APTURE OF KIN CHOW FOLLOWED BY EQUAL SUCCESS AT NANSHAN HI

The defeat of 2,000 Cossecks at Al Yang Pien Men by Japanese is not believed in St. Petersburg, where, if the socks are those under General Rennenkampff, the effect will be worse than the reverse A Tokio correspondent says the Japanese will attack Port Arthur June 18th, and expect to capture the place

Washington hears that an army of 15,000 Japanese is moving into Korea to clear the northern portion of the General Oku, commanding the Japanese army now investing Port Arthur, reports: that the Russians have ned three points beyond Nanshan hill. Mesians deny losing two torpode bosts near Port Arthur recently, and belittle the importance of the cap-Kin Chow and Nanshan hill.

The details of the fighting at Kin Chow emphasize the heroic tensoity of the Japan Him successive times the Japanese infantry charged the fortified heights in the fact of a storm of deciding missiles, and in their last effort they carried the forts and trenches, only after a bayonet to beyonet coefficient for Russians, who made a desperate and despairing struggle to beat back the oncoming herdes. The final assault of the Japanese, in which they at last succeeded in taking possession, was marked by the desperate hand-to-hand encounter that has thus far characterized the war.

The Japanese left, throughout the entire action until night, was exposed to an enfliading fire from the Rue-mantry, a gunboat on Tallenwan bay and four nine-continuous guns posted at Tafong Chon. At a critical moment the ammunition of the artillery ran low and it was decided to cast the remaining into one final desperate assault. Fortunately, however, at the moment this decision was reached, the Japanese squadron in Kin Chew bey, bombarding when the infantry had first moved forward, suddenly recumed the shelling of Nan-

With every Japanese gun centering its fire upon the Namahan forts and trenches the Nippon infantry sprang the bodies of the dead comrades who had eacrificed their lives into the previous fruitless charges, the entire rushed forward toward the Russian left, where the fire of the Japanese squadron had proved most deadly and have the first to weaken under the death-dealing hombardment. And it was there that the first breach was in the human stone wall that all day had been an invincible barrier to the impetus assaults of the brown men. It was the Fourth division of the Osaka men that stormed the Russian left. It had once been said that Osaka re not brave. It will never be said again.

On every parapet the resistions, death-defying Japanese surged forward in increasing numbers and, hustling usualans from the entrenchments, swept over the hill. The secretary of the interior has approved the plan adopted by Commissioner Richards of the General Land Office for surveying and making a boundary line for a distance of 200 miles between Wyoming and South Da-kota and Wyoming and Montana. The contract for the South Dakota-Wyoming boundary survey will be given to F. Stable of Cheyenne and of the Montana-Wyoming line to Deputy Surveyor Peck of South Dakota. The boundary will be marked with iron and granite monuments. There is $10,000 available for the work.

The Indian bureau has received the official report on the water for domes-tic purposes in the proposed $60,000 In-dian school to be located on the San Juan river near Farmington, New Mexico. An analysis of the waters taken from the San Juan and from a well mored 1,000 feet away from that river has been made by Dr. R. H. Forbes of the Agricultural College at Tucson. Dr. Forbes favors well water for domestic uses. The problem of getting a healthful and adequate wter supply has been worrying the department, Forbes report asserts there is plenty of pure water in the well. The work of preparing plans for the new Indian school will be pushed to completion. Actual work will likely be commenced before the close of the present sumemr.

Governor Wright has cabled the secretary of war, making the following quotations from a dispatch sent to General Wright by General Wood: "No disturbance in Cottobato valley There was a fight with a band of out laws under Ali, who is as much an enemy of peaceful Moros as of ours. All Moros in valley are at work and friendly, and, for the first time in history, are taking out cedulas. Have taken out 2,500 in last two weeks. Not the slightest cause of anxiety. General Wright does not anticipate any serious trouble with the Moros. They have no chief of prominence around whom they could gather; they are divided into very small groups, commanded by insignificant dattos, intensely jealous and at general war with each other. The Moro act abolshing slavery and establishing a form government wholly at variance with what has existed heretofore naturally has produced some dissatisfaction, but he regards serious opposition as improbable, if not impossible,

Dealing With Moorish Bandits. Washington, May 29 .- A long cable gram from United States Consul General Gummere, received by Secretar/ Hay, states in substance that Rasouly, the bandit who kidnaped Jon Perdicaris, the Amercian, and his stepson Varley, had made a set of demands which the British minister and Mr. Gummere deemed it their duty to lay before their governments. Rasouly demanded that the Moorish forces should be withdrawn from the district in which his band operated, leaving them in control. He asked a large body ransom, to be collected from the governors of Tangier and Fes, who happen to be bitter enemies nity for himself and his followers from pursuit or punishment for the kidnap ing and other crimes which they had committed in the past. To cap the climax of his demands, he insisted that the United States and Great Britain should solemnly guarantee the observance by the Moorish government of the foregoing stipulations.

Secretary Hay had a conference with the President, and it was agreed that Rasouly's terms could not be met. To grant them would be oquivalent to forcing the Sultan of Morocco to abdicate in favor of a brigand so far as a considerable part of Moorish terri-tory was concerned. Moreover, the United States government could not. without establishing a new and dangerous precendent, undertake to guarantee the acts of another government. The next step is in doubt. American Trade In Manchurla. Washington, May 23 .- A report on American trade in Manchuria has just been received at the State Department from United States Consul Henry E.

at New Chwang, Chini Mr. Miller says that the entire trade of Manchuria during the year of 1899 went through the port of New Chwang whereas this year there are seven different avenues of trade, each doing considerable business. The consul says there are no. official records which to give even an estimate of the quantity of goods coming in and going out through the various channels, and excepting New Chwang. The foreign imports in 1903 for New Chwang amounted to $13,214,012 against $15,641,442 in 1899, the largest import in the history of that port. Manchuria, the consul says, is extremely rich in minerals, including coal, iron, copper, silver, gold and other kinds, but these have worked only in a small and crude way by the natives. Should this mineral wealth be developed and worked by modern methods in a manner fitting its economic possibilities, Manchuria he predicts, will prove to be one of the richest sections of Asia. Mr. Miller says it is a mistake to attribut to the growth of Manchurian trade to the building of the Russian railway, as the bulk of the produce is hauled in carts, which compete with the railroad in a haul of 400 miles or

"It is erroneous to think that United States has a monopoly of the Manchur ian trade or that there is no successful competitor," says the consul, "as there are four active sources of competitio each striving for a stronger hold on the trade, and the contest is so close that the variation in the value between gold and silver have a determining influence thereon.'

The products of the hand looms of China, known as nankeens, made from the yarns produced in the various cotton mills of China from both native and foreign cotton, is the stronges competitor.

Mr. Miller says that the growth in the trade of the United States cotton goods in Manchuria represents the greatest expansion of United States trade in the Orient, and the year 1903 was the largest in its history. There is reason to believe that considerable trade came into the country through Dainy and Port Arthur. The schedule of imports forwarded by Mr. Miller shows that the United States has almost the entire foreign trade in cotton cloth passing through New

Mr. Miller closes his report by say ing that the development of the flour milling business in Manchuris and the sale of the cheaper Shanghai flour have practically closed the market for United States four at all points except Port Arthur.

They are much exercised over the subject, the discussion was aptrited, and they showed a good deal of insight into the effect such a law would have upon their future.

They are desirous of perpetuating their old customs and forms of government, and they feel that the present law, taxing their property, is unjust and oppressive. They claim that it recognizes them as citizens so far as paying taxes is concerned, but on allother subjects they are considered savages. They do not wish to help bear the "white man's burdens" in the mat-ter of taxation and at the same time bear their own burdens as savages. Some of them showed a great deal of ability and statecraft in their discussions, and some of their speeches were able efforts. A number of them understand English and speak it fiu-ently. Rules Governing Democratic Primaries.

Rules Governing Democratic Primaries.

The Democratic Central committee, at their last meeting, adopted the following rules for the Democratic primaries, to be held on Saturday, June 11, 190:

In any precinct, if a sufficient number of voters shall apply to the chairman of said precinct for a change in the voting place, the chairman may make the desired change and appoint necessary officers, subject to the approval of the committee.

In the event of the precinct election officers being absent on the day of the primaries, any and all vacancies shall be filled by the voters present at the time of opening the polls.

No one shall be allowed to vote unless he shall be a legal election of the precinct in which he offers to vote on the day of the next general election. The legal qualifications of electors shall be the same as those governing general elections, and further, that he must be a Democrat. Any elector who has not heretofore at filiated with the Democratic party, may become a Democrat by renouncing all former political ties and pledging himself to support the nominees of the Democratic primaries and also the nominees of the Democratic primaries and also the nominees of the territorial convention.

In cases of challenged votes and contests, the node of procedure shall be same as govern general elections, are that the Democratic Central committees shall canvass all votes and decide all contests.

In the coming election for county commissioner, Floyd comes to the front with the candidacy of Mr. C. F. Wharton. It is only right that each section of the county should be represented in the commissioners' court, and better men than Mr. Wharton are hard to find. He is an old time Democrat, an honest, upright and progressive citizen, and one upon whom we can depend when true men are needed.

Mr. J. R. Darnell is a practical and up-to-date farmer near Portales, and, if nominated for the office of county commissioner, will bring I hereby announce myself a candidate for the office of assessor for Roosevelt county, subject to the action of the Democratic primaries.

M. L. Winn he has applied to his personal affairs. he has applied to his personal affairs. Mr. Darnell is not only one of us. but he is here to stay and to bring out and develop all the latent resources of the country,-in other words, the kind of man to tie to.

> Among those who have announced for county commissioner we desire drop altogether their claim to reto call attention to the candidacy of John D. Kerr, who is running subject to the action of the Democratic primaries. Mr. Kerr is an old timer here, and one in whom the people have cause to place confidence. His long experience in the west has rendered him familiar with the needs and requirements of a western county, and we believe. if elected, he will make a good officer.

For commissioner of precinct No. 2 (Elida) we note the name of Mr. E. C. Price. Mr. Price has been a representative citizen here for some time, and, by reason of his sterling qualities and his uprightness of character, has entisted a host of friends who are earnest and aggressive in advocating his candidacy for county we need just such men as Mr. Price

He has been a denizen of the plains so long that he is thoroughly alive to the best interests of a new western county, and, if elected, will give a clean administration of county affairs.

Mr J. B. Crawford is in line for scientionaly youch for his character as a man, and, among his friends, he is regarded as one who can and will serve the best interests of the recovery and delivery to undersigned county if elected. His democracy is of one bay mare and colt. Mare beyond question,-in fact he was about 14% hands high, no brand, born that way. He is a man abun- white spot in forehead. ounty is running for comm for precinct No. 1. Mr. Dobbs desires the nomination on his merits. He is of the common people, for the common people, and for the benefit of the taxpayer who believes in economy. Mr. Dobbs defines his position in but few words: Economy in the expenditure of public funds, and the placement of county benefits where they will benefit the majority of the people. A continual lessening of the taxes in keeping with the economic expenditures. Mr. Dobbs has been unable to leave his business to do any canvassing, but trusts that people understand his position. He has gone out among the people whenever possible and sent his son Buck out, but feels it his duty to let the people know that he feels keenly his inability to go out oftener among the voters, and asks all to vote for him. He is a good man and one of the people.

Mr. P. E. Broocke is a candidate for commissioner from this precinct and solicits the votes at the coming Democratic primaries. Mr. Broocke has been a resident of this section for some time and is thoroughly alive to the welfare and interests of the county. In this connection it may be well to say that in the selection of a commissioners' court, the people should look to the business ability of those who are aspirants, for the future prosperity of the county is largely within their keep-

Examine Your Backbone!

It touches you in some way. During the past month the writer has been put to considerable pains and some expense in looking after an old mother here whose profligate son has utterly abandoned her for a life of sin. What wonder then that a man should prefer to jump in and fight the sources of evil rather than to follow the trail of the curse and help unfortunate and innocent victims. Much as this fight needs to be waged, little headway can be gained as long as it is well known that prominent business men of Portales by vicious example throw the weight of their influence on the devil's side, Who cares for a man's religious or moral pretensions to respectal when his daily conduct throws the lie in your teeth. A prominent club woman, Mrs. Danforth, of St. Joseph. Mich., tells how she was cured of falling of the womb and its accompanying pains and misery by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

" DEAR MRS. PINEHAM: - Life looks dark indeed when a woman feels that her strength is fading away and she has no hopes of ever being restored. Such was my feeling a few months ago when I was advised that my poor health was caused by prolapsus or falling of the womb. The words sounded like a knell to me. I felt that my sun had set : table Compound came to me as an elixir of life : it restored the lost forces and built me up until my good health took the medicine daily, and each dose added health and strength. I am so thankful for the help I obtained through its use." - MRS. Cure of Hydrophobia:

During last year 584 persons bitten by dogs having hydrophobia were treated by the Pasteur Institute of India. There were but six failures to immunize the patients. Six other cases came after the disease had developed.

Under the caption, "The Union Pacific Railroad and Louisiana Territory." the new World's Fair folder issued by the advertising department of the Union Pacific, which has attracted such general attention, recites these interesting facts:

"While the construction of the nion Pacific Railroad, its trials and triumphs, are a part of the history of the United States, the important part played by this railroad in the development of the Louisiana Purchase can hardly be estimated. In the building up of this vast domain it has been one of the chief factors.

One hundred years ago the population of the region was estimated at Up to the inception of the Union Pacific (in 1860) it had inscreased to 3,233,529. In 1900 it numbered over 13,000,000 of inhabitants. In this wonderful growth, with its stupendous increase in all the many-sided phases of commercial, material and intellectual prosperity, the Union Pa cific-as a glance at the map will show-has had a conspicuous share. It has opened vast regions of fertile country to settlers, and brought great areas of an unknown and unproductive wilderness into close communion with metropolitan centers and markets. Thriving cities, towns and hamlets, through its efforts, have sprung up in every direction.

It may be of interest to know that the total number of manufacturing plants, and the value of their outputs, combined with that of the national adacts as reported in the census 1900, give an aggregate production for the Louisiana region of $3,500,000,000 annually, or 223 times the original purchase price. The same census reports (1900) also show the total population to be 13,343,255, of which 8,303,090 inhabitants are living in the states and territories reached by the Union Pacific. On the 1900 census figures, it is estimated that the true wealth of the Louisians purchase can be stated at about $13,051,868,359, of which $9,360, $21.387 is represented in the states reached by this great railroad."

FORCED HIMSELF TO WORK

Queer Way Historian Prescett Ha for Curing Lazine Rollo Ogden, in his brief and very readable biography of William H. Prescott, the historian, cites many passages from the diary showing Pr cott's habit of flogging hims work by making wagers with his secretaries that he would complete a given task by a certain day, the odds always heavily against himself. "Pres cott always took this betting on his own industry with perfect serious ness. Sometimes he would radiantly greet his secretaries with 'You have lost! You owe me a dollar.' And he would exact payment. Occasionally he would, with woebegone countenance, produce and pay over to the protesting secretary the $20 or $30 he himself had lost." One elaborately made memorandum witnesses that a bet of $1 to $50 had been made "between E. B. Otis and William H. Prescott, Esq., the latter betting $50 that he will write 100 pages of his 'History of Peru' in 100 days." The document ie signed William H. Prescott and Edmund B. Otis, but the latter subjoins the following: "I promise on my honor as a gentleman not to release Mr. Prescott from any forfeiture that may incur, except in such cases as are provided for in the contractthis contract being made at his desire for his own accommodation only."

Under the thelter of the American flag this vast co. Will any revolutionist in the future dare to put in jeopardy that great investment? Dias cannot be measmed with Julius Caesar and Napoleon but it truly can be said that he is an ominent statesman as well as a soldier He asked Americans to come, and they came. They built three railways from the Texas frontier into the very heart of Mexico. Two of the roads come straight to this city-come straight for hundreds of miles through an almost trackless wilderness. The third was built by the late Collis P. Huntington, and is almost 900 miles long.

The first road in Mexico, the one built by Englishmen from Vera Cruz to this city, was opened to traffic in the year 1874. The government gave it a subsidy of about $14,000,000. Twenty years ago this month the first American road, beginning at El Paso, Texas, and ending in Mexico City, was finished. Thus was opened this era of American railroad building in Mexico, and opened with a subsidy of $24,000,-000. Thus likewise began the general development of Mexican capabilities by resolute Americans. The railroad threw down the barred doors of this backward and violent nation. Diaz knew they would. When he signed his name to the contract binding his country to the payment of a great sum of money to the ast American railroad could afford to give him only an ele- his treasury was empty. His revenues were scarcely enough to say his soldiers. He had come to power by the bayonet, and by the bayonet he governed. He paid his army and he paid the subsidy. The wealth of foreigners and the soldiers of Diaz brought order, industry, thrift, peace to a turbulent and primitive people. In twenty years Mexico has been turned from a battleto pluck, he eventually succeeded, and field into a stalwart and harmonious nation-turned by the statesmanship and courage of one man and by the and steady Americans. Surely comcendiary. Other Amercan railroads followed the first one. A subsidy of more than $12,000,000 was paid to a group of capitalists, and they built the second road from the Rio Grande and the Texas frontier to Mexico City. Last year the gauge of the road was widened and $11,000,000 was voted for its improvement. This month the Mexican government bought heavily through New York bankers, of its capital stock, and redations of the boa constrictors. The now dominates in its management and policy. This, likewise, was the act of Diaz. Two great roads, great in milekeep a constant lookout for them. If age and their power and possibilities in Mexico, go from this city to the Rio Americans.
