Steers Come From Behind To Down Longhorns 13 to 7

When Bronte and Robert Lee tangle in a football game it's always a tough fight, but their meeting at Bronte last Friday afternoon turned out to be a whole lot closer than anyone expected, with the Steers coming from behind to win 13 to 7.

Dopesters were saying that Robert Lee would win by a margin of from 30 to 50 points. But the Bronte Longhorns were under rated or the Steers had been over rated, or perhaps some of both. Anyway the Longhorns played the Steers to a standstill in the first half, with each side making 4 first downs but neither getting close to a touchdown. Then in the third quarter Bronte scored on a well executed forward pass and kicked the extra point to lead 7-0.

Thereafter Robert Lee seemed to dig in harder and their efforts were rewarded by a touchdown drive late in the third period and another counter early in the fourth quarter.

Bronte's scoring effort was set up when a punt by Will Percifull was partially blocked and the Longhorns had the ball on the Robert Lee 40 yd. line. Littlefield intercepted a Bronte pass on the next play and a minute later Billie Bob Herron intercepted a Robert Lee pass attempt in mid-field. On the next play Herron grabbed a long pass and ran 20 yards for a touchdown. The extra point was converted from placement.

The Longhorns were in trouble a short time later when a punt set them back to their 8 yard line and then Howard Varnadore recovered a fumble for Robert Lee on the 11. Bronte's line held and the Longhorns recovered a fumble on their 9. They punted out to Flower on the Bronte 26 yd. line. A pass to Littlefield was good for 7 yds. and Fowler went through the line for a nice gait. Duncan made it first down on the 13. Burns rammed

Boys To Show Pigs In District Competition

Annual Pig Show of the Sears Roebuck Foundation for eight counties will take place Saturday, Oct. 26, at Fair Park in San Angelo.

The judging begins at 10 a. m. County winners will be selected and they will compete for district awards.

Eight spring gilts will be shown by the following Coke county boys: Bill Ray Scott of Bronte, W. D. Latham of Tennyson, Milbourn Wink of Robert Lee, Russell Cox of Robert Lee. Roy Burselson of Tennyson, Clayton Bloodworth of Silver, Lynn Davidson of Silver and Gorman Walker of Wildcat.

Mr. and Mrs. Victor Wojtek are the proud parents of a daughter, Mary Alice, born Tuesday morning at Shannon hospital in San Angelo. The maternal grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. S. R. Young.

Await Materials For Several New Robert Lee Homes

Robert Lee is on the verge of a residential building boom of considerable size, which will result in a dozen or more new homes being constructed during the next year if materials and labor are available. Some building activity is expected to get under way immediately.

Plans for three new houses have been made for the northwest corner at the intersection of north Main street and the state highway running east and west. Arnold Samuelson has purchased the two corner lots from S. E. Adams, and says he will erect two houses there this winter. Just west of this location and adjoining S. R. Young on the east Sheriff Frank Percifull bought two fine lots from Lizzie Hester of Rotan.

These lots have already been levelled off and material is being delivered on the site. Mr. Percifull tore down a rural school building which he purchased and has a good supply of lumber to use in the construction of his home which is expected to cost in the neighborhood of $7,000.

In the next block west Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Allen will build next to Miss Ollie Green's home on a pair of lots owned by their son, H. C. Allen, Jr., of San Angelo. The Allens also own a building site west of Dr. Griffith's home.

C. E. (Doc) Benningfield has a new home well under way on the corner west of the Methodist church. He has completed a full basement 18 x 34 feet and is using concrete tile for side walls.

Palmer Leeper has purchased from B. D. Sneed of Bronte the half block just east of the southeast corner of the football field. He plans to move in a house from the country, and will sell a quarter of the block for a building site.

I. A. Austin has purchased some lots near the Bert Duncan home southwest of the school house, where he plans to erect a home.

Other recent deals in residential property include the purchase by Marcus Turner of a whole block in the A & L addition north of Marvin Stewart from Mary J. Edwards of Big Spring. B. M. Mundell bought the block north of that from Jack Duncan, and Calvin Wallace has purchased 4 1-2 lots near his home south of the football field from Albert Baze of San Angelo.

T. B. Childress cleared some of the building sites with his D-7 Caterpillar bulldozer. Bill Harmon operates the rig and does a fine job.

Another important building project is announced by Gerald Allen, druggist and ranchman, who is prepared to begin work on a group of tourist cabins and a store building near the highway intersection just east of Hattie Day's residence, work to start as soon as materials can be secured.

Marvin Simpson is recovering at Shannon hospital in San Angelo where he underwent a surgical operation a week ago.

More Furniture Available

Mr. Frank Hood, owner of the Household Furniture Co. in San Angelo, told The Observer editor this week that his stock is in very good shape this fall and he has by far the largest selection of furniture and household equipment in years. The furniture situation has improved greatly during the past six months, Mr. Hood says, and more important is the fact that it has good quality, too.

Football Friday Night

Christoval comes to Robert Lee for a conference football game Friday night of this week. The visitors are expected to present a strong line-up and a good game is expected. The kickoff is at 8 p. m.

Williams Given Suspended Term In Stabbing Case

Slaughter Williams, 28, was given a 5-year suspended sentence here at 9:15 o'clock last Thursday night by a district court jury which was out only three hours.

Williams, who had been indicted for the fatal stabbing of his stepfather, J. W. Vest, 64, last June 30 at Fort Chadbourne, freely admitted the slaying on the witness stand.

He said he killed Vest because he broke up his home. Williams told of getting his wife up in the night shortly before the altercation and of entering the stepfather's room to "straighten things out."

Williams said he went and got the butcher knife and caught Vest in the yard. The elderly man fell and was stabbed through the back, the long blade being plunged thru his lungs.

The state lacked good witnesses. Their best witness was dead and Williams' wife is in California. She would not have to testify against her husband anyway. Defense based their plea for acquittal upon the theory of "justifiable homicide."

On the witness stand Williams unfolded a story of a man in whose mind had grown the suspicion that his wife and stepfather were having improper relations. He testified his wife slept nude and that he had awakened early one morning, shortly before the killing, to find her missing from bed.

Mrs. J. W. Vest, estranged wife of the deceased and mother of the defendant, testified that Vest, although 64 years old, was oversexed.

Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Mauldin and daughter, Olene Snoddy, were in San Angelo Wednesday when they attended the funeral of Mrs. Mauldin's uncle, John A. McDonald. He was 71 years of age and a well known Pecos county rancher.

Sun's Wildcat Test At Silver Reaches 4300 Ft.

Drilling of Sun Oil company's wildcat test on the Allen Jameson ranch at Silver had reached 4,300 feet Sunday afternoon. Contract calls for a depth of 7,080 feet unless oil is found sooner, and there is a prospect the test may go considerably deeper.

The well was spudded in Sept. 25 and operations are going ahead continuously with three shifts working night and day. Shifts change at 3:30 and 11:30 p. m. and 7:30 a. m. Buck Bond and his crew had just taken over the swing shift Sunday evening when The Observer family arrived on the location for a look-see, and Mr. Bond was very courteous in showing us about. Other workers on the job were M. T. Ewing, J. D. Hill, E. V. Giles and W. E. Irby.

The big rotary drilling outfit is owned by Roberts & Hawkins Drilling Co. of Dallas. E. L. (Slim) Hill of Odessa is the superintendent, while each shift has a driller in charge of operations and four assistants. The rig is worth $150,000. The steel derrick towers to a height of 126 feet, and there are two 320 h. p. LeRoi engines that provide power. They operate on butane gas.

A constant weight of 26,000 pounds forces the bit down as it is turned round and round at a steady rate. Additional steel casings are added in 25 foot lengths. Then there are the huge pumps which force mud down through the casings and push the muck back up on the outside of the casing.

So far there hasn't been any excitement. There might be some oil showing in the cores almost any time now, but oil men don't look for anything until they reach a depth of at least 5,500 feet.

It costs money to drill an oil well. The Sun company's test on the Jameson location is costing $8 per foot. At the start drilling went pretty fast but it slowing up aow. One day the past week they averaged 50 feet per shift for a 24-hour period.

The well will be watched with increasing interest from now on. Thus far everybody is calm but hoping that a Coke county oil field will be discovered.

John Walker of Silver purchased a new Ford pickup from the Ivey Motor Co. last week.

Red Feather Flown as Symbol In Social Service Fund Drives

Badge Is Beacon Of Hope To Sick, Weary, Homeless

For centuries the red feather has been accepted as a badge of courage and generosity. Robin Hood awarded red feathers to his followers for heroic and generous deeds; outstanding Indian braves often were the recipients of red feather awards for feats of valor and acts of kindness.

This year, in cities throughout the United States, the Red Feather will mean hope for the sick, homeless and friendless. Community Chests of the country have adopted the Red Feather to designate services to orphans, the aged, the blind, crippled children and the sick.

In previous years the welfare fund raising organizations from coast to coast have been known by a variety of names and their symbols have been many and varied. In 1946, for the first time, practically all of them are known as Community Chests and all fly the Red Feather.

Many Join Movement.
Last year, 849 cities in the country raised close to a quarter billion dollars through community fund raising campaigns. These cities each conducted a single campaign to raise funds to support multiple welfare agencies.

It was in Cleveland, Ohio, that the Community Chest plan was born in 1913. A group of Cleveland business men, aware of the many fund drives held each year and of the vast sums spent annually to raise money for welfare purposes, evolved a plan to budget the city's welfare needs and to hold one campaign annually to obtain the money to meet these needs.

Before Cleveland held the first Community Chest campaign, 6,000 persons were contributing money for welfare purposes. During the 1945 Community Chest campaign, 606,000 residents of Greater Cleveland made pledges to support 100 home front agencies and 22 units of the national war fund.

Support 100 Agencies.
This year, the Cleveland Community Chest is campaigning in October for a goal of $4,880,000. Proceeds will be used for the support of 100 Red Feather agencies, including 21 youth and recreation groups, 19 organizations aiding dependent children, 17 hospitals, 14 family welfare services and other welfare organizations.

Throughout the nation, the story of the Red Feather is being told as Community Chests wage their annual fund-raising campaigns in October.

Chicago, which has the largest Community Chest fund in the nation, has a goal of $7,939,000 in the current drive. From Community Chest coffers will come 50 per cent of the operating costs of 192 Red Feather agencies. An additional $906,000 is sought to continue USO activities for the final year.

One of the main objectives of Community Chests is to assure a good start in life for all children. Red Feather youth agencies universally strive to prepare the boys and girls of today for their responsibilities as citizens of tomorrow.

To carry out this objective, Philadelphia, for example, will allot the largest percentage of its campaign funds, more than 20 per cent, to its Red Feather youth recreation services and another 11 per cent to its child care agencies. Last year, the city's 39 Red Feather youth agencies served more than 189,714 boys and girls and provided 183,593 days in camps.

Returns Near Peak.
As the birthplace of the Community Chest idea, Cleveland has attained one of the best records in the nation for its annual fund drive. Total goal of the past 27 Community Chest campaigns there was $115,888,545, of which $113,243,489, or 97.7 per cent, actually was raised.

In Cleveland Community Chest hospitals contain two-thirds of all the city's public and private hospital capacity; their dispensaries annually give approximately 200,000 free or low cost treatments; all of the maternity homes for unwed mothers are chest supported; institutional care of 1,125 Cleveland orphans is given only by chest agencies, and 672 children are under foster home care through chest auspices.

A high degree of co-operation is essential to success of the Community Chest drive. That sort of co-operation is characteristic of Cleveland's annual fund raising event. Solicitation of chest pledges is carried out by a corps of 25,000 volunteer workers. City officials authorize decoration of downtown thoroughfares; the transit system and railroads permit campaign advertising; stores feature window displays stressing the work of chest agencies; radio stations, newspapers and theaters tell the story of the Red Feather organizations.

For the sick and troubled of Cleveland, as well as those of 849 other cities in the United States, the Red Feather this year means hope. For the greater number of persons who wear the Red Feather as Community Chest contributors, the brighter the outlook for those who need a "helping hand."

PAUL'S WIDENING FIELD OF SERVICE

LESSON TEXT—Acts 13:1-5, 13, 14, 44-46, 48, 49; 14:26, 27.
MEMORY SELECTION—But when it pleased God to reveal his Son in me, that I might preach him among the heathen.—Galatians 1:15, 16.

God uses men to accomplish his high and holy purpose of preaching the gospel in all the world. They must, however, be men who have been called by the Holy Spirit, prepared and sent out by him. They must be willing to labor and to sacrifice without limit for his glory.

Paul was such a man, and as we study the widening sphere of his service and influence, we catch a vision of what missions should mean in the church.

I. A Missionary Call (Acts 13:1-4).

Much discussed among earnest Christians is the question of what constitutes a missionary call.

The need must be brought home to the individual believer's heart by the Holy Spirit, and he must give a conviction that one is to go out to meet that need.

Note that the call came through a live, active and well-equipped church in Antioch, a city of Syria. It was a cosmopolitan church—read the names of those who served there. They were of many nationalities and of various occupations and social positions. In the midst of that group were two exceptionally able preachers, Barnabas and Paul. They all loved the Lord and served him.

To such a church the Holy Spirit can speak, be heard and obeyed. Notice that they gave their best, at the direction of the Spirit, not withholding it for themselves (cf. II Sam. 24:24). Good wants our best.

II. A Missionary Conquest (Acts 13:4, 5, 13, 14, 44-46, 48, 49).

To trace this first missionary journey it is well to look at the map illustrating the Acts and epistles at the back of most Bibles.

It will appear at once that it was not an easy itinerary these men undertook. It involved travel by sea, through difficult country, and often among hostile and hateful peoples.

Paul met both popularity and persecution, and that not far apart. After the experience of acceptance and rejection on the island of Cyprus (Acts 13:7, 8), Barnabas and Paul went to Antioch in Pisidia (a different city than Antioch in Syria; see map). Here they were invited to preach in the synagogue and Paul was blessed in the presentation of a powerful gospel message. Read it in Acts 13:16-41. It met with such a response that the people "besought that these words might be preached to them the next Sabbath" (v. 42). So great was the popularity of Paul's message that the whole city came the next Sabbath "to hear the Word of God." What a wonderful sight that must have been.

But wait—there is something else here beside popularity, and its name is jealousy (v. 45). It caused the Jews to blaspheme as they contradicted Paul's preaching.

Jealousy always makes a fool out of the one who yields to it. Yet this green-eyed monster is permitted to go right on hindering the work of God. The result in this case was that Paul turned from the Jews to the Gentiles with the gospel, to their great joy and delight. This is a great turning point in the history of the church.

Now the preachers turn homeward to Antioch in Syria, and there they had

III. A Missionary Conference (Acts 14:26, 27).

Nothing stimulates missionary giving, and praying, and going in a local church like a live missionary conference, where those who have been on the field come back and tell what the Lord has done as they went out to serve him.

It is good to know that what the Lord led men out to do has been fulfilled. That completes the circle of divine guidance and blessing, and strongly encourages us to go again—and others to go for the first time—to do missionary work for God.

The church which does not have such an annual missionary conference misses a blessing and an opportunity for enlarged vision and service. No pastor or church can afford to miss such an open door for the working of the Holy Spirit of God.

Vet Students Replace Navy 'Boots'

FARRAGUT, IDAHO.—In an attempt to crack the national bottleneck in educational facilities, particularly for ex-G.I.s, education-hungry veterans have opened their own college here.

At the site of the sprawling naval training station here, the veterans opened a privately operated, non-profit, co-educational college and technical institute this month.

When the navy declared the huge training station surplus, veterans' organizations went into immediate action. They saw the station's vast dormitories, apartments, classrooms, laboratories, machine shops and recreational facilities as the answer to two major veterans' problems: Lack of educational facilities and housing accommodations while attending school.

Raise $250,000 Fund.
Backed by local business men, encouraged by the United States department of education and other federal agencies, veterans' organizations in north Idaho and eastern Washington formed a private non-profit corporation. They called it Farragut College and Technical Institute, Inc., and set out to raise an initial operating fund of $250,000.

Veterans' groups plunked down sums like $10,000 and $15,000 to start the ball rolling. Private clubs and individual citizens came across. The veterans hired a college president, Dr. Joseph H. Kusner, formerly of Florida, who is a veteran. He rounded up a faculty.

The school was chartered by the state of Idaho and acceptable credits were assured. Federal problems of acquiring the property were hurdled.

In Picturesque Country.
Farragut, where hundreds of thousands of United States naval men were trained during the war, is on the shores of Lake Pend Oreille—a picturesque spot in the heart of north Idaho's timber and lake country. It has ample facilities for 15,000 students, including housing for single students, married students and faculty.

Courses in the liberal arts and in the technical and trade fields will be taught by streamlined methods.

Erosion Raids Take High Toll

CHICAGO.—Erosion's raids on soil fertility are costing the United States nearly four billion dollars annually, according to the Middle West Soil Improvement committee.

"The extent of this yearly damage is indicated by recent U. S. Soil Conservation service estimates that wind and water erosion removes 21 times as much plant food from the nation's farm soil each year as is taken out by crops sold off that land," the committee reports.

Dr. H. H. Bennett, chief of the conservation service, places the annual loss as a result of uncontrolled erosion and water runoff at $3,844,000,000. He estimates that nearly one billion acres of the nation's farm lands need soil conservation treatment to protect them from erosion and to maintain their productivity.

It is clearly evident that eternal vigilance is a 'must' if our greatest farm asset—soil fertility—is to be preserved," Dr. Bennett insists.

"The recent wartime burden on farm land to produce record yields to speed victory has been succeeded by an equally heavy peacetime load to produce crops to meet the world-wide food crisis," the soil improvement group declares, adding that "the only remedy that will rescue overworked farm land from eventual fertility exhaustion is a program of effective soil rebuilding."

Pointing out that any soil rehabilitating plan should be well-rounded, the committee says it should include the raising of legumes to improve soil tilth and to increase its resources of organic matter, regular crop rotation, steady use of mixed fertilizer containing nitrogen, phosphorus and potash, and pasture improvement.

No Dueling Pistol Till 200 Years After Gun Invented
The pistol was not used in a duel of honor until 1759, or more than 200 years after its invention, says Collier's. Although dueling was gradually being suppressed, the introduction of the weapon increased its prevalence and resulted in the development of the dueling pistol.
For nearly a century afterward, the gunsmiths of Europe vied with one another in making these firearms, pairs of which, enclosed in elaborate cases, sold at prices ranging up to $4,000.

TIMBER: Debate Control

Government versus private control of the 345 million acres of privately owned timber-land occupied delegates to the first congress of the American Forestry association since 1905. The need for some sort of effective management of the nation's lumber resources is pointed up by an 11 per cent drop in reserves since 1933.

Calling for government control of private timber-land, comprising 57 per cent of the forest area in the U. S., Secretary of Agriculture Anderson stated that current annual lumber cutting exceeds new growth by 50 per cent. Because of the steady reduction in reserves, the total now stands at a low of 1 trillion, 601 billion board feet.

Samuel T. Dana, dean of the school of forestry of the University of Michigan, pushed the so-called Higgins Lake proposals for private management drawn up earlier this year by 18 forestry and conservation experts at Higgins Lake, Mich. Justifying private operations, the proposals called for an intensive educational campaign to emphasize importance of timber resources to the nation's welfare.

PARIS: Italian Pact

Following a pitched warning from Soviet Foreign Minister Molotov against the division of the world into eastern and western blocs, the Paris peace conference approved the proposed treaty for Italy.

Molotov

Because it considered the treaty opposed to the interests of its Yugoslav ally, Russia led the bitter fight against adoption of the pact. Championing Yugoslavia's cause, Molotov shouted that Russia would not permit the western powers to dictate to the "new Slavic democracies," and reiterated Lenin's axiom that "a people which takes its destiny into its own hands is invincible."

The Russian bloc's objections to the treaty centered against establishment of a strong, neutral governor for the key port of Trieste, and creation of a new Italo-Yugoslav border.

A strong governor would deprive the mixed Italian-Yugoslav population of its self-rule, Molotov declared in calling for a powerful constituent assembly. An alliance of Italian Yugoslav Communists would have given the Reds control of the strategic city.

The new Italo-Yugoslav border leaves the Slovene population of Gorizia and the Isonzo valley in Italy as a racial minority, Yugoslavia charged.

MEAT: Predict Plenty

In pressing the administration to decontrol livestock, the beef industry advisory committee declared that there were sufficient cattle in the country to meet the requirements of the next 12 months but they were being kept from market because of price inequities.

Citing department of agriculture statistics, the committee said there were 80 million head of cattle and calves on farms Jan. 1, of which 40 million were available for meat. Despite heavy marketings this summer, 52 million head of cattle were available for meat by Sept. 24-30.

Estimating that supplies will be fully 15 per cent above requirements, the committee concluded that there would be 72.5 pounds of beef and veal per person from Oct. 1, 1946, to Oct. 1, 1947. This compares with 60.6 pounds per capita in the 15 year prewar base period.

GREECE:
Inflation-Ridden

With goods and "hard" money scarce, inflation is riding high in Greece. A full meal without wine now costs more than $4 and second-hand clothing sells at $150 to $200 and shoes at $30.

As in all inflation-ridden countries, the dollar commands a premium in national exchange. While the official rate is 500 drachmas to the dollar, speculators offer as much as 6,500 drachmas for a dollar. By selling dollars, then reconverting their drachmas to U. S. currency again, Americans can make a pretty profit.

Indicative of the Greek government's desire for "hard" money, employees of the American embassy who are paid in gold flown from the U. S. receive 17,000 drachmas per dollar. This is three times the ordinary official rate.

Because there is no food rationing or price control over staple items, Greek white collar workers paid on fixed salaries are especially hit. To procure essentials, they must deal in the black market, make connections with government or business officials, or sell personal belongings.

WAGES: Production Bonus

In addressing the American Management association in Boston, F. D. Newbury, vice president of Westinghouse Electric corporation, advanced a new formula for keeping postwar wages and prices within bounds.

Newbury's plan calls for maintaining basic wage and salary rates at their present level and payment to employees of additional income in proportion to increased volume of production, ability to pay and efficiency of the individual organization.

Stating that the proposal could not be called a profit-sharing plan, he said that the bonus payments would be considered as part of operating costs, with employees entitled to the maximum a company could afford to pay. Terming the plan highly flexible, Newbury said that an enterprise could easily readjust its wages if business declined.

ARMY: Charge Misconduct

Claiming that he possessed information involving highly placed army officials connected with the Nazi war crimes trials of misconduct with wives of the prosecuted bigwigs, Sen. Hugh B. Mitchell (Dem., Wash.) revealed his intention of asking the senate war investigating committee to make a full-blown inquiry into the charges.

Mitchell declared that he had been informed that Frau von Schirach, wife of the Hitler youth leader who received 20 years, was one of the wives of the Nazi leaders who was guest of honor at champagne parties allegedly thrown by the accused army officials. Wives of high S.S. officers under investigation for war crimes also were invited to the "dimly lit" drinking jousts.

The senator stated that he had been informed that Heinrich Hoffman, former personal photographer of Adolf Hitler, served as a go-between for the women and U. S. officials. Detained to identify prominent Nazis, Hoffman was said to be in the pay of the American government.

RELIGION: Urges Action

Declaring that the church must show cause for its continued existence and promote the interests of all classes of society, the Rev. Dr. Oscar F. Blackwelder of the executive council of the United Lutheran church outlined a broad program for aggressive action at the denomination's convention in Cleveland.

On the home front, Dr. Blackwelder said the church must:

—Overcome economic and social injustices, with the watchword being abundance for all rather than scarcity for profit.

—Promote equality for racial and religious minorities and see that every qualified person has the right to vote.

—Emphasize the dignity of the individual to offset the cheapening factor of the wholesale loss of life in war and postwar cruelties.

On the international front, Dr. Blackwelder called for continuation of U. S. relief from its comparative abundance, promotion of good-will among peoples of the world, and cultivation of the spirit of forgiveness to advance reconciliation.

WORLD FORCE: Fond Hope

In resigning as senior American representative on the United Nations military committee, which is engaged in drawing up plans for a world police force, Gen. George C. Kenny declared that such an organization was the only assurance of peace but it may take years and years to accomplish.

Desire for security and protection of national sovereignty are the two most formidable obstacles to formation of a world force, the general said.

Large standing armies are no assurance of permanent security, Kenny declared. As for national sovereignty, he cited the sacrifice of individual authority of the 13 American colonies for participation in an all-powerful federal union dedicated to the interest of all.

To achieve real security, peace-loving nations must be persuaded to permit passage of international troops over their border to meet an aggressor and contribute to a world force, Kenny stated. Having resigned to become commanding general of the strategic air command, Kenny will be succeeded as senior U. S. representative by Adm. Richmond Kelly Turner.

Record Sardine Haul

Protein-hungry Americans seemed to be assured of good supplies of sardines as fishermen scored a record haul on opening day of the Pacific coast season. Jap-American crew members of the "Nancy Rose," operating out of Los Angeles, are shown with their portion of the initial catch of 8,000 tons. The West Indies are the other source of sardines in the Americas.

ITALY: Riot in Rome

Angered by plans of the public works department to lay off help at a project, 30,000 Italian workers surged onto Viminale palace in Rome and waged a stormy protest against the action. Armed with carbines and sabers, police battled to hold off the mob, with truckloads of troops summoned to provide reinforcements.

While police were able to hold off most of the throng from the palace, some demonstrators broke into the building and moved as far as Premier Alcide de Gasperi's office, wrecking furniture as they went along. Meanwhile, the premier just arrived in Rome after attending the first post-fascism press convention.

Jolted by the uprising, which cost several lives and injured over 100 persons, government officials attributed the riot to hostile political forces trying to embarrass the moderate De Gasperi's coalition regime. Though admitting plans to lay off help, the government asserted that it was negotiating to absorb the discharged workers on other projects.

AROUND THE HOUSE

Line cupboard drawers with oil-cloth. Then a once-over with a damp cloth now and then will keep them clean.

When in a hurry to get at your ironing, dampen the clothes with hot water instead of cold. They will dampen more quickly.

Your "extra special" china should be put away with care so that it will not scratch. In between each piece of china place paper doilies a little larger than the piece being stored.

White spots on furniture, caused by water, hot dishes, or alcohol, may be removed by rubbing the stains with camphorated oil or oil of peppermint.

When putting away household linens from the weekly wash, place them at the bottom of each pile so that all have an equal amount of usage.

When wringing clothes avoid undue wringing. Shake out the wrinkles while clothes are still wet. Ironing will be much easier.

This Home-Mixed Cough Relief Is Truly Surprising

So Easy. No Cooking. Big Saving. You may not know it, but, in your own kitchen, you can easily prepare a really surprising relief for coughs due to colds. It's old-fashioned—your mother probably used it—but for real results, it's hard to beat.

First, make a syrup by stirring 2 cups granulated sugar and one cup of water a few moments, until dissolved. No cooking needed. It's no trouble. Or you can use corn syrup or liquid honey, instead of sugar syrup. Then get 2½ ounces of Pinex from any druggist. This is a special compound of proven ingredients, in concentrated form, well known for quick action in throat and bronchial irritations.

Put the Pinex into a pint bottle, and fill up with your syrup. Thus you make a full pint of splendid cough syrup, and you get about four times as much for your money. It never spoils. Children love its pleasant taste.

And for quick relief, it's a wonder. It loosens the phlegm, soothes the irritated membranes, eases the soreness, makes breathing easy, and lets you get restful sleep. Just try it, and if not pleased, your money will be refunded.

Livestock Auction Was Big Success

Annual Auction Sale of the Coke County Livestock Ass'n last Saturday was highly successful, according to Wilson Bryan, president of the organization, who says it was the best sale the association has ever held. Mr. Bryan and officers of the group are grateful for the cooperation which they received from ranchmen and business firms.

While exact figures are not available it is announced that proceeds from the sale will be sufficient to clear the association of debt and assure exhibitors of a fine premium list for the annual livestock show next February.

The sale was run off in good shape by Col. Don Estes and his assistant from the Producers Auction Co., and A. E. Latham was the outstanding bidder. The Robert Lee man kept the bidding going at a rapid pace and he bought and paid for a number of animals that sold well over their market value. Men like Latham are real boosters.

The association hopes to have a list of donations for publication in The Observer next week. Any solicitors who did not turn in complete reports are requested to do so at once.

The roping exhibitions were run off in good shape, too, with Frank McCabe and Delmir Sheppard in charge. The former rounded up a bunch of good Brahma calves for the occasion and they may be used in other roping events this fall. Results of the roping follow:

Boys, under 14—1st, Daniel Blair, Sanco, time 29.7 seconds. Prize, $15 leather jacket donated by Cox-Rushing-Greer. 2nd, Wayne Arrott; 3rd, Charles Arrott.

Boys over 14—1st, Elton Millican, Edith, 29.5 seconds. Prize, $35 pair boots given by M. L. Leddy. 2nd, Ledrew Arrott; 3rd, Weldon Schooler.

1st Men's Jackpot, $4 entry fee—1st, Bob Fields, 22.8 seconds; 2nd, Wayne McCabe; 3rd, Jeff Blair.

2nd Jackpot—Bill Doran, 15.1 seconds; 2nd, Doyle Riley; 3rd, Wayne McCabe.

3rd Jackpot—Bud McGefray, 16.6 seconds; 2nd, Bill Doran; 3rd, Finis Millican.

County 4-H Committee

Officers of the Coke county 4-H clubs and sponsors met in the Robert Lee high school gym Monday, Oct. 14, with Miss Mary Pearl Bearden and Travis Hicks, county leaders, to select officers for the county 4-H committee. The following were named: LeDrew Arrott, president; Weldon Schooler, vice president; Nelda Ann Sheppard, secretary-treasurer. Following the business meeting games were played and refreshments were served.

Church Young People Honor Pastor and Wife

Rev. and Mrs. J. C. Campbell were honored with a reception and dinner Sunday evening by the Methodist Youth Fellowship group in the church basement. The affair was intended as a farewell courtesy to the esteemed pastor and his wife who left this week for the annual Methodist conference.

Autumn decorations were used, with long stems of ivy, and red berries laid around the table and pink and white candles were placed down the middle of the table. White frosty leaves hung from the ceiling were made attractive by red lights. A pink rose was placed near the napkin of each of the honored guests, later being pinned on them as favors.

The dinner consisted of chicken, dressing, cream peas, potato salad, cranberry sauce, cake and iced tea.

Patty Taylor read a very appropriate scripture verse for the occasion, and the Campbells were presented with a beautiful china dish as a remembrance.

Members present included Jo Ann Bilbo, Frances Parker, Jean Varnadore, Betty Jo Mauldin, Wanda Mauldin, Nellie Boykin, Patty Taylor, Dixie Taylor, Janet Bilbo, Charlene McCutchen and Ava Lou Tubb. Invited guests were Jarvis Littlefield, Willis Wayne Smith, Billy Bert Duncan, Billy Higgins and Douglas Dean.

Mrs. Coke Austin received word this week that her cousin, Lt. Ed Roberts, had been killed in a car accident near Phoenix, Ariz., where he has been stationed. He is from Comanche, Texas, and is survived by a wife and small child. He served three years overseas in the Infantry and returned to the States early in the year.

Mr. and Mrs. Bailey Russell are spending a few days in Liberty Hill with her mother, Mrs. W. O. Stubblefield, and other relatives.

Mrs. W. B. Clift was taken to Shannon hospital Thursday afternoon for medical attention.

Legion Wants Auxiliary; Discuss Building Plans

A good crowd of more than 40 members turned out for the American Legion meeting Tuesday night, and an interesting two-hour session was held with Commander J. C. Strickland presiding.

The post voted to sponsor the organization of a Women's Auxiliary unit and set Nov. 19 as the date when district leaders of the Auxiliary will meet with local women to explain the merits of a Legion Auxiliary unit. It was pointed out that wives, mothers, daughters and sisters of veterans are eligible for membership in the Auxiliary.

The matter of securing a suitable meeting place was discussed and resulted in the naming of a building committee consisting of Bryan Yarbrough, Marcus Turner and Freeman Clark. They were instructed to investigate ways and means of getting a building and will consult an architect to draw up plans and specifications.

The next regular meeting night will fall on Tuesday, Nov. 5, but this being election day the Legion voted to postpone its meeting until Tuesday, Nov. 19.

Mrs. Tressie Hubbard, Mrs. Randall and Maud Meharg, all of Ft. Worth, attended the funeral of J. C. Rabb here last Thursday. Also attending were Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Coulson and Mrs. A. A. Rutherford of Sterling City.

For Sale—Few head of ewes. Ed Hickman, Robert Lee.

Dr. and Mrs. B. E. Daniel were in San Angelo Tuesday where they visited the Warren Scotts and W. E. Dixons.

Practical Gifts Best Suited for New Baby

YOUNG mothers receiving gifts for their new babies, plead for those that are practical, according to Catherine Tidemanson in an article in nationally circulated Capper's Farmer.

"Too often gifts are chosen because they are clever and cute," she writes in the magazine read by 1,300,000 farm families.

"Mothers appreciate gifts of shirts, nighties and suits of clothing in 1- to 3-year-old size that the child can grow into. Also useful are simple, durable toys that can be boiled. Sterilizers and bottle warmers and blankets are especially practical. "In the furniture line for babies, one of the popular new pieces is a high chair which can be converted into a small playpen.

"Homemade gifts for the new baby add a special touch. Even if you're a beginning knitter, tiny infant clothing will be easy to make."

Among other gift suggestions for the baby which mothers have found practical, she adds, are rubber panties, sleepers, sweaters for the child to grow into. Custard cups for heating food, funnels, glass cups or pint measuring cups marked in ounces, juice squeezers, small strainers and tongs will help mother in the kitchen.

Toys may not be useful at first, but the child soon will be old enough to appreciate them. Teething rings, beads, waterproof soft balls, wooden cymbals and rattles are nice gifts. When buying toys, the writer admonishes, take care there are no sharp corners or removable parts that could cause injury to the child.

The time of the year the child is born should always be considered in selecting the most appropriate gifts, the writer concludes.

Abilene-San Angelo Motor Coaches Sold

The Abilene daily this week said the permit of the Abilene-San Angelo Motor coaches has been purchased by the Sunset Stages, W. L. Murphy, general manager and partner of the Sunset Stages, said Saturday.

Subject to approval of the railroad commission, the purchase will become effective Nov. 1 when operation of both lines will be directed by the new owner. The coaches operate between Abilene and San Angelo.

Murphy purchased the coaches from Bob McKissick of Abilene who has been their owner and operator since Jan. 1, when he bought them from the Abilene-View Bus Co. McKissick plans to devote his time to a new line for Robert Lee coaches, Midland-Lubbock division. He said it will run from Lamesa to Midland, Midland to Rankin, and Rankin to Irran.

Rev. and Mrs. J. C. Campbell left this week to attend the annual Methodist conference at San Antonio. Rev. H. F. Hamner, district superintendent, heads the delegation from the San Angelo district. A. program becomes effective on Nov. 1, taking over functions of the Farm Security Administration and the Emergency Crop and Feed Loan division of the Farm Credit Administration. Hence Mr. Lasseter's address will be particularly timely.

Salmon-Tomato Pie Has Taste Appeal

There's true flavor teamwork when salmon and tomatoes are combined in a pie shell, writes Marjorie Griffin, Rural Home editor of nationally-circulated Capper's Farmer.

"If you are short on time, dispense with the crust," she advises homemakers in the magazine read by 1,300,000 farm families. "Just have a fish and vegetable casserole. Grated cheese is a delightful topping."

TOMATO-SALMON PIE

3 tbsp. chopped onion
1/4 c. chopped green pepper
1/4 c. margarine
2 1/2 c. canned tomatoes
3 tbsp. flour
1/2 tsp. salt
1/8 tsp. pepper
2 tsp. sugar
1 1/2 lb. can salmon
grated cheese
1 unbaked pie crust

Saute onion and green pepper in margarine. Add the tomatoes, flour, seasonings and sugar. Cook about 15 minutes. Fit pie crust into baking dish; spread salmon over top of it. Cover with the tomato sauce. Bake at 400° F. for 20 to 25 minutes.

Pudding Ice Cream Keeps Family Happy

It's easy to keep the family happy with plenty of ice cream, what with a modern refrigerator and a supply of fruit and cream, honey or sirup on hand, according to the Country Cooking editor of nationally-circulated Capper's Farmer.

The recipe for Pudding Ice Cream below, won first prize in the recent Capper's Farmer Refrigerator Dessert contest for Mrs. Bertha Oltman, Bay County, Michigan.

PUDDING ICE CREAM

1 tsp. unflavored gelatin
1/4 cup milk
1 1/2 c. milk
1 pkg. vanilla pudding mix
1/2 c. white corn sirup
1 1/2 c. cream
1 tsp. vanilla
1/4 c. black walnuts

Soften gelatin in the 1/4 cup of milk. Add remaining milk to pudding mix; place over low heat and stir until it boils and thickens. Stir softened gelatin into pudding to dissolve it. Remove at once from heat. Add sirup, cream and vanilla. Pour into refrigerator trays; freeze until slightly firm. Then scrape from tray into bowl; beat with rotary beater till smooth but not melted. Stir in chopped nuts. Return to tray and freeze. Serves 6.

Learned His Lesson

THE memory expert had been giving his turn in the village hall. The audience had not been enthusiastic and the questions asked by the audience at the end of the entertainment really infuriated the man.

Then one dear old lady came up and asked him to what he attributed his remarkable memory.

"Well, madam," he explained, without a smile, "when I was in the Air Force, I once had to make a parachute jump from a great height. Just as I jumped, the pilot leaned over the side and yelled, 'Hey, you've forgotten your parachute!' Believe it, that taught me a lesson, and I've never forgotten anything since."

Serve Sandwiches the Family Likes
(See Recipes Below)

Sandwich Magic

Sandwiches, those mighty American favorites, are a wonderful food for lunches, snacks or entertaining. To think that two slices of bread with a delectable filling can contain so many foodstuffs good for health is indeed a great achievement.

Almost any type of filling may be used, depending upon the use of the sandwich. There is no limit on the type of bread to be used, either, and buns are often used to great advantage in ham or cheese sandwiches, or soft-filling sandwiches.

Probably the most popular use for the sandwich is as a snack or a lunch box item, but there are daintier types to use with salad for entertaining.

Here are several interesting types of fillings that go well with school lunches. All the recipes make enough for several sandwiches, and fillings may be kept in a jar or covered dish in the refrigerator so they will last.

Potato Salad Filling.
1 1/4 cups diced cooked potatoes
2 hard cooked eggs, minced
1 sweet cucumber pickle, minced
1/2 teaspoon chopped onion
Salt and pepper to taste
Mayonnaise

Combine potatoes, eggs, pickle and seasonings. Moisten with mayonnaise to a spreading consistency. Use for white or whole wheat bread.

Deviled Peanut Butter.
1/2 cup deviled ham
1/2 cup peanut butter
2 tablespoons chopped pickle
Mayonnaise

Combine peanut butter, ham and pickle. Season to taste and moisten to spreading consistency with mayonnaise. This is good with a graham or dark bread.

Egg and Celery Filling.
4 hard cooked eggs
2 dill pickles, chopped
1 tablespoon vinegar
Salt and pepper

LYNN SAYS:

Use these short-cuts: If a recipe calls for soured milk and you do not have any at home, use 2 teaspoons of vinegar to 1/2 cup of evaporated milk and let stand until it sours.

When broiling steaks and chops, place 2 slices of bread in the pan under the broiling rack to prevent fat from splattering in broiler.

In cleaning fish, prevent the odor from clinging to the hands by rinsing them in chilled water before touching fish. Wash afterwards in a solution of as hot as possible salt water.

To sugar dates, doughnuts, etc., place sugar in a paper bag, add dates and shake.

When preparing green or wax beans, it is quicker and easier to cut them crosswise with scissors, than trying to cut them with a paring knife.

To warm leftover rolls, sprinkle with hot water, place in a paper bag and set in oven for a few minutes.

Stripes as a pattern in wallpaper, drapery fabrics or upholstery are nearly always a satisfaction. Stripes have the quality of making a room seem orderly, airier and cleaner. And they relieve an over-patterned room, going equally well with period, peasant or modern decoration.

To keep flowers for table decoration over a fairly long period dip the stems into hot water before placing them in a bowl containing cold water. The stems expand with the heat and take up more moisture.

Steers Come From Behind To Down Longhorns 13 to 7

through for 10 yds. On the next play Littlefield plunged over for a touchdown. Duncan converted the extra point, carrying the ball over.

Bronte was unable to gain after taking the kickoff and opened the 4th quarter by punting to Robert Lee's 37. Percifull connected with a pass to Fowler who was down on the Bronte 27. On the next play Percifull broke through the line and ran for a touchdown. A pass for the extra point failed and the Steers were leading 13 to 7.

Robert Lee drove down to the Bronte 12 yard line in the closing minutes of the game, losing the ball there on downs. Bronte was held without gain also and punted out to their 23. Bobby Vaughan intercepted a Robert Lee pass attempt on his 15 yd. line on the game ended.

The Steers ran up a total of 11 first downs, while Bronte made four, all of them in the first half. The teams are well matched for size, with Bronte having a small edge in weight. The Longhorns were well coached, had some excellent plays and have improved rapidly since the season opened.

Robert Lee played a fine game, but they seemed dazed at their opponents strength and didn't really get to hitting hard until the second half. The boys were pretty badly bruised but no serious injuries resulted. Their tackling and blocking could have been better and Doug Dean's snapbacks from center weren't too good.

The day's honors should go to Billie Herron of Bronte, a big, rangy end who was in every play, and Will Percifull, Robert Lee quarterback, who directed his team, did all the passing and punting and did some fancy ball carrying on the side.

Robert Lee and Bronte play two games against each other this year, and last week's contest does not count in the conference standing. The real test comes when they meet in Robert Lee on Nov. 21. This will be the final game on the regular schedule and the outcome will no doubt decide the 7-B district championship.

We forgot to state that the spectators at Bronte didn't have a list of the players and their numbers so they could keep the players straight. Oh well, it was a fine autumn day, and a big crowd of Robert Lee fans on hand got the scare of their lives, while Bronte folks were so surprised they couldn't say much either. We'll try it over Nov. 21st.

Comments on the Trial

Last week in Clovis, New Mexico, Jose Sena was given two years for stealing a package of cigarettes and here in Coke county a man who because of a suspicion was freed. Both trials are over, but the question of crime and punishment goes on.

Afterwards, the din of the courtroom gone from your ears, the speeches don't leave you much. As the highlights stand out in your memory, you see defense attorney McDonald as the auctioneer, chanting "Home, Sweet Home," urging every man's right to kill, defense attorney Tupper, as the tap dancer, whispering and shouting the chorus, slapping his hands and banging his fist to the rhythm of his oratory, and District Attorney Logan as Casper Milque-toast, apologetically defending his own conduct of the case.

You wonder why when the show was over the twelve good men didn't go home with the rest of us. It's hard to look back at it as a trial.

The results, though, are real. We are happy to see any young man who may never kill again stay out of jail. Us husbands feel reassured, having been told how to eliminate competition, but it makes you a bit nervous to think that whenever two men and a woman live in the same house, a suspicion is reasonable, murder is justified. Quite aside from this case, you wonder about the written unwritten law.

Woman, normally, is a one-man animal. If a man fails to keep her, may he not be at fault? Should his own failure and frustration free him from all restraint? Should marriage permit an unconventional woman to mark her conquests for death, her husband following as the legal executioner? Are there not two sides to these questions? —A Subscriber.

Murder in Plain Sight

by GERALD BROWN

W.N.U. FEATURES

Duke McCale, private detective, is guarding the wedding presents at the Bigelow mansion. He senses that old Miss Adelaide Bigelow is afraid of something more than theft. He meets the bride and groom-to-be, Veronica and Curt Vallaincourt, and Veronica's mother, Sybil, and her brother and sister, Stephen and Victoria. McCale learns that Vallaincourt is a free spender and gambler. He also finds out there was a curious episode in the lives of Stephen Bigelow and his wife. There is a strange tension at the mansion. Christopher Storm, who had once been rejected by Veronica, seems particularly ill at ease. Stephen is also notably jumpy. Karen goes out, and returns in an hour.

CHAPTER VII

Comes in all decked out for the night life. Soup and fish. Gave me the once-over and had a few quick straight ones without more than a glance at me sitting there with my tongue hanging out. When the butler stuck his snoot in the door, he spat out, 'Tell my mother I'm going out this evening.' Not his wife, mind you—his mother.

"Mama's big boy."
"Oh, sure. He and his wife don't get along, I take it?"
"Your surmise is a good one, I think."

"Well, while he was having his snort, the wife comes in. I'd been wondering who'd been playing chopsticks all night until she stood there in the doorway, looking daggers at him. 'Going out, Steve?' she says, and he walks by her without a glance. She put her hand out, but he brushed her off."

"Then King, the major-domo, calls her to the phone and she goes out."

"She had a phone call?"
"Yep. After which she banged heck out of the piano for another half hour."

"She went out, you say?"
"Yes, she did. She wasn't gone long. About an hour. When she came home, she messed around the ivories until hubby rolled in, about twelve o'clock. Then the place quieted down for the night."

"Stephen came home late?"
"Yes. He must have heard her going in, 'cause a door opened upstairs. The piano stopped. He shouted something or other at her that I didn't get. Then a couple more doors slammed."

"That the story?"
"All but mamma. She stopped King in the hall and asked for Stephen. She almost dropped when he told her sonny boy was doing the town. Then she yelled for Karen. When the butler reported that Karen had gone out too, she made a beeline for the upstairs. In about twenty minutes, she came down looking like the Merry Widow—and just as worn out. She called a cab and made her exit."

"When did she get home?"
"Just before Stevey-boy. She came in, or floated in, would be more like it. She had just got the shock of her life. No act this time."

McCale nodded thoughtfully and they fell silent for a few minutes. The figment of his imagination was jumping about wildly. He was surer than ever that tragedy stalked the Bigelows. Finally with a gesture—half disdain, half despair—he launched into a description of the events witnessed by Ann and himself at the Abbey.

Miss Adelaide Quits The Pretense

When he had finished, he cocked an eyebrow, looking interrogatively at his friend and employee.

Rocky said at last slowly, "The thing that sticks out farthest, chief, at least as I see it—"

"Is what?"
"Is what Mr. Curt Vallaincourt, bridegroom-to-be, seems to be as busy as a bee, painting himself right into a corner."

At four-thirty that afternoon, Duke McCale stood before the fireplace in the upstairs drawing room of the Beacon street house. He was facing Adelaide Bigelow, who was huddled in the corner of a Victorian sofa.

McCale had been talking quietly, in a voice which surprised himself at its own compassion.

"You'll have to pardon me if I say you have been—shall I say—extremely British about this situation. You have made a concession here, an appeasement there, until it is quite futile to take any action. You have called me in months too late."

"Mr. McCale," there was a light touch of hauteur in her tone in spite of herself, "you are presuming too much. I called you in to look after the house during the week of the wedding."

"I'm sorry, but that is not the truth. Never once have I believed you came to my office with that in mind. I knew you were in trouble even though you withheld your confidence. Even now you will not admit it, even to yourself. I have gone on that premise from the first—that you wanted me to find out things without even the responsibility on your part of telling me what."

"I wish to withdraw from the case, Miss Bigelow. There's nothing I can do for you."

"Oh, no!" The words, half muffled in the heavy atmosphere, magnified themselves in the vastness of the room.

The fire crackled fiercely for a long minute, while the essence of fear hung in the air like a strong accent.

"It is necessary for me, since you will not confide in me, to tell you exactly what it is that is bothering you—what it is that you fear. You see, I know. What is it?"

Miss Bigelow turned once more to the room and McCale saw into her mind quite easily.

So many things are not as we want them to be, nor as we believed them to be," she said.

Her eyes clouded. "What do you know?"

"I know that a certain young man of undeniable physical attraction is marrying thirty million dollars next week. I know that in your subconscious mind, you believe him to be an adventurer. I know that you should have investigated him months ago—that you are also bothered by the fact that your entire family seems jealous of his marriage to your niece. Not jealous, mind, of his perhaps having the benefits of a great fortune, but jealous in a more personal way, as if secretly they were all in love with him and wanted him for themselves."

He stood behind her looking over her shoulder while he talked.

"You are so—right," she faltered. Her eyes lit up in admiration. "How in the world—"

"I am a trained observer. It is my job to see what others miss. Then, too, I have sources of information."

A Strange Will Complicates Things

She crossed to the windows again, searching the outside hastily. What in the world is she looking for there? he pondered. Is she anxious to have this over with before the others get back? The family was having another of the interminable wedding rehearsals. Or was it some other thing she sought in the darkening afternoon? She had glanced at the clock more than once, he noted.

He crushed his cigarette in an ashtray, going over to her again. He stood behind her, looking over her shoulder while he talked. There was nothing to see. The sailor still slumped against the gateway, trying to read a paper in the unsteady glow of a street light. A woman passed in a shiny silk raincoat, a red scarf whipping out from her neck in a sudden gust of wind.

"I know," he went on, his voice low and impatient now, "that you must have another reason, for surely you are not caught in the trap this fellow sets for the unwary. Are you afraid Veronica will lavish too much of the Bigelow money on him, forgetting the others? You see, I have heard that she inherits the bulk of it upon her marriage."

She sought his eyes again, and the queer secret duel that they had all the while been fighting underneath the smooth surface was ended suddenly and completely.

Adelaide Bigelow was giving in. McCale could tell. It was in her eyes, all the pent-up gnawing worry of something horrible and unclean. She wasn't going to hold out on him any more, and now maybe he could help.

"I will tell you," she said simply. "Veronica's father, my brother," she began, motioning him to sit, "was a hard man, I suppose, but not unusual for his time, I think. He believed that women have no heads for business—cannot handle money. He was heir to my father's business and fortune of about twelve million dollars. With real estate and clever investing, he more than doubled that fortune. There was no male heir to whom he could leave it, you see."

"There was his adopted son, Stephen," McCale put in quickly. "Yes," she hesitated, "but not his own flesh and blood. But there was certainly Stephen." She edged over to the window again.

She faced him from the recess of the window's bay, the high red velvet draperies dwarfing her in the elongated shadows. Her eyes, for a moment, seemed to play hide-and-seek with a memory.

"At one time, I think he intended for Stephen to inherit. But Stephen, in his eyes at least, proved himself unworthy. Sybil always spoiled him. He grew up precocious, extravagant. He ran away once and joined the navy. A bitter experience for him. The more so when he found that Joel could no doubt have procured an appointment to Annapolis for him. He did manage M.I.T. by the skin of his teeth. Marriage to Karen has straightened him out somewhat."

"So the Bigelow fortune is held in trust?"

"Yes and no." Miss Adelaide rushed on now as though pressed for time. "My brother did not believe in having money standing idle for always. He wrote a most peculiar will."

She steadied herself, as if giving information on so private a matter required a supreme effort.

"I think he believed we would all benefit eventually. I—I believed he counted on Veronica's marrying someone whose background we all knew. You see, Sybil and I have to agree on Veronica's choice."

"Rather hard on Veronica, I should say."

"Oh, yes." She was trying hard to explain it as she saw it. "But he thought—"

The old voice rose now, a hysterical note in it. "He wished a man to have control of it. Veronica's husband gains control of it to do with as he will."

"God!" McCale exploded. The spool of his brain turned swiftly in a convulsive unreeling. The plot it brought to mind left him numb—by its malevolence.

It was his turn to go to the window. He stood looking into the blanket of fog, seeing nothing for a moment. He felt lost in the stunned silence of his own thoughts. Behind him, he heard Miss Bigelow sigh.

"Why didn't you come to me before?" was all he could say. And his voice sounded so loud in the stillness that it seemed almost to penetrate the outside. As if he had heard, the loitering sailor across the way actually looked up once at the windows. McCale laughed harshly.

"Now you are caught in a really diabolical web. Too late to extricate yourselves without a scandal."

Light fled from her old eyes as inwardly she contemplated such a thing. He felt cruel and vicious and hard, but at least rational, and was not quite able to comprehend her attitude.

Tragedy Strikes Suddenly

"We can still expose this fellow-me-lad. It's quite possible that I can dig up something in a few days."

She joined him in the bay window, shaking her head in a quick gesture of distaste.

"Impossible," she murmured. "Then why, in all justice to yourself, did you call me in at all?" he wanted to know.

"I think I wanted to be sure."

He left her staring out into the rain and went back to the fire.

"Who introduced Curt Vallaincourt into this house?" he asked, raising his eyes to the woman at the window.

But his query went unanswered. For on the instant of bringing his glance to focus on her, he saw her sway as if something outside had struck terror to her heart. He thought for a moment she would fall through the window.

A shot split the silence, forcing a cry from her lips. He believed for one awful moment that someone outside had shot Adelaide, had expected to hear the shattered glass of a windowpane fall to the floor. In one leap, he was at her side. She huddled against him, pointing out and down.

One quick glance and the scene below was forever photographed on the film of his mind. He saw a woman in green running along the by-path of the Common that bisected the hill.
