PORTALES VALLEY LINING UP

The Portales Valley Growers Will Enter Into Big Organization

BIG CANTALOUPE ACREAGE HERE

There Will Be Some 1,200 Acres of Cantaloupes in the Entire Valley

Roswell, New Mexico, February 20, 1914.
Mr. A. A. Rogers, President, Portales Utilities Company, Portales, New Mexico.

Dear Sir: I have your letter of the 7th. In reply to your question as to the progress we are making with our new organization, will say that we have about perfected our arrangement for the coming year. We will have planted at Pecos Texas; approximately 175 acres of cantaloupes, beside some tomatoes, cabbage and Denia onions.

At Lakewood we will have between four and five hundred acres of tomatoes, a considerable acreage of Denia onions and probably thirty acres of cabbage.

Around Roswell we will have a large acreage of mixed vegetables such as celery, onions, etc., and approximately two to two-hundred fifty acres of cantaloupes, and we expect to have not less than two hundred acres of cantaloupes at Portales.

So much for the produce acreage.

We expect to have five hundred cars of apples this year, if weather conditions are normal.

Mr. Turnbull has been away from here for three weeks, perfecting his arrangements for distributing cantaloupes. The general plan will be to have our general sales manager of Texas, move his office to Kansas City during the cantaloupe season, and make that the central point, and we will have several traveling adjusters who will keep in touch with the actual delivery of cars.

The way the situation looks now Mr. Turnbull believes that a large part of the Pecos Valley cantaloupes can be placed in the middle west; however, he is making eastern connections and arrangements to take care of our cantaloupes should we be obliged to go east with them.

We appreciate your suggestion of interest and assistance and shall be very glad indeed to take these matters up with you when we meet you personally.

The big distributors are not going to be in position to injure us with our cantaloupes and produce any more than they were in position to injure us during the apple season the past year. We will have sufficient outlet for all of this stuff among people that they can not get to.

Inasmuch as Portales has decided to come into our organization, we sincerely hope that we can boost the acreage to about two hundred fifty acres.

We shall be very glad indeed to assist the growers there in deciding what other crops to plant.

As indicated before, we have great faith in tomatoes, early cabbage, Denia onions and celery

A tremendous lot of this stuff can be sold at profitable prices.

I expect to be in Portales again within ten days' time and sincerely hope I can meet you personally and talk over some of these things with you.

Yours very truly,
W. A. Nicholas, President.

Total cantaloupe acreage 1150-1250 acres.
Portales growers get in.
Also think over question of tomatoes, cabbage and onions.

Gone Home.

Little Jackson Reese, son of Judge Geo. Reese and Mrs. Reese was born May 18 and died Monday morning at 8:30 o'clock, February 28. This little Jackson lived to brighten the home here just nine months and five days.

The funeral services were held at the Presbyterian church.

Minister Shepard conducted the services. Following the singing of "Nearer My God to Thee" Rev. Smith led in earnest prayer then Minister Shepard spoke briefly, feelingly of the resurrection from the dead and the purity of childhood.

The casket was opened at the conclusion of the funeral address and most of the large crowd viewed the mortal remains of the precious babe.

A large concourse of friends and loved ones repaired to the cemetery where the weary body was laid to rest until the resurrection morn.

Little Jackson was a pretty, sweet, baby, loved by everyone who knew him.

The Herald-Times joins the great host of friends of Judge Reese and wife in extending to them in this dark hour, and to all the bereaved relatives, sincerest sympathy. May the Father in heaven comfort and strengthen them all, and may they, when the summons comes, be ready to meet little Jackson on the shoreless eternity of the fadeless beyond.

Lyceum Entertainers Again

The next number of the Lyceum course of entertainments which are being given under the auspices of the Woman's Club, will appear at the Cozy Monday evening March 2. This is the Norman Wilcox entertainers. Tickets are on sale at Neers Drug Store.

If you miss this entertainment you, will regret it.

The Schuberts Here

The Symphony Club gave an entertainment at the Cozy Wednesday evening under the auspices of the Ladies' Aid Society of the Methodist church.

The Schuberts are rare entertainers and the large crowd that greeted them were pleased with the entire program.

Operation is Successful

A message from Rev. Dawn at Tucumcari states that his little girl Carrie Lynn, who was operated on for appendicitis Tuesday morning, is doing well.

Rev. Dawn expects to return Friday or Saturday and will fill his pulpit here Sunday.

T. J. Mabry editor of the Clovis Journal passed thru Portales Tuesday enroute to Elida.

LAST COUNT MARCH 20TH

The Last Count of the Piano Contest Will Be On March 20th

$400 PIANO TO BE GIVEN AWAY

Some Young Lady Will Get The Piano. Who Will It Be?

The second count of the Herald-Times popular piano contest came to a close Thursday evening.

The committee who acted as judges and counted the votes were kept busy until a late hour. Miss Cunningham sprang a surprise on the others by rolling up an extra large vote. This is evidence of what may be accomplished by a well organized and systematic campaign.

Miss Blakey, on the other hand, is putting up a hard fight and has a splendid opportunity if she chooses. Misses Farnham, Crosby, Wells, Battenfeld, Sandifer, Crawford, in fact all the contestants have an even chance, and an earnest effort would change things materially. The piano is anybody's up to the last count.

And now for the final count. That's the all important event. Don't forget it. The date for the final count is the for Friday, March 20. Keep the date in mind. Mark it on your calendar. Get busy. Do it now. "Just keep on a keepin on." March 20 the beautiful $400. piano will be awarded to the young lady who has the most votes. Do you want the piano? No time to lose.

Get your friends to help you. Buy goods from the merchants who give coupons. Get your friends to do likewise.

Above all things, do not be discouraged. A faint heart never won a piano. The discouraged general invites defeat. Go in to win. Stick to the battle. It's worthy. It's laudable. The girl with practical ideas and worthy ambitions, actuated by lofty motives is the ideal twentieth century girl. Pay no attention to the person who would have you sit with folded hands and have you learn to do only fancy work. All honorable work is divine.

Every patriotic citizen is willing to take part in this contest. It is for you to show them that you are in earnest. They are willing to help you if you help yourself. Show them that you mean business—that you are in to win.

For every seven yearly new subscribers we will give 10,000 extra votes making a total of 14,200 votes. For every seven renewal subscriptions 8,000 extra making a total of 11,500 votes. For every seven back subscriptions 6,000 extra, making a total of 8,800 votes.

For every 40 merchants coupon brought to this office and counted by the publisher or an assistant we will give one thousand extra votes making a total of 2,000 votes.

Merchants coupons are given by the following business men. Remember to call for your coupon when trading with these merchants.

- Joyce-Fruit Co.
  - Cozy Theater
  - R. H. Adams
  - C. V. Harris
  - Stricklands Grocery
  - Ed J. Neer
  - Portales Drug Co.
  - M. J. Faggard & Co.
  - Connally Coal Co.
  - Portales Lumber Co.
  - Portales Tailoring Co.
  - Hardy Hardware Co.
- Don't worry about the other girl. Just keep working as you have never worked.
- The ballot box will be placed in the lobby of the bank building during the last ten days. This will give those, who wish, the opportunity to vote in secret.

PECOS VALLEY TO ORGANIZE

Truck and Fruit Growers of The Valley Will Organize

TO WORK FOR BETTER PROFITS

By Working Together More Can Be Realized By The Farmers

The winter is rapidly passing, and the time for planting our cantaloupe seed will soon be upon us. As we have already made clear to each one interested in this industry of producing cantaloupes and other produce, we want to keep in touch with each and every grower through the entire season.

We sincerely trust that you have been able to select alfalfa ground, or new, well-drained sod for your cantaloupe field, and we also hope that you have been able to get your ground plowed by this time. If you have been unable to do so, we trust you will take steps to prepare your ground in the very near future.

While we appreciate the fact that a great deal of the success of this enterprise depends upon us as sellers of your produce, it must not be forgotten that each and every grower has an equal and identical responsibility in this success. If the ground is not properly prepared in time for planting, and if the seed isn't planted in good soil, or a good stand is not obtained on account of careless methods, the grower will be disappointed in his yield, and therefore disappointed with the net income per acre.

We are therefore most anxious that each and every grower should keep up with his work and use every possible effort to plant and handle his field so as to secure the maximum yield.

We are taking steps to secure special, selected seed, and reliable people tell us that each grower should provide himself with not less than one and one-half for each acre planted. If his field is located where the squirrels are apt to bother, he may insure getting a stand by planting more seed in the hill than he otherwise would. This will enable us to get a stand where, if we did not take this precaution, we might fail to do so.

Our Mr. Turnbull, Sales Manager for the Pecos Valley distributors, is now on his eastern trip; and is making arrangements for the distribution and sale of approximately 400 cars of cantaloupes from the Pecos Valley.

We have been most successful in securing an acreage of cantaloupes. We have practically under contract 1,000 acres in the Pecos Valley, reaching from Portales, New Mexico, to Pecos, Texas. You will appreciate the advantage of this large acreage, as it gives a volume of business which is bound to command the respect and attention of cantaloupe dealers everywhere.

Of course, we may not have 400 cars, but by preparing to sell 400 cars, we will thereby be the better enabled to handle promptly, safely and properly any quantity up to that number.

The growers all through the Valley are enthusiastic over the prospects and believe that they will be given a square deal, and we propose to make it our business to see that they are not disappointed, either in getting a square deal or in getting profitable returns.

I have on my desk a letter from Mr. Turnbull, who is now in Columbus, Ohio. He tells me that he is encouraged over the prospect of selling Pecos Valley cantaloupes at very profitable prices to the growers. Dealers wherever he has been tell him that our cantaloupes are of better flavor, as well netted, and as good or better shippers than melons from any other district, and that the consumers of cantaloupes are most enthusiastic over them. These dealers are preparing to advertise and push the sale of Pecos Valley cantaloupes for us in preference to those from other sections. This gives us a leverage and an advantage which we have never before had, and hereinafter Pecos Valley melons will not be a side-issue, but will be recognised in the markets as a distinct and separate product from the Rocky Ford melons, and will be especially pushed on their own merits.

Mr. Turnbull and the dealers with whom he has discussed this matter, believe that owing to the quality of our melons they will be able to net 25 cts., per crate more than any other melons. This kind of a line-up is the only thing that is going to place the cantaloupe industry in this Valley on a profitable basis. If the growers will cooperate with us in selecting good ground, planting at the proper time, selecting best seed, and planting together, using care in irrigating and cultivation, watching for and keeping in check the aphids, we in turn will spend any necessary money, will do any amount of labor required, and leave no stone unturned to make this a profitable industry to you and to the Valley as a whole.

We shall be glad to hear from any grower at any time, directly or through our local representatives, and are only too anxious to cooperate with you in order to insure your success. While we do not desire to urge any one to do more along this line than he feels consistently can, our very thorough investigations into the marketing of these melons encourage us to ask you to enter upon this work without misgivings as to the profitableness of it, providing you do your part and get a good stand of cantaloupes, and we would be glad to have each member of this selling organization increase his acreage by any reasonable amount he can take care of. We would be glad if the 5-acre men would plant 7 or 8 acres. And we earnestly solicit this increase in care of same. Our chances for success on the marketing are two to one in our favor, and we feel that you can go ahead with a larger acreage than you at first anticipated without fear of losses such as you have sustained in the past.

Trusting you will give the matter in this letter your careful consideration, and that you will do everything in your power to help your own success as well as our, we are, Yours truly,

THE PECOS VALLEY DISTRIBUTORS
The above letter has been addressed to the farmers of the Pecos Valley.

For The Old Times

"Home folk" do not always realize change at home. A local improvement is no sooner well launched or secured than another is expected and the attention and thought of the citizen community are thenceforth given to its acquisition or realization. In this new community, pursuit has ever been more attractive or pleasurable, than possession.

Resorting to figures; the census for 1900 gave the population of what is now all of Roosevelt county, and a considerable part of Curry county as 365 persons of all ages. Portales was then an aggregation of a dozen houses each "boxed" built and of one room. No single street was demarcated on either side at a right angle.

In 1910 the area holding 365 people in 1900 had increased to more than 25,000. Roosevelt county had been organized and a third part of its area taken in the creation of Curry county. Seventy-five families had increased to more than 5,000 families beside bachelors and spinsters.

2,500 odd sections of "Free Government Range," had been "settled" by the actual inhabitant and agricultural activities prevailed everywhere upon the same.

In the mean time, Portales, through constant and orderly and natural growth, had become the "Little City Beautiful." Business houses had been transformed from wood to brick and stone. Sidewalks from plank to concrete. Water service from well and windmill to stand pipe and faucet touch. Night lighting from the kerosene lamp to electric bulb and turn screw. The scavenger works wholly underground. The once treeless townsite has become decked and decorated with trees and flowers. The public schools are as efficient as any, leading to admittance to university. We have churches of all shades of denominational color, well patronized and prosperous. Our people are the "Salt of the Earth;" the least contaminated remnant of Puritan and Cavalier; the last and best of the Anglo-Saxon.

Portales and the Portales Valley are now ready to run a race in the matter of development. Irrigation is demonstrated a success as is the cantaloupe, the sweet potato, the hog, the cow, alfalfa and the hen.

There is power for all. Irrigation water for all; irrigable land for all and God's most beautiful sunshine for all.

We, the "Old Timers" who were next after the Indian, have every reason to rejoice and be exceeding glad that our lives have fallen in so pleasant and prosperous place as Portales and the Portales Valley.

W. E. Landsey.

Heart Of The Stock Country

It is perhaps too much to say that Portales is in the heart of the world's greatest stock farming country, yet it is a fact that this is an all but ideal stock farming country. Our summers are not too hot, and our winters are mild. The grass is rich and full of nutriment. Forage crops can always be grown on the unirrigable land and most every year grain. There is practically no limit to the amount of alfalfa and other feed crops that can be grown on our irrigable land. All this feed can be profitably fed here.

Residence Burns

Monday about 1 p. m. the residence of Andrew Wolf in south Portales was destroyed by fire. Nothing was saved. Mr. Wolf's ice cream factory nearby caught fire from the residence and was destroyed. Everything was a total loss as no insurance was carried.

Mr. Wolf was thawing out the water pipes when sparks from the fire were blown under the house from which the house caught fire.

Will Ship Car Of Hogs

Next Friday W. F. Faggard will ship two cars of fat hogs to Ft. Worth, Texas. This will make five carloads of fat hogs that Mr. Faggard has shipped from the Portales Valley this season.

When asked if he found it profitable to raise hogs here, he replied "Why yes, very much." This is further evidenced by the fact that he is preparing to raise hogs on a still greater scale than heretofore.

Come to the Portales Valley and grow fat hogs and incidentally grow a fat bank account.

Public School Entertainment

Did you attend the entertainment given by the school at the Cozy Friday evening? If you did you know how great it was. If you didn't attend you missed the treat of your life.

There were no dull moments, nothing monotonous. Dull care was chased away and the moments passed only too quickly.

Evidence of careful and conscientious training of pupils on the part of teachers was everywhere manifest. It was just as evident that the pupils had as carefully and conscientiously prepared for the entertainment.

It was all rich. The recitations, drills, marches, songs, instrumental selections by the "little folks" were splendid. The readings by Miss Mitchell and Miss Leota Merrill were rare treats. And especially deserving of mention is the work of the Glee Club. These young ladies have been under the training of Mrs. Judge Nixon for just a short time, but their singing was of the very best.

The next time the Portales school announces an entertainment, if you want to get your moneys worth, then some, you go. Don't forget that.

Card Of Thanks

We desire to express our deepest gratitude to each and all of our friends for their assistance and sympathy during the fatal illness and death of our beloved son and brother, Jackson Reese. Mr. and Mrs. G. L. Reese and family.

Young Man Makes Good

This is a great age in which we live. Perhaps the greatest age of all the great ages of the past. This is an age that tries men's metal. An age that reveals the giants and the pigmies. An age when men are in demand who can do things worth while.

This is also an age of splendid opportunities and magnificent possibilities for the worthy young man who is trained in head, hand and heart. Ever and anon this fact is brought forcefully to our attention. The histories of the trials and struggles, heartaches and disappointments of these young men who have come from the ranks and are now filling responsible positions in all the walks of life, would fill many volumes of reading that would grip and inspire to deeds of valor.

One of these young men who has taken his place high up in the commercial world with one of the great corporations of the country was a Portales visitor this week. This young man comes from a worthy family and is composed of the stuff out of which heroes are made. The editor of this paper knew him and watched him in one of the great universities of the South.

The president of this institution said to us one day, "Tom Gallaher is the brainiest fellow in this university, he is almost perfect in his studies, but he is so everlastingly full of devilment that he just hangs around the 'ragged edge' all, or most of the time." And we have an inkling that had not the father of this young man been a good supporter of the aforesaid university and interceded in behalf of his son on more than one occasion, the son would have been "honorably" expelled.

Let that be as it may, Tom Gallaher graduated from the university with honors, and well he accepted a place as left fielder in one of the crack baseball league teams of the South. His father displeased! That's not a nickname for his feelings. The fact that Tom was a special favorite in fandom and a star player, cut no ice with the angry dad who had educated his boy for something better. Dr. J. W. Gallaher sent a message to his son Tom that made said son sit up and take notice. For this vivacious, brainy young man loved his father and mother, brother and sisters. The message read, "I educated you, my boy, for something higher than baseball and if that is your chief ambition you need not come home anymore. 'Jolt!' It was the first real jolt this bundle of nerves, energy and brains had ever received. It cut the heart strings. He tried to forget, but it stuck. It shook him up. It aroused his latent powers, his smoldering ambition. He said, 'I will arise but not go to my father just yet, but I will show father the stuff I am made of and I will make the old gentleman proud of me.'"

That is what he has done. In a few weeks had you dropped into the big railroad office of the Santa Fe railway company at Amarillo, Texas, either early in the morning or late in the evening, you would have found Tom Gallaher there working harder than anyone in that great building, grim determination to succeed written on his face.

Who will blame this young man for telling the "higher ups" of this corporation that he was several years older than he really was when they hesitated about about employing him because of his age. He must have a chance to make good in some line of work that would please his father or forever, as he felt, remain ostracised from home. To eliminate all details, Tom Gallaher made good, and though only a few years have passed since this beardless boy timidly walked in the office of the Santa Fe railway company and secured an humble position, and though he is but twenty-eight now, yet he holds the responsible position of traveling freight and passenger agent with this road and is recognized as one of the really great men of this great system. He has made his father proud of his son and the son thanks his father for writing that message. "If that is your chief ambition you need not come home anymore."

Pecos Valley to Organize

The Portales Valley, while the newest, from an agricultural point, part of the Pecos Valley is one of the most important sections of the entire Valley. And the Herald-Times believes that it will be greatly to the advantage, financially, and otherwise, for the truck growers and farmers generally of the Portales Valley to line-up with the rest of the Pecos Valley in the work of marketing their produce, all working under one organization.

His Farewell

A minister in giving up his charge once said: "Brethren I have decided to leave this field of labor. There are many reasons for this. In the first place you do love me, for you have not paid me a cent on last year's salary. You do not love each other for there has not been a wedding in this parish for many months. God does not love you for there has not been a funeral since I came here. You don't love God for you are doing nothing to promote His Kingdom here on earth. I have decided to take the position of chaplain at the state prison and have decided to preach my farewell sermon from the text 'I go to prepare a place for you.' The choir will now sing 'Meet Me There.'"

From Rochester Michigan

Rochester, Mich., Feb. 17-14 Herald-Times, Portales, New Mexico. Gentlemen:

Enclosed please find check to cover subscription for 1914. I notice by the hyphenated heading of your paper that you have consolidated with the Times. The Herald-Times is one of the most welcome publications that reaches me—for I watch eagerly for the developments of one of the greatest countries on "God's" footstool, and to bask "neath its Italian skies is as a dream unfolded.

There is no country to me as New Mexico.

I am very sincerely,
Jennie F. Patton.

Thanks awfully for your encouraging message. But say, don't get the idea that we have "consolidated with the Times." "Not on your life." We bought out the Times, lock, stock and barrel. The editor of the Times signed a contract and made affidavit that he would not "Engage in the newspaper business, either directly or indirectly, for the space of three years in Portales." But?

Better Than He Expected

Chas. Seedboreg, a Herald-Times reader at Havlock Nebraska, returned to his home Wednesday after spending about ten days in the Valley.

Mr. Seedboreg said to the Herald-Times man: I came down to see the Portales Valley and I have seen it. I have gone out over the Valley every day, and I unhesitatingly say that I am pleased with it. In fact this Valley is even better than I expected."

THE CONCERN THAT "CONVERTED" OKLAHOMA INDUSTRY

To be "Converted" is to be "Turned about" and directed along new lines of action. The advent of Morris & Co. into Oklahoma "converted" Oklahoma agriculture by turning the minds of the farmers and business men from the old method of exporting the bulk of their soil products to other states, where it was used to fatten stock for the northern markets, and causing them to realize that the big profits in farming are in feeding their own grain and forage to their own animals and then sending those animals to their own home market.

John Fields, the wizard of Oklahoma agriculture, says that the farmer who sells a ton of alfalfa for $10.00 gives it away, but if he feeds it to a steer he gets fifty per cent more for the hay. And yet at the same time the steer leaves eighty five per cent of the soil fertility that he has consumed in its growth on the farm. In other words—live stock gets eighty five per cent of its living out of the air.

John also says: "Raising grain for market is mining not farming, unless a large per cent of the profits are used in fertilizing the land on which the grain grew. But if the grain is marketed on the hoof the fertilization problem takes care of itself."

The realization of this ideal was not possible until the home market was provided. This is what Morris & Co. did. The officials of that company were men of great vision. They saw the future possibility. They realized the advantages of seizing upon the strategic point in the great southwestern territory. With the utmost secrecy they investigated, considering Kansas, Oklahoma, Texas and New Mexico. From the whole vast area they chose Oklahoma City.

On a big farm at the outskirts of the city they "planted" three millions of dollars in the great packing plant that is shown in the above illustration. Another million was invested by the Oklahoma National Stock Yards Co. in stock yards equipment which cover 160 acres of ground.

An addition to the city was planned and sold by them and is now occupied by a complete business district with banks, hotels, stores and residences. The photograph from which the accompanying picture was made was taken from the roof of a business building and shows the entrance to the area which includes both the Morris and the S. & S. plants, the Oklahoma National Stock Yards, the horse and mule market, the soap and fertilizer plants and other items that combine to make up a complete equipment for handling live stock and converting it into merchantable products.

All this was made possible by the decision of Morris & Co. to locate in Oklahoma City as their vantage point in the great southwest. Their action induced the S. & S. concern to come and locate with them; thus creating, out of hand, a market equal to any other in the southwestern section of the United States.

During the annual convention of the Panhandle & Southwestern Stockmen's Association, which will be held in Oklahoma City, March 3-4-5, the great plant will be a sort of Mecca to which thousands will journey. Special guides will be on duty each day to welcome all visitors and show them every detail of the big institution, which slaughters 1,500 cattle and 2,500 hogs in a day—when that many animals are available—as well as all the sheep that can be procured.

A THREE MILLION DOLLAR OKLAHOMA ATTRACTION

One of the "Magnets" that will attract live stock raisers of the great southwest to the annual convention of the Panhandle and Southwestern Stockmen's Association, which is to be held in Oklahoma City March 3-4-5, is the splendid packing plant of the Suisberger & Sons Co.

Those who recall other packing plants they have seen—or pictures of them—will note that this one is different in that it covers less ground according to its capacity than others but that the buildings are much higher. It is familiarly known as the "Sky Scraper" packing plant of the country. The main group of buildings is nine stories high. This arrangement gives compactness to the whole institution and, by use of elevators allows the handling of products from the top of the buildings down to the ground floors, taking advantage of gravity instead of moving products for long distances on level.

The top floor of the wing of the main building which shows in the accompanying picture immediately to the right of the big "S. & S." sign is the swine killing room. The animals are taken up in a big double elevator working in a steel skeleton framework which shows plainly in the picture. From this high elevation the carcasses and other products of the animals are worked downward until they reach a finished product stage on various floors.

The capacity of the hog department is 2,500 per day. At the extreme right and in the background of the picture the cattle chute is shown. The cattle are driven from the pens up the long incline to the fourth story of another wing of the main group of buildings where they are slaughtered. This department has a capacity of 1,500 animals per day.

One of the most interesting departments of this big concern is that in which poultry is killed, dressed and packed for shipment. Thousands of birds are handled daily with such dispatch as to amaze the uninitiated. A great many sheep are also handled in this plant, though as yet this branch of the live stock industry in this section has not been largely developed.

The plant cost three millions of dollars, is of reinforced concrete construction throughout and is a model of sanitation and scrupulous cleanliness. The photograph from which the accompanying illustration was made was taken just after the plant was completed and before the grounds were cleaned of the builders' equipment. A wall now surrounds the entire works and the grounds are beautifully parked.

Visitors are always welcomed and guides are constantly on duty to conduct visitors, who come by scores every day, through the intricate ways of its many departments. Special preparations for entertainment of visitors will be made during the Stockmen's Convention, for thousands will be eager to inspect the "Factory" where their live stock is converted into "finished products."

The stock pens shown in the foreground of the picture are a very small part of the immense modern yards of the Oklahoma National Stock Yards Company. These yards cover 160 acres of ground, are paved throughout with vitrified brick laid in concrete and are ideally arranged for handling and feeding stock under the best sanitary conditions.

OKLAHOMA STOCK YARDS EXCHANGE BLDG.

If you have the idea that a modern stock yards and packing plant district is a sordid, unsightly place to be avoided unless compelled by business interests to visit it, you have a pleasant disappointment coming to you when you join the thousands who will attend the annual convention of the Panhandle and Southwestern Stockmen's Association which meets in Oklahoma City March 3-4-5.

The accompanying picture shows the building which houses the stock yards offices, the offices of the various commission firms who buy and sell live stock, telegraph offices, a post office, telegraph station, a big restaurant on second floor and in the basement the pressroom of the Daily Live Stock News, a publication devoted to the Oklahoma live stock industry. It is located on a beautiful lawn adjacent to both packing plants, the stock yards and the horse and mule market.

The Oklahoma City Stock Yards district is one of the most ideal in its arrangement of any in the country. This fact is readily accounted for by the whole district was planned and executed on ground which was farming area and selected because of its natural adaptability for this purpose. Visitors to the convention will enjoy its broad streets and plaza, its beautiful lawns and symmetrical architecture.

During the entire time of the convention a live stock show will be in progress. This will attract the best breeders of the southwest and during the week of the convention hundreds of thousands of dollars worth of breeding stock will change hands.

On the afternoon of the second day of the convention an "Excursion" of all guests of the city will be run from the city to the yards, over the splendid double track electric street railway line that traverses the boulevard that connects the city proper with the stock yards district. It is expected that on this afternoon more than six thousand people will tour the district and inspect its many attractions.

An abundance of band music, free transportation and other items of hospitality will characterize this event.

AN IDEAL FEEDING GROUND.

Oklahoma offers to the southwestern cattle man an ideal feeding ground. To the great range country that lies in the Panhandle of both Oklahoma and Texas, and the range country of New Mexico and Southern Colorado, the Oklahoma feeding grounds are growing more and more attractive as the cattle men realize the logic of the situation.

The climatic condition is the best offered by any feeding state, requiring the least shelter and the minimum of resistance of cold. The feed supply is everywhere at hand and in the greatest variety of any of the states. Every standard feed crop, including cottonseed products, is produced in the greatest profusion throughout the state. A failure to produce a feed crop in Oklahoma is unknown.

And when the cattle are finished the distance is short to the market at Oklahoma City, where the highest prices are paid. The short haul saving in shrinkage is alone sufficient to make shipments to the home market an object of profit.

The logic of this proposition will be very thoroughly discussed at the Panhandle and Southwestern Stockmen's Association annual convention which is to be held in Oklahoma City March 3-4-5. It is expected by the officers of the association that the attendance at this meeting will break all records of the organization.

MUSIC IN THE AIR.

During the entire time of the Panhandle and Southwestern Stockmen's Association convention, which is to be held in Oklahoma City March 3-4-5, music will be a prominent feature. Bands will be playing every hour of the day and during each evening throughout the business section of the city. It is intended by the committee in charge that there shall literally be "music in the air" constantly in the down-town section of the city.

TRANSITION OF RANCH TO FARM

"Steadily the ranch is giving way to the farm. This is in conformity with the demand of the times, and the site is one of the chief factors in making this transition possible."

This is the sentiment expressed by President W. B. Slaughter of the Panhandle and Southwestern Stockmen's Association at a recent meeting of the executive committee of the organization in Oklahoma City. The sentiment had the hearty endorsement of the membership of the committee.

These committeemen are men of "big business" in Southwestern Live Stock affairs. They had assembled to perfect plans for the big annual convention of the association to be held in Oklahoma City, March 3-4-5. For most of them it was their first visit to the Oklahoma metropolis. They were slow to believe that Oklahoma will become the feeding ground for the vast grazing area west of it—the Panhandle, Colorado and New Mexico plains and the mountain ranges beyond—and that the market at Oklahoma City will be the destination toward which its fat stock will finally move.

But they were convinced by what they saw that the theory was well founded. Oklahoma has the feed stuff in the most complete variety of any state; she has the mild climate for

THE SKEPTICS WERE AT LAST CONVINCED

Found it hard to believe all things they heard of Oklahoma City

When Oklahoma City first asked for one of the big annual stockmen's meetings her claims for recognition failed to connect with the wishes of the cattlemen. She was "Too New in the Live Stock Game" to be considered eligible.

But she bided her time, continued to increase by wonderfully rapid strides her livestock market, day by day and week by week earning a reputation as the most favorable market in the southwest, until she gained the long sought recognition at Amarillo last March, when she won the 1914 convention of the Panhandle and Southwestern Stockmen's Association after a hard but fair and clean fight.

Many members of the organization expressed grave doubt as to the wisdom of the choice, fearing that Oklahoma City was still "too new" to properly cope with the situation. Even members of the executive committee entertained some fears along that line until they visited the city last fall to transact official business and make preliminary arrangements for the big meet. To most of them it was their first visit.

What they saw on that visit quickly dispelled all doubts. Being human they were like the majority of people who have heard of the wonders of Oklahoma and her capital metropolis winter feeding, she has the m close at hand to receive the fat with a minimum of shrinkage from shipment.

Some of the committeemen had

been skeptical of the proposition to hold the convention in Oklahoma City. But they all went away enthusiastic converts, praising Oklahoma enterprise and predicting the fulfillment to the uttermost of Oklahoma's hopes and aspirations.

They have since that time been urging the members of the association to attend and likewise have their eyes opened to the advantages offered by Oklahoma City as the market for their stock and the source of supply for their business needs. Recent assurances from the association headquarters are that the prospect is for a record breaking attendance, and the local committee has been asked to prepare for taking care of five to six thousand visitors on that occasion.

"A FLAG AT EVERY DOOR." Determined to become known throughout the country as "The Flag City," Oklahoma City has adopted the national colors for decorating the city on the occasion of the Panhandle and Southwestern Stockmen's Association annual convention to be held there March 3-4-5.

It is the special desire that every home shall be decorated in some degree and to that end the committee in charge has adopted the slogan "A Flag At Every Door," insisting that no home, however humble, shall neglect to display at least one American flag during the convention.

LAVISH ENTERTAINMENT FOR VISITING STOCKMEN

Oklahoma hospitality will be well exemplified in the entertainment provided for the thousands who are expected to attend the annual convention of the Panhandle and Southwestern Stockmen's Association March 3-4-5. Every hour in which the convention is not in business session is filled with some kind of entertainment.

The forenoons are left clear for the business sessions, so far as the men are concerned. For the women visitors some form of entertainment will be provided each forenoon by the women of Oklahoma City. There will be receptions, luncheons, shopping tours and various functions in which women are especially interested.

Each afternoon and evening will be taken up with some form of general entertainment. During the entire three days, morning, afternoon and night, there will be band music in profusion—on the streets, in the convention hall, at the hotels, everywhere that guests of the city may be.

Visitors' WHI Tour City

On the afternoon of Tuesday, March 3, the first day, all visitors will tour the city in automobiles. About twelve hundred cars have been proffered by citizens for this purpose. This tour will end at the High School building, which ranks as one of the model high schools of the world, where a brief entertainment will be provided and the visitors shown through the building.

In the evening a theatrical entertainment will be provided.

Tour of Stock Yards.

The afternoon of the second day will be spent at the Oklahoma National Stock Yards, the beautiful model industrial suburb of Oklahoma City. In a tour of the great Morris and Suisberger packing plants, the big stock yards, the Exchange building, the horse and mule market and all of the varied points of interest to stockmen.

The crowd will be taken to the yards and returned on special excursion trains of electric cars which traverse the beautiful boulevard that connects the city proper with the industrial addition.

The evening will be devoted to the Fifteenth Annual Cattlemen's Grand Ball. This is the big social function of the year among the regular attendants of these conventions and it is the aim of the special committee in charge to make this the most notable in the history of the organization. Governor Lee Cruce will lead the grand march.

The afternoon of the third day will be set aside for the various lodges, clubs and other social organizations to do the entertaining. Practically all organizations will keep "open house." This will be the opportunity to get more closely acquainted.

The last evening will be one to be remembered, for it has been reserved for the "Big Event," the annual "Stockmen's Smoker." It will be sufficient to say that it is the determination of the committee to provide the "classiest" entertainment ever witnessed by the members of the Panhandle Association.

On this evening the visiting ladies will be entertained at one of the local theaters by a specially prepared professional program.

STOCKMEN OF FOUR STATES INTERESTED

Men of Big Business in Livestock Industry will gather at meeting

Stockmen and farmers generally are interested in the annual convention of the Panhandle and Southwestern Stockmen's Association to be held in Oklahoma City March 3-4-5. This is to be no ordinary gathering. It will be distinguished by many remarkable features, and the largest attendance of members and their families in the history of this big organization is confidently anticipated by the officers and executive committee.

Realizing these facts, a great number of breeders of fine stock, dealers in feed stuffs, bankers who finance big live stock operations and a multitude of business men who have dealings with the big cattle men of the great southwestern grazing area and with farm operations generally will meet the stockmen at their annual gathering. While this is a custom at these annual meetings the convention this March will be especially remarkable for this feature, according to expectations of the executive committee, who are residents in four states, Texas, New Mexico, Colorado and Oklahoma.

From this vast area will come an army of men representing the biggest single industry of the vast plains country of northwest Texas, the mountain and plains regions of Colorado and New Mexico, the Panhandle and Western Oklahoma. Among them are some of the biggest capitalists of the southwest.

This attracts the fine stock breeders, the financiers, the feed men, the silo manufacturers and various dealers who seek to do business.

All this affords a splendid opportunity for the average farmer, who is rapidly learning that he too must become a "livestockman" if he is to make the profit to which he is entitled in his business, to get in touch with "big business" in his line. Particularly will this apply to Oklahoma farmers who for the first time are having one of these great conventions brought to their doors.

Canning Factory for Portales

The work of securing a canning factory for Portales is being pushed in a way that spells success we believe. This certainly a much needed enterprise and one that would be a paying venture from the start. The man looking for a gilt edge investment will do well to investigate this matter. Write the commercial club.

Do the farmers of Roosevelt county really want a canning factory? If so, the factory can be had. But it will require concerted action. How many acres of tomatoes etc, will you farmers plant? Let us have definite information on this point.

Kentuckian Moves Here

D. L. Scott moved here this week with his family from Kentucky. Mr. Scott is a man of considerable means and comes here especially for his wife's health. The four children will be placed in our public school at once.

Mr. Scott said he stopped at Clovis but having heard a great deal about Portales and this valley he thought to come down and look the proposition over. The fact that he has moved here is evidence of his satisfaction with Portales and our citizenship.

Rocky Ford Man Buys Land

Tuesday W. F. Faggard sold one of his farms, the one known as the Pitts place, to Chas. H. Jackson of Rocky Ford Colorado. The consideration was above $100,000 per acre.

Mr. Jackson is an experienced irrigation farmer and will make good in the Portales Valley. He has a 24 acre tract near the city. The small farm in the irrigable portion of this valley, rightly handled, will prove a veritable gold mine to the owner.

Valentine Party

An enjoyable valentine party was given at the home of Mrs. W. B. Oldham by Misses Leota Merrill and Willie Ferguson on Valentine night to a few friends. Everything was in token of the Valentine idea, and the evening passed pleasantly with music, unique games and conversation. Delicious refreshments were served, and at a late hour the guests departed, all agreeing that their hostesses were most gracious entertainers.

J. B. Priddy Sick

It is with regret that we note the illness of J. B. Priddy. Mr. Priddy returned from the eastern markets Monday where he purchased a full line of dependable spring goods. But unfortunately he contracted a cold and is confined to his bed. Mrs. Priddy said to the Herald-Times man: "I tell you Mr. Priddy was glad to get back to the land of sunshine."

Another Meat Market

Yes, Portales continues to hike cityward. Most every week fresh evidence of this fact is noted. This week it is another meat market.

Ed Williams who is well known and experienced in the business is opening up a market at the White House grocery.

The Poultry Industry

The Portales Valley is an ideal place for the raising of poultry. Always plenty of green food, bugs, worms etc, giving them rations which chickens must have to produce strong, healthy chickens. Our climate which is cool and invigorating gives life to a fowl that makes it busy all the time. Disease is rare among poultry of the Portales Valley.

When a pure breed chicken is culled carefully and taken proper care of, the mongrel chicken is completely outclassed. From a visit over the Valley one would be surprised to see the number of flocks of pure bred poultry, and all doing exceptionally well.

I heard a man say the other day: "My chickens are averaging 67 percent laying since January 1, and yesterday I got 29 eggs from 31 hens" That shows what can be done. Treat your chickens at least as you would treat your hogs. They will make money faster for you and with less trouble and expense.

Turkeys do exceedingly well here, and they need very little attention. Feed them at night and keep them in the habit of roosting near the house and the loss will be very slight.—J. L. Reid, Prop., Red Feather Farm.

T. B. Gallaher traveling freight and passenger agent of the Santa Fe railroad with headquarters at Amarillo Texas spent Tuesday in Portales visiting relatives; Mrs. W. G. Blakey and daughters, Miss Clara Blakey and Mrs. J. H. Shepard, also C. B. Blakey and family. He expressed himself as pleased with the outlook for Portales and this section and stated that the Santa Fe Ry. Co. was anxious to cooperate with the people here in the development of this great country.

To Whom It May Concern

As there has been some misunderstanding about the prize in the second count of the Herald-Times piano contest and as some have tried to attach blame to the Herald Printing company. I desire to say that the management of this company has been absolutely fair in this matter.

Upon first thought I felt I was entitled to $15.00, but upon reflection I saw that an error had occurred in the last contest article, as the articles prior to this had stated that $10.00 would be given to the contestant making the greatest gain from the first count, and $5.00 to the one making the second greatest gain.

However, when this matter was brought to the attention of the Herald-Times management, the editor said: "We had rather lose money than to have any young lady feel she is not getting a square deal, and he wrote me a check for $5.00. This I afterwards returned to him because I felt I was not entitled to it.

I am fully convinced that the Herald Printing company will conduct this subscription campaign fair and square to everyone, and I am in hopes they will soon have the 2,000 paid in advance readers for which they are working.—MYRTLE CUNNINGHAM.

Womans Civic League

The Woman's Civic and Art League will meet with Mrs. Lindsey, Monday, March 2nd, at two o'clock, to render the following program:

Must Protestantism Adopt Christian Science, Mrs. Seay, Foods, Mrs. Graf, Laws for Sanitary School houses, Mrs. Culbertson, The Reasons why the Copper Miners Struck, Mrs. Dunaway, Illustrated Are, Mrs. Hall.

Mr. and Mrs. Lem Cheser are the happy parents of a fine boy who made his arrival Tuesday night.

W. M. Stout of Memphis was a prospector here this week.

Oklahomian Buys Land

A bunch of Oklahoma folks have bought land in Roosevelt county and more are coming. J. V. Abernathy of Hollis Oklahoma got hold of a choice farm here this week.

Mrs. F. E. Price left for Plainview Texas, Wednesday where she will visit for a time before going on to Collin county Texas, where she will reside in the future.

OKLAHOMA CITY

Even in the southwest a place that has grown from a water tank to a city of seventy thousand people in twenty-four years is something of a wonder. By way of stimulating your curiosity to see this American marvel let us tell you that this is a real, modern city--not a big, sprawling "new town." Oklahoma City is: The City of Beautiful Homes; The Capital and Metropolis of Oklahoma; located in the geographical and railroad center of the state, which has a population of more than two millions; The commercial center of a population of nearly three millions living within a radius of a hundred and fifty miles. Oklahoma City has. All the modern equipment required to make a real city--Wholesale houses Factories; Railroad center; Interurban center; Street Railway system; Public School system, of thirty schools, headed by one of the most modern high schools in the United States; magnificent churches costing more than two million dollars, among them some of the finest in the west; miles of streets of beautiful homes; some of the finest hotels of the west--we have 110 hotels, many of them fireproof, with a total of more than twenty thousand rooms, seven theaters, eight hospitals; the most complete and modern street railway system in the United States with more than one hundred miles of track in the city; one hundred thirty miles of asphalt pavement; magnificent office buildings of the "sky scrapper" class, more than a thousand retail stores including several big department stores; splendid public buildings. These are but indications of what has been done in a few years. The Day of Opportunity is but dawning. Your opportunity is waiting for you. Come and be our guest during the Panhandle-Southwestern Stockman's convention March 3-4-5. Our hand is out to you--Then or any other time. If you can't come, write to
