Sixty-One Years RL Citizen, Grant Davis Passes On

Granville Ellis Davis, 85, retired carpenter and longtime resident died at 8 a.m. Saturday in West Coke County Hospital where he had been a patient for ten days.

Funeral services were held at 10 a.m. Monday in Northside Church of Christ with Claude Lawrence and Doug Wilks officiating. Burial was in Robert Lee cemetery under direction of Williams Funeral Home.

Born May 24, 1879 in Old Town, Va., he came to Coke County in 1903. He was married to Martha Ellen Lewis on Sept. 11, 1904 in Robert Lee. He was a member of the Church of Christ.

Preceded in death by his wife Oct. 9, 1954, and one daughter, Velma Hurley, Oct. 1933.

Surviving are five sons, Mitchell, Emory, Granville (Pete), all of Robert Lee, Orville (Jake) and Bob L. of Amarillo; Mrs. Ruth Vowell, Mrs. Bernice Bell and Mrs. Geraldine Kinsey of Robert Lee and Mrs. Billie Zoet of Houston; two sisters, Emma Davis and Mrs. Lela Welch of Galax, Va.; 29 grandchildren and 27 great grandchildren.

Visitor Recalls Life Here at Harris Ranch

W. R. Cartledge, grandson of the Eugene Cartledge of Austin Northern Land and Cattle Company who laid out the townsite here, is ranching at Marfa.

His mother was the daughter of L. B. Harris. He recalls living here when he was 5 and his sister, Nancy, 6, and they lived in the two story brick house across the river.

They trap nested hens back in those days — a practice that did not become common until many years later. Also they raised turkeys which ranged around the ranch, and eventually ran wild.

In the fence cutting days, the Harrises employed one Harry Patton, handy with a gun, to sort of watch the fences so to speak.

In the big barn at the ranch headquarters, the boy and his sister walked in one morning, and Patton had evidently had a few the night before, for there he lay asleep in the hay, with a big calf astraddle of his form.

Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Sirus of Silver Wednesday of last week, October 14, attended the funeral of her father, R. R. Poston, at Kilgore. Mr. Poston passed away Monday, October 12.

the elderly who require hospitalization.

The Type I-II project was to have been built by private capital — a home for the elderly who do NOT require hospitalization. Two lots were purchased for this purpose when the firm dropped the project. Unused funds were advanced to put a local building in shape for a dental office. This money has been replaced.

Intended for a nursing home, and since such a home is not yet in definite prospect, the BCD voted to use it in the nursing home section of the hospital, dedicated to the bed-ridden elderly.

Lots purchased are being held with a prospect that private capital may yet establish the proposed home for non-hospital cases.

COUNTRYSIDE

By STERLING LINDSEY

The Agricultural Census will start in this area in the near future. The Department of Commerce asks that all farm and ranch operators cooperate in the enumeration that is to take place throughout the United States.

The Census of Agriculture is taken every five years by the Bureau of the Census, an agency of the U.S. Department of Commerce, in years ending in "4" and "9." It provides information of vital importance about the nation's agricultural resources and production. Such information is needed in making decisions affecting many segments of the U. S. economy. Data gathered include the number and size of farms, number of persons living on farms, acreage and harvest of crops, a livestock and poultry inventory, and information on farm equipment and facilities, and on income and some production expenditures.

The job of taking the farm census will be in three stages. The first stage—organizing a team of local citizens in each county to take the census—is already underway. Crew leaders to supervise the census in each county are being selected and trained. They will have the responsibility of recruiting and training enough enumerators to count the farms (and ranches) in their counties. Each enumerator will visit about 150 farms during three weeks of temporary employment.

Shortly after Nov. 1, the Census Bureau will open stage two by mailing out census questionnaires to all rural boxholders in the county. Farm operators will then have a period of time to consult their records (or best estimates for the year) and answer the questions on the forms.

In the final stage, enumerators will visit each farm in the county to collect the questionnaires. At the time of this visit, the enumerators will help farmers complete answers to any question the farmers may not have been able to answer. Enumerator visits, which will take about three weeks to complete, will start in South Texas on Nov. 9 and in North Texas on Nov. 23, according to present plans.

Texas still has a few screw-worms. The latest report shows four cases found during the reporting week. This brought the monthly total up to six and the total for the year to 105.

The four cases were found in Brewster (2), Pecos and Hidalgo counties. Also, one case was found in New Mexico and four Stockmen are being cautioned to watch for grass tetany, a cattle ailment that sometimes pops up in fall and winter.

Dr. Dixon Hubbard, Extension livestock specialist, says such grain grasses as oats, wheat, barley and rye are capable of producing the sickness, particularly after rain. Common and Coastal Bermuda and mesquite-grass also can cause the trouble.

The disease is believed to be the result of an imbalance in body magnesium. Changing cattle from dry grass to lush winter pastures, or sudden temperature changes can encourage grass tetany.

It's most likely to occur in the older, more mature cow that has just calved or is near calving, he points out, and in yearling calves that have just been put on lush pastures.

The condition is characterized by lack of coordination, muscular tremors, excessive drooling and teeth grinding. Symptoms end with convulsions and coma six to twelve hours after first signs.

Treatment is largely ineffective once the animal reaches coma. But intravenous injections of various magnesium and calcium salts with dextrose is beneficial before coma.

Removal of cattle from lush pasture is the obvious prevention if grass tetany is suspected. However, they can usually be left on the grass if they are supplemented with coarse, dry roughage.

The Extension specialist said said California has suffered large cattle losses from grass tetany. The problem has become so serious that the California Agricultural Experiment Station has developed an emergency ration which will prevent the ailment. The ration is magnesium oxide, milo or corn, and cottonseed meal and is fed at the rate of one pound per animal per day.

Mrs. Roe and I will be in College Station next week attending the Extension Service State Conference. We will return to Robert Lee Friday afternoon, Oct. 30.

"Oh brother, is this contraption ever a monstrosity! Can you imagine finding space to put one of these, or even actually using it? This old 1901 Peck-Williamson water-heating stove and clothes dryer can't hold a candle to the modern, automatic, flameless electric clothes washers and dryers. Besides being completely automatic and flameless, they save so much time and energy. The electric dryer alone saves 3 hours weekly of the housewife's valuable time which she can spend with her family and clothes come out so soft, fluffy, and easy to iron, there's no telling how much time is saved just on the ironing board.

Sixty-three years sure makes a lot of difference. Visit your electric appliance dealer or the nearest WTU office."

ANYHOW, THEY'RE THE NOMINEES

In local social circles where the editor moves, like down at the lunch counter, we've heard the opinion that if either of the candidates for president is as bad as the other says he is, then we're sure enough fresh out, and had better write in somebody else's name.

Well, we could be drafted, but there, again, somebody would find something wrong with us, and prove it. So you'll probably find us at this typewriter Nov. 4, or herdin' sheep on Saturdays.

Visitors in Robert Lee last week were Jack Christiansen, of Richardson, Texas, and Paul Haralson of Wichita Falls, Mr. Haralson is owner of four nursing homes, one in Waureka, Oklahoma, another in Wichita Falls, one in Henrietta, and one in Iowa Park.

Observations

(A Personal Word
By The Editor)

As the life of a flower
Or a breath, or a sigh
So the years glide away
And at last we must die.

Monday at the funeral of Grant Davis was the first time in many and many day we have heard that old song.

With the passing of Grant Davis went another milestone in the years. So much a part of Robert Lee and Coke County from the early days, he was one of the patriarchs among us.

"As we stand in the presence of death, it is the one thing that brings us face to face with the realities of life," is a quote from the minister's words.

From 1879 to 1964 is a long span on earth. As each of these citizens of many years slips away, we are bereft, and the community is not quite the same.

We always deeply appreciate the singing and the songs at the Churches of Christ.

Over at the Methodist church a great man is coming back for the second year in the person of Dr. Lowell Ryan. His warm, evangelistic message in the revival last year filled the church and warmed the hearts of the people.

Announcing the revival this year for October 25 to 29, the pastor, Rev. Dempsey Salter adds the words, "I am not ashamed of the gospel of Christ, for it is the power of God unto salvation to everyone that believeth." Romans 1:16.

Barry Says Give Local Officers Power to Do Job

Senator Barry Goldwater in a speaking tour in New Jersey said he would make war on crime by restoring to the state officials and courts power to enforce the laws.

"We will use our influence and power," he said, to see that law enforcement officers on the local level get back the power they need to carry out their job."

He said law enforcement was a local and state responsibility, but there were three things he could do as president.

Appoint judges to the Supreme Court qualified to carry out their judicial duties and to respect the Constitution.

If the court decisions should remain unaltered, urge amendments to the constitution.

Urge Congress to consider changing some of the rules of judicial procedure in the federal courts.

He said constitutional amendments should give back to the states those powers necessary for fair and efficient administration of criminal law.

Safeguard the rights of defendants, he declared, but give the states power to enforce law and order.

OUR WASHINGTON NEWSLETTER

By O. C. FISHER

ARGUMENT OVER POVERTY goes on and on. Indeed there has been a war against poverty ever since the Republic was established. Only recently has the poverty label been applied to all family men who make less than $3,000 a year, and the Government has taken over the chief role of ending poverty.

In the past Government has played a secondary part in this war. Heretofore the chief weapons against poverty have been a free and unregulated society, featuring our competitive, free enterprise system, as a means of uplifting people in their efforts to help themselves in the quest for the better life.

That is to say, Government traditionally has been most effective in this war by encouraging incentives, thereby helping to create more jobs, within the framework of free enterprise.

Here's an example of how Government can stifle business, interfere with incentives, and promote failure and reduced income of those who strive to get ahead, create new jobs, and make ends meet:

A Ballinger small businessman, by working hard and making use of family labor and ingenuity, managed to get ahead, pay taxes, create a few new jobs for people and enjoy a small net profit.

Then, recently, a Labor Department Wage and Hour inspector came to town. He bluntly told the businessman he was violating the Federal law in many respects. A 14-year-old boy, a part-time employee, was being paid $4 a day to sweep out, clean up and do odd jobs. This kindled the boy's ambition, gave him a little spending money, taught him how to use his talents, and it kept him off the streets while his parents were working. This, ruled the G. man, was "hazardous", and the boy had to be fired.

The owner's son, 25, married and with two children, helped run the business, received a weekly wage. But the G. man ruled that was illegal — that he had to be paid on an hourly rate, with overtime.

The businessman's father-in-law, a disabled social security annuitant, had been in the habit of dropping in, answering the telephone for his daughter, who also worked there, when she had to leave to run errands. He received no pay for this. But the G. man said this was against the Labor Department's idea of what the law does not allow.

It is just such government meddling as this that stifles business, promotes poverty and business failure. Maybe the man should give up, close the place, and try to get on a government anti-poverty dole!

From Oct. 8 Letter

ALL IN ALL, this has been essentially a Welfare State Congress. Certainly more so than any other in the past. And it has been a free spender. By voting to initiate a batch of new expensive welfare schemes this Congress upped the cost of government for years to come. Because every year these new programs get bigger and bigger.

It granted federal pay raises for the second year in a row. This session increased the public debt ceiling at $324 billion — the highest in history, and continued the annual habit of spending several billion dollars more than was taken in.

This Congress refused to trim foreign aid, approved a so-called civil rights bill and a couple of farm measures which left much to be desired, and okeyed an expensive manpower retraining program.

A GLARING FAILURE of this session was the Senate's refusal to approve a House-passed measure to curtail the Supreme Court reapportionment of state legislatures. Instead, the Senate in effect commended the Court for what it had done in forcing both branches of state legislatures to be apportioned on a basis of population alone.

But it could have been worse. The House did succeed in blocking new programs which would have cost several billion more. If the Congress had adjourned last July, as it should have, this country would be several billion dollars better off.

Governor Price Daniel, while Attorney General, wrote an opinion on the question of party loyalty in which he said, "The courts of Texas have answered this question by holding that the pledge taken at the time of voting in the primary election DOES NOT create a legal obligation."

Governor Daniel repeated that opinion by saying that the pledge on the primary ballot does not obligate anyone "legally or morally" to vote for the Democratic ticket in the general election.

DEMOCRATS ELECTED GOLDWATER

ARIZONA DEMOCRATS OUTNUMBERED REPUBLICANS 5-1
But Arizona Elected Him Because Enough Democrats Knew Him, Believed
In Him, and Believed Like He Believes.

Lyndon has left Texas behind to go with the ADA. He along with them has opposed our states rights with the plank against our right to work law, by putting civil rights all into the hands of the federal government, and has supported the Supreme Court in dictating to state governments. Barry supported and carried the states right to work law in Arizona, and the working people backed him, for they do not want to become slaves of union bosses. He has supported states rights all the way and says he will appoint people to the Supreme Court who will respect our rights.

Here is a Southwesterner who does not have to have a Socialist organization to tell him what freedom is, and will not let them dictate to labor and to business.

Let's Get Something
True About This Man
In Brief, Here's the Story

Barry Goldwater started out as a business man and rancher, and plain citizen of Phoenix, Arizona, his home town.

He was not anybody's protege. Phoenix was mostly Democrats, but they put Barry on the city council, because they knew him as a man they could trust.

That council give Phoenix a city government so good that in 1950 it was one of 11 cities named "All American City," for progress made in city government.

Then the Republicans nominated Howard Pyle for Governor. Barry managed his campaign, and enough Democrats helped to elect Pyle.

TO THE U.S. SENATE

Now he was in politics, and when Ernest McFarland, U.S. Senator from Arizona, powerful in Washington as Majority Leader in the Senate was up for reelection, Barry was nominated by the Republicans.

He was elected. In the Senate he went right on voting his convictions, and the big shots said he had committed political suicide. According to the Chicago Tribune, COPE, top labor boss political organization used $500,000 to defeat him for reelection. But he won again. Many members of organized labor just went into the election booth and voted for Barry anyhow.

SECOND TERM IN SENATE

He still voted his convictions. He began to be talked for the presidency. All the big shots said it was ridiculous. He couldn't even be nominated. But here he is.

HE'S FOR OUR RIGHTS

BIG SHOTS ARE STILL AGAINST HIM

He couldn't possibly win his first race.

But people like us elected him.

In his second race, boss labor and big, big government bosses turned all their guns on him—He sure couldn't win that time.

People like Coke County folks elected him.

He couldn't win the Republican nomination.

Big shot papers, polls, propoganda said he couldn't.

BUT HE IS THE NOMINEE

Like in Arizona, Republicans nominated him,

Asked help from the Democrats, and got it

States Rights

"States Rights is no mere slogan. It is the backbone of our constitutional system . . .

"I am just old fashioned enough to believe that people—not bureaucrats, not self-styled experts, not self-appointed wise men—but plain people and their elected representatives know what their needs are and how best they can be achieved."

United Nations

If we and our allies use the forum of the U.N. to proclaim freedom throughout the world, then the mandate of the U.N. Charter will have been served.

Civil Rights

It is the general welfare that must be considered now, not just the special appeals for special welfare. This is the time to attend to the liberties of all."

Social Security

I favor a sound Social Security system and I want to see it strengthened. I have always voted for improvement in the system. I want to see every participant receive all the benefits the system provides. And I want to see these benefits paid in dollars with real purchasing power."

Freedom Our Goal

The United States must lead the free world, not retreat from the hard obligations of that leadership. We must and we shall return to the proven ways—not because they are old, but because they are true.

"We must and we shall set the tides running again in the cause of freedom."

I am looking forward to working with this group of young homemakers.

In recent months I have had numerous calls in regard to care of carpets and rugs. I am including some information on this subject. If any of you have any questions after reading this article, please contact me.

Carpets and rugs are the second most costly investment a family makes in home furnishings and one of the most important ingredients in a home's decor.

Yet, a recent survey of 1,600 homemakers showed that nearly 25 per cent never clean their carpets and nearly one-half that do, use old fashioned hands-and-knees cleaning methods.

The reasons given for not taking care of rugs and carpets indicated a great lack of knowledge of the fundamentals of carpet care and ignorance about the inexpensive tools (and methods) available to homemakers.

For example, it's now possible for a woman to shampoo her carpets in the home safely, easily and effectively. She can do the shampooing herself without bringing outsiders into her home and at an extremely low cost.

This periodic rug shampooing is important, of course but it is not the only phase of proper rug and carpet care. Daily sweeping in heavy traffic areas and thorough vacuuming once a week are just as important.

The point for women to remember is that there are three simple rules to follow to keep her rugs and carpets clean and bright and to ensure long life.

In detail, a rug and carpet program should include:

1. Carpet sweep daily. A quick brush up with an easy-to-use carpet sweeper removes the dirt before it has a chance to penetrate the carpet fibers.

2. Vacuum clean weekly. Grit, sand, dust and dirt that seep into the carpet fibers can cut and wear carpeting. A good vacuum cleaner, preferably the upright kind with beating action, will remove much of it, if it is not permitted to bed down and cake.

3. Shampoo twice a year. This removes "carpet grease" which binds the dirt to the carpet pile. Use a detergent type shampoo that's made especially to cut carpet grease... and doesn't need to be rubbed or scrubbed. Let the shampoo foam do the work. And use an applicator for applying the shampoo foam that works just like a sweeper, so you don't have to get down on your knees. A good applicator is important; we recommend the kind that makes a dry shampoo foam, thus eliminating the danger of getting the carpet too wet.

When shampooing, use short strokes within a four foot area. Let the shampoo dry. Then vacuum away the dirt. A carpet should look as fresh and clean as a newly shampooed head of hair. If you have to wait too long for it to dry, you are over-wetting. If it is streaked, you haven't applied the shampoo evenly. This can be one of the problems of down-on-your-knees scrubbing methods.

If the carpet is interspersed room by room as done with other house cleaning chores, a woman will find it takes very little time.

Carpeting is one of the biggest investments in a home, an investment worth protecting.

I am now taking names of adults who will work with 4-H girls in their foods groups. I have over 90 girls now who need leaders to teach the Unit Foods Groups. If any lady who reads this will agree to work with one or any size group of 4-H girls I will appreciate it. I have set Tuesday, Nov. 3, to enroll leaders and assign girls to groups. I will be in the Bronte School at 10 a.m. for the ones from the Bronte area and in my office at 2 p.m. for the ones from Silver and Robert Lee.

I will give training to the ladies who will help with this work. If you are interested and have questions please call or write me, or come to the meeting on Nov. 3 that is convenient for us.

TO COKE COUNTY VOTERS—GREETINGS

Paid political indorsements of Lyndon Johnson are appearing regularly in both county papers.

One indorser thinks all should vote for Lyndon, since the popular governor Connally made the nominating speech for him at the Democratic Convention, thus intimating that the Governor is whole-heartedly supporting him.

As I remember, Johnson asked Connally to make the nominating speech. Connally, seemingly reluctantly agreed to use half the time allotted, someone else to use the other half—and that is exactly what happened.

Another indorser thinks all Texans should vote for Lyndon because Sam Rayburn indorsed and eulogized him. Facts are when Rayburn indorsed and eulogized Johnson, he—Johnson—was a moderate progressive seeking to be nominated president. Most all Texans were at that time supporting the progressive, conservative-speaking Lyndon.

We are now dealing with a vastly different somebody—then a moderate conservative, now a confirmed radical, whose political philosophy is borrow, tax, and spend.

SUE MILLICAN ATTENDS WTU MEETING

Two hundred women convened in San Angelo Sunday and Monday for the 10th annual Women's Conference of West Texas Utilities Co. They are a portion of the women personnel of the company, and come from more than 50 of the towns in its service area.

Attending from Robert Lee was Sue Millican.

The Conference is an annual workshop established ten years ago to develop leadership qualities in women office workers with the basic objective of helping them serve the public better. Since the meeting is held on a business day, women employees alternate from year to year with a portion remaining on duty while the others attend the session.

VOTING RIGHTS ARE CLEAR: KNOW HOW TO EXERCISE THEM

When this writer served as election judge, he found a lot of people confused about their voting rights and procedures.

It's legal to vote as you please. You only need to know how. At the top of the ballot this instruction is printed:

Vote for the candidate of your choice by scratching or marking out all other voters in that race. You may vote for all the candidates of a party by running a line through every other party column."

Be sure to mark out ALL others, clear across the ticket.

There is nothing illegal about voting for a Democrat for one office, a Republican for another office, and a Constitution Party candidate for another. That's up to you. You can vote for one party all the way down, or split the ticket any way you want to split it.

So far as the law goes, it has been ruled that it doesn't matter how you voted in any primary or whether you voted in a primary or not. This is a general election. Your own conscience is your guide.

Who you vote for is your business. Learn how so your vote will count as you want it to count. At each polling place there is someone sworn in to help those who ask for help. You tell him or her, if you need help, how you want to vote. That person is sworn to tell you how to vote the way you want to vote, and would violate their oath if they told you that you could not vote for any candidate of your choice regardless of whether you split the ticket or not.

If you have any suspicion that any election clerk might want to check on how you voted, take your ballot out of the middle of the stack rather than off the top. That breaks the numbering sequence.

You can pick any ballot you want out of the stack on the desk, and if there should happen to be only one there, you can call form ore to be placed there. —Editor.

TAXES MAKE LEASING GRASS POOR PAYING BUSINESS FOR OWNER

Taxes are low or high according to who's paying them. On 630 acres of land in Coke County that grass leased for $787.50 per year, the state, county, and school tax added up to $164.42. After paying the taxes, balance out of the gross income was $622.02 — less than a dollar an acre. The tax took about 20

% of the gross income. So the land isn't leased out any more. The operator is trying to make more than that out of it, and if he can't, would put his equity into something else. But then, how would the new owner make out, if he didn't have oil on the land? The tax take creates a problem for both the owner and the man who leases grass to run his stock.
