A Commission Given Childress Reunion

Jane M. Taylor of Robert Lee has been commissioned a Third Officer in the Women's Army Auxiliary Corps.

She was selected for Officer training on the basis of her ability and record of work as an Auxiliary in the WAAC, Third Officer is the WAAC equivalent of Second Lieutenant.

She will be assigned to an executive position in the WAAC Corps immediately taking over a non-combatant Army job releasing a soldier for combat duty, or participating in the expanded WAAC training program which eventually will replace a full field Army with trained womanpower in behind-lines Army jobs.

Surveying Done

The necessary surveying has been done for the purpose of paving two streets intersecting highway 178. The streets paved pass thru the business section the property owners will have opportunity to pave in front of their property at a cost of about $100 per front foot it is expected that every owner will take advantage of this opportunity as nothing could add more to our little city.

Mrs. Charline Hurley Patterson is in Shannon Hospital seriously ill, but reported to be some better Wednesday.

Canning in your stove oven not too highly recommended, if it is a fire box stove it is too irregular if gas it is dangerous unless you understand all the doos and dont's.

A large group of relatives of Mrs. Dean Childress's, mother of Melvin Childress met at his home Sunday and had a big picnic dinner. There were 23 relatives and friends. All had an enjoyable time. This was the first visit in 13 years for Mrs. Childress and she certainly was eagerly received by all who knew her.

Good Record

D. W. Davis, 18, electrician's mate, a son of Mrs. V. Plumbe has completed basic training at the Submarine Base, New London, Conn. for duty with our growing fleet of undersea fighters.

The Submarine School, the only one of its kind in the Navy, it is attended by a picked group of men who must pass special physical, mental, and psychological tests.

Conserve Travel

Due to need for conserving travel and man power and to insure that farmers will receive proper credit for acreage planned to various crops and credit for production practices carried out in 1943, the responsibility of reporting performance this year is being placed on the farm operator, Christine G. Roach, County AAA Administrative Officer, announced this week.

The crop that must be measured in Coke County is cotton. Mrs. Roach said. If an entire permanent field is planted to cotton, it will not be necessary to make any measurements for that field. The acreage planted to grain, sorghum, peanuts, dried beans & soybeans may be estimated.

Father And Son Day

"Father and Son Day" will be observed at the Methodist Church next Sunday. Your son may not be at home. You come and represent him. This is certainly a time to observe this day. We will be expecting you.

W. Vasco Teer, pastor

Bureau Change May Tax Livestock Owner Unfairly . . .

No ranchman or farmer that I know wants to avoid paying his just share of taxes. But income tax-paying livestock owners are facing an unfair charge right now as a result of a change in the Bureau of Internal Revenue rules on figuring income. If the policy change is applied generally, the percentage of stockmen affected will be high, because income tax brackets have been lowered to take in nearly everyone.

In the past, stock owners had been allowed to place fair values on their stock and to set up different bases which would show the true income realized from sale of animals, wool etc., but which would not class as income or loss of income the year-to-year changes in the value of breeding animals. Breeding animals were part of his capital, as was his land. He kept land and breeding animals and sold their increase, and paid tax on that increase.

Now instructions are out to the agents to collect additional income taxes for 1941 and 1942 on the difference between the stockman's inventory values and the average values estimated by the Department of Agriculture. Thus the owner might be assessed an additional tax on the difference between the $40 per head he set on his cows and the $55 which a bureau calculated was an average value then for Texas cows of that type.

Tax Should Be Paid On Realized Income . . .

I have protested to the Commissioner of Internal Revenue because this policy, arbitrarily applied, obviously can be discriminatory and bring about many injustices.

The livestock owner may have to pay taxes on an income he didn't realize. And the basic principle of the whole income tax law is founded on the proposition that tax is not applied upon income until income actually is realized.

To hold otherwise would be as if an owner of a city business building was called on to pay taxes upon the increase in value of that building, in addition to paying tax on his rental income on the building.

Some buildings in defense cities are up 50 per cent. When either one is sold, income tax should be based on the higher sale income.

All the stockmen and farmers ask is that their income taxes be based on realized income, and that they not be penalized for a theoretical increase in paper value of their breeding, dairy and work stock—which they didn't sell or even consider selling.

Wool Given New Break Over Synthetic Textiles . . .

Local Items

Miss Katie Sue Good visited in San Angelo over the week end.

Mrs. A. E. Latham is in California visiting her son Lee Rowland.

Mrs. O. W. Ratliff and Mrs. Bill Ratliff left Tuesday for Lubbock to visit Bill who is heading for the east coast.

Miss Geraldine Mitchell of Bronte visited in the home of the Braswells last week end.

Pvt. Wailand Bessent gave a very interesting travelogue of his trip across the continent in a letter to his parents Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Bessent. After this war it will be easy for many of our soldier boys to write a travelogue of the entire earth land, sea, and air.

On Fathers Day June 20th, give Dad "Shirts" from CUMMIE & ROACH

The WPB last week eased up its restrictions on the use of wool. It doubled the allotment of wool going into civilian uses, indicating that the "wool shortage" bugaboo—which was giving all the breaks to the synthetic textiles—was disappearing. Hereafter, mill facilities and mill manpower will be the factors controlling the consumption of wool.

Until now, despite the billion pounds of domestic and imported wools in this country, manufacturers were forced to use heavy proportions of reprocessed wools and synthetic fibres. This scarcity theory and practice created buying runs. Rationing was threatened.

With military needs assured, and this surplus accumulating and this surplus accumulating in American and Allied stock piles, the home front should get more wool.

It didn't make sense to order a manufacturer to make a suit half wool and half rayon when we had more than enough wool to permit him to turn out all the 100 per cent wool suits he could make.

Watch Your Kidneys!
Help Them Cleanse the Blood of Harmful Body Waste
Your kidneys are constantly filtering waste matter from the blood stream. But kidneys sometimes lag in their work—do not act as Nature intended—fail to remove impurities that, if retained, may poison the system and upset the whole body machinery.
Symptoms may be nagging backache, persistent headache, attacks of dizziness, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes—a feeling of nervous anxiety and loss of pep and strength. Other signs of kidney or bladder disorder are sometimes burning, scanty or too frequent urination.
There should be no doubt that prompt treatment is wiser than neglect. Use Doan's Pills. Doan's have been winning new friends for more than forty years. They have a nation-wide reputation. Are recommended by grateful people the country over. Ask your neighbor!

One Whole Chicken Can Be Made Into Two Meals

You're the clever homemaker who saves on chicken by using only half a chicken for roasting. You can have the stuffing, too, by mounding it under the chicken when you roast it in the pan to get all the wonderful flavor of the meat in it.

Most families are so reduced that few homemakers find it necessary to stew or roast a whole chicken for their meals. Instead, it's much smarter to use one half of the chicken for stewing, the other half for roasting, or perhaps in making numerous and delicious dishes using cut up chicken.

Chicken is a good source of protein and we can use it in place of meat dishes regularly. In addition it's a delicious food that combines well with many other types of food, and goes with most vegetables and fruits in the menu. You probably have your own way of stewing and roasting chicken, but instead of using one whole chicken for either of these methods, split it, use one half for stewing, the other for roasting.

Cut the fowl in half, lengthwise, and cook one half with several carrots, celery, parsley, onion, and seasonings in enough water to cover until tender. Make dumplings, if you like, to go with the stew.

*For roast chicken, cook stewing hen split in half lengthwise until tender. Mound 4 to 6 cups of well-seasoned dressing in bottom of shallow pan, well greased where dressing is placed. Arrange dressing to keep outline of chicken. Press cooked half of chicken cut side down over dressing. Brush chicken with melted fat. Bake uncovered in a hot oven (400 degrees) until chicken is nicely browned, about 1/2 hour.

A few leftover pieces of chicken either from the roast or from stewing can go into a salad. You'll like this combination with fruit:

Chicken and Fruit Salad Bowl. (Serves 4 to 6)

- 1 cup diced chicken
  - 1/2 teaspoon salt
  - 1 1/2 cups seedless grapes
  - 2 oranges, peeled and sectioned
  - 1/2 cup blanched almonds
- French dressing
- Add salt to chicken. Cover salad bowl with shredded lettuce. Arrange grapes over half of top, oranges over other half. Pass french dressing.
- Still another way of stretching your meat, or chicken, if there is

Lynn Chambers' Point-Saving Menus

- *Roast Half of Chicken
  - Bread Stuffing
  - Fresh Asparagus
  - Parsleyed Potatoes
  - Lettuce-Watercress Salad
  - Strawberry Shortcake
  - Iced Drink
- *Recipe Given

absolutely enough to go around is to serve it with potato salad. You may like it hot or you may like it cold. Here's one that's hot:

Hot Potato Salad. (Serves 6)

- 6 potatoes, diced
- 3 slices bacon
- 1 teaspoon salt
- 1/4 teaspoon pepper
- 3 tablespoons chopped parsley
- 3 tablespoons chopped onion
- 6 tablespoons bacon fat
- 3 tablespoons vinegar

Cook potatoes in jackets until tender. Peel and dice. Cook bacon over low flame until crisp. Remove from pan and break into small pieces and add to hot potato cubes. Add seasoning, parsley and onion. Combine fat and vinegar. Pour over potato mixture and serve hot.

There are still a number of unrationed foods which may fill in nice gaps in menu-making. For example, cottage cheese is an excellent source of both calcium and protein, and you'll enjoy using it in this salad with summer greens:

Cottage Cheese Salad. (Serves 4 to 5)

- 2 cups cottage cheese
- 1/2 cup sour cream
- 1/4 cup chopped chives
- 1/2 cucumber diced
- 1 tablespoon chopped watercress
- 1 1/2 teaspoons salt
- 1/2 teaspoon pepper
- 2 hard-cooked eggs, chopped

Mix cottage cheese and sour cream lightly with a fork. Add vegetables and diced eggs, and season with salt and pepper. Serve in mounds, garnished with watercress or lettuce and tomato wedges.

Here's the way to stew chicken and bring out all its delicious flavor. Simmer gently until tender in seasoned water with onion, carrot, parsley and salt.

A cool, delectable dessert that does not consume points and takes it easy on the sugar is this:

Frozen Apricot Shortcake. (Serves 6)

- 1 cup dried apricots
- 2 1/2 cups water
- 3/4 cup sugar
- 1/2 teaspoon salt
- 1 teaspoon unflavored gelatin
- 1 tablespoon cold water
- 1 teaspoon vanilla
- 1 egg, beaten
- 1 cup heavy cream, whipped
- Sponge cake

Cook apricots until tender, about 25 minutes. Add 1/2 of sugar and salt. Heat to boiling, remove from heat and beat to a mush. Soften gelatin in water and add to apricots. Cool. Add remaining 1/2 cup sugar and vanilla to beaten egg and beat until thick. Fold in whipped cream. Arrange layer of sponge cake cut about 1/4 inch thick on bottom of refrigerator tray. Spread with apricots and cover with whipped mixture. Freeze. Cut in squares and serve cream side up.

Lesson Frugal Manager Taught Stuck With Driver

The works manager of a certain railway company had a reputation for meanness.

The pet bee in his bonnet was oil and waste. He was always driving home the fact that if every employee was careful with oil and cotton waste, much money would be saved.

One day he was having a few words with a very new driver.

"Tell me," he ordered, "what would you do if you were driving one day, and saw an express thundering towards you on the same line?"

The novice thought hard. Then: "I'd grab the oilcan, I'd grab the waste—and I'd jump!"

AROUND THE HOUSE

A little poultry seasoning helps the flavor of pork, veal or lamb gravy—try it the next time.

Always pull wrenches toward you. Always cut away with a knife from you.

Keep everything in its proper place to reduce night accidents.

Corn meal used in puddings, or mush, should be thoroughly mixed in a little cold water before hot water is added. It then will not be lumpy.

Don't have anything else in the oven when you plan to bake a cake, and place cake as near the center of oven as possible.

If you want to serve a meatless meal and conserve on oven heat bake these together: macaroni and cheese, squash, corn bread and apple pudding. All the extras you'll need will be fruit and a beverage.

A layer of tomato ketchup poured over the top of beans while baking will cook through the beans and add much to their flavor.

Kellogg's All-Bran Muffins

- 2 tablespoons 1/2 cup milk
- 1/2 cup shortening 1 cup flour
- 1/2 cup corn syrup 1/2 teaspoon salt
- 1 egg 2 1/2 teaspoons
- 1 cup Kellogg's All-Bran 2 1/2 baking powder

Cream shortening and corn syrup thoroughly; add egg and beat well. Stir in All-Bran and milk, let soak until most of moisture is taken up. Sift flour with salt and baking powder; add to first mixture and stir only until flour disappears. Fill greased muffin pans two-thirds full and bake in moderately hot oven (400° F.) about 30 minutes. Yield: 8 large muffins, 3 inches in diameter, or 12 small muffins, 2 1/4 inches in diameter.

Long Trousers Adopted During French Revolution

Wartime services of many kinds undertaken by women account for the fact that there are more wearing trousers today than ever before.

It was during a period of great national stress that men adopted the fashion of wearing long trousers.

Before the days of the French Revolution well-dressed men favored knee breeches, while the poorer people wore blue linen pantaloons. When the French monarchy fell, anyone whose dress suggested that he might be an aristocrat went in danger of his life. Consequently, men of all classes began to wear long trousers.

England did not take kindly to the fashion when it was introduced to that country by the prince regent. Even the duke of Wellington was refused admission to a reception in London because he was wearing long trousers.

Frequently the Navy, the Coast Guard and the Signal Corps find it expedient to relay messages without benefit of telephone, telegraph or radio. That is when the semaphore system is employed.

Like a single flag in the "Wigwag" system, the purchase of a War Savings Stamp or Bond, in itself has an infinitesimal effect upon the entire war effort, but when 130 million determined people set their minds to make our War Bond drives successful, the result is anything but infinitesimal. Q. May I have a Bond reissued so as to include the name of a coowner?

A. Yes; if the Bond is registered in your name alone, and if an excess holding does not result. The reissued Bond will bear the same issue date as the original Bond.

Q. May a creditor obtain information as to a debtor's ownership of War Savings Bonds?

A. The Treasury gives no information about the holdings of any person in War Savings except to that person or to such persons as have clearly established a legal right to the information.

Q. What will the Government do with money I pay for my Bond?

By Gib Crockett.

A. Your money will be put to work at once to help the Nation's war program.

Q. When will I make my income-tax report on the increase in the value of a War Savings Bond?

A. You may do either. You may report the increase in value of a War Savings Bond on your income tax report each year that you hold the Bond, or, you may wait until you redeem the Bond and then include the increase (the amount received over and above the price you paid for the Bond) as income for that taxable year.

Remember—the longer you keep War Bonds, up to 10 years, the more valuable they become.

UNIVERSALLY POPULAR

The "Sunday School Lesson" published each week in this newspaper has been adopted by thousands of church instructors throughout the United States as a regular part of their weekly work.

It is a review and exposition of the international lesson for each week, prepared by Dean Harold L. Lundquist of the Moody Bible Institute in Chicago, a recognized leader in the nation's church work. Dean Lundquist has been active in teaching youthful groups for years, thereby acquiring an insight into the needs of these people for understandable explanations of Bible passages.

In view of his accomplishments in church work, it is not surprising that Dean Lundquist's exposition of the weekly Sunday School lesson is being used in almost every community of the nation. As teacher or student you will find it extremely helpful.

"You Do Your Job and I'll Do Mine"

The labor shortage on the farms of the United States is so acute that 3,500,000 youngsters, old men, and women will have to be recruited for emergency work in fields and processing plants. A skilled farm boy can make his greatest contribution to the war effort by producing the food that is needed for our fighting men. "Stick to your big job," says Pvt. Harvey Horton to farmer Robert Stiles. "and I'll do mine." Robert's dad, N. C. Stiles, seems to approve.

MURDER at PIRATES' HEAD

By ISABEL WAITT

W-N-U-RELEASE

THE STORY SO FAR: Judy Jason, who is telling the story, receives an anonymous letter enclosing $800 and asking her to bid for an abandoned church to be auctioned the next day. She suspects, in turn, each of the guests at the inn where she is staying. They are the Reverend Jonas DeWitt, Lily Kendall, Thaddeus Quincy, Albion Potter, Hugh Norcross and his sister, Bessie, and Victor Quade, a writer who has just arrived. Judy bids for the church and gets it. The body of a man identified as Roddy Lane, found in a chest in the basement of the church, disappears. Later, Victor Quade tells Judy that he found a golf club near the chest.

Now continue with Judy's story.

CHAPTER VI

Toward dawn the shed was just a sputtering heap of cinders. And what would they find? What would they find!

We were all running around trying to help. I'd encountered, as I remembered afterward, everybody except Uncle Wylie, still sleeping it off in his room, and, of course, Thaddeus Quincy, wrapped in a blanket, watching the fire from his chair. He'd managed to wheel himself onto the porch. But none of us had found a trace of Old Man Brown until my foot slipped.

Ugh! I can feel it now—like a bony snake. It threw me off balance so that I barged into the Reverend's stomach, and he let out a word which any editor would most certainly delete. I picked up the thing which had tripped me to discover it was a large, old-fashioned ear trumpet—the kind you used to see years ago, in plays, when a deaf person would hold one up to your nose and shout "Hey?" Well, poor old Mr. Brown would never again use this one. I took it at once to Victor.

"Well, there's certainly nothing more to do here. The trees are safe. The fire's over. Why don't we go back and get dressed and have some toast and coffee, if Mrs. Gerry can manage it? Perhaps some of you ladies—"

"Of course, we will," my aunt and Lily both cried.

"Me, too," added Bessie Norcross. "Come along, Hugh."

Victor Quade called me back. "Judy"—even he was calling me by my first name now, common danger having bred familiarity. I loved it—"does your Uncle Wylie smoke a pipe?"

Did Uncle Wylie smoke a pipe! Why, one never saw him without it—a smudged little old briar that smelled to heaven.

"Yes; why?"

"Keep it under your hat. Take a squint at this."

I took a squint in the faint morning light. Looked like my uncle's pipe, all right.

"But, good land, Mr. Quade, that was hours ago—if he dropped it."

"Exactly. Maybe he didn't drop it. If I'd found it written in one of my books I'd say it was a plant."

"In one of your books? But I thought you were just beginning to write. You said—"

"Come along, Judy. We might as well have coffee, too." He smiled down at me rather grimly, I thought. "Don't give me away, will you? Quade is my real name. If I told you my pen name you'd see me mobbed with pink teas and autograph hounds. I needed a rest—to get away from all that. No one ever heard of Victor Quade. I may have to tell them myself. That Quincy fellow suspects me."

I couldn't speak. One second I puffed with pride to be in the confidence of an author famous enough to be mobbed; the next, my hopes fell. I mustn't let myself like him. He'd never give me a thought. Probably he was married anyway. Astonishingly, I heard myself say, "Lucky you didn't bring Mrs. Quade."

"Mother? She'd never ride with a trailer. Or did you mean—? Why, you artful little devil. Just like that! And I've spent years wondering how to do that little thing on my typewriter. Judy Jason, you're going to be a great help to me."

I felt all happy again. Nothing pleases a woman so much as to be told she's a help.

I ran on ahead to help Aunt Nella. She was the quickest thing you ever saw in her kitchen. Already coffee was percolating. Lily Kendall was turning toast. She'd poured too much cream into the cups. I halved it from cup to cup and set her to getting plates and spoons.

Such a hubbub in that dining room! Auntie and I decided we might as well boil eggs, too, and let them fix their own oranges. If we didn't we'd just have to give them a regular breakfast in an hour. Murder and explosions and fires can work up awful appetites. The Rev. Mr. De Witt consumed five three-minute eggs!

"Give 'em all they want," Aunt Nella said. "They'll be leavin' soon." Auntie hadn't stopped to change her clothes. She looked like the Witch of Endor. I told her she'd better fly, because when the police came all our pictures might get into the Rockville Gazette.

Though it made more work for me, I was glad our high schooler had gone home right after doing the dishes last night. At least she was out of this mess. I carried in Mr. Quincy's cereal, soaked with hot milk, as he liked it.

"—killed Roddy Lane, burned his house and jumped into the sea," Hugh Norcross was saying.

"You've got it twisted, my boy," boomed the minister. "Roddy killed Brown, more likely. The fire was his funeral pyre. Then Lane disappeared from the Head."

Lily tittered, twiddling a string of pearls. "How, please? I didn't hear no airplane."

Thaddeus Quincy thumped his cane. "Listen, folks. This is a lot of fun, I know, conjecturing about murders. But you're all wrong. The whole business is a series of odd coincidences. Very odd. First, Judy has the jitters and imagines she sees something. Well, we proved there was nothing there, didn't we? Then the bridge broke down at the same time a car backfired, and we assumed it was blown up. I'll wager the police won't think so. Next that fish shed burns. Spontaneous combustion, probably. Place wasn't fit to live in anyway. Just a shack full of tar paper and oily ropes and old tarpaulin. A wonder anyone would sleep in the dump, but someone did. Judy and I saw the light through the one window. Couldn't see in. Too dirty and cobwebby. Had a paper curtain over it, too, didn't it, Judy? I just remember slits of light." I nodded and he continued, "Old man may have been smoking. But it was an accident, pure and simple. Lane didn't kill anybody. He's a mean skunk, but he's far away by now. As to how, Miss Kendall, he came in a car and left the same way."

Bessie Norcross stood clinging to the porch rail.

Victor Quade stood up and Mr. Quincy stopped abruptly. "You're wrong, too, unfortunately," Victor said quietly. "Lane's car is still in the castle garage. It's now," he glanced at his watch, "not quite 5. Mrs. Gerry says the Head is the last place on the trade people's route. Milk not until noon. Being a holiday, there'll be no mail. Market man tomorrow. You can see we have quite a little time before the first person along that empty stretch of road you call the Neck discovers the broken bridge and summons aid. Funny Rockville didn't see the fire, but remember the fog was mighty dense and we project nearly five miles out to sea. Take it for a bonfire to honor the Fourth if they chanced to see it."

"So what?" Bessie interrupted. "Just this, my friends. Your Roddy Lane did not leave the Head. His car is still in the garage. Saw it last night when we searched. I had the flashlight. It's my belief Judy was right, but now it's daylight and I propose further search."

"Mr. De Witt and Mr. Potter, you take another look in the garage."

See if you can get into the Lane castle. Break a window if necessary. Here are the keys to my trailer. Scout around. But especially scan the rocks."

Bessie began to cry, and Hugh said resentfully: "I think you might consider the ladies. My sister—"

"Of course. You girls help Mrs. Gerry. Poor woman, she needs it."

Bessie left the room, but Lily and I sat tight, while Victor continued his directions. Lily begged to be allowed to join the hunt.

"All right, Miss Kendall, you and Mr. Hugh What's-your-name, take the church end and the woods. Scour the shore. Yours is the quieter side toward the cove. You might find something. Anyway, if Brown or Lane is in those woods, come quietly back. The Head is so tiny you all ought to search it in no time. But don't touch anything you may find. I wouldn't go into the church basement again till the police come."

Mr. Quincy folded his hands, his lips working pitifully. I could have squeezed Victor when he said, "Quincy and I will look at the fire ruins." And he seized the invalid's chair, while I ran to hold open the door.

I didn't like to be left behind, but they'd virtually dismissed me, so I had no choice. Anyway, they'd soon be back. I fixed a tray for Uncle Wylie, which Aunt Nella took up. Bessie wiped and I washed the dishes. Every other minute one of us would race to the door, and as soon as we were through I ran down to where the other men were gradually collecting around the ruins of the fish shed.

Bessie Norcross stood clinging to the porch rail. She wouldn't budge till her brother came for her, she said. And of course my aunt and uncle were in their room at the time.

"Don't come any closer," Victor cautioned. "Don't touch a thing."

"Glory be—they've found something. Ain't it excitin'?" Lily burst her pearls down poor Mr. Q.'s neck as he leaned forward, pointing with his cane.

"See it? That, girls and boys," Thaddeus shouted, "is the corpus delicti, without which there can be no murder. Now all we need is to find out if it's Brown or Lane."

"Or both of them," Potter said, shuddering.

"You girls go back," Victor said, taking the shawl Mr. Q. handed him from his shoulders and covering the charred torso lying in the midst of ashes and debris. I won't describe it here; it's too horrible. I'd never before seen a body burned and blackened beyond recognition. What little there was left might have been anybody. Could experts tell whether the remains were of an old man or a middle-aged? I wondered.

"Of course it was Old Man Brown," Mr. Q. said, "or we'd have found Lane's diamond ring. Diamonds will burn under pressure, being allotropic forms of carbon, but not in a fire like this. Well, there wasn't any ring we could find, was there, Quade?"

"No, only don't tell the police we poked."

"That leaves us just where we were before," Lily Kendall said. "Mr. Norcross and I didn't see anybody in the woods."

Hugh agreed, "That's right. Lane skipped, and this was an accident. How do you know Lane didn't walk to town?"

"Bless you, I don't. He may have," Victor agreed. "But is it logical to suppose he did—a man with a car?"

"And the car's still over there," the minister thundered. "Strange. Passing strange."

"There wasn't a thing wrong with the trailer," Albion Potter added. "Did you go into the castle?"

"No, we didn't," De Witt said. "Breaking and entering—I thought we'd better wait for the police. But Potter here shinned up on to a balcony and saw that one room had been used all right. Suitcase on the bed wasn't there, Potter, and clothes strewn about?"

Albion nodded. "Couldn't see much, but the bed didn't look as if it had been slept in."

"A man's clothes? You—you couldn't be sure they were Lane's?"

"How could I? But a man's, all right. Helter-skelter, pajamas, shirts, tumbled out of an open suitcase."

"It's beginning to make sense, Victor Quade said. "How about it, you people? We can do a lot to clear up this business for the police, and the more we find out the more we'll be saved afterward. What do you say we take a good look at the bridge first, post a sentry in case anybody should happen along the Neck bright and early, and then have a general co-operative get-together and clear up what we can?"
