Cold Weather Hits Coke Area

Coldest weather of the winter season hit this area late last Thursday, as temperatures plunged into the teens Thursday night.

The cold weather lasted through the holiday weekend and though the mercury climbed upward this week, it is still apparent that Old Man Winter is still around. The rain and snow flurries which were predicted for this area failed to materialize, but there have been big frosts several mornings.

Word was received this week by BCD officials that Santa Claus will be in Robert Lee Saturday, Dec. 14. Santa's letter said he had worked out his schedule to invite kids of all ages to be in town during his visit.

He asked Robert Lee firemen to meet him and he will ride on the big red fire truck in the parade which will begin at 2 p.m.

The Robert Lee Steer Band will lead the parade and will play several numbers for the crowd while Santa Claus hands out candy to the children and visits with them.

Everyone in the area is invited to attend the Christmas parade which is sponsored each year by the Robert Lee BCD. Robert Lee merchants have donated money to meet the cost of the candy and other expenses.

Lots of beautiful and useful gift items are on sale in Robert Lee stores and the merchants invite everyone to come by and do some Christmas shopping with them.

The Robert Lee-Silver Lions Club will have a Turkey Shoot on Saturday, Dec. 14. More details on the shoot will be run in next week's Observer.

Conversion Tables for Cane Sugar

With the holiday baking season beginning, homemakers are looking for ways to substitute other sweets for expensive cane sugar.

Honey, molasses or sorghum, corn syrup and cane syrup are sweetening agents that will work as well as white sugar in baking. Some general guidelines for these substitutions will help homemakers achieve economical and high quality baked goods.

* Honey. For one cup of sugar in baking, use one cup honey and reduce liquid one-fourth cup for each cup of honey used.

If about half the sugar is retained in a recipe and honey substituted for the other half, a better quality product will result.

In baking, use one-fourth teaspoon soda for each cup of honey. This is in addition to baking powder in the recipe when honey is substituted for sugar.

* Molasses or sorghum. For one cup sugar, use one and one-cup molasses or sorghum and reduce liquid one-fourth cup for each cup of molasses and sorghum used.

* Corn syrup. For one cup of sugar, use two cups corn syrup and reduce liquid one-fourth cup for each cup of corn syrup used.

* Cane syrup. One and one-half cups of cane syrup is equal in sweetness to one cup of cane sugar.

In cakes and cookies, replace sugar with syrup, measure for measure, and reduce liquid one-third. Cakes and cookies made with corn and cane syrups are not as sweet as when sugar is used.

CONSERVE AND SAVE ON ELECTRIC COOKING

★ For best results, use flat bottom utensils with tight fitting covers. Utensils of medium or heavy weight aluminum conduct heat faster, transfer heat evenly and respond quickly to temperature changes.

★ Match the utensil to the size of the unit. Use 8 inch units for large utensils. Use 6 inch units for small to average sized pans.

★ Use high setting for a quick start for any surface cooking, or to boil water quickly. When cooking temperature is reached, switch to a lower setting.

★ Do not pre-heat the oven for roasting or broiling, but do pre-heat the oven to the temperature given in the recipe for baking.

Elderly Should Eat Right Foods

(Editor's note: The following article was submitted by the Coke County Committee on Aging with the hope that it will enlighten both elderly and younger persons on the importance of proper nutrition.)

"People must be educated in the choosing of proper foods. All of us must be reminded that a proper diet is a basic determinant of good health."

In this land of plenty millions of Americans aren't eating wisely. Not because they haven't chosen to eat, but because they eat too many of the wrong things or too little of the right.

In short: Food is what you eat; nutrition is how your body uses food. If you aren't eating foods to meet your body needs, you may be suffering from poor nutrition. Some of the damages caused by severe malnutrition may be irreversible.

It is hard to say exactly when youth becomes middle age, or middle age becomes old age. Calendars tell only part of the story.

Some men and women in their eighties are still going strong; some are feeble in their sixties. The cells of an older person's body under go changes and some of the cells are damaged. The body's organs don't function as well.

Vision is not as clear, hearing is not as sharp, and the digestive system may act up. The older person's condition is affected by all the accidents, infections and other hazards of living that he has experienced during his lifetime. This is when the results of a poor diet through the years can be seen.

All the nutrients that have been supplied—or not supplied—are giving the cells more—or less—strength to fight the aging process and disease. The food likes and dislikes developed over the years may become barriers to good nutrition.

Older persons need fewer calories. Men and women 55 to 75 years old need 150 to 200 fewer calories per day than when they were 35 to 55. But like everyone else they need the right kinds of food to keep healthy and to provide enough energy; the same kinds younger people need but in different amounts. Old age, like the teen years, is a time of learning to live with changes. Often the changes are serious and tiring.

The strains of old age may be made worse by changes in living patterns. The eating habits of the elderly can be influenced by loss of teeth, retirement, reduced income, moving out of a familiar house or neighborhood, or the number of people with whom they live.

Local grocery stores are happy to deliver your groceries to you if you can't go, and pick them up yourself. So don't let that keep you from having the right foods.

Another thing to remember is it's more fun to eat with someone. If you live alone, why not cook a good balanced meal and invite two or three friends over to share it with you. Maybe next week they'll do the same thing. Food tastes better if you cook for more than one person.

Farm Bureau Says Give Food Gifts

Coke County Farm Bureau has joined with the Texas Farm Bureau and the Texas Department of Agriculture in pushing a campaign to give meat, poultry and dairy products as Christmas gifts.

Coke County food stores have a supply of attractive gift certificates which may be purchased in any amount.

TFB President J. T. Woodson said this is a "positive approach" to moving agricultural commodities which are in serious trouble at this time.

After TFB started the move to give food for Christmas, the Texas Department of Agriculture got behind it and is planning and implementing the program.

An ad in this paper tells about the program.

Theme of the campaign is "Give meat, poultry and dairy products for an old fashioned farm and ranch Christmas."
