Shortages of Fuel Should Be Reported

Coke County farmers are reminded they should report immediately any critical farm fuel shortages to the ASCS county office.

J. E. Quisenberry Jr., County Executive Director of the Coke County Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service (ASCS) office, reports that in addition to using fuel conserving methods in their farming operations, farmers have also been asked to report critical fuel shortages to ASCS.

Quisenberry said that if a fuel supply problem cannot be resolved locally or at the state level, the shortage will be reported immediately to Washington, D. C., where it will be brought to the attention of the Office of Oil and Gas (OOG), U. S. Department of Interior. The OOG operates under the authority of the fuel allocation program which designates farming and other vital activities for priority access to fuel supplies.

Quisenberry said that if any farmer cannot obtain fuel needed for his farm operations he should make this fact known to ASCS. He emphasized that farmers should do everything they can to obtain supplies before requesting assistance. Quisenberry also urged farmers not to buy more fuel than they need for the near future, as equitable distribution is necessary if all farmers are to have enough fuel through harvest.

Quisenberry said some suppliers have not been able to meet farm customers' needs fully, partly because independent and cooperative fuel producers and marketers have not been able to obtain enough supplies. The national concern over fuel is based on two problems: supply and distribution. Demand for fuel has increased steadily, while supply has not. And, some areas are near the end of major petroleum distribution systems, making equitable distribution difficult.

A primary reason for the fuel shortage in farming areas, is the greater need for farm products. The country's farmers have been encouraged to plant about 40 million additional acres of food and feed crops this year.

Quisenberry cited the gasoline supply-demand situation as an example. Gasoline demand has risen at an annual rate of about six per cent during the past two years, while crude oil processing has risen only three per cent annually. We use nationally an average of 47 million barrels of gasoline weekly, while we produce only 43 million barrels.

Quisenberry said that both state and federal agencies have been working on the problem and sev-

Two Robert Lee Firms Burglarized

Two Robert Lee business firms were burglarized Monday night. The breakins occurred at West Way Grocery and Snead's Pharmacy. Sheriff Melvin Childress said approximately $130 was taken from West Way, while about $30 plus some wrist watches and lighters were missing from Snead's Pharmacy.

Sheriff Childress said apparently both burglaries were committed by the same persons. Entry was gained into the grocery store by breaking the front door and crawling in. The pharmacy was entered through a back window. The sheriff said clues were scarce and his office had not been able to determine if the burglaries were done by local persons or out of town persons.

Childress told BUD members Tuesday that crime is not lessening in the state and he is afraid since there is more activity here, it will get worse in this area. More law enforcement is needed on the west side of the county, he said, especially during the late hours.

MRS. BEATY DIES

Mrs. Mattie Lee Beaty, 79, of Comanche died at 12:30 a.m. last Saturday in a De Leon hospital after a short illness. Funeral services were held at 3 p.m. Sunday at Comanche.

Survivors include four daughters, two sons, including the Rev. Bill Beaty of Waco, formerly of Robert Lee, one sister, 15 grandchildren and six great-grandchildren.

Mr. and Mrs. Sloan Boone visited last Friday with their son and his family, the Carlton Boones of Abilene, and attended a birthday party for their one year old grandson. The Marvin Glasgow family of Sweetwater were Sunday guests in the Boone home.

John Gill, editor of Outdoor Sports Guide, was a guest at the Tuesday meeting of the BCD. He reported on the group's advertising campaign for Lake Spence and said 15 to 20 per cent of the newspapers in the state are using the releases which he sends out.

4-H Workshops Set for Thursday

4-H Club members, parents and leaders are invited and urged to attend the Records Workshop to be held Thursday, June 28. The workshops will be held at 9 a.m. in the Bronte School cafeteria and at 2 p.m. in the Robert Lee School cafeteria.

Miss Iris Kalich, Area 4-H Specialist, will conduct the training, which will include completion of both record books and project books. Members may bring record books and project records if help is needed.

Interested persons from neighboring counties have been invited to attend the workshops. Persons may attend the more convenient session regardless of residence area.

Assisting Miss Kalich will be Mrs. Fay C. Roe and Sterling Lindsey, Coke County Extension Agents.

ABC GOLF TOURNAMENT DRAWS 36 ENTRIES

An ABC golf tournament was held Sunday at Mountain Creek Golf Course with 36 entries. Players came from Ballinger, Bronte, San Angelo, Odessa, Midland and Robert Lee.

A team composed of Lewis Hevel, Calvin Sparks and C. L. Sparks Jr. won first place with 11 under par. Second place was taken by Ronnie Devoll, Truman Hines and Carl Cummings after they won a sudden death playoff from Glen Womack, Billy Wayne Roe and Gary Womack. Both teams finished with 5 under par. Golf balls were given as prizes.

He showed copies of newspapers over the state which are using the articles. Gill said the advertising is bringing more people to Robert Lee for sports and vacations. He said, also, that some of the visitors are buying lots for building and parking trailers.

Robert Lee is definitely on the map now, because more and more people are becoming familiar with Lake Spence, Gill concluded.

President Roy Ford, who presided, said he felt West Coke County Hospital has a good chance of securing a young doctor who is finishing his training. He plans to come here soon to look over the town and hospital facilities.

The BCD agreed to buy 500 copies of the annual Vacation Edition of the Robert Lee Observer, to be distributed in area cities. The special edition will be published next week.

Guests of Ford were Gill, Mrs. Ford and their two daughters, and guest of Weldon Fikes was Alvin Holbrook of Ballinger. Fourteen members were present.

Austin — Experts offer little hope for an early easing of the energy crisis, and Railroad Commission Chairman Jim Langdon warns a lot more oil and gas is being used than is being found.

A House committee studying the crisis heard a national authority's grim opinion that "there is no way out."

Dr. John McKetta, past chairman of the National Energy Policy Committee, said President Nixon should declare a national emergency, since it's too late for problem studies in the area.

Langdon told the same committee legislative efforts to cope with the problem will be frustrating because solutions must be sought at the national level.

Although the state regulatory agency has been permitting 100 per cent production for more than a year, Langdon said Texas producers are still falling short of demand for oil by 400,000 barrels a day, or roughly 10 per cent.

Atty. Gen. John Hill termed the situation "extremely critical," and said no other matter should receive more attention today.

As the commission set the July oil allowable at 100 per cent for the 16th straight month (with buyers seeking a record 3.8 million barrels a day), Langdon issued a new warning that only nine million barrels of oil a month are being added to Texas supplies while 105 million million barrels are consumed in the same period. "Unless this trend is reversed, the Texas oil and gas industry is in the process of self-liquidation," said Langdon.

Texas crude oil stocks as of June 8 were 94.7 million barrels, a decline of 7.2 million from 1972.

Langdon asked for reports at the July commission meeting on the amount of oil companies discovered in 1972, and "somewhere along the line," he said, he will want to know "what it will take to find more"—and whether the industry will really be "able to stay in business."

FUTURE HIGHWAY NEEDS — Mass transit needs should be financed from its own funds not from highway funds, Roy D. Chapin Jr. board chairman of American Motors Corporation, told Texas Good Roads Association members and the Texas Highway Users Conference here last week.

"Highway construction and maintenance needs during the 20 years will be $600,000,000,000 in the United States," he explained. Mass transit needs will total $50,000,000,000 for rail construction and development and $13,000,000,000 for bus transportation.

"Highways are still the basic answers for urban transportation needs. The Department of Transportation says by 1990 that 92 per cent of transportation will be on roads and streets—with only eight per cent on bus and railroad facilities."

Chapin who is chairman of the board of the National Highways Users Federation, spoke to a partisan audience, but his statistics impressed neutral observers about the need for political unity in the current struggle between eastern states and the rest of the nation for current highway user funds.

"HUD says that population density will continue to drop in urban areas," Chapin concluded. "Travel patterns will be from suburban home to suburban jobs. Buses and car pools can start lowering congestion—but highways are still important to those methods of transportation."

AMENDMENT PROPOSED — Nine more proposed constitutional amendments will appear on the Nov. 6 general election ballot — just a couple of months before the Legislature sits as a constitutional convention.

The amendments for the November ballot are:

SJR 8—proposing a $15,000 a year salary for legislators and annual legislative sessions.

SJR 13—extending the $3,000 property exemption to homesteads of unmarried adults.

SJR 29—authorizing cities to levy ad valorem taxes sufficient to pay the principal and interest on general obligation bonds.

HJR 6—providing an additional $100 million for Veterans Land Program.

SJR 1—establishing new requirements for conservation and reclamation districts.

SJR 25—exempting water supply cooperative property from taxes.

SJR 26—giving district courts concurrently with county courts general jurisdiction of probate courts.

SJR 12—providing for financing of seawalls by bonds.

HJR 7—similar to SJR 13, plus exemption of property from forced sale.

RIGHTS BILL SIGNED—Young Texans 18-20 will get full majority rights under new legislation which takes effect Aug. 27.

Governor Briscoe signed the bill, in spite of speculation he would veto it.

It permits the 18-20 year olds to "enjoy all the privileges and responsibilities of adult citizenship," according to Briscoe's statement.

Among adult privileges which the new youth group will be able to indulge in is purchase, consumption and sale of alcoholic beverages.

Other bills signed near the deadline for approval or veto included family code revision, free kindergarten for all five year olds, primary election proceedings and financing for 1974 and bail bond reform.

Altogether, Briscoe signed or allowed to become law without signature 659 bills passed by the Legislature this year and vetoed 29.

FOR "OPENNESS"—Atty. Gen. John Hill spoke for "openness" in government at the Texas Press Association convention in Houston last week.

"It's not an easy policy for public officials and sometimes it's not the most efficient, but the legislature says that's the law and I plan to support it," he told 250 weekly and daily newspaper publishers.

"I'll interpret and enforce the open records law also. It is liberal in nature toward openness," he said.

Hill spoke at the 94th annual convention of the Texas Press Association at the new $42 million Hyatt Regency Hotel.

Retirement.

The end of work, or the beginning of worry?

Most people look toward retirement as a time of relaxation and enjoyment. And it can be if you prepare for it. But if you don't, it can be a time of worry and discontentment. A time when you can look back and think of a million ways that you could have saved, but didn't.

Well, there's no better time to think about retirement than now, while you're working.

One easy way to save on a regular basis is by purchasing U.S. Savings Bonds through the Payroll Savings Plan where you work.

Now there's a bonus interest rate on all U.S. Savings Bonds—for E Bonds, 5½% when held to maturity of 5 years, 10 months

(4% the first year). That extra ½%, payable as a bonus at maturity, applies to all Bonds issued since June 1, 1970... with a comparable improvement for all older Bonds.

Buy U.S. Savings Bonds. They'll help make your retirement just what you want it to be.

Bonds are safe. If lost, stolen, or destroyed, we replace them. When needed, they can be cashed at your bank. Tax may be deferred until redemption. And always remember, Bonds are a proud way to save.

What a bald man wants most is usually a head of hair. He can buy it; have it transplanted, implanted, or woven; or try to grow it himself using creams, lotions, massages, and gadgets. But which of these remedies gives him the best return on his money?

From a medical point of view, wigs and hairpieces are the most worry-free answer to his dilemma. But they lack permanence and are, after all, a false and unconvincing front. And despite what you read elsewhere, drugs, creams, and magic devices are no panacea. In fact, they're completely ineffective against male-pattern baldness which accounts for 95 percent of all shiny domes.

Suture implantation sounds hopeful — in theory at least. Plastic-coated stainless steel wire is stitched into the scalp so the wire protrudes slightly at regular intervals. Hanks of hair, synthetic or real, are attached either to the wire loops or to a mesh base woven between the anchors. But implantation involves a high probability of discomfort and pain, and a risk of infection, skin disease, and scarring. There's also the possibility that the body will reject the wire anchors. It's costly, too, ranging from $500 to $1,500, depending on the kind of base and type of hair used.

Those who opt for hairweaving, the tying of synthetic strands to existing, bona fide hair, are buying a certain amount of security, but also face problems. Hairweaving can aggravate dandruff conditions and result in hair loss by traction. The attached hairpieces also gradually move away from the scalp as the supporting hair grows, and the client must have them relocated — usually every two or three months (or more frequently) and at a cost that can run as high as $50. Add to this the minimum initial charge of $375, and the cost of a head of hair goes spiraling upward.

But for anywhere from $300 to $1,000 (or even $2,000, if he's an especially needy case), a man can buy back his own hair; it's simply transplanted from one portion of his head to another, but not without difficulty. The technique, which both medical and government authorities feel is the safest and most effective (aside from wigs, which can fall off), involves a considerable amount of pain. The patient must also be able to handle the psychological strain of a worsened appearance for the transition period of several months. Finally, the client must overcome what may be the greatest trauma of all—the shock of having hair again.

Price Controls: The President's 60 day price freeze, which most economists agree can only provide a palliative—not a cure—for inflation—is, according to reports, giving at least some temporary relief. It's axiomatic, though, that you can't stop inflation by passing a law. Experts insist rigid, permanent type mandatory controls would probably cause a recession and do far more harm than good.

A recent Washington Post editorial bemoaning high prices, particularly on food, prompted Agriculture Commissioner Butz to remind the editor that on the same day the editorial appeared the Post announced in its front page the newstand price of its paper would increase from 10c to 15c—a 50 per cent jump.

Watergate: A variety of reactions—some good, some bad—have been registered regarding behavior of John Dean, former White House counsel, who was fired after his Watergate involvement was revealed. The Senate Committee then offered him immunity from prosecution on any of his Watergate skulduggery he would relate over TV, plus any secret or confidential tidbits regarding the President he might want to include.

This breach prompted the renowned columnist, Stewart Alsop, to describe Dean as "a specimen of an unlovely breed—the turncoat, squealer or fingerman," whose "ambition is to keep out of jail by fingering his former chief, and friends."

COMMON CAUSE: Of all the registered lobbyists in Washington, Common Cause was, according to official reports just made public, by far the biggest spender last year. That liberal pressure group, which rates rather low with many congressmen, shelled out $558,839 last year—and also led the big spenders among Capitol Hill lobbyists the preceding year of 1971.

Mrs. Patrick Dan Riley

DEBORAH CONGER WED TO PATRICK RILEY IN ZEPHYR BAPTIST CHURCH CEREMONY

Deborah Jean Conger, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Duane Conger of Zephyr, and Patrick Dan Riley, son of the Rev. and Mrs. Bob Riley of Brownwood, were united in marriage Friday, June 15, at 8:30 p.m.

The Zephyr Baptist Church was the scene of the wedding with the Rev. Bob Riley, father of the bridegroom, officiating.

The altar was centered with a basket arrangement of white gladioli, pink and white carnations, yellow and blue pompons flanked on each side by Swedish steel spiral candelabra entwined with garlands of greenery and white tapers. Light green satin bows marked the family pews.

Music was provided by Allan Wallace, accompanied by Mrs. Allan Wallace.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a gown featuring a bodice of Alencon lace hand embroidered in seed pearls. The gown had lantern sleeves and a soft gathered skirt of chiffon flowing from an empire waistline. A detachable chapel length train of chiffon over taffeta and a full length veil complemented the dress.

She wore a gold bracelet which was a gift to her late grandmother, Mrs. D. J. Walker, from her late husband. Both the bride's grandmother and mother wore the bracelet in their weddings. The bride carried a nosegay of white roses with light green feathered carnations and baby's breath.

Denise Miller attended the bride as maid of honor. Helen Kaye Varnadore of Sweetwater was her cousin's bridesmaid. Their floor length dresses were light green dotted with white flowers.

Molly Ann Riley, sister of the groom, and Dawn Lyn Riley, his niece, served as flower girls. Their floor length dresses were light green voile with white eyelet embroidered pinafores. Robert Riley III, nephew of the groom, was ring bearer.

Sgt. Robert S. Riley Jr. of Fort Worth was his brother's best man. Groomsman was Troy Parsons of Brownwood. Ushers and candle-lighters were Darrel Pitcock of Brownwood and Terry Miller of Zephyr.

After the ceremony a reception was held in the home of the bride's parents. Mrs. Darrel Pitcock, cousin of the bride, presided at the register table. Others in the houseparty were Mrs. David Humphries of Austin and Mrs. Dennis Purvis of Brownwood, cousins of the bride, Sharon Wilkinson of Dallas, Glynda Decker of Brownfield, Mrs. Bill Hardin of Dublin and Mrs. Ralph Walker of Jupiter, both aunts of the bride. Mrs. Harold Gist, Mrs. Richard Gist, Mrs. E. G. Key, Mrs. Leland Holamon, Mrs. L. D. Burton and Mrs. Tom Howard, all of Zephyr.

After a short wedding trip, the couple will leave for Berlin, Germany.

The bridegroom is a graduate of Zephyr High School and is stationed with the U. S. Army in Berlin.

The bride is also a graduate of ZHS, and is a senior secondary education major at Howard Payne College.

The bride is a granddaughter of Mrs. Fred Conger of Tennyson and the late Fred Conger, and of the late Mr. and Mrs. D. J. Walker. Thoughts

From The Living Bible

The wicked flee when no one is chasing them! But the godly are bold as lions! When there is moral rot within a nation, its government topples easily; but with honest, sensible leaders there is stability. When a poor man oppresses those even poorer, he is like an unexpected flood sweeping away their last hope. To complain about the law is to praise wickedness. To obey the law is to fight evil. Evil men don't understand the importance of justice, but those who follow the Lord are much concerned about it. Better to be poor and honest and rich and a cheater.
