save your garden from insect pests. This bulletin is illustrated and its contents appeared in a back issue of the Castro County News. Let's don't let the bugs eat up our gardens, we have worked so hard to make.

Don't forget to save vegetable seed this year. With more gardens everywhere the vegetable seed shortage is likely to be serious next year. By saving your own seed you will not only save money but will be assured of good seed for your garden again next year.

"Crime doesn't pay" has been the theme of many speeches and editorials—but it does. Crime pays the writers for the true detective magazines.

Your columnist made more out of the Santa Claus bank robbery than the bandits did. They had possession of $12,000 for about 10 minutes—(you figure the interest on that) whereas one of the detective magazines paid me $300 for an article on the crime.

The most harrowing experience this writer ever had in doing an article for the murder mystery magazines was in connection with the Snow case at Stephenville. Congressman Sam Russell was district attorney in the case and took the lead in solving the riddle which sent a three-time killer to the electric chair.

Congressman Russell spent a quiet Sunday afternoon in outlining the case of the triple murders to me several years after it ended and then, late that afternoon, I went down to the newspaper office and worked well up into the night putting the story onto paper in the dark and deserted building—that is, dark except of course for the one light over the typewriter.

The chain of events began with two men who set forth to put out traps. They came to a cellar, partly caved in, beside the ashes of an old farmhouse. They decided the cellar would be a good place to put a trap and one of them clambered down. He noticed in the darkness a tow sack dangling from the rafters. He took it down and carried it outside, opened it and found a pair of eyes peering at him from the sack!

It contained a man's head. Well, that was the start. By the time I had written the full story of the three murders and the solution, my nerves were so jumpy that the scurrying of a rat across the floor in the rear nearly caused me to knock over the chair in which I was setting.

A darkey, asked by the draft board how many dependents he had, replied, "I has foah dependents but I can't depend on none ob dem."

Visitors in the George Webb and John Blaine homes last week were Mrs. Guy Holmes, and Mrs. Chas. Dunn, who are sisters, and Mrs. Garland Feemster, a niece, with her children, Joan and Gary, all of Seymour, Texas.

Mr. and Mrs. W. F. Cone and Melba were Amarillo visitors Monday. They were accompanied by Misses Corinne Weyer, Bobby Birdwell, and Glenn Hickman.

Gasoline Coupons Must Be Endorsed

Motorists and all other gasoline users were reminded today by Mr. W. R. Simon, chairman of the Gasoline Panel of the War Price and Rationing Board that all the coupons in their gasoline ration books must be endorsed immediately.

Coupons in new books issued after July 22 should be indorsed as soon as they are received from the War Price and rationing Board, Mr. Simon said. In addition, users should write endorsements immediately on any coupons in their po-session or recieved before July 22.

In the past it has not been necessary to write notations on coupons until they were actually used to buy gas.

Immediate endorsements are required under a new OPA amendment both as a convenience to the public and as a help to OPA investigators in checking misuse of ration coupons falling into hands of persons not entitled to them, the board chairman pointed out.

"Under the new plan the motorist by spending a few minutes endorsing his coupons all at once will save delay and trouble when he goes to a filling station to buy gasoline," the board chairman said.

"The new requirement also means greater protection to the motorist whose book is lost or stolen, since the finder or thief will not be able to pass on the coupons as his own by writing his own license number," the chairman added. "By cooperating in making these endorsements promptly the rightful holders of a gasoline ration will be rendering invaluable assistance to OPA in its job of preventing a black market in gasoline and gasoline coupons. Endorsements make it possible to distinguish the coupons that have been properly used by those that have been obtained by thief, counterfeiting, and illegal purchase, and put into lawful use by black market operators. individuals who endorse these coupons will thus help OPA see that gasoline is distributed and used in a fair and equitable manner."

Attention was called to the fact that whenever a motor vehicle registration number is changed, this change shall be noted by the War Price and Rationing Board or State Registration Official, on the front cover of the book. The coupons bearing the old number may then be used without change.

With the exception of "E" and "R" coupons, the information to be noted on gasoline coupons will remain same as previously:

1. In the case of "A", "B", "C", "D", "T-1" or "T-2" books. The license number and the state of registration of the vehicle are to be written in the space provided, except that in the case of interchangeable coupon books issued for official or fleet vehicles, the information shall be the official or fleet designation (or the certificate of War Necessity number in case of commercial vehicles not operating under fleet designation) and the State or city or town in which the principal office of the fleet operator is located.

2. In the case of "E" and "R" books, the name and address, as it appears on the cover of the book should be endorsed on the coupon. However, "E" and "R" books, unlike the others, need not be endorsed immediately, but may be endorsed at the time the gasoline is purchased. Where gasoline is purchased in bulk lots and is delivered to the premises of the "E" or "R" ration-holder, no endorsement at all is required. Where delivery is made to the purchaser at a filling station, bulk station, or any place except the buyer's premises, the coupon must be endorsed.
