LARGEST CROP EVER RAISED

Broad Fields Of Kafir Corn, Maize and Feterita Are Heading Out.

THIRD MORE THAN LAST YEAR

Sudan Grass, The Great Drouth Resister, Going To Be Hay Crop.

The farmers of Roosevelt county this year will harvest the largest crop of grain and forage feed, which has, without exception, been raised in the history of the county. Something like 200 cars of grain have been shipped which were raised last year, but from the looks of the crop and estimates given by farmers from various sections, the crop this year will be more than 80 per cent greater.

Grain shipments have been heavy the past two weeks. Most farmers have their crops laid by and they see they must move their grain to make room for the enormous new crop. There is considerable of the old crop yet to be hauled in and the indications are that several dozen cars will be shipped yet.

The southeastern part of the county, the great grain producing section is at its best and conditions there could not look better. Broad fields of maize, feterita and kafir are heading out and much of it will soon be matured. Sudan grass is now being cut and shocked. T. J. Mullins has a large field in the Inez section which is yielding heavily and should easily make two tons to the acre. There is now no doubt that this great drouth resister is going to be the hay crop in the dry part of this county. It has come to stay.

The corn acreage this year is unusually large and the crop will be good. This is very gratifying on account of the large number of hogs in the country to be fattened. There are several mills in different parts of the county where corn is ground into meal and these will be well supplied.

Plenty Of Rain.

Roosevelt county continues to be blessed with plenty of moisture. In fact, many farmers would be glad to see no more rain for the present. This is due to the fact that early broom corn is being jerked and Sudan is being cut. The rain has been general over the county. The following is a report from Taiban last week: "Every day for the last ten days there has been a good local rain in sight of Taiban and the people on the plains north of here have a little more moisture than necessary. The crop outlook was never better. There will be more beans, maize, kafir and corn raised this year than ever before even if it does not rain any more."

Holmes Raises Peaches.

Felix Holmes, who lives some five miles northwest of town has raised some elegant fruit this year, among which are peaches, plums and apples. His Elberta peaches are beauties and have a color that is exquisite. He is having them preserved and expects to have an exhibit at the Roosevelt County Fair.

Making Preparations For The State Fair

Eighteen of the twenty-six counties in New Mexico have made appropriations to exhibit at the New Mexico State Fair and it is expected that the other eight will come in as soon as they are visited by the representatives of the fair, six in number, who are covering the various sections of the state. It is now assured that the greatest showing of the state's resources ever gotten together will be seen in Albuquerque in October. The exhibit space of the counties alone will cover 80,000 square feet. There will be keen competition between the counties for the $1750 offered in prizes. The fair management assures every county of the best treatment and of fair judging to be done by judges belonging to the agricultural staff of the state college.

The premium book of the New Mexico State Fair is now off the press, containing 180 pages. All those who are interested in the fair, should write to the state fair office at Albuquerque for a copy or should call at this newspaper office next week, when a shipment of the books will be received for general distribution. The premium book carries $10,000 in prizes or 40 per cent more than any other premium list ever issued by the New Mexico State Fair. The fair management feels assured that the exhibit in every department is going to be larger and better than ever before in the past. Exhibitors from all over the country have signified their intention to show at the fair and the stock show will be one of the big departments.

This newspaper is carrying display advertising of the fair every week and our readers should watch this advertisement as it will tell of the many features to be seen at the New Mexico State Fair this year.

Kicked By Horse.

Prof. Frank Culbertson was painfully kicked on the chin by a horse at the ranch of his brother-in-law, Bill Elliott, near Canton last Saturday afternoon where he had gone to assist in the roundup. It appears that he was sitting on the ground in front of the horse. A large fly made its appearance and was annoying the horse. Frank took his hat and struck at it which frightened the horse and he turned quickly and began kicking. As a result Mr. Culbertson received a broken chin. He was hurried to Portales in a car and a physician summoned. At last reports he was getting along nicely. He says that he is not certain whether he killed the fly or not.

Miss Smith Leaves.

Miss Laura Smith, who has been visiting her father, Frank Smith, for the past two months left some days since for her home in Des Moines, Iowa. Her western itinerary included visits to relatives and friends in Wyoming, Denver, Omaha and other points.

Miss Smith is a trained nurse having qualified for her profession by a four year's course of study and hospital training in the Iowa State University. Her social and professional accomplishments won for her many friends during her stay in Portales.

PROSPECTS GOOD FOR BIG ROOSEVELT COUNTY FAIR

Committee Makes Trip To Elida Which Section Is Expected To Make Fine Exhibit Of Farm Products And Stock.

MEETING OF COUNTY COMMITTEE CALLED FOR SEPTEMBER FOURTH

Meeting Will Be Most Important One As Judges Will Be Selected And Many Other Matters Decided Essential To Success Of Fair.

The Roosevelt County Fair committee is hard at work getting ready for the greatest fair that Roosevelt county has ever held. Two of the committee, A. A. Rogers and Coe Howard, made a trip to Elida Tuesday and report that the outlook is very good for that section of the county to be well represented this year. There are fine crops there and also some of the best dairy and range stock in the county.

Great care is going to be exercised in getting competent judges this year so that stock and other products may be judged in a most satisfactory manner. The committee has written to experts from distant points whom they think are the best available and who will be absolutely disinterested. They expect to have the stock judged by points and use the same system as is used at the state fair at Albuquerque. The central committee has sent notices out to the county committee which are in part as follows:

We desire to call your attention to the fact that there is not much time left between now and the time of our fair. Your county committee at Portales wants your help and needs it badly. We would suggest that you get together with the other members of your local committee right away and elect a chairman and that this chairman come to Portales and be here to attend a meeting at 1 o'clock Saturday afternoon, September 4, at the office of the Portales Utilities Company. The purpose of this meeting is as outlined below:

- First—To arrange a complete list of prizes.
- Second—To work out the details of the scoring cards.
- Third—To select and approve judges.
- Fourth—To take such steps as are deemed best toward lining up the products of Roosevelt county to enter the competition at Albuquerque.

The county commissioners have appropriated $500 to take an exhibit to Albuquerque. We intend taking the best exhibit that ever went to Albuquerque. In order to do so, we must have a line on every good animal and every good farm product in the county. In order to cover all the work we must have your help. This is important. Get your committee together, get your chairman selected and then have him here Saturday, September 4th, so we can start the ball rolling right.

New Business.

P. E. Jordan, agent in Roosevelt county for the Ford Auto Company, last week sold a half interest in the business to R. L. Blanton of Slaton, Texas. Mr. Blanton has been in the drug business in Slaton for several years and is one of the most prominent business men of that town. He comes highly recommended and promises to be one of our most substantial business men. The new firm is styled Blanton and Jordan.

About the first thing these gentlemen did after forming a partnership was to make arrangements for the erection of a garage. The work on this building was started the first of the week on the Stone property adjoining the Humphrey building, at the north corner of the square. It will be 30x90 feet and will be rushed to completion as fast as possible.

It is the intention to keep a full line of Ford accessories and parts so that a car may be constructed complete if necessary from the parts kept in stock. They expect to conduct a general garage business in all its phases.

Joe Moss Gets Agency.

Joe Moss, nephew of Mrs. G. W. Carr, succeeds S. G. Bridges agent for the Clovis Steam Laundry. While rather youthful Joe is a hustler and with the able assistance that will be given him there is no doubt but what the Clovis laundry will continue to get the business in Portales.

What They Say.

W. O. Oldham, president of the First National Bank, whose name appears in the call for the state tax commission, said: "I believe that much good may be accomplished by such an organization. In the first place, our state and county governments are too expensive. Another thing, there seems to be considerable property in different parts of the state that is escaping assessment. We should have some method whereby all property can be equally assessed."

Judge W. E. Lindsey, the other Roosevelt county citizen whose name appears in the call, is quoted as expressing himself as follows: "The longer I study the present and past taxing methods in New Mexico, the more I am convinced that they were originated and have been carried out on about the same plan as 'knights of the green cloth' originate and carry on their business, and if we will make a state to which thinking people will come and stay, we will have to get the business of the state on a sound business basis."

Creek-Pepper.

Roscoe Creek and Miss Tiptie Pepper who live southwest of Carter were married at the home of Dr. and Mrs. Wollard Saturday afternoon by Rev. W. E. Dawn, the Baptist minister. Both parties are prominent in that part of the country. The Herald-Times extends congratulations.

Wave Of Prosperity Causes Boom In Elida

Elida, N. M.—A carload of grain a day is being shipped from this point and the end of the supply is nowhere in sight. The town has struck a wave of prosperity and is booming in every way.

The crops of tributary area are the finest ever seen in this section, kafir corn and maize prevailing, though there were some exceptionally fine fields of corn. Fred B. Steig, who has a fine field of corn, expects it to yield fully sixty bushels to the acre.

There is much talk of turning the old cement mill here into a grain elevator. The amount of grain coming in is such that an elevator is needed badly to handle it economically.

The city road board has graded the city streets and the trees set out in the city park some time ago are rapidly turning that area into an attractive timbered park.

The most significant indication of the town's prosperity, however, is the fact that the deposits at the First National bank are 80 per cent larger than they were last year. Another significant fact is that the feeding of hogs and cattle on the farms around the city is being pressed. This, it is felt, not only means prosperity this year but assures it in the following periods.

Fruit Near Longa.

R. C. Marshall, one of the prosperous farmers whose place is southwest of Longa was in town last week with one of the finest branches of Elberta peaches we have seen. It consisted of thirteen peaches all well formed and of good size. He had three trees of this variety and all were heavily laden with fruit. On his place are fifty peach trees of other varieties, which are young and which bore fruit this year for the first time. Mr. Marshall says that he had a fine crop of cherries and plums. His Elberta peaches will be entered at the Roosevelt County Fair.

Locates at Redlake.

R. C. Kenny of Stephenville, Texas, has secured the Richard Thompson relinquishment near Redlake, together with the present crop, which is an excellent one. Mr. Kenny has the right idea of farming in this country. He believes in stockfarming. He said "I have always had a herd of Jersey cows and would be lost without them." He returned to his old home the first of the week and will return in a short time with a car of stock and his family. We predict that he will be one of Roosevelt county's most successful stockfarmers.

Outing Party.

A party of Portales folks autoed up the state highway to Clovis Monday evening. Supper was cooked enroute and a very enjoyable time is reported. Among those who went are: John McMahon and family, M. B. Jones and family, Dr. Wollard and family, J. M. Garner and family, Dr. S. B. Owens and family, W. H. Briley and family, G. T. Amos and wife, Mrs. Roberts and Gwyn, Miss Fannie Tinsley and Rev. W. E. Dawn.

STOCKED WITH FINE CATTLE

McCall's Ranch At Macy a Typical Roosevelt County Stock Farm

BUY FORTY MORE YOUNG COWS

All Available Grass In The County Will Soon Be Pastured.

Roosevelt county farms are fast being stocked with high grade and thoroughbred cattle. Practically every man in the county who has the grass is gradually getting sufficient stock to graze it. Nearly every business man in Portales has some cattle and if he is not fortunate enough to own some land he makes a deal with a man who has the grass to look after his cattle. Even the county officials have got the cattle habit.

Among these is Assessor J. E. McCall, who is investing every available dollar to stock the McCall ranch at Macy. Last week he made an elegant buy when he bought 40 head of young cows through Tom Reagan, of Clovis for the reasonable price of $41 around. They are a mixed bunch, all dry but there is not one more than four years old. They are Durham and Herefords mixed.

The McCalls, J. E. and Alec have more than three sections of grass land under fence on their ranch and this last bunch will stock it to the limit. This will make about 200 head of cows and calves and besides they have a drove of horses and mules. They expect to sell this year's calf crop. When they found that this herd of cows could be bought so reasonable they figured that it would be a good deal to buy them and sell the calves, which will bring about $30 each.

On this ranch next year they expect to have 100 calves. They keep nothing but registered bulls and of course the calves will be good ones.

The McCall ranch is a typical example of successful stockfarming in Roosevelt county. There are many other such ranches in this prosperous county.

After Grass Land.

Cooper Wimberly, who was a resident of the Arch section in the early day and who still owns some land there, came over from his home near Plainville, Texas, the first of the week for the purpose of trying to lease some more land adjoining his land at Arch.

Mr. Wimberly is still extensively engaged in the cow business, but is short of grass, and should he make the necessary arrangements will place about 100 head on grass at Arch.

Drowned Near Clovis.

Kendall Pattison, a young man about nineteen years of age, was drowned in a lake some three miles southeast of Clovis Sunday afternoon. He, with several other young men, went to the lake for a swim. When in a deep place he was attacked by cramps and was drowned before assistance could be rendered. The body was recovered by a diver after it had been in the water about two and one half hours.

Hunting Law.

Portales, N. M., Aug. 25, 1915.
Editor Portales Herald.

Portales, N. M.

Dear Sir: Quite a number of the citizens of the county have made inquiries regarding the new hunting law passed at the last term of the legislature, and as there seems to be so little known about it that to publish that part dealing with the requirements will be of some benefit to hunters, it would take too much space to publish the bill in full, so will begin with Section 7 of the law which reads as follows:

Section 7. That section 12 of chapter 85 of the Laws of 1912 be and the same are hereby amended to read as follows:

Sec. 12. No person shall at any time shoot, hunt or take in any manner any wild animals or birds or game fish as herein defined in this state without first having in his or her possession a hunting license as hereinafter provided for the year in which such shooting, fishing or hunting is done. The presence of any person in any open field, prairie or forest, whether inclosed or not, with trap, gun or other weapon for hunting, with out having in possession a proper hunting license as herein provided, shall be prima facie evidence of the violation of this section.

This seems to be a very stringent law and will take a man out of his own field or pasture if he should have a gun with him, and for that reason I am trying to get an opinion on the matter that will be of service to the people interested, and will publish it as soon as I receive it.

Very respectfully,
R. G. Bryant.

The Captain of Plymouth.

Bill Faggard Hurt.

W. F. Faggard, one of our most prominent business men and ranchers, was badly injured about dark Monday evening at his ranch near Redlake when his big Stoddard-Dayton car which he was driving dashed into a gate post. It appears that he lost control of the car. As a result of the collision the car was entirely consumed by fire and it required assistance for Mr. Faggard to extricate himself from the wreckage. It was at first feared that he was seriously injured; but the latest reports are that he is getting along nicely and will be out in a few days.

Looks good For Creamery.

Everything looks favorable for the building of the Roosevelt county Creamery. The Santa Fé has agreed to a trade of lots with the Town of Portales for two lots which we understand the members of the town council favor deeding to the creamery for a site. This is a splendid location and fronts 100 feet on the rail road right of way and is 180 feet deep just north of the depot. This will be very convenient for freight and express shipments.

Enjoying The Exposition.

The Herald-Times is in receipt of a card from Prof. J. S. Long who, accompanied by Mrs. Long, is enjoying the exposition at San Diego. Among other things, he says: "The flower gardens, parks and canyons, touched by the beautiful architecture of the buildings, make a picture beautiful beyond description." No doubt this will be very beneficial to Prof. Long and he will learn many things that will be helpful to him in his school work.

Interest is growing in the State Tax Association which meets in Santa Fe September 1. Apparently our young state has awakened to the fact that something must be done to improve our system of taxation if we are to prosper as we should. Tax payers, large and small, are awaiting with much interest the result of the meeting.

The erection of a new garage and supply house by Blanton & Jordan shows the substantial condition of our county. The Ford business has grown to such proportions that such a supply house is considered necessary for the proper continuance of the business. Both of these gentlemen are shrewd business men and they realize what a prosperous outlook there is for such an establishment.

The organization of democratic clubs is going along with considerable force, the counties reporting activity being Quay, Colfax, Socorro and others. The democrats of the state seem to be more interested in the success of the party at the coming election than they are in the candidates to be selected; but there is also some discussion as to suitable men for a number of the big offices. There is a general feeling that the state committees should get busy.

The committee appointed to arrange for our county fair and to take the exhibits to the state fair are working energetically and are creating much enthusiasm over the county. They are hustlers and are going to get results. Heretofore some sections have showed little or no interest in our county fair. We trust that all sections will cooperate this year and let us have a great fair which our prosperous crops and conditions warrant. The taxpayers from all parts of the county should not overlook the fact that this is county money being spent to advertise the whole county and all sections should be represented with the best exhibits available.

The Curry county papers continue to boast about the successful wheat growing in that county and no doubt it is just as successful as it is represented. Naturally we think that many of our farmers in this county are passing up a good thing when they do not raise some wheat. A prosperous farmer from the southeastern part of this county was asked recently why he did not raise wheat. He replied that his maize and crop of similar grain was always certain and netted good returns. Furthermore he said that it would take considerable money to buy machinery to handle a wheat crop. We think that this latter objection could be overcome by several farmers cooperating and buying machinery together. It seems that it would be worth the effort.

CARE OF YEARLING COLTS.

Young Horses Are Often Neglected When Spring Farm Work Begins. When every grown horse up the place is put to work in the spring there is always a tendency to neglect the yearling colts. They are turned on the first pasture that looks as though it would be able to keep them alive, and no one pays them very much attention except to see that they are moving around and to salt them on Sunday mornings. They have been getting a grain ration as well as plenty of hay or silage all winter, and this change from a concentrated and dry food to a ration that is weak and watery is likely to give the young horses a considerable setback in their growth. There should be a gradual change from the grain

There exist five principal breeds of draft horses. Percheron, English Shire, Belgian Shire, Belgian Clydesdale and Suffolk Punch. Good individuals of any one of these breeds may be used to produce high class draft horses, and the inferior stallions of any of these breeds should be discarded as quickly as the unregistered inferior stallion. It is highly advisable in most cases that these breeds be maintained separate and not crossed back and forth. The animal pictured is a pure bred Percheron.

and hay ration over to the feed that is anything but dry and concentrated. This change may be very gradual, finally tapering the grain ration down to nothing at all by the time the grass is making a good, full and strong growth.

When the first warm days come and the first sprigs of green grass begin to show the yearlings and two-year-olds, like the older animals, will become restless and uneasy. They will nibble at every sprig of green that shows, and if there is a small lot an acre or two of pasture available it is a good plan to turn the colts into this first and keep them there for an hour or two at a time. As they become more accustomed to the grass they can be kept out longer at a time.

In the meanwhile they should be getting something less than their usual ration of grain and hay—that is, if they are getting enough grass to keep them grazing while they are out. Their digestive organs are becoming used to the grass, and there will be no intestinal disturbances later on when they are forced to make their living from it. After ten days or maybe two weeks of this sort of handling the colts will get along all right if turned into the grass and kept there.

If there is an old shed in the pasture where the colts are to be kept it will be all the better for them.

RATION FOR A STALLION.

Animal Should Be Kept in Good Flesh, but Not Overfed.

Nothing is better than good oats for the main ration of a stallion, but this should be varied by occasionally feeding corn or barley. Horses like all other live stock, relish a change, which is conducive to health. Wheat bran is an invaluable adjunct because it is the cheapest, safest and best regulator for the bowels. At the same time it provides in large quantities one of the most important elements of nutrition. No specific direction as to the amount to give daily can be given. The safest rule is to feed three times daily and with as much regularity as possible. Where a stallion is a considerable time on the road making a steady route it is essential to plan the trip so that he can be fed regularly. The quantity of feed will depend somewhat on the exercise and the drain on his system during the season.

Keep the stallion in good flesh. Never feed more than will be promptly eaten up. If any feed should be left in the trough it should at once be removed and the next time less given, and so on not to overload the horse with fat. In addition to the green corn feed all the sweet hay the horse will clean up. Under no condition give hay that is dusty or moldy.

Thumps in Pigs.

Thumps commonly attack young pigs that are overfed and under exercised, and they may live for months and eventually recover or die after being affected for a few weeks. Feed light, laxative slop, without corn, and add an ounce of lime-water to the quart of slop. Roots and alfalfa hay would be good for the pigs. Turn them out for abundant exercise every day. Allow free access to slaked lime, wood ashes and wood charcoal.

ALLOW FOR THE EXPANSION

Radiators, for Excellent Reasons, Must Never Be Filled to Their Full Capacity.

"In filling the cooling system, remember that when cylinders become heated the water expands, and that sufficient room must be allowed to take care of this expansion," says Louis Calderon.

"Do not fill the radiator to the filling nozzle. If you do the expansion will force the water out around the filler cap and cause it to run over the top of the radiator and bonnet, giving them a dirty, rusty appearance. Frequently when this condition prevails people are under the impression that the water has boiled over from overheating, when as a matter of fact it is simply the result of not allowing for the water's expansion, which of course always takes place when the cylinders become heated.

"Put in only enough water to bring the level to an inch or an inch and a half above the top of the radiator tubes; this will give ample room for expansion. Care in connection with this detail will save you considerable annoyance."

Mirrors for Trucks.

Commercial vehicles that are not equipped with mirrors which will permit the drivers to see the road in their rear will be refused renewals of licenses for 1915 in New Jersey. Commissioner Lippincott has decided to adopt this policy on account of the repeated complaints that have been received from motorists who claim that heavy commercial vehicles do not afford them a sufficient portion of the road to permit a safe passage. This is believed to be due to the noise of the motor truck rendering impossible for the driver to hear the sound of the motorist's horn in the rear; also that the general construction of the truck prevents the driver from seeing anything in the rear.

A Slugging Festival.

The Portales baseball team journeyed to Clovis Sunday and enjoyed a slugfest at the expense of the latter team. The score, according to the most reliable reports was 23 to 5. Clovis was outplayed in every department of the game and at no time had any chance to win. Portales scored three runs in the first inning and after the third inning the game was too one-sided to be interesting.

McClusky started to pitch for Clovis. Infield errors by Clovis were responsible for several runs early in the game. The Portales players seemed to be fortunate, for their outfield hits were unusually well placed. On the other hand, when Clovis batted the ball out of the diamond it usually found its way into the fielders' hands. Sebastian relieved McClusky in the fourth inning but he fared little better than his predecessor.

Deacon Jones pitched most of the game for Portales but was relieved in the sixth by Gowen. Jones kept the hits well scattered and was particularly invincible when men were on the bases. The features of the game were the batting of Knapp and the fielding of Gowen for Portales.

Peaches Still Come.

Peaches still continue to pour into the county seat by the wagon load. It seems that every tree in the county is loaded. They are delicious, too, and none better are raised anywhere. The residents of the county are taking advantage and canning in large quantities. It is not uncommon for merchants to sell fruit jars in ten dozen lots. The merchants are already predicting their trade in canned fruit this winter will be small.

Jersey Milch Cow For Sale.

A 3 1/2 gallon Jersey milch cow coming four years old. Will be fresh all winter. Perfectly kind and gentle. Will sell with or without 3 months old calf. Call at Herald Times office or phone 103.

A Fine Garden.

A recent visit to the suburban home of Mr. and Mrs. A. A. Rogers made clear the possibilities of the growing of flowers in the Portales Valley. The Rogers garden consists of about three acres which has been very carefully planted to a great variety of vegetables for the home use. A small patch has also been used in an experimental way for growing of wheat. The patch was seeded to winter wheat last October and the latter part of June a very good grade of wheat was cut. The ground was then broken and planted to cane and cow peas which already have made a splendid growth, and demonstrates clearly that the soil in the Portales Valley will produce two crops per year.

Beside the vegetable garden will be seen one of the most beautiful flower gardens to be found in the Valley, which has been most artistically arranged and cared for under the direction of Mrs. Rogers. About fifteen different varieties of monthly blooming roses, together with quite a collection of dahlias form a beautiful back ground for the garden, which consists of various varieties of astors, daisies, marigolds, chrysanthemums, phlox mignonette, pansies and in fact practically every garden flower. The garden is a mass of bloom and a source of pleasure not only to the owners but to their friends with whom the flowers are so generously divided.

Watermelons and Cantaloupes.

Watermelons and cantaloupes are now plentiful in Portales and at reasonable prices. Cantaloupes will not be shipped this year in carload lots as has been the custom for several years, as the irrigated farmers have found other products can be raised and marketed which are more profitable. It is expected that some will be shipped by express. Garden truck of all kinds is unusually plentiful here this year. The gardeners have learned that a variety is what is wanted and are planting accordingly. One, E. P. Kuhl, was in a few days ago with eleven kinds of vegetables, all raised on his place.

Building Postponed

The parties who contracted to buy the bonds issued by school district number one have questioned the legality of the issue because of the omission of those sections of the statute of the state governing the issue of bonds by municipal school districts from the 1915 code which became effective June 11, 1915.

The school board has decided that inasmuch as it would be impossible to build and at the same time maintain school that it would be better to postpone any attempt during the present school term but will endeavor to secure the money on the bonds and be ready to begin building at the close of the coming term.

Some Onions.

J. E. and C. W. Nelson have been very successful, this, their first year farming in the Portales Valley. They are farming on one of the H. M. Livingston pieces east of town. Among their products which have made the best showing are onions. They had some fine specimens in town last week, three of which weighed four pounds.

New School House

The latest issue of the Earth says: The children of La Lande, a station on the Santa Fe railway, eastern plateau, took possession of a new school house, costing $30,000 in September. New school houses are coming every where in New Mexico.

Langton Notes.

Peaches and grapes are so plentiful that many will go to waste in our neighborhood this year.

We have a nice shower nearly every night. Big crops are now practically assured.

J. W. George is now back on the auto mail car. Henry Jones and wife have gone to the mountains for horses for the Eden ranch.

The young people now have a singing school organized at the Baptist chapel.

W. F. Richardson sold Lloyd Wharton a team of fine mares this week.

A fine boy arrived at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Shannon A. Clark on July 26.

Sunday school is progressing nicely. Come out and help us we need your help.

Rev. Wagnon, of Arch, preached at Inez last Sunday. Virgil Campbell had the misfortune to have a fine mare killed by lightning recently.

Crops are looking great. The best this section of the country has ever known.

A number of people from Inez went down to Redland Sunday to attend the protracted meeting at that place.

A big ice cream supper was given at Austin Fullerton's last Saturday night in celebration of Miss Laura's 18th birthday. A large crowd was present and all had a most enjoyable time. Each one wishes for Miss Laura many more such birthdays.

Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Robinson went to Hagerman Sunday to visit her mother Mrs. Etta Caldwell for a few days.

The fourth quarterly conference convenes at Rogers next Saturday.

Labor Day Proclamation.

Labor in one form or another is the force that moves all the affairs of man. The real laborer is the prime factor of our civilization. By labor is produced all that sustains the life of the nations. It tills the soil, maintains our industries and makes transportation convenient and effective.

It is but fair and just that we set aside one day on which we exalt and magnify the importance of the foundation in production of all things that fructify and expand the earth's usefulness to man.

Now, therefore, in accordance with the law of our land and the custom of our people, I, William C. McDonald, Governor of the State of New Mexico, do hereby proclaim Monday, the 6th day of September, 1915, as Labor Day, and heartily recommend that it be observed by all the people of New Mexico as a legal holiday; that the state offices be closed and the ordinary business of the day be suspended, in order that all may do honor to the great body of our people who labor in the fields, the factories, the forests, the mines, in the shops and on the railroads, and in all the varied industries of the state.

Done at the executive office, this 19th day of August, 1915. Witness my hand and the great seal of the state of New Mexico. William C. McDonald.

Attested: Antonio Lucero, Secretary of State.
