Steers Lead Scoring Among 8-B Teams

The Robert Lee Steers came out of last week's football melee 40-6 victor over Bangs there Saturday, emerging as the only unbeaten, untied team in District 8-B.

The following account of the game is by Ronnie Baker, local fan and member of the Steers during his high school days here.

With a fired up offense and defense the Steers went to Bangs—

Funeral Services For E. C. Hurley Thursday at RL

In celebration of State Highway Week, October 5 to 10, the Highway Department is holding open house tomorrow, Friday, October 9, in Ballinger.

and we do mean fired up. They went in the air, on the ground, and went as clean players. They stopped the Bangs offense as if they had called the plays.

First Quarter

The Steers received the opening kick-off and returned to near midfield. After Dodson, Gartman, and Thetford carried to a couple of first downs, a third down pass was intercepted by Bangs near the 15 yard line. Bangs hammered for only four yards, then had to punt. After a short return by Thetford, the Steer offense clicked for a 78 yard drive, with Dodson racking up a 51 yard pick-up in one carry, then going from the 2 yard line for the TD, no extras, and the score was 6-0.

Bangs returned the kick-off to the 22 yard line. In three plays they had 4th down and 14 to go. After their short punt down to Thetford at the 49 and about a 10 yard return, the quarter ended.

Second Quarter

Quickly the Steers moved the ball with line smashes by the backs, Wink, Gartman and Dodson. With a second and six situation, Quarterback Thetford gave a fake, rolled to his left, cut through the tackle slot, and romped 30 yards for another Steer touchdown. Thetford then pulled another fake and spot passed to Ricky Hatch over the middle for the extras, so the Steers led by 14-0.

After the kick, the Bangs Dragons drove for about 3 yards, and their fumble was recovered by Thetford at the 30 yard line. The Steers drove to the 8, where they gave the ball back to the Dragons on a fumble.

But the Dragons couldn't go, and punted out to the Steer 48, and the Steers marched back to the Bangs 36, where Thetford tossed an 18 yard pass to Gartman, who took the ball and fought his way to the left side line, and with a good block he went the final 18 yards for a TD. Try for extra points was no good, and the score was 20-0.

Bangs tried to recover, but with two pass interceptions, one by Wink and one by Gartman, the half ended with Robert Lee in possession. Just before the half, Dodson was injured on an off tackle play and Gary Parker replaced him at the fullback slot.

The Community building in Robert Lee will be open to the public from 10 a.m. until 5 p.m. each day. There is no admission. Refreshments will be served by the Hospitality Committee, headed by Mrs. Finis Harmon.

Any person in Coke County is invited to bring items for exhibit. Exhibits are to be brought to the Community Building in Robert Lee Thursday from 1 to 5 p.m.

The public is invited to come to the exhibit at any time during the two day period.

A Federal Hill-Burton grant for $110,000 for building new hospital space and renovating the old at West Coke Memorial Hospital has been approved and the money will be available by the time the final plans and specifications are completed and bids let for the work.

This official information reached R. B. Vandiver, hospital administrator Thursday. Bonds voted in the election in April are being sold to match the Federal grant, the entire project to cost around $220,000.

The plans are the same as tentatively announced earlier in the year. The old hospital is to be largely converted to a Type III Nursing Home, for elderly patients who have to be hospitalized. Such patients are hospitalized now in regular hospital facilities, but under the new arrangement, this section will be especially dedicated to their use.

As explained by the Administrator, rooms and facilities not being used by such patients may be used by other types of patients if needed.

MEMORIAL DONATIONS

Memorial donations are now being accepted for furniture and equipment. Money may be pledged now for such a memorial, and plaques will be placed on whatever is bought with such money, with the names of the donors and of those in whose memory it is given.

The Federal funds are expected to be ready by November 1, and plans now are to be ready to advertise for bids by December 1. Architects are now busy completing plans and specifications.

In addition to matching the locally raised $110,000 for the building, it is understood that Hill-Burton will also match funds donated by private persons for memorials.

The hospital facilities do not include nursing home care for Type I or Type II cases, which do not require hospitalization. There continues to be some interest in building such a home on the part of private capital on the grounds just east of the hospital, but no definite project is yet under way.

Interest has partly depended upon the building of the hospital facilities, and there is some prospect of the nursing home yet being built by private means.

City Faces Problem Treating Water, Use Outgrows Plant

Since Robert Lee water consumption has climbed as high as 500 gallons per minute at times, proper treatment of the water with the present facilities, designed for 200 gallons per minute, has become impossible, Mayor Robert Vaughan told BCD members Tuesday in a review of the water problems presented by the growth of the town and in the increased use of water in general.

With new houses going in and more in sight, the City Commission, meeting Tuesday night, went into a study of what is feasible to be done.

State offices have advised installing a ground storage tank, so that water can be treated and stored at times when the water use is not so heavy, then run from the storage to the tower reservoir or into the mains at the rate of 500 gallons per minute when that is necessary.

The situation is not exactly critical at present, according to the Mayor's report, but the water is not as good as it should be, and even without further growth, if water users are to be assured of good water at all times, it cannot be done by running 500 gallons per minute through a filtering plant designed for only 200 gallons per minute.

GUEST EDITORIAL

Right here we insert an editorial from The Frontiersman, Palmer, Alaska. Readers may draw their own conclusions.

WHAT'S WRONG WITH SUCCESS

"Apparently there are some elements within the hierarchy of the Civil Aeronautics Board who cannot countenance the free enterprise system. There are those within the organization who would penalize, rather than compliment, a firm which is making its own way un-sullied by dollars from a 'benevolent' Uncle Sam."

The words are those of the Ketchikan News. That paper is angry—apparently with plenty of justification—over a threat to the excellent existing commercial airline service to its state.

Briefly, the situation is this. Pan American World Airways—which, it is important to remember, is not a subsidized air carrier—pioneered air service to Alaska and, over the years, has improved it in every particular. Indeed, The News thinks that "... Pan Am has always given better service to us than we really deserved."

Yet there are forces within the CAB which would remove Pan Am from its Alaskan runs and give the service to two other airlines. And these lines are taxpayer subsidized.

The News has an argument based on principle—as well as practicality—here. To quote it again, "We believe in success... We'll always feel that the free enterprise system is the only way—it's been demonstrated countless times here and even abroad when governments there have accepted our system. Then why in the world should we throw out the good and accept the lesser alternative?"

These are good questions, and the principle they represent directly affects every state. They go beyond the question of what airline will or will not be allowed to serve Alaska. And the way in which CAB will answer them will be a matter of great importance.

Tentative plans were announced in January, drawn up by Chakos and Zentner of San Angelo, who since then have been employed as architects, and the tentative plans made final.

The plans call for a total bed capacity, old and new, of 52 patients under crowded conditions, 42 under normal conditions. Twenty rooms are to be added to the 12 rooms of the present hospital.

Built as a County Hospital, Coke

Memorial Hospital, was changed to West Coke last summer, after the State Legislature had passed a bill permitting the voters of Precincts 1 and 3 to form a hospital district.

In an election a majority of the total voters in the two precincts approved the change. The act of the Legislature permitted the levy of a 25 cent tax for hospital purposes. The board levied 15 cents.

The Board of Directors appointed by the Commissioners Court served until the election April 4, this year. Directors elected at that time and serving now are: Fred McCabe, Chairman; Genie Baker, J. E. Quisenberry, T. A. Richardson, Cumbie Ivey, Sr.

The hospital was opened in 1950, built following a bond election for bonds not to exceed $75,000; passed in 1949. The West Coke Hospital District was formed August 17, 1963 — last year.

In the picture, the reader is looking on from the west, the old hospital is at the rear and east, the new in the forefront, west. The operating room, X-ray, and Laboratory will remain at their present location. There will be a new emergency room with drive in entrance on the west, a new nursery and nursery station, new recovery room, doctor's lounge and nurses lounge.

Each of the new rooms will have telephone and communications system, also oxygen installed and private bath.

Construction will be of brick and steel, with the front of native stone.

Observations

(A Personal Word
By The Editor)

The project to build a nursing home for Type I and Type II elderly is not dead, though it has been dormant for some time. Some who worked most to secure it still have hope that, as the new hospital program gets under way and the town moves along someone with the money or credit, capable and reliable, will come in and take on the project.

Title is to be retained to a couple of lots bought for that purpose out of donated funds.

Editor Talking to Himself, Tries To Explain Something

Got to talking to myself here and decided to write it. We've been hearing the candidates talk about "fiscal responsibility." This article is my attempt to explain it to myself, and by the time it's finished hope I understand it better.

Think I'll print it to keep from losing it and some reader may think I better had.

There is something I would like to talk over with you.

Here on the editor's desk at the Observer is a mat for a free ad three columns wide and ten inches long. If we run it, that will be a contribution of $9.00.

The U.S. Treasury Department would like for us to run that ad. Why? To get you to buy U.S. Savings Bonds.

Why this year-around, every year campaign to get you to buy U.S. Savings Bonds? Here is the answer a very pleasant, fine fellow from that Department gave.

"Congress appropriates it. We have to raise the money. This is the only way we have to do it."

Now let's try to figure that out. Not very many newspapers are running as much of this as they are being asked to run. It's a campaign like we had during war time, only it just keeps on and on.

The government is asking you to lend it more money. The people have already loaned the government over three HUNDRED BILLION. The government owes the people that money.

Sometimes you hear it said, "O, that debt will never be paid. We just owe it ourselves anyway."

Is that the way you feel about it when you buy a government bond? No, you expect it to be paid, when you want the money.

It is good only because we think it WILL be paid. And it will, UNLESS—

If people lose confidence in the government's credit, and quit buying those bonds, then the government won't be able to borrow the money to pay yours if you want to cash it.

When the government pays off any bonds now, they do it with money borrowed from somebody else, or borrow more money in its place. Is there any danger that people will begin to lose confidence in the government's credit if the debt continues to rise as it has done for some years?

Do you have a couple of one dollar bills and a five? Read what is on those bills. Probably on the five you will see Federal Reserve Note. You may see that also on the dollar bill, and you may see "Silver Certificate" on it.

Neither the one nor the five will buy anything like what it once would buy. But why can you buy anything with it at all? The paper isn't worth much, is it? The reason you can buy anything with that paper money is that the people who sell to you have confidence that it means what it says.

What you have there is not a thing but the U.S. Government's I.O.U. You believe that the Federal government would give you a dollar for that one. The other fellow believes it. The banks believe. So the banks will still give you silver, if you don't ask for too much, at one time.

But go into the bank and ask for 500 silver dollars, you likely wouldn't get them.

In the past year or two, a lot of people have been slipping into banks and exchanging paper money for silver. Why? It isn't only people collecting coins.

A man with a lot of money told me a few months ago that a good many people he knew who have money are getting hold of all the silver money they can. Why?

It means that an undercurrent of uncertainty about our government credit is running among many people who watch the money situation.

Now if we say the debt doesn't matter, it never will be paid anyway, think about what has happened before to nations that did not pay the debts owed to their own people. It took a wheelbarrow full of money to buy a pair of shoes.

Look again now at that one and at the five. If it is a Federal Reserve note, it means an obligation based upon an obligation, a debt secured by a debt. The bank is allowed to issue it because they hold certain securities — probably U.S. Bonds. If it is based on U. S. Bonds, then it's based on government credit.

If it becomes generally known that the debt will never be paid, then what happens to that credit and that paper you hold in your hand. It becomes worthless.

What does that do to you? The highest salary you can get won't buy the necessities of life under those conditions.

So your money depends upon the responsibility of the government — financial responsibility. Those who use large words sometimes say "fiscal responsibility."

Sometimes you hear that a congressman or a senator seems to be always against something. Before condemning him for that, why not take a closer look at WHAT he is against? It happens often because there are constantly bills, one after another, proposed in Congress without a dollar of income.

PATTERNS FOR PROGRESS

When Industry votes for your community . . . you are the winner

The campaign WTU is conducting to bring new industry to this service area is based upon a platform of economic advantages. That's because profitable operation is the objective of all industry on the move. But when you come right down to it, local enterprise, local activity, local leadership are the deciding factors in winning the race for new industry. That is why when industry votes for your community, your platform is adopted and YOU are the winner.

LAMB-O-RAMA WAS BIG EVENT, LARGE CROWD SEES EXHIBITION

How to cook him and eat him and wear his clothes was demonstrated by experts when the Coke County lamb, perhaps the county's leading agricultural product, came in for full attention at Robert Lee last Thursday.

The Lamb-O-Rama was sponsored by the Family Living and Livestock Committee of the Coke County Committee for Progress, and attended by county agents as well as other agricultural experts and leaders from over a large area of the state.

Edward Cumbie of Bronte, as master of ceremonies, introduced Mrs. Burke Dennis of Gail, Texas, President of the Auxiliary of Texas Sheep and Goat Raisers Association, who in turn introduced Miss Wool of Texas, Miss Lynda Rhea Allen of Sterling City.

The big event received wide attention from area lamb and wool producers and agricultural specialists, such as county agents, home demonstration agents, homemaking teachers, home economists employed by utilities companies, etc.

Exhibits set up included a meat display by Doc Scott of Sonora, which included smoked sausage, smoked lamb. Mrs. Alvie Cole of Sterling City had an exhibition of lamb pelts which had been tanned and dyed. Mrs. W. T. Roach of Robert Lee exhibited ready to wear made from woolen material.

Miss Lynda Rhea Allen of Sterling City, current Miss Wool of Texas, was one of the highlights of the Lamb-O-Rama with her modeling of clothing made of wool. Miss Allen modeled a basic sheath of pink light weight wool, bright blue pants with a loose fitting overblouse of harmonizing bright print, and other garments.

Frank Orts, meat specialist, demonstrated the proper way to cut up a lamb for cooking. He was assisted by Mrs. Joyce Drake and Mrs. Betty Ann Coker, both home economists with West Texas Utilities Co.

Lambs used in the demonstrations were provided by Raymond McCutchen of Robert Lee. The cooked lamb was in containers provided by West Texas Utilities.

come that can be used to pay the cost. One after another of these is something that would cost hundreds of millions.

When Congress passes it, then the Treasury Department has got to come out and say, "please help us sell some more U. S. Bonds, so we'll have money to pay for this thing Congress has passed."

So fiscal responsibility becomes pretty important. We need some people in Washington who will look into the barrel and see where the meal is coming from BEFORE cooking up another of these great big wonderful expensive programs.

We have heard a lot about Medicare and the impression has been made that unless you are for it, you are just trying to take the doctor away from the bed of the old people.

Why is it that very little, if anything is ever said about what it would do to you who are on a salary now? By raising the deductions you would be paying, or having deducted from your pay check 5 per cent of your salary instead of the 3 5/8 you now pay, and the employer would have to dig into his pocket for the other 5 per cent, — about ten per cent of every pay check would have to go into social security.

And yet it isn't certain whether the funds Social Security would collect would pay the bills. There is a limit to the monthly load each pay check will soundly carry.

There are other programs just now getting well under way to provide help for the aged. Whether this Medicare bill is sound, on top of what has already been done — whether it will drag Socialized medicine in by the back door, and whether it will break the whole Social Security set-up is a question for careful study before branding anybody who votes against it as somebody who wants to throw grandma and grandpa out in the alley.

Fiscal responsibility takes the nice theory and sees whether we can afford it, whether it is the best way to accomplish a worthy purpose, and keeps the country's business on a sound basis.

This is a highly important issue in this campaign. We want to know all we can about how the two candidates have acted, voted, and stood in their written and spoken words on this question.

Dam Project Still Much Alive, Some Problems to Solve

While we are not free to quote sources of all the information we have in regard to the future of the Robert Lee Dam, we can say that those closest to the project have expressed confidence that the needed approval of the change to the Robert Lee site will come in time.

The project is far from dead. West Texas water has been earmarked for West Texas by both U.S. and Texas planning commissions for a number of years.

The vital point at present is for UCRA and CRMWD to get together on a proposal on which both can join before the Texas Water Commission.

CRMWD has said they would provide Bronte, Robert Lee, and Ballinger with water, selling it from the lake at their cost to UCRA for that purpose.

Any project to run water over the hill to San Angelo from this lake, however, is running into opposition on the ground that San Angelo is already better supplied with water so far as storage is concerned than the towns involved in the Robert Lee Dam will be after it is built.

The question yet remains to be worked out between the two agencies.

STEERS LEAD SCORING —

Steer defense, the ball was knocked free and Buddy Thomas came up with it at the Bangs 43. With a good pick-up of 25 yards by Wink, Thetford then tossed a 23 yarder into the end zone to Gary Williams, who hauled it in for the touchdown. Wink sliced off left tackle for 2 more points, so the count was 28-0.

Williams kicked off, Bangs made a short return, failed to make first down, and Robert Lee took over. Thetford hit Wink with a 20 yard pass play and set up the scoring play. Thetford went for 8, Gartman 7, then Parker shot through a hole 8 yards to count, no extras, and now it was 34 to 0.

Fourth Quarter

The fourth quarter brought up a rapid exchange of the football. Williams intercepted a pass, the Steers drove to the 12, fumbled and Bangs recovered. Quickly Gartman intercepted another pass, Robert Lee again drove to the 15 yard line, and from there Gartman raced around right end for another 6 points, no extras, and it was 40-0.

Late in the quarter, the Steers were pushed down to the 24 yard line after the kick off on passes of 14 and 12 yards, and a 15 yard penalty. Ramsey of Bangs then raced around right end for their only score. The game ended soon afterward.

Sensational Defense

The Steer defense was sensational. It was hard to tell who was going to get the ball in the Bangs backfield, because C. L. Sparks spent more time in their backfield than they did. On the line, Pitcock, Roach, Askins, Vosburg, and Walker wouldn't let them through.

Four pass interceptions said they couldn't move that way. So again, with heads-up ball playing the locals were victorious. With Thomas and Walker replacing the injured Dodson on defense, they stood their ground with the other boys and opened up holes on offense for the backs to roll up 349 yards rushing.

The Steers kept their heads against over contact and showed what kind of ball players they are—good!

The District 16 Fall Workshop for the Parent-Teachers Association is to be held at Ackerly October 10.

C. L. SPARKS IS STEER OF THE WEEK

C. L. Sparks, senior guard, and 3-year letterman is to be the honorary captain of the Steers when they travel to Eden Friday night.

Sparks played a very fine game against Bangs both offensively and defensively.

C. L. is a defensive guard and linebacker and an offensive guard. He blocks well and is "quick as a cat" on his charge.

Wasn't the Lamb-O-Rama a nice program? The people with whom I have talked since the program have been most enthusiastic about lamb. So many have said, "I never knew lamb could be so good!" Even I plan to use more of it in my family meals.

I have had several calls from people who failed to get recipe sheets for the lamb dishes. If you did not get recipes and want a copy, let me hear from you. If several of you need recipes, we will mimeograph them and send them to you. I will be glad to do this, so do not hesitate to let me know.
