Two Men Wade To Safety After Highway Mishap

At 3 o'clock Monday morning a panel truck occupied by Jimmy George and his companion, Elmer Magee, skidded off pavement and into a roadside lake formed by preceding heavy rains south of Olton. The truck, belonging to the Amarillo Globe News, came to rest about 50 feet from the roadbed.

Jimmy is an Amarillo Globe-News carrier and was making his regular rounds accompanied by his friend when they drove unexpectedly into the body of water. According to Jimmy, the two stayed in the car around 45 minutes waiting for water to subside or help to arrive. When the water got over carseat level, the two decided to abandon it and wade to dry land.

Wading in over waist-deep water, the two became immediately lost and circled and wandered around until 5 a. m. when the headlights of an approaching car guided them to safety. They hitched a ride into Circle, destination of their unidentified rescuer and their caught another ride into Dimmitt. After reaching here they learned the temporary lake was being dragged for their bodies.

They later returned to the area to halt further attempts for their recovery. The men reported being seized with severe cramping and suffering sickness and nervousness before finally dragging to dry land.

West Texas Gas Co. Asks For Rate Increase

Mr. C. I. Wall, president of West Texas Gas Company, announced today his company has filed a petition with the Texas Railroad Commission for an increase in its General Service Rate.

Mr. Wall said that for some time we have been concerned over the fact that ever increasing costs of material, labor, taxes, gas purchased for resale, etc., might make it necessary to request an upward adjustment in our General Service Rate. He stated further that since the company began operation in the fall of 1927 that several downward adjustments in rates have been made—the last reduction being made in 1940.

This is the first General Service Rate increase to be requested by the company.

A proposed rate has been filed with the petition to the Railroad Commission—a copy of which is being presented to the mayors of the towns the company serves. The proposed rate increase would not increase the present minimum charge which is $1.25 per month for the first two thousand cubic feet used. Twenty-three per cent of the bills rendered to residential and business customers are for two thousand cubic feet or less.

To show the effect of the rate increase the company has made application of the new rate to the actual annual consumption of over seven hundred residences representing several from every town served. The average annual residential consumption for the calendar year 1950 was 86 MCF.

Taking the first fifty examples cited in each of several groups, arranged by annual consumption, the following average annual increases will occur:

41 to 60 thousand cubic feet, $2.82; 61 to 80 thousand cubic feet, $4.55; 81 to 100 thousand cubic feet, $5.99; 101 to 150 thousand cubic feet, $8.13.

Editorial Comment:

Why A 'Loyalty Oath'?

A state disgrace is the so-called "loyalty oath." Imposed by well-meaning state-governments, these oaths cost money and are utterly useless, besides causing disunity and consternation.

A loyalty oath is well within the bounds of legislative power, however, and consequently will be worked to death during the present and forthcoming Communist scare prevailing over the nation. At the present only state employees are required to take the oaths, but how long will it be before a blanket requirement for oath-signing is made to every citizen of the state? Already students in state schools of higher learning are required to sign this oath.

Quite obviously, the main drawback to these oaths is not the mere physical act of signing a name. But an American citizen should not be required to sign a paper declaring he is an honorable patriot. It could be held as an insult to his integrity. On the other hand, if the oaths fulfilled their purpose it would be a pleasure to sign a loyalty oath for nothing but to point the glaring eye of public disapproval at any Communist non-signer. But it doesn't even work that way. A look at the Red doctrine will disclose the reason. To achieve a desirable goal, the Communist is allowed to cheat, kill, lie and take any other dishonorable means he may need. And it bothers a Communist but little to sign his name to a paper pledging allegiance to the United States.

When we attended the University of Texas there was a fellow there by the name of Wendell Addington. He was a self-avowed Communist and upheld their actions. But when time came for all students to sign the newly-initiated loyalty oath, he walked up with the rest of them and with a flourish and a laugh put his name on the slip of paper. He then completed enrollment and finally received a degree from the school. Anyone who refused to sign the oath would not have been allowed to enroll.

What we mean is this: Why should honest Texas (or American) citizens be required to sign a paper saying he will not advocate or teach violent overthrow of the Federal government when the idea behind the oath is unstable, and Communists themselves sign it. And when the Communists are already known to law enforcement agencies and everyone else because of previous actions.

Only recently was a dispute in California settled in their Supreme Court over the loyalty oath. Regents of the University of California had required professors and other personnel of that college to sign an oath. About 200 professors quit in protest and the whole state was in an uproar over the issue. UC professors and instructors said they absolutely would not tolerate "legislative loyalty" nor would they have this loyalty forced upon them. They contended, and justly so, that this was a free country, and they didn't have to sign an oath saying they were loyal citizens. Of course, their argument was based on a matter of principle and they were as loyal to their country as anyone else. They just didn't want anyone to question their loyalty. And, according to their spokesmen, the professors would do anything in their power that would be effective in purging Communism from the United States.

Over the state and nation there is a thinly veiled contempt for the oath and this could be very well its downfall. As long as no one likes to have a governing body to tell them to be loyal to the United States form of government, then the oath is doomed to failure. But state representatives and senators will continue with the Communist-scare tactics and endeavor to force this issue on the people.

We remember seeing a cartoon once in the Daily Texan, University of Texas daily newspaper, which showed an old worn out cowboy sitting astride his somewhat older-looking horse. He was being questioned by the proverbial dapper city slicker out on the prairie. The cowboy was scratching his head and saying, "'Am I now, or have I ever been a' . . . whut!'"

Letters to the Editor

To The Editor:

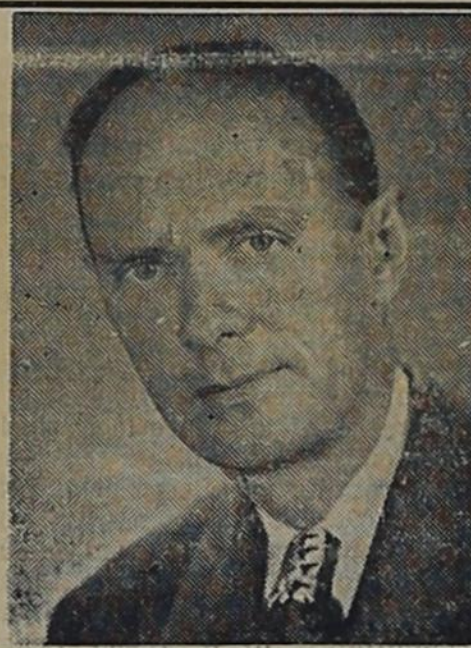

Six years ago it was my pleasure to visit and spend a few days in your wonderful little town and county which I enjoyed very much. Now it has been my good luck to have the opportunity to make a return visit with you. When I was here 6 years ago I was serving with the Sheriff's force in Carthage, Miss. I am now with the Miss. State Highway Department, located in Jackson, Miss. I am visiting my sister, Mrs. W. J. Jordan, here in Dimmitt. I have met many nice and friendly people here in Dimmitt, and think you have a wonderful town and county. Some of the best farming land in the country that I have ever seen. It was my pleasure when here before to get acquainted with Mr. T. H. Haney, one of Dimmitt's finest citizens, him being a land agent. I had the pleasure of riding over different localities in Castro Co. and seeing what great farming opportunities you have here. Then on yesterday, July 2nd, my brother-in-law, Mr. Jordan, who is connected with Haney land agent, carried me to different places in this county and nearby cities and I saw some more of the garden sports of West Texas. So when I get back home in Jackson, Miss., I shall boost your city and county, tell them all about the great farm values and opportunities you have here and I shall use that old slogan, "Go West Young Man", and in passing always stop in Dimmitt and visit Castro County. Hoping to again some day to visit the wonderful county of Castro and if I ever settle down in the west I shall be in Castro County.

Respectfully yours,
E. A. Ellis

WASHINGTON NEWSLETTER

By Congressman Walter Rogers

The people in the cotton producing sections of the 18th District will remember what happened during harvest season last year when the Labor Department refused to permit the children of migrant workers to help their parents in the fields. The rigid enforcement of this unfair law resulted in many of the counties having to put these people on their relief rolls, forced the children to be at large and roam the streets while their parents were at work, and created many hardships too numerous to mention, both on the workers and the people in the District. Several of us have introduced bills to cure this situation, but these bills are still in committee. In an effort to speed up this legislation I offered an amendment to the migrant labor law on Wednesday. I was joined in this amendment by Mr. George Mahon, Mr. Clark Fisher, and Mr. Omar Burleson. The amendment was knocked out on a point of order on the ground that it was not germane to the bill, since the bill had to do with imported labor from Mexico, while my amendment was for the purpose of helping citizens of this country. We are continuing the fight to correct this legislation and will not miss an opportunity to bring it up. I thought you folks would like to know what happened in the House of Representatives when this amendment came up and I show you the proceedings as they took place in the House and as printed in the Congressional Record:

MR. ROGERS OF TEXAS. Mr. Chairman, I want to urge the adoption of the Poage bill, as it is legislation that will be of great help to the farmers of this Nation. The amendment that I offer at this time is offered as a further aid to the farmers and an aid to migrant workers of this country, and for the purpose of correcting an injustice that is now present in existing laws. This injustice that I refer to was brought about by a Senate amendment to the Fair Labor Standards Act in 1949. The wording of the amendment operated to prevent and prohibit the employment of the children of these migrant workers. The result is that the migrant workers who are following the harvest in order to earn exactly right. The reason this amendment is now offered is that we are fast approaching the harvest season. People in the farming districts all over this country are going to feel the pressure of this matter this year more than they have ever felt it before. I urge the adoption of this amendment. Let us put it in this bill, so that the farmer can be helped in harvesting crops and in producing the agricultural products we so badly need.

MR. FISHER. Mr. Chairman, will the gentleman yield?

MR. ROGERS OF TEXAS. I yield to the gentleman from Texas.

MR. FISHER. The amendment offered by the gentleman is absolutely sound, whether it meets the parliamentary situation or not. The gentleman has a bill pending, and so do I and the gentleman who just spoke, Mr. Mahon, before the Committee on Education and Labor now on the same subject. As it now stands, a terrible injustice is being heaped a living cannot use their children to assist them. In many cases these workers have large families, that is 9, 10, or 12 children. All of these children who are under 16 years of age cannot work in the harvest if school is in session in the district in which they desire to work. This creates a situation where the children of these migrant workers must be left to roam the streets or find something to do while their parents are working in the field. The law does not require them to attend school in those districts but prohibits them from working in those districts while school is in session. My amendment merely provides in effect that these children may work so long as they are not legally required to attend school. It does not in any manner permit anyone to engage in unfair child-labor practices nor condone sweatshop tactics. I would not under any circumstances acquiesce in unfair child-labor practices nor in existence of sweatshops. This amendment does not allow a child to do any work that he is not allowed to do under the present law. It merely clarifies ambiguous and misleading language now existing in the law that has created a serious problem and will continue to do so. The migrant worker with a large family who is not allowed to use his family while work is available is forced to appeal to the relief boards in order to provide a living for his family while he is working and following the harvest. This has resulted in a serious social problem, and unless this law is corrected it will operate to contribute to child delinquency and in many cases to crime. The reason that many of you are not familiar with the problems of which I speak is because the enforcement of this law began only only last year, and the full force of its bad effects will not be felt until the harvest season of this year.

MR. MAHON. Mr. Chairman, will the gentleman yield?

MR. ROGERS OF TEXAS. I yield.

MR. MAHON. I want to thank the gentleman from Texas and commend him for offering his amendment. It has been my pleasure to collaborate with him in drafting the amendment and in seeking support for it. I wish to urge that no point of order be made against it. Is it not true that the amendment offered by the gentleman should be incorporated in this bill and, if it is held to be a subject to a point of order, should it not be incorporated in a separate bill? With the farm-labor situation as it is, we need not only the Poage bill as written but a provision in some form which would meet the situation described by the gentleman from Texas (Mr. Rogers).

MR. ROGERS OF TEXAS. That is upon the migrant laborers themselves, because they are not permitted to pursue their normal livelihood and accumulate money to buy food and clothing and so forth during the school year which follows immediately after the harvest. The gentleman is to be commended on bringing this up and for presenting the reasons for it. I am hopeful that we will have a hearing, if the amendment is not placed in the bill, and that legislation correcting this injustice can be brought in soon.

MR. ROGERS OF TEXAS. I thank the gentleman. There is one particular situation I have in mind, and I can bring you isolated cases by the dozen. A boy finished high school when he was 15 years old. Because he was under 16 he could not work in agriculture under the present law.

MR. SHELLEY. Mr. Chairman, will the gentleman yield?

MR. ROGERS OF TEXAS. I yield to the gentleman from California.

MR. SHELLEY. Does not the bill before us only contemplate the bringing in of male adult workers?

MR. ROGERS OF TEXAS. That is exactly true, but the people I am trying to help are not the children of the aliens but the children of the people that live in this country and have to make a living by following the harvest.

MR. SHELLEY. So in addition to bringing in these Mexicans under a wide open thing we want to take the American migrant workers and destroy all our child labor standards as applied to them.

MR. ROGERS OF TEXAS. You are not destroying any child labor standards. If the gentleman knew anything about the Fair Labor Standards Act, he would know that statement was not true.

MR. CRAWFORD. Mr. Chairman, will the gentleman yield?

MR. ROGERS OF TEXAS. I yield.

MR. CRAWFORD. As I understand the amendment, it does not interfere with any of the children attending school during the school term?

MR. ROGERS OF TEXAS. That is exactly right.

THE CHAIRMAN. The time of the gentleman from Texas has expired.

MR. CRAWFORD. Mr. Chairman, I ask unanimous consent that the gentleman may proceed for two additional minutes.

THE CHAIRMAN. Does the gentleman from North Carolina (Mr. Cooley) renew his point of order at this time?

MR. COOLEY. Mr. Chairman, I will withhold my point of order further.

THE CHAIRMAN. Is there objection to the request of the gentleman from Michigan? (There was no objection.)

MR. ROGERS OF TEXAS. Here is what happened: Under the previous provisions of section, I believe, 13 (c), of the Fair Labor Standards Act, there was a provision that children could work in agriculture. It was not in those exact words, but it was to the effect that they could work in agriculture so long as they were not legally required to attend school. That was amended in 1949 by a Senate amendment, and the language was changed at the insistence of the Secretary of Labor. It read this way, that those children could not work in agriculture so long as school was in session in the district in which the employee was living at the time of the employment. So the result is that you are not creating a new pool of child labor. The children are allowed to labor right now under those exemptions, but you are prohibiting a child who is legally out of school in one district to work and help in another district where school is in session.

MR. CRAWFORD. The gentleman represents one of the great districts of Texas, does he not?

MR. ROGERS OF TEXAS. That is right.

MR. CRAWFORD. A district where the children of families in that district attend universities and are college graduates and live on the ranches and on the wheat farms and grow cattle, and all of them, I would venture to say, in all of the families which the gentleman represents, who live on the farms, the children start work at anywhere from 5 to 7 years of age and work right on through? Is that not true?

MR. ROGERS OF TEXAS. Yes, sir. I did when I was that age, the situation under the present law is that a man who owns a farm and has four or five children can keep his own children out of school to harvest his own crop, but a man who is not fortunate enough to own land himself—

MR. CRAWFORD. But who works in agriculture.

MR. ROGERS OF TEXAS. That is right—he cannot keep his own children out to work another man's harvest.

MR. CRAWFORD. It is a case of destroying the child and destroying his future to live within the concepts of some crazy law that Congress has passed.

MR. ROGERS OF TEXAS. That is right. In many instances it seems to be the order of the day to use every available means to teach a child how not to work and to pass laws making it a penal offense for anyone to show a child how to work. This is not the kind of principle upon which this country was founded and it is not the kind of practice upon which this country will endure. I want to express my deep appreciation to my distinguished colleagues from Texas, Mr. George Mahon, Mr. Clark Fisher, and Mr. Omar Burleson, for their untiring efforts in seeking relief from the injustices of the present law, and I am sure that they join with me in the observation that our efforts will continue to remedy this situation should the point of order be sustained and this amendment not be made a part of this act. The outstanding work of these gentlemen toward a solution of this problem is well recognized by all the Members of this House.

THE CHAIRMAN. The time of the gentleman from Texas has expired.

If the War Ends . . . Then What

Since talk of a Korean peace has come up, Republican headquarters have been relatively quiet. Only last week they were soundly denouncing the administration for its foreign policies and siding with MacArthur. But should the armistice activities pay off in peace it will be a decided victory for President Truman and his State Department's head, Dean Acheson.

Their policy has long been limited warfare and in the eyes of the voters this strategy will probably be justified should the war end now. Nevertheless, much will be said against the administration as they try to foster a program to keep the national economy standard up to par without a war. The Korean conflict gave rise to price controls and added employment, but should it end we will be faced with the danger of overrunning our munitions needs and this, plus a probable rise in unemployment, will upset somewhat the delicate balance of the economy. Of course much of our production will be channeled through the Marshall Plan to European countries, but they can hardly be expected to consume our tremendous potentiality.

Yet, this price is well worth paying for the culmination of hostilities in Korea. But it is safe to say that as soon as stringent economic controls are proposed by the administration to keep the war goods flowing the Republicans will begin anew their ceaseless mud-slinging. Without the impetus for rearmament supplied by a shooting war, the whole program may bog down in public apathy. And the controls to back it up become too unpopular to sustain. This will be the Republican aim.

Would Someone Like To Plant Some Trees?

Driving along a Castro County highway recently, we noticed that the whole countryside was devoid of trees. Now trees are not a noticeable economic asset in themselves and we are generally somewhat proud of our flat country. But the fact remains that a treeless country looks awfully lifeless or something.

North of town on the Hereford highway is a mile or so of what we believe are Chinese Elms (not being a horticulturist we couldn't say for sure). And those trees seem to transform an otherwise arid drive into a less painful trip.

Not long ago we saw an old map which designated this area as part of "The Great American Desert." And we believe this would be the average outsider's view who saw the country in the winter. Bare plains look awful in winter time with the tumbleweeds and sand blowing in the wind.

As we said before, trees are not money-makers, but if a local civic organization should sponsor a planting program over the county, it would help to beautify the landscape and maybe slow the wind a little should the program be that extensive.

Health Talks . . .

As relatives and good friends start exchanging visits during vacation-time there frequently arises the question of what to feed a guest who is on some sort of a restricted diet due to a chronic or organic disease. The easiest way to find out what such a guest can eat is to ask him, of course; if his diet is quite limited, he will provide his hosts with a list of the foods and drinks he is permitted to indulge in; but if his diet is more of a general nature he'll probably suggest that you prepare nothing special for him, he'll just eat what you fix.

There are general types of food which are considered taboo for certain ailments, however, which would be good to know before you prepare a menu for someone with an ailment.

Take an ulcer, for instance. Anyone who has flareups of ulcers in his stomach or intestine is on a rather strict diet at the time the ulcers are "active", but is on a more liberal diet between bouts of ulcers. If he comes a-visiting during the active period, which isn't likely, he would have to provide you with a list of foods which his doctor has prepared especially for him and his ulcers.

Between bouts, however, he may eat such foods as are generally considered not to get the ulcers started up again. The first requirement is that he eat at fairly regular intervals, so the thoughtful hostess will see that meals get to the table pretty much on schedule and will have plenty of milk handy for those between-meal drinks. Milk, weak tea, weak coffee or coffee that has the caffeine removed, and any of the milk drinks such as malted milk, milk shakes, and milk eggnog sort of set the limits for his drinking, aside from water, of course.

The three meals a day for a guest on a liberal ulcer diet would run something like this:

Breakfast— one-half cup of orange juice which is half orange juice and half water, canned peaches, small serving of cooked farina, a soft cooked egg, one slice of Melba toast with one square of butter, a cereal coffee or de-caffeinated coffee with plenty of cream and a bit of sugar.

Dinner— one-half cup of cream of potato soup, a ground beef patty which has been broiled, mashed potato, buttered beets, toast and butter, vanilla ice cream and a glass of milk.

Supper— poached egg, buttered rice and buttered green beans, canned pear, Melba toast and butter, and milk.

And he'll probably want some milk midway between breakfast and dinner, between dinner and supper, and another glass before he goes to bed.

If your guest is suffering from a condition known as chronic ulcerative colitis, however, which is an inflammatory disease of the large intestine, he is probably not drinking so much milk. If his doctor has him on the full diet for his ailment, his mealtime intake may run something like this:

Breakfast— one-half cup orange juice, one-half cup cooked farina with two tablespoons of dry skim milk over it, one or two strips of bacon, a soft cooked egg, toasted white bread with butter and jelly, and tea with cream and sugar.

Dinner— broth, roast beef and gravy, mashed potato, buttered beets, tomato salad with mayonnaise, white bread and butter, tea with sugar and cream, and vanilla ice cream.

Supper— cold sliced ham, baked potato and butter, buttered green beans, canned pear salad with dressing, sliced ripe banana with milk or chocolate pudding for dessert, and white bread, butter, tea with sugar and milk.

There is another digestive ailment which usually masquerades, for politeness' sake, under the title of "stomach trouble." It's not the stomach that's troubled at all, but the bowel that is irritable with periods of constipation alternating with periods of diarrhea. A guest with such difficulty would certainly be under the supervision of a doctor and unless he specifies his own diet, the general schedule of food for irritable bowel patients runs something along this order:

Breakfast— one-half cup orange juice and one-half grapefruit, a cooked whole grain cereal, a soft cooked egg, buttered white bread, coffee, cream and sugar.

Dinner— broth, roast beef and gravy, mashed potato, buttered beets, tomato salad with mayonnaise, white bread and butter, vanilla ice cream and milk.

Supper— cold sliced ham, baked potato with butter, buttered green beans, canned pear salad with salad dressing, sliced banana for dessert, white bread and butter and milk to drink.

The main difference in most chronic ulcerative colitis diets and irritable bowel diets is that though fruits are limited in the colitis diets, certain fruits and vegetables are often encouraged in the irritable bowel diets.

These are just suggestions, of course, for guests suffering at times with ulcers, chronic ulcerative colitis and irritable bowel with constipation; if they are in the throes of an acute attack of any of these ailments, they won't be coming to visit you; but if their ailment is under control at the moment, such menus as suggested would not only make them feel like a wanted guest but would help them keep their ailment under control. Any special instructions they have from their own doctors would certainly be more fitting than the general ones outlined here; but if special instructions aren't necessary, these directions will add to everyone's enjoyment of a pleasant get-together.

Vacationers Warned of Typhoid Danger

"Now that summer has come to Texas it is time for people who expect to enjoy camping and swimming during the warm weather to be sure that they are adequately protected against typhoid fever," according to Dr. Geo. W.

Cox, State Health Officer. "Although the public health strides of recent decades have practically eliminated typhoid fever as a threat to persons living in communities with approved water supplies and good sanitation, the disease remains a real danger to those who swim, camp or picnic in remote rural areas.

"Typhoid fever is transmitted from one person to another by means of water, food or milk that has been contaminated by discharge from a patient suffering with the disease or from an apparently well typhoid carrier.

"Spectacular reductions in typhoid fever cases and deaths as compared with those of a generation ago should not give the public a false sense of security. There has been 95 cases of typhoid and paratyphoid fever in Texas in 1951—in spite of community efforts to improve sanitation, isolate patients and supervise known carriers. This indicates that it is still highly desirable for individuals who may be exposed to unfavorable conditions to safeguard themselves by seeking protection at the beginning of the vacation season.

"Immunization is a simple and safe procedure. Since this immunity lasts for only three years, anyone who has not been inoculated since 1948 should receive new protection this year. In addition, persons who have never in the past availed themselves of this preventive measure should by all means do so now if they plan to participate in outdoor pleasures. All persons who are due for immunization against typhoid fever in 1951 should go to their physicians without delay if they have not already received the recommended inoculations."

W. Gardner of Itasca, Vice-president, issued a joint statement expressing the association's appreciation to "A courageous majority of the legislature for their accomplishment in behalf of the people of Texas."

The association listed these accomplishments:

1. The rural road bloc in the legislature defeated efforts of the administration and the so-called good roads association, which in our opinion, would have crippled our farm-to-market road program through passage of the Graham bill.

2. The Colson-Briscoe farm-to-market road program has been retained at the full amount of $15,000,000 a year, despite the open proposal of the administration that it be abolished.

3. The principle of the gas gathering tax on the pipelines which are taking gas out of Texas has been established, through the acceptance of the tax plan proposed by Rep. Jim Sewell.

4. The trend toward a general sales tax has been stopped, by the defeat of the administration plan for an increase in the gasoline sales tax, another of the 'creeping sales taxes'.

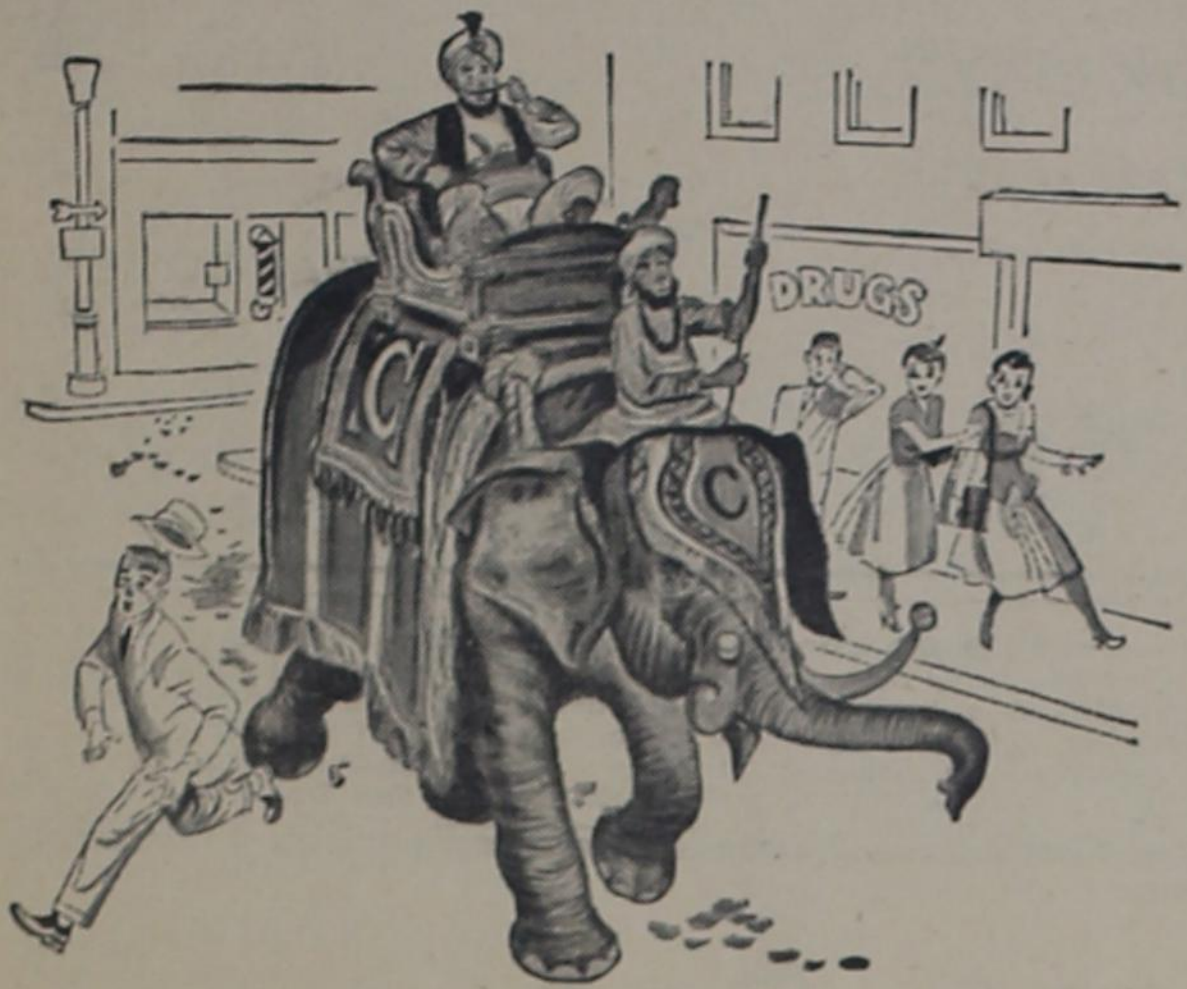

"These things have been accomplished by a courageous majority of the legislators, for the people of Texas, despite the opposition of the Governor, simply because the legislators had the courage to take bills away from committees stacked by the Lieutenant Governor and Speaker of the House, and bring them to the floor where democracy could rule," the officials declared.

"We, as officers of the County Judges and Commissioners Association, are grateful to have had a small part in this great victory for the people of Texas which means that for the next two years the State Highway Department will have more money to spend for construction of farm-to-market roads than ever before. It accomplishes all we hoped to do when we were forced to defend the rural roads program from the attack begun on it by the administration-supported Graham bill, House Bill 226."

We shall have forsaken our bounden duty as parents — as the elder generation — if by any action, or lack of it, we lead this nation to socialism and leave our youth bereft of the spirit of freedom they cherish, and for which those who came before them have died.

Farmers, Here Are 4 REASONS

Why You Should Investigate CALFIDE 104

1. 'CALFIDE 104' NEUTRALIZES ALKALI

Alkali is the most dangerous enemy to food minerals in your soil. Due to special processing "CALFIDE 104" neutralizes the alkali in soil and renders its effects harmless to plant life and the natural minerals in the soil. Released of the necessity to combat the detrimental effect of alkali, by its own natural elements, the plant will grow healthier.

2. 'CALFIDE 104' EMULSIFIES THE SOIL

Alkali and other minerals prevalent in the soils of this area create what is known as "locked soil" condition. By natural chemical reaction "CALFIDE 104" loosens the soil to allow the plant to grow more readily and the soil to receive water and natural hydrogen more readily. By so doing, emulsifying the soil by mechanical methods is reduced to a minimum.

3. 'CALFIDE 104' INCREASES CROP YIELD

By preparing the soil to release the natural minerals in it to the plant life, "CALFIDE 104" stimulates plant growth and thereby increases plant production. "CALFIDE 104" is not a fertilizer but a soil conditioner that prepares the soil in such a manner that the plant can grow naturally without having to combat minerals that are detrimental to plant life.

4. 'CALFIDE 104' HELPS CROPS REPEL INSECTS

"CALFIDE 104" is NOT an insecticide. HOWEVER, by assisting the growth of normally healthy plants it aids in the repelling of plant insects. Plant feeding insects, like animal feeding insects, do not feed on healthy plant, but on diseased or weakened ones. A plant that is produced under normally healthy conditions repels insects by natural means. Actual tests show that insect festation is always at a minimum on plants grown on soil conditioned with "CALFIDE 104".
