Ground Breaking Set By Presbyterian Church

Ground-breaking ceremony for the new Presbyterian Church Building is set for Sunday afternoon 2 P.M. at the building site near the Presbyterian Manse West of Dimmitt, across the street from the new high school building site.

Following church services Sunday a luncheon will be conducted in the Community Room of the First State Bank.

Killingsworth Construction Company, Dimmitt, received the building contract on June 27 from the Presbyterian Building Committee to build Dimmitt's new church.

The $33,786 structure will have auditorium seating facilities for approximately 125 persons. Three classrooms will be located in the downstairs portion of the building and in the upper level two classrooms and a study will be constructed.

Downstairs section of the church will be 30' 70' and the upstairs portion will be 30' x 28'.

Contractor Woodrow Killingsworth said the centrally airconditioned church building can be completed within 90-120 days after construction begins.

Presbyterians have been meeting Sunday mornings in the basement of the Castro County Courthouse in the Community Room.

Dimmitt Presbyterian Minister, who lives in the manse located just east of the new building site is Burr Morris, a native Texan who was preaching in Nebraska before his location in Dimmitt.

Entry Deadline September 1st For Miss Grain Sorghum Title

Entry deadline for "Miss Grain Sorghum of the Nation" contest is set for September 1.

Eligible girls age 16 and over who are interested in making application should contact Castro County Chamber of Commerce, or Bob Anthony, chairman of this year's contest.

Each contestant will be sponsored by a civic organization or a business firm.

Present plans are to make the Miss Grain Sorghum contest known over the entire panhandle area and in the future extend it to other grain sorghum producing areas of the United States.

The contestants will be judged in the South Grade School Cafeteria Thursday September 6 at 7:30 p.m.

First prize winner will receive, in addition to the engraved trophy, a $500 scholarship. Runners-up will receive engraved trophies.

"Primary objectives of the Miss Grain Sorghum contest are to promote sale and production of grain sorghum and its related products", Eddie Coltharp, Chamber of Commerce manager said.

Coltharp explained that grain sorghum is an important facet of our overall West Texas economy and that use of grain sorghum by-products is in its infant stages.

Grain sorghum is now used primarily as a feed product. Coltharp pointed out that a sugar by-product of grain sorghum is widely used in the manufacture of hard candies.

Also another by-product which is not so widely used is a highly desirable cooking oil which has a high boiling point.

"In some European nations," Coltharp explained "Grain sorghum is used in the manufacture of bread." This type of bread, which is similar to the whole wheat variety, is virtually unknown in the United States.

"We hope to promote the use of grain sorghum in our area, and in other producing areas" Coltharp added, "and we feel that the annual contest is doing a good job in promoting it."

RECEIVES BROKEN ARM
Chesley Johnston, son of Mrs. W.C. Johnston of Dimmitt, was injured Wednesday morning when he caught his arm in a cable on a water well drilling rig. His arm was broken and the muscles badly torn but he is recuperating nicely, Mrs. Johnston said.

by Pennyne Nelson
When W.M. Detwiler, Dodd Community, isn't shaping plowshares at his anvil in his blacksmith shop, he is helping Mrs. Detwiler to tend the literally dozens of orchids they have growing inside and out of their 14x20-ft. greenhouse he has recently built.

FROM ANVILS TO ORCHIDS is the daily routine of W. M. Detwiler, the "Village Blacksmith" in Dodd Community at the southwestern edge of Castro County. In the machinist's spare time he pursues his hobby of growing Cattleya, Cymbidium, Laelia, and Terrestrial orchids.

County Blacksmith builds Life Around Orchids and Iron

Their orchid family, which they began as a hobby after their move two children married and moved away, consists of dozens of the big, beautiful Cattleya orchids, developed by crossbreeding in a conservatory and the smaller Cymbidium orchids which are natives to southeastern Asia. Both of these varieties are very popular for corsage arrangements and as cut flowers but they are also very expensive when purchased at a florist shop. The Cymbidium orchids are grown from back bulbs which are rooted in gravel and transplanted to pots. Each plant produces from five to 15 blooms during its blooming season.

The Cattleyas, some of which have large buds which will be opening very soon, are grown in pots filled with small chips of fir bark. This bark is purchased from the same establishment which furnishes them with the plants and back bulbs, also the orchid fertilizer with which they are fed twice a month.

According to Mr. Detwiler the orchid probably has a life expectancy that exceeds any other small flowering plant. There are records of some having lived 500 years and Mr. Detwiler said, it is most likely they live even longer.

Other varieties of orchids in their family of orchids are the Laelia and Terrestrial. The Laelia grows on large chips of fir bark and the Detwilers have one that is growing on an old cypress knee which at one time appeared to be the base of a lamp. Although these two varieties belong to the same family, Epiphytall, the Terrestrial orchid must have soil in which to grow. Both plants produce very small blooms shaped somewhat like the Columbine without its center petals and are smaller in size.

Among their other collection of plants they have about 75 gloxinias, over a hundred African violets, numerous begonias, azalias, poinsettias, carnations, chrysanthemums and other plants. Both Mr. and Mrs. Detwiler declare it is a great joy to look into their greenhouse and see their plants looking lush and green and blooming in the dead of winter when all else is dead and brown and sometimes covered with snow.

The Detwilers are not just hot-house gardeners though, their yard is full of all varieties of flowers adapted to this area. Until strong winds recently damaged them, their dahlias were perfection, many of them measuring eight inches in diameter. In their vegetable garden which joins their yard, they have corn tasseling, strawberries bearing, peas, beans, and tomatoe plants blooming and the entire picture is one of beauty and abundance.

Mr. Detwiler, though he has the mighty build of a man of the forge and anvil and swings a powerful hammer, is as enthusiastic about their hobby of orchids as is Mrs. Detwiler, and appears to handle their plants with her same gentleness.

ORCHIDS GROWING IN CASTRO COUNTY can be seen in the greenhouse owned by Mr. and Mrs. W. M. Detwiler of the Dodd Community. Mr. Detwiler is holding a cypress knee on which is growing a laelia orchid and Mrs. Detwiler is watering another Laelia orchid plant growing on fir bark.

ENTERED AS SECOND CLASS MATTER IN THE UNITED STATES POST OFFICE IN DIMMITT, CASTRO COUNTY, TEXAS, UNDER THE ACT OF MARCH 3, 1879

Senator YARBOROUGH'S REPORT

Dear Fellow Texan:

Many doors to higher education are being shut today in the faces of many of our young people.

This is a great national problem even greater in Texas than in most other states, because our state ranks 32nd in the nation in per person income per year. Texas badly needs the higher level of education to reach its rightful place among the leading states in the nation.

This is one of the reasons that I am working hard to get a GI Bill passed to help young post-Korean Conflict veterans get an education.

I recently read a disturbing report by the Bureau of Labor Statistics, showing how the problem of unemployment of young people is going to damage our economy in the years ahead—showing the damage being done right now.

This report said that of the 900,000 June, 1961, high school graduates who did not go on to college, 126,000 were still unemployed and looking for work four months later. This is an unemployment rate among these high school graduates of 18 percent, as compared to an overall unemployment rate at the time of 6.5 percent.

Only about one-sixth of the June, 1961, high school graduates in the nation who did not enter college, were attending a school to learn a trade or skill. For those who drop out of school, what chance is there in a job market that demands increasing know-how for survival?

To me, one of the cherished American dreams — one that the Communist Powers always underestimate — is the dream of all American parents, that their children will grow up to a better life. It is more than a dream. It's a driving force in the American home.

Fellow Texan for young people today, the key to the future is knowledge. "An educated mind is the guardian genius of democracy," as Mirabeau Bonaparte Lamar said. And it is also a driving force for betterment for the family.

The GI Bill, which is co-sponsored by 36 other Senators with me, is one way to turn this American dream for a better life for our young people into living reality. An education under the GI Bill would take young men from the ranks of the unemployed, and arm them with the weapons of knowledge that will enable them to help themselves, their families and their country in the years ahead.

The GI Bills of World War II and the Korean Conflict gave this nation 259,000 doctors and technicians; 135,000 scientists; 459,000 engineers and 367,000 school teachers. These are the leaders of today. We need to train leaders for tomorrow. And the records show that those trained under previous GI bills pay enough in additional taxes, because of resultant higher earnings, to more than repay the cost of the training programs.

By 1965, the number of young people reaching 18 years of age in the nation — the age when most of them enter the work force or go on to college — will be about fifty percent higher than in 1960. Workers under 25 years of age will account for nearly half of the labor force growth during the 1960s. This is our great national resource — the brainpower of American youth.

The responsibility we face today is to plan ahead, to make education available for all our young people. I think enactment of my GI Bill will go a long way toward giving them an education.

Glass Fiber Mats Protect Waterways

College Station, August 1—Glass fiber mat was the most effective of seven materials recently tested by the U.S. Department of Agriculture for use as temporary protection of newly seeded grass waterways.

Grassed water ways are used to carry flood runoff from terraced and contour-cropped fields as well as from roadways and airports. Temporary protection of newly seeded channels—until the grass is established—prevents damage from runoff-producing rains, which can make regrading and reseeding necessary.

The channel-lining materials were rated according to the volume of water they withstood without damage to the waterway or to the material.

The glass fiber mat withstood more than four times as much water discharge as the next best material tested, pine-mesh jute cloth. The mat is a commercial product about 1 inch thick. It is made of fine glass fibers and is similar in appearance to insulation.

The materials were tested in a channel with a 6 percent slope. The channel had a shallow V cross section, 10 feet wide and 6 inches deep. The test section was 100 feet long. Each material was subjected to flows of increasing velocity. The tests lasted 40 minutes, unless channel damage occurred sooner.

Glass fiber mat was also tested for ease of penetration by vegetation on waterway channels in the southern Great Plains, came through the glass fiber mat readily. Further testing with other grasses is needed. The study was conducted at the Stillwater, Oklahoma Hydraulic laboratory in cooperation with the Oklahoma Agricultural Experiment Station.

Walter Rogers' WASHINGTON NEWSLETTER

WHAT IS A SUBSIDY?

There is an old saying, "the pot calling the kettle black." This saying is brought to mind quite often when one engages in a detailed study of "subsidy." Webster defines "subsidy" as follows:

"A grant of funds or property from a government, as of the State or a municipal corporation, to a private person or company to assist in the establishment or support of an enterprise deemed advantageous to the public: a subvention. In practice subsidies are chiefly granted in aid of transportation enterprises, as to ship, canal, air-transport, or railroad companies, bounties on sugar being next in importance. A subsidy may be a simple gift or may consist in the payment of an amount in excess of the usual charges for any service, as in carrying the mails, or of funds to aid in establishing or maintaining a service or equipment larger or more powerful than the state of trade would warrant, as the building and keeping in service of vessels designed for use as cruisers and auxiliaries in war. Subsidy is often inexactly used to designate an entire payment for services, as for carrying mail, which, properly speaking, includes compensation for actual services; and a subsidy proper, consisting in the sum paid in excess of the compensation. In ordinary usage subsidy often carries a derogatory implication."

To subsidize is defined by the same dictionary as "to aid or promote, as a private enterprise, with public money; as, to subsidize a steamship line." Funk & Wagnall's "New Standard" Dictionary of the English Language, has a briefer definition of subsidy: "Pecuniary aid directly granted by government to an individual or commercial enterprise deemed productive of public benefit."

Since different groups prefer to place different definitions on "Subsidy" in recent years the term has taken on a derogatory meaning. This is primarily due to the fact that many who receive aid and assistance from the government—Federal, State, and local—have no difficulty in justifying the grants to themselves. However, there has been a tendency by some to bitterly criticize and condemn such assistance or grants for others. This prompts the question of whether or not "the pot might be calling the kettle black." Numerous studies have been made on all of the subsidies paid by the several governments in this country and especially the Federal government. In order to start from some common premise in the study of these matters, proposed guidelines have been laid down as to the elements that should be included in the definition of a subsidy and the following recommendations were made.

"A subsidy is an act by governmental unit involving either (1) a payment, (2) a remission of charges, or (3) supplying commodities or services at less than cost or market price, with the intent of achieving a particular economic objective, most usually the supplying to a general market a product or service which would be supplied in as great quantity only at a higher price in the absence of the payment or remission of charges. Government loans made at lower than market rates of interest or at rates below the cost of funds to the Government and Government insurance provided at lower than private insurance premium rates may also appropriately be considered as subsidies.

This definition distinguishes subsidies from the following other types of assistance:

(a) Aids to foreign governments.

(b) Aids to business, or farmers, which are intended to help the businesses in any program of its own choice; in such a case the Government does not determine the program which it wishes to see fulfilled.

(c) Purchases or sales made on the Government's own behalf which may prove more profitable to the private seller or buyer than comparable transactions on the open market, except where a primary motive of such transactions is assistance to a particular segment of the economy. Thus some purchases of minerals for stockpiling and of surplus farm commodities could readily be conceived of as subsidies, whereas a Government contract for production of a plane or missile would not normally be considered to involve a subsidy.

(d) Grants-in-aid to States and local units.

One type of benefit that may have a subsidy element but often is not classed as a subsidy is differential tax treatment for particular categories of persons or groups, such as minerals' producers, corporations installing certain defense facilities, cooperatives, or producers of goods protected from foreign competition by tariffs."

Whatever may be one's personal views as to the general principle of subsidy, it would be very well to weigh the matter carefully before indulging in too harsh criticism of others. The critic might find himself the subject of his own criticism. In other words, he might be both the pot and the kettle.

Procedures For Social Security For Farmers Given

Social security payments to a farm worker and his family can be assured only through the correct reporting of earnings, stated Hal Geldon, Manager of the Amarillo Social Security Office.

Farm operators who hire farm workers need to keep good records, Geldon said. The name and social security number of every employee hired should be recorded together with a record of his time and pay. A report must be filed at the end of each year and the social security tax paid for any employee who was paid at least $150 in the year or who had worked on 20 days or more on a time basis.

Each farm operator is also required to report to Internal Revenue Service the name, address, and employer's identification number of each crew leader or farm labor contractor who furnished him with agricultural workers. The report should be submitted on the reverse of Form 943 (Annual Report of Agricultural Workers).

This is necessary to protect the farm operator if the crew leader does not report his employees for social security purposes and the employees claim they worked directly for the farmer, Geldon said.

Value of Farms Rises In Texas

College Station, August 1—The average value per farm in Texas increased from $48,378 to $64,950 between 1959 and 1962, according to C.H. Bates, economist of the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

In this same period, the average size of farms increased from 631 to 710 acres. This year the land on the average Texas farm is worth $59,302. Buildings are worth an additional $5,648. The average value for land and buildings is about $91 per acre, he said.

The rate of sales of farm land accelerated some during the last year also. The number of farm title transfers in Texas rose from 51.8 per 1,000 farms in 1960-61 to 58.2 in 1961-62.

A study by USDA's Economic Research Service shows the average value per acre of farm real estate reached a new high of $123 per acre in the U.S. in 1962, 5 percent higher than in the previous year. The average farm has 336 acres, and is worth $41,400. About $32,800 of this is accounted for by land, and the balance, $8,600, by farm buildings, Bates said.

First Church of Christ Minister Was Hired in Dimmitt in 1934

(Ed. note: The following is another in a series of articles dealing with the histories of Dimmitt churches by D. C. Lawrence, minister of the First Church of Christ, but formerly of Dimmitt.)

The first full-time preacher was secured by the Church in 1934. Some outstanding preachers had conducted meetings in Dimmitt, had Earl Smith of Hereford, Texas, had preached twice a month for some time, but before 1934 no one had served as resident preacher. After serving as evangelist during a series of meetings, Thomas McDonald was invited to return as local minister, beginning May 6, 1934, and served in that capacity for about one year.

Financial conditions were critical during those years. Little or no preaching was done after McDonald left. The next report of church activity was regarding a gospel meeting. The Castro County News reported a new development: "Beginning July 30, 1936, Rev. Thompson will hold a series of meetings at the Church of Christ in Dimmitt."

The Church began to make more definite efforts to interest the community in their activities about the time L.E. Carpenter moved to Dimmitt to preach for them in 1939. As they began to envision better days ahead, an advertising program was instituted. Frequent ads began appearing in the local newspaper, reporting the times of worship, and extending invitations to the public to attend their services. The following is an example:

"Bible Study each Sunday, 10 a.m. Competent teachers and class for all ages. Worship and Communion each Sunday morning, Acts 20:7; 1 Cor. 16:2; Heb. 10:25; Acts 2:42. Preaching each 2nd. (second) and 4th. (fourth) Sunday at 11 a.m. and 7:30 p.m. Ladies Bible Class each Monday at 2:30 p.m. All women (are) cordially invited to attend this class and enjoy a devotional study of God's word with us. This class is taught by the minister each week. Prayer meeting and training class each Thursday at 7:30 p.m. you are cordially invited to attend all our services and find a hearty welcome."

Another example of their advertising program appeared the same year in the June Issue of the Castro County News:

"A singing school is now in progress at the Church of Christ. The school is being conducted by C.V. Bost of Tuttle, Oklahoma. Sessions are conducted at 9:00 a.m. and —:3 p.m. Fine interest is manifest by the school, and many are learning rapidly to sing by note. It is open to all who may care to attend. This is a real opportunity to the people of this community."

LATER YEARS

With the beginning of a new decade in 1940, the Church of Christ in Dimmitt, began a definite upward trend. In 1942, Morgan Sturgess preached for the church, dividing his time between the Churches in Dimmitt and Springlake. The congregation was without a regular preacher during 1943. However, in October of that year, the church was edified as a result of a gospel meeting, in which C.C. Jones and he would do the preaching. Jones announced in the Firm Foundation that Palmer Wheeler, also of Amarillo, would lead the singing and he would do the preaching in a meeting with the Church of Christ in Dimmitt, Texas, beginning October 17. In a later issue of the same publication, he reported the results of the meeting. "The writer has just been called home from a meeting in Dimmitt, Texas. Thirty-three responded to the gospel invitation." From the standpoint of responses, this meeting ranked second among all gospel meetings conducted in Dimmitt. Also, through the efforts of Jones, the congregation was encouraged to secure the services of another full-time preacher. Soon the necessary arrangements had been made, and D.C. Lawrence moved to Dimmitt as evangelist for the Church of Christ, in April of 1944.

The finances of the Church showing marked improvement soon after Lawrence began work. Previous to his coming, the membership of the church numbered about one hundred, and contributions were averaging $30.00 per week. The new preacher was made the ambitious promise of $50.00 per week, and a furnished apartment since the Church did not own a preacher's home. As was anticipated, the contributions more than supplied the $50.00 per week for the preacher's salary, and soon were averaging over $100.00 per Sunday, and later that year, a home for the minister was purchased.

Growth in numbers was slow during Lawrence's tenure. However a few members of the Church did move into the community and some sixty were baptized during the years 1944 to 1948, bringing the total membership to almost 200.

By 1948, several improvements had been made upon the church property. The parsonage has been moved next to the church building, and remodeled at a cost of several thousand dollars. The church basement was renovated, and a nursery was constructed in the auditorium. These improvements, along with redecorations in the auditorium, totaled some six thousand dollars.

VISITS IN DUMAS

Mr. and Mrs. R.C. West and Shelia visited in Dumas with Mr. Dimmitt, Texas. Thirty-three responded to the gospel invitation." From the standpoint of responses, this meeting ranked second among all gospel meetings conducted in Dimmitt. Also, through the efforts of Jones, the congregation was encouraged to secure the services of another full-time preacher. Soon the necessary arrangements had

Three Dimmitt Legionnaires Attend State Convention

The annual state convention of the Texas Department of the American Legion was held in Austin July 25 through July 29.

Honored speakers present were Congressman Jim Wright who gave a talk on Communism versus the beauty of the American system of government.

National Vice Commander J. Milton Patrick reported on his recent trip to Berlin and gave a good but grave picture of East Berliners and the Wall, in contrast with the prosperity and building of West Berlin.

Gubernatorial candidate Republican Jack Cox hammered at the ideological conflict against communism. Cox struck out against what he said was the apathy of many in not fully informing themselves against the dangers of communism. "A nation can be destroyed from within as well as without. That we will have military preparedness, we all agree. But if we do not follow the basic principles of America, we can be destroyed internally."

Gubernatorial candidate John Connally, Democrat, "No group of Americans is more deeply concerned about the threats of our time, or more capable of meeting them with courage, vigor and dedication which is demanded of all Americans today," Connally said in praising the activities of the American Legion. Both Connally and Cox stressed that freedom is hard earned and not a gift.

In adopting the report of the Legion Committee on Foreign Affairs, the delegates gave full approval to 11 resolutions which included strong disapproval of disarmament and foreign aid to Communist supported or dominated nations.

A strongly worded resolution urged the US to "place total boycott on all imports and exports between the United States and Cuba and to take all necessary action to make available and apply our military supplies and forces, including unilateral military actions if required to enable the people of Cuba to establish their own non-communist government."

In adopting the report of the internal organization committee, members of the committee took special notice of a resolution from the sixth division which requested the Legion in the future meet in cities where there is no racial discrimination.

Other resolutions adopted were: In favor of closing businesses on Veterans Day (Nov. 11); For legislation to close all banks on Veterans Day; Opposing proposals in of firearms; Appealing to the Texas Legislature to pass laws to assure that National Guardsmen get their jobs back when they are called to active duty.

Newly-elected officers of the Legion included: V.F. Taylor, Austin, Commander; Walter Janko of Somerville, National Committeeman; W.F. Spiegel of Port Arthur, Treasurer; Brian Murphy of Hughes Springs, Historian; Rev. Walter P. Carmichael of San Antonio, Chaplain; J.B. Huckabee of Brownfield, sergeant-at-arms; Tom McKelvey of Electra, Judge Advocate Ray a pierce of El Campo, alternate national committeeman.

Mrs. Maurice Kubby of El Paso was elected president of the Texas American Legion Auxiliary.

Dimmitt's Greer Estes Post 445 was represented in Austin by Post Commander Sal DiCuffa who served on the Foreign Relations Committee. Vice Commander H.K. "Red" Hill who served on the Resolutions Committee and Adjutant Jack Flynn who served on the Credential Committee.

253 Legion Post's of the State were represented.

Gov. Price Daniel and water conservation leaders are launching a campaign to win voter approval of Constitutional Amendment No. 4 on the general election ballot November 6.

Daniel's Statewide Water Conservation Committee will meet September 10 to map the campaign. Other statewide organizations are being urged to join the effort.

This amendment would allow the Texas Water Development Board to use part of its $100,000,000 water loan fund to pay for the added height needed to fully utilize damsites in Texas.

Story is this: When cities or the Federal government build reservoirs there may not be enough demand for water in the area to build the dams to their full height. Water studies have indicated that in 20 to 50 years, the full yield of all presently proposed reservoirs will be needed to supply the 21,000,000 Texans expected by the year 2010.

But if the dam and reservoir are built only to meet present or near-future needs, there will be greatly increased costs later on, since recreational and other developments will have been built around it. Cost could run two or three times as much, then, to buy the developed land and raise the dam.

In the long run, sponsors argue, the amendment would save Texans many millions. If it passes, the Development Board could pay for the added cost now and hold the water storage space until cities or industries in the area need the water and are willing to pay for it. Then the revenue can be used to pay off the long-term bonds the Board issues.

Two samples of the need are in the news these days.

Lavon Reservoir near Dallas was built mainly for flood control by the U. S. Army Corps of Engineers. Now more space is needed for water supply purposes.

Today, however, the North Texas Municipal Water District, which supplies water to 10 cities in the area, will have to pay about 60 to 70 per cent more than it would have cost them in the first place.

Cooper Reservoir on the Sulphur River is being delayed, right now, because cities in the area just can not raise the money to build it to full size.

LEGISLATORS' LIBRARIAN LEAVING—Miss Doris Connerly, the 1919 University of Texas law graduate who has directed a reference library for State representatives in the Capitol for 34 years, won't be in the statehouse when the 58th Legislature meets next January. She will retire on September 30.

Miss Connerly became director of the Legislative Reference library in 1928 when Dan Moody was governor.

She and the late Gov. Beauford Jester were former classmates and friends. However, she won't pick a favorite among the Texas governors she has worked with. But she does say that she considers herself fortunate to have served during the terms of Coke Stevenson, Allan Shivers and Price Daniel. "These men played an important role in Texas' growth in economics and culture," she says.

Texas' legislative library was established by the Legislature in 1909 to furnish legislators with factual and historical material. But thousands of state workers and citizens interested in state business have used its services, including the file on "State Statutes and Session Laws." These date back more than 150 years and relate to all 50 states in the union.

COURTS TAKE A HOLIDAY—Justices of the Texas Supreme Court and the Court of Criminal Appeals have shed their long black robes for the remainder of the summer. The massive doors to their elegant chambers in the Texas Supreme Court Building won't be opened again until they reconvene no October 1.

Both courts are "supreme courts because of a unique judicial setup that Texas shares with the State of Oklahoma and England. Civil cases appealed from lower courts come to the Supreme Court. Final hall of appeal for criminal cases is the Court of Criminal Appeals.

POPULATION ZOOMING—State Health Commissioner J.E. Peavy estimates that Texas' population passed the 10,000,000 mark Friday.

He based his prediction by computing births, deaths and migration since April, 1960.

At that time Texas had a population of 9,579,677. Then Texans registered 570,250 births and 176,500 deaths or a natural increase of 393,750.

Assuming that the 1950-1960 rate of migration has continued, 26,500 more people have moved into the state than out, during the calculated period. That would give the state a total population of 9,999,927 on July 26.

Dr. Peavy figured Friday was "10 Million Day," since more than 400 people are added daily by the excess of births over deaths.

NATIONAL SEASHORE URGED The Legislative Beach Study Committee, headed by Sen. Robert W. Baker of Houston, endorsed the creation of a nation seashore area on Padre Island during a meeting in Galveston. He urged immediate legislation to implement the recent law passed by the U.S. Senate.

Committee is composed of Sen. Chlp Krueger, El Campo; Sen. A.R. Schwartz, Galveston; Rep. Neal Caldwell, Alvin; Rep. Don Garrison, Houston; John Mehos of Galveston; Jack E. Walker of Baytown; George T. Camp of Beaumont, and C.T. Parker Jr. and W. B. Edwards of Houston.

They expected to meet again in the fall to prepare a report for the Legislature.

SAFETY PLAN LAUDED—Governor Daniel credited organizations such as the Junior Chambers of Commerce and the Texas Federation of Women's Clubs with awakening public interest in the use of safety belts in automobiles.

He said that Texas Department of Public Safety statisticians have informed him that their accident reports show that, "500 lives could have been saved in Texas traffic in 1961 alone if drivers and front-seat passengers, in particular, had been wearing seat belts."

This would have reduced that year's traffic toll by nearly one-fourth.

Jaycees and members of TFWC have been conducting safety belt campaigns.

WILSON CITES ODD CURES—Attorney General Will Wilson noted the recent U.S. District Court's refusal to allow naturopaths to prevent the State of Texas from prosecuting them for practicing medicine without qualifications of the Medical Practices Act.

Wilson called the decision "a valuable tool with which the people of Texas can fight uneducated charlatans and quacks who prey on unfortunate people when they have troubles."

He cited state's evidence including:

One naturopath who treated patients by sending catnip, parsley and strawberry leaf tea through the mail without having seen the patients.

Another who claimed to be qualified to give psychiatric treatment by an extension course from the University of California. U. of C. denied any knowledge of such a course.

Another claimed to use an electronic machine to detect cancer, cataracts, arthritis and hardening of the arteries from urine specimens sent to him through the mail. Members of the department of electrical engineering at Texas A & M College found the machine incapable of detecting vibrations or diagnosing any form of illness.

James L. McNeese Jr., attorney for the naturopaths, said he would appeal the ruling against his client to the U.S. Supreme Court.

The naturopaths have filed a $1,000,000 slander suit against the attorney general, but no hearings have been held.

Clean Grain Bins Cut Insect Losses

College Station, August 1—The summer grain harvest in South Texas is picking up momentum each week & farmers are reminded that grain storage facilities should be put in first class shape before the harvest begins in this area. C.F. Garner, extension entomologist, says grain should be stored only in bins which have been cleaned thoroughly and treated with a residual spray.

He says all old grain, trash, feed sacks and debris that furnish living quarters for insects should be removed from the bin. A sweep-down of the ceiling and walls and a thorough cleaning of the floor are musts. A good cleanup job around the bins will also help keep down insect infestations, he adds.

Grain storage buildings should exclude all outside moisture and they should be easily accessible for inspection and fumigation of grain. Bins in which grain can be aerated are helpful in cooling or drying grain.

For the residual spray, Garner suggests either malathion (premium grade) or methoxychlor used in a two and one-half percent formulation. The latter is available as a wettable powder or emulsifiable concentrate.

Premium grade malathion may also be used as a protectant on corn and grain sorghum. One pint of 57 percent malathion mixed with 2 to 5 gallons of water is required to treat 1,000 bushels of grain. Sprays may be applied to the grain stream as it is being unloaded or turned into final storage. The use of this chemical will reduce the possibility of insect damage, Garner adds.

The entomologist explains that only clean, sound grain with a moisture content of 12 percent or less should be stored. Grain with a high moisture content attracts insects, promotes mold growth and may induce heating. Grain, he adds, that is free of broken kernels, is safer from insect damage than dirty, cracked grain. Garner suggests leaving adequate space to inspect and fumigate the grain if necessary at the time the bin is filled.

Finally, the entomologist suggests that grain producers visit the local county agent and pick up copies of the latest publications on grain storage problems.

About Your HEALTH

A weekly public service feature from the Texas State Department of Health. HENRY A. HOLLE, M.D. Commissioner of Health.

Call them red bugs. Call them harvest mites. Call them chiggers. By whatever name, they mean sleepless nights and ceaseless spasms of itching misery.

This is their season. It will last from now until cold weather cuts into their ranks. A few people have an apparent immunity to chigger attacks, but the vast majority of us are oh-so-susceptible. They — the chiggers — have a special affinity for low, damp places covered with vegetation. Bermuda grass harbors them well, but for some unexplainable reason they are not usually found in carpet grass. Just for the record, it's the larvae which do the damage, attaching themselves with their mouthparts and sucking blood until they become engorged and fall off. The fiery itching is caused by an anticoagulant material they inject into their host.

Although adult chiggers—large, red and velvety—are probably harmless to humans, their wayward offspring can be serious as well as annoying. Not that they spread any specific disease—at least not in this country—but their bites demand scratching which frequently causes secondary infections in the form of sores and boils.

To learn where chiggers are harboring, stand a piece of black cardboard on end where you suspect their presence. If after a few moments you see tiny yellowish or pinkish mites accumulating on the upper edge, you know it's time to check your supply of insecticide.

Chiggers attack lizards, snakes, birds, and rodents with the same vigor and resourcefulness they display in attacking humans. No distinction is drawn between man and lesser animal species, is hardly complimentary to us homo sapiens.

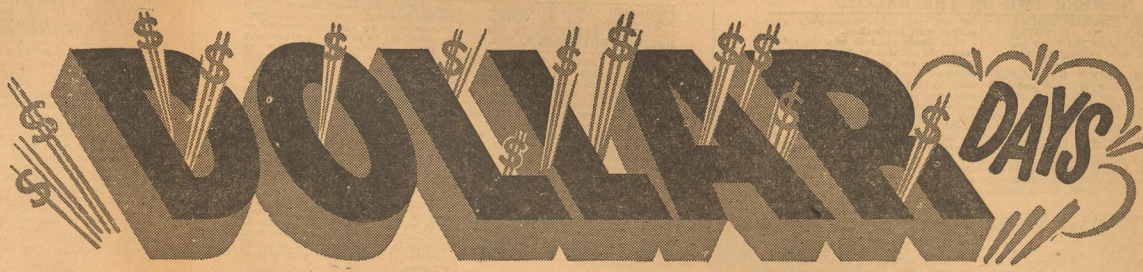

Light applications of sulphur dust on lawns and low branches of shrubs have been used successfully for years to control chiggers. Nowadays, the new insecticides such as chlorodane and lindane give better results. Just follow the directions on the label.

A quick word of caution: Be sure to avoid unnecessary exposure to the insecticide. If you spill the concentrated material on your skin wash it off immediately. And be sure to keep children and pets out of the yard until the spray dries.
