FARMERS RAISE BIG GROPS

Make Good Money From Broom Corn and Grain Crops

J. M. Grisso Makes Great Record With Broom Corn and Grain

It is quite natural for people to be optimistic when they are from Supt. Long Tuesday. The making good and accumulating following piece is taken from some of this world's gsods. Such the Albuquerque Journal is the condition that exists Wednesday: among the stockfarmers of Roosevelt county who have just gathered abundant crops, in fact the most enormous that have ever been grown here.

There was a time when many of the farmers of this county depended on farming alone, which one year with another, in the dry farming part was not always successful. They have learned differently from this however and now not only raise a variety of crops adapted to this climate but they have turned their attention to dairying and the raising of live stock of different kinds.

Without exception scarcely this year, all have raised fine crops and have it gathered withis especially proud of the record he made with broom corn. He raised six and one-half tons all told but on one field which was especially good and contained four acres he gathered over two tons which when sold showed that the land produced at the rate of about $38 per acre. This shows what dry land can be made produce in Roosevelt coun-

This is only one of the many crops raised on Mr. Grisso's farm. He raised 30 acres of maize, six of kaffir, seven of corn and two acres of Sucan grass. The reception and banquet given the stockholders of the Roosevelt County Creamery and other visitors by the business of men of Portales Monday night was a success from every standpoint. There was a good attendance numbering about 150 many Janice Wyly, a sweet-looking coming from distant points, Elida, Clovis and Texico-Farwell. At this meeting of Portales were untiring in every attempt was made to place the credit where it was due but the greatest credit of all, in our estimation, is due the farmers of the county as a whole, for it was they who furnished the money to build the Creamery and it is to them that we must look in a large measure for the support that will make it a suc-

J. L. Blunt, manager and the largest stockholder in the Creamery, proposed the celebration but the matter was taken in hand by the business men of Portales who worked in conjunction with Mr. Blunt in the matter of entertainment. The entertainment of the evening was commenced at the Cosy theater which had been engaged for the evening. The guests went from there to the Armory where a splendid feast had been prepared by the Womens' Club. Everything had been made in readiness by the ladies and in a few minutes after the guest had arrived all had tainly did their part in securing yearling heifers and are the best One of these is J. M. Weekly Newspaper An Asset

The weekly newspaper is one of the greatest assets in any community, and yet it is seldom that such an enterprise receives the credit due for its share in the upbuilding and development of the community in which it exists. Perhaps, it is because that in this enlightened age the woven into the life of the community it is looked upon as a necessity, and its continued existence in our midst, always upholding the progress and welfare of the community, has become so common that one naturally expects and knows that the paper will do the right thing.

There are times, however, when the citizens of the community should bespeak a few good words for the weekly newspaper. During the organization period of the Roosevelt County Creamery the two newspapers their efforts in boosting this great enterprise, and the various committees in charge wish at the time to publicly thank the management of our two papers for this work. We feel that the creamery is a great thing and that it will be a boon to the farmers and business men of our county. Its existence has already been the cause of a raise in the price of butter tat of almost seventy-five per cent, and the newspapers cerdoing we can count on our weekly newspapers.

As manager of the creamery and as chairmen of the various committees, in behalf of ourselves and of the committees, we wish hereby to publicly extend our thanks to The Portales Herald-Times and The Portales Val-J. L. Blunt.

WINTER CATTLE ON ALFALFA

Portales Valley Comming ToFront With Its Splendid Oportunities

Many Famous Herds In The Valley Are In Fine Shape

Thousands of White Faced calves are being fed this winter in the Portales Valley. There are other breeds also but the White Faces are predominating. Many stockmen who have Durhams or other breeds are selling and replacing their herds with the Herefords as they seem to bring a better price and are more desirable in other ways.

A trip through the Valley reeas the fact that it is surely coming to the front as a cattle feeding district. Nutrious alfalfa for grazing with an abundant supply of maize and kaffir which is raised here and is bought at such reasonable prices makes an excellent combination which is hard to beat.

One of the most promising herds in the Valley is owned by the G. P. Smith Cattle Co. which are being feed near Bethel. They number 300 coming the county. They were bought from the Williamson-Oldham Cattle Co and are from the herd of cows which they brought here last spring from Texas.

Another equally good herd is the steers from the same herd of cows owned by the Williamson-Oldham Cattle Co which are being wintered on the H. M. Livingston farm three miles west of town. This herd consists of 350 head which are in most excellent growing condi-

There are many other smaller herds in the Valley, thriving and in excellent condition which are sure to make good money for their owners. Wintering stock is getting to be one of the principal industries of the Valley and one which is sure to grow.

NO NATIONAL ISSUES

President's Policies Not Affected by Recent Elections.

Contests in Off Years Have Not for Some Years Past Had a Great Deal of Effect on National Campaigns,

After surveying the results of the

"There has certainly been no spon taneous or spectacular demonstration of increased confidence in and popular approval of the domestic policies of President Wilson.

Quite true. And what, may we ask, did this year's elections have to do with the domestic policies of President

The American people have quit voting on national issues in local elections, a circumstance altogether creditable to their intelligence. They uetermine their presidential politics in presidential years and attend to oth er affairs in the off years. Now and then a candidate for office who has reason to know his own political weakness tries to pin his candidacy to the national administration and pretend that a vote for him is a vote for the president, but his constituents know

President Wilson's domestic policies had no more to do with election results this year than had Mr. Bryan's lectures on the Prince of Peace. The voters of New York were not thinking about the president. They were thinking about the new constitution, woman suffrage, the direct tax and the Whitman administration.

in Massachusetts they were electing a governor, and they chose an able man in preference to a very good Democrat who has already had two terms. Massachusetts Progressives. having a lucid interval, supported Mr. McCall. in Maryland and Kentucky. where the Democrats elected governors, there were bitter contests within the party over local issues, and it is unlikely that one voter in a thousand gave a moment's consideration to national affairs.

Possibly the Sun means that the general result of the elections reveals a tendency toward political reaction. as shown by the triumph of Tammany in New York county, the victory of the old Republican muchine in Philadelphia, the rejection of municipal ownership in Detroit, the repudiation of prohibition in Ohio and the general failure of woman suffrage in the great eastern states. That may be true, but the worst defeat of all was sustained by the new constitution in New York, which was framed by a conservative Republican convention and championed by the ablest of conservative Republicans, Elihu Root. In fact, the majority against Mr. Root's constitu tion breaks all previous records in American politics. It is unique.

Partisans are entitled to the satisfaction of deriving whatever measure of comfort they can from off-year elections, but they deceive nobody except themselves. The time is past when national campaigns can be won or lost in such contests as those which were decided recently.

Our foreign trade is spoken of as r arvelous, and it is so when compared with our own records. Com pared with like figures in relation to populations and wealths of foreign directly next to the 'record of the countries, it is small, and capable of being made permanent instead of accidental. In fact, foreign trade is a life preserver for our domestic trade through the demands created by our exports to pay for our imports. NEWSPAPER BEST TO REACH MASSES

No Other Form of Advertising as Profitable or Successful, Declares G. N. Gunderson.

Newspapers were defended as an advertising medium by G. N. Gunderson, formerly editor of the Fargo Fram and now business manager of he Northwest Grain Growers magazine, in a talk before the Town Criers of Fargo, N. D., recently. Mr. Gunderson said, among other things:

"Newspaper advertising is quick acting commercial medicine, not only stimulating tonic, but a tissue builder. It brings business when it is need-

"The newspaper is the record of the day's events. Everything that happens today that can have any human interest to its readers is recorded. It is as essential to our business and social life as the air we breathe or the food we eat to our physical "I know you will all admit the truth of the last statement, so why not the first? If the newspaper is as essential to our business and social life as the air we breathe or the food we eat to our physical natures, why shouldn't advertising in such a medium be of the very best? Every man who uses any advertising will admit that his greatest problem is to get it written and set up in such a way as to attract the most attention. While written in an advertising way, in such a way that every statement is capable of convincing the readers. Next his greatest problem is, what method or medium employed will attract the attention of as large a number of people as possible, cost considered?

"This is a question that I did not want to answer with my own conclusions alone, therefore as soon as I heard that I was expected to say something on newspaper advertising at this meeting, I immediately got into communication with such men as Wm. Wrigley, Jr., of the Spearmint gum fame; John S. Ridenour, managing editor of Judicious Advertising; John Lee Mahin of the Mahin Advertising agency, advertising manager John Wanamaker & Co., and others, all of whom answered that, cost considered. newspaper advertising enabled an advertisers to reach the largest possible effectively than any other form of advertising. Now do not understand me to say that there are not other forms of advertising that are just as effective, for there are. But cost considered, there is no other form of advertising that will enable local advertiser to reach the largest possible number of would-be customers at the lowest possible cost than newspaper advertising. This can easily be figured out by taking the circulation fig ures of any of our dailies, their advertising rates, and decide upon your space; then next make up a list and see if there are any other forms of advertising that will enable you to reach the same number of people at the same cost. You can't do it.

Most Efficient Business Builder. "Furthermore, newspaper advertising used as the only means of publicity by any advertiser has proved a more efficient business builder than any other single medium. Without knocking any of the other many forms of advertising I want to cite an illustration which the managing editor of Judicious Advertising mentioned in his letter. He said: 'I have in mind an advertiser who struggled along for a number of years on an appropriation of $15,000. This appropriation was spent for catalogues, personal letters, etc. During this time he remained virtually unknown in his field and failed to increase his business in proportion to the increased demand for his products. Two years ago he was persuaded to use newspapers and magazines which involved the expenditure of $150,000 yearly, and during these two years he has multiplied his business by ten and now is in almost complete control of the market in one of his lines in this country and Canada.' It is also said that a few years ago John Wanamaker, who had heretofore continually carried a full page advertisement in one of the Philadelphia dailies decided to omit this par ticular paper for a year. The result was that during the year John Wana maker did not carry his page advertisement in this paper, a direct cir culation loss of 20,000 was immediately felt by that paper. Who says peo ple don't read newspaper advertisements and who says that advertisements in newspapers, which are placed day's events,' go by unnoticed and are

One Example.

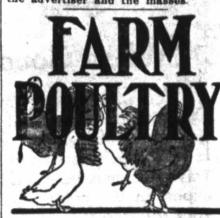

"A story is told of a man who in order to try to keep down the cost menced to mix sawdust with the amount of oats, at the same time using the choicest straw for bedding for the thought he had almost succeeded in getting the old horse to like sawdus lust as well as oats, the poor beast died. This illustrated a moral that applies to every retail advertiser. No matter how much you spend for other forms of advertising, if you start skimping on the real food source for your business you are sure to feel it sooner or later, just as this man found that he would now have to invest in another horse, whereas, had he not been foolish enough to try this experiment he would still have had his old "Newspaper advertising also enables retailer to get his message before the people quicker than he could by the use of any other medium.

"Newspaper advertising also enables the retailer to reach the people as often as he wishes, this without any extra clerical work, or having to trouble with compiling new mailing lists often, etc. The newspaper's subscription list is his mailing list, therefore all he needs to do is to get up his copy and call up the newspaper office for their advertising man and his ad appears in the next issue of their

"Summed up, newspaper advertising is therefore the quickest and cheap est means of communication between the advertiser and the masses."

INFERTILE EGGS KEEP BEST

Do Not Permit Male Bird With Flock After Hatching Season-Farmer Sustains Big Loss.

It is conservatively estimated that there is an annual loss in eggs in this country of $45,000,000. Practically alf of this enormous loss is sustained by the farmers of this country, as it is on the general farms that the great bulk of eggs is produced. A very great part of this loss can be prevented by the production of infertile eggs, which are laid by hens that do not have a male bird with them. The male bird has no influence whatever on the number of eggs laid. Therefore, as soon as the hatching season is over the male should be removed from the

The greatest trouble from blood rings in eggs occurs in hot weather. Special care should be given to the gathering and storing of the eggs during the late spring and summer should be gathered at least twice day, placed in a room or cellar where erty described in said mortgage; that 70 degrees Fahrenheit, and marketed two or three times a week.

Blood rings are caused by the development of the embryo of a fertile egg and its subsequent death. It is impossible to hatch an infertile egg or cause a blood ring to form in one. It is generally considered that eggs become infertile from seven to fourteen days after the male bird is removed from the flock. Repeated experiments have shown that where fertile and infertile eggs are kept under similar conditions, the fertile eggs spoiled much quicker, due to the fact that they deteriorate faster than infertile eggs in the average summer temperature. Summer heat has the same effect as the hen or incubator on fertile eggs. Sell, kill, or confine the male bird as soon as the hatching sea-

TAME HENS LAY MOST EGGS

Poultry Keeper Must Be on Good Terms With Members of His Flock -Make Friends With Chicks.

When a man says his hens don't lay or pay, or both, a little observation will usually disclose the fact that his hens are too shy and nervous to stay on the nest long enough to lay an egg. Have you ever watched the successful poultry keeper, the one who is making poultry keeping pay, how his fowls run after him whenever he has occasion to enter the poultry yard? The best results cannot be obtained from hens that are wild and shy. The poultry keeper must be on good terms with his hens or his hens won't lay as they should. A hen that is so wild that she will fly off the nest or roost whenever anyone enters the poultry house cannot be a good layer. She is in a continual nervous state for fear someone will come within sight of her and hasn't time to think of laying eggs.

But there is another disadvantage beside the one that directly affects in the form of fodder or hay. your pocketbook in having "wild" fowls. It isn't conducive to good temper to have your fowls start cackling and crowing every time you hap- hay. pen to get near them, nor is it very convenient when you have to chase a long-legged cockerel all over the place every time wife wants a chicken for dinner. Viewed from any angle the tame hen is by far the more desirable. It isn't hard to tame chickens. On the contrary, it is the easiest thing imaginable. It is simply a matter of being friendly whenever you are around the fowls, instead of throwing stones at them every time they get near you. But the fowls are by far the easiest to tame when young. Start making friends with your chicks this summer and your next hens will

RHODE ISLAND RED IS IDEAL

Hens Are Extra Good Mothers, Protecting Young as Few Fowls Do-Eggs Are in Demand.

I consider the Rhode Island Red as the farmer's ideal fowl, says a writer in Agriculturist. Its heavy covering of feathers helps to keep it warm so its food can be utilized more favorably for egg production. Its plump yellow body is as free as that of a white fowl from disfiguring dark pinfeathers, always a disadvantage in marketing. The heas are extra good mothers, protecting their young as but few fowls do. The chickens grow fast and get to laying as soon as any other of the American breeds. They lay beautiful large brown eggs.

I have shipped eggs to a small city for the past two years and the grocery man says they sell better than any eggs he handles. I have raised poultry for 25 years and have kept Leghorns, Brahma, Cochin, White Wyandotte, White Plymouth Rock fowls and crosses of these breeds and most of the time have had the Barred Plymouth Rock. It has always been a stand-by and still is a favorite. From my two pens of two-year-old Barred Plymouth Rock fowls during the past 'winter, I had an average of half as many eggs as hens, but the Rhode Island Red fowls did better than

Assist the Little Chicks.

This hot weather, if the chicks hatching in the incubator are among the last coming out and have already pipped and partly broken the shell about their head, you had better help them farther out at this point, as a chick dies quickly at this stage of batching. To shut up the incubator and leave it another hour may mean a chick that is lifeless and past coming out next time you look.

Success and Fallure. Some people fail with chickens because they are easily discouraged. Others succeed for the simple reason that they keep hard at work, cleaning up, fighting vermin, matching as much as possible. One must be persevering to succeed with poultry

TWELVE GOOD SILO REASONS

One Great Obstacle, the Cost, May Be Partly Overcome by Constructing Pit Affair.

Shall I build a silo? This question is being asked by the more enterprising farmers and ranchmen all over the West.

The cost of the silo is the greatest obstacle, but if this stands seriously in the way a pit may be dug and fin ished at a cost not exceeding fifty to one hundred dollars for material. Pit silos are very satisfactory and are certainly to be desired rather than to have no sile at all.

Twelve good reasons why the farm er should provide himself with a sile are given by T. B. Woodward of the dairy division, United States department of agriculture, in Farmers' Bultouches some spot of vital importance to the feeder.

1. More feed can be stored in a given space in the form of silage than

2. There is a smaller loss of food material when a crop is made into stlage than when cured as fodder or

3. Corn silage is a more efficient feed than corn fodder. 4 An acre of corn can be placed in the silo at less cost than the same area can be busked and shredded. 5. Crop can be put in the silo during weather that could not be utilized for making hay or curing fodder. 6. More stock can be kept on given area of land when silage is the basis of the ration.

7. There is less waste in feeding silage than in feeding fodder. Good silage properly fed is all consumed. 8. Silage is very palatable.

9. Silage, like other succulent feeds, has a beneficial effect upon the digestive organs.

10. Silage is the cheapest and best form in which a succulent feed can be provided for winter use. 11. Silage can be used for supplementing pastures more economically than can solling crops, because it re-palatable. 12. Converting the corn crop into silage clears the land and leaves it ready for another crop.

quires less labor, and silage is more

Almost anything in the way of forage grops may be put into the silo and will keep until it is needed.

Peanuts make a splendid crop on the dairy or hog farm. A good dairy cow is the most profit-

Keep the cows clean and you will not have so much trouble with stringy able piece of property on the farm.

The income of the dairy is the most constant and systematic income of the entire farm.

For dairy cows the temperature of the barn should not fall below 40 degrees or rise above 60 degrees. The good milker is the cow that turns the most feed into the largest flow of good, rich, healthful milk. The young calf's digestion is very easily upset. Be careful that it is rightly fed and kept in clean quarters. Leave all other work to help a cow that appears to be in trouble, whether it is your cow or your neigh-

EPITAPH ON STEPPING STONE

Slab Just Turned Over After Fifty Years.

Columbia, Conn.-Needing a flat stone for repairs that he was making. Edward Phillips pried up one which for over fifty years had been used as a stepping stone near the farmhouse back door. To his surprise he saw on the reverse side, in fairly plain letters, the inscription:

In memory of Emily, daughter of Mr. Joseph and Mrs. Eunice Smith, who died April 15, 1814, aged six months and fifteen

Except the few who, drowned in sorrow's With painful

Nobody knows where the stone had been used or where it came from. Mr. Phillips' father bought the house over fifty years ago and the stone was at the back door then for a stepping stone. It is five feet long and nearly two feet wide.

LAST SHOT OF CIVIL WAR.

Woman Asked Police to See if Old Was Loaded-It Was

New York.-The "last shot of civil war" was fired recently in a courtroom. It came from a gun which had been hanging for years on a wall in the home of the late Willard H. letin No. 556. Every one of them Hodgson. The musket had been carried in the war of the rebellion by Mr. Hodgson's father.

Mr. Hodgson's sister was preparing to move to another house, but was afraid to take down the old musket. She called in Lieutenant Henry Brown of the Flatbush police station and turned the gun over to him. He took it around to the station house and showed it to Attendant Patrick O'Loughlin of the Flatbush court. which is in the same building.

Standing in the corridor O'Loughlin pointed the gun at the floor and pull ed the trigger. The old war musket was heavily loaded, and there was a report which startled the police reserves and the people in the court-

WANTS A NATIONAL BANK IN CANAL ZONE

Helm of Kentucky Would Go After South American Trade.

Washington. - Representative Helm national bank at Ancon, in the Panama canal zone, with branches elsewhere in that country. He would *all it the Pan-American bank and give it a capital stock of $25,000,000, divided into shares of par value of $100 each.

Just before congress adjourned Mr. Helm introduced a bill to incorporate the Pan-American bank, and when the Sixty-fourth congress convenes be will press it for action.

"The commercial tieup resulting from the European war has convinced every thinking man in this country that foreign trade is a vital element in our domestic prosperity and that the continents of North and South America have greater identity of interests than was ever realized before." said Mr. Helm. "There never was a time when opportunity was knocking so loud at our doors. The commerce and business of a continent are within our grasp. The manufacturing enterprises in Central and South America are very limited, and it is to this matter that I wish the attention of the country could be directed.

"Few, if any, of the republics to the south of us have the means of transporting or delivering their products to any other country. Under existing condittins nearly all the trade of Central and South America flows across the Atlantic. It ought to be flowing from North America to Central and South

"About the only means of creating commercial and business relations are banking facilities, transportation, press bureau and mercantile agents. Under the federal reserve act a bank with $1,000,000 capital in the United States can establish a branch bank in any of the countries in Central or South America. This provision, in my opinion, does not meet the conditions. What we need is a bank of sufficient proportions and magnitude and importance and prestige to handle the business of the continent.

"The government of the canal sone is going to be just as stable and steady as the government of the United States. If we establish a bank on the canal zone it becomes identified with the locality. Our government is behind it That guarantees confidence and makes it a sure go. The governments to the south of us would be inspired with confidence in the institu

"Thanksgiving"

And We ARE Thankful

TE'RE thankful that we're alive--instead of being shot full of holes; that we're all good Americans,-citizens of the best country on earth; thankful that business is good; that Prosperity is here, and getting stronger every minute; we're thankful for your confidence in us, and the good trade you've given us;--yes, for all these things, and many more, we're thankful! We have a host of good things to be thankful for, this year. -- And so have you.

AND SO, it is altogether fitting and proper that we all show our Thankfulness at this time; that we express it in our appearance, as well as hold it in our minds; that gloom be banished, "and joy be unconfined." Every man, woman and child under the Stars and Stripes has Reason to be thankful, this year;--And now is the time to show it!

DRESS Up, good people! Put on your best "Bib and Tucker"! Gather round the festive board with smiling faces and thankful hearts. The TURKEY'S roosting low; the Mince Pies are on | the Pantry Shelf; Cranberries and golden Pumkin's are a'watin' the vine. Who'd be so craven, at a time like
