PORTALES, ROOSEVELT COUNTY, NEW MEXICO, FRIDAY, APRIL 25, 1919

NUMBER 46

A TEST WELL FOR ROOSEVELT COUNTY IS IN PROSPECT IF SUFFICIENT ACREAGE TO JUSTIFY THE EXPENSE

Can be Secured Before the First of Month--Only 25,000 Acres Required

Oklahoma Man is Ready and Able as Soon as Leases are Put in Escrow

Harry E. Gutches, of Ada, Oklahoma, is here with a proposition for putting down a test well on a location to be selected by the geologists chosen for that purpose. The well to be located near Portales. He asks that leases be put up to the amount of twenty-five thousand acres, in the banks of the city in escrow until the contract has been complied with. The time limit in which this acreage must be raised is May 1st of this year, just a few days, and Mr. Gutches contracts to start work on or before the first day of November, dependent upon being able to get drilling machinery on the ground. The test well is to be thirty-six hundred feet deep. Already a liberal acreage has been subscribed, among those who have demonstrated their faith in the project are J. E. (Big) Johnson, R. G. Bryant, George M. Williamson & Co., Jack Wilcox and Coe Howard. All these gentlemen have put in acreages varying from thirteen hundred acres to four thousand. Of the twenty-five thousand acres subscribed Mr. Gutches only gets half, not half of the land, but a half interest in the lease for drilling purposes. The owner also retains his equity or royalty, of one-eighth. If the oil is found the owner of the property becomes wealthy, if it is not found the contractor, Mr. Gutches, retires with a bundle of worthless leases for his expense and trouble.

This is the first business proposition that has been made with any definite time fixed for the commencement of work, and it certainly seems that it is a very liberal one. The idea is to have just as many interested in this test well as possible. It would not be right nor equitable for a part of our people to come through with their part of the acreage and then for another another bunch to lay out and wait for a free ride to prosperity. This proposition is of interest to every man, woman and child in Roosevelt county. If the oil can be found there are riches beyond the dreams of the most optimistic in store for those who are fortunate to have holdings in the oil district, and for those who have no lands on which to drill wells, it may mean a prosperity that they have never before known. It is not possible to make money where there is no money, but given plenty of the circulating medium to start with,

Victory Liberty Loan Organization

ON Monday, April 21st, we shall have an opportunity of showing to what extent we have caught the spirit of the new and enlightened patriotism that the World War gave birth to. Selfishness is dead. The sacrifice of money, future, even life, itself, has become almost a common-place. Today, one would be ashamed to talk or act selfishly.

The people of the Eleventh Federal District have always lived up to the highest traditions of our race and now, they will add to their record, the crowning act of a great over-subscription to the Victory Liberty Loan which, of all loans, is the true test of patriotism.

The people of this section are well informed. They know that the payment of our just debts is the only course consistent with our honor. They know what they are lending money for, today, is not actually war material, but American boys' lives--if it were not for our vast preparations, Americans would be fighting and dying in the trenches, today.

I have an abiding faith in my friends and neighbors, and I look for a magnificent response to the claims of the Victory Liberty Loan. I ask only that each individual response be prompt as well as generous.

FRANK M. SMITH,

Federal District Director, War Loan Organization.

there is no reason why any one should not share in the general prosperity. This is a matter that must and will interest all, and each man should get out, bury his hatchet, and work diligently for the raising of this acreage. Come in, go to either bank and have your lease drawn at once. Remember that this contractor puts up a surety bond of $10,000 for the faithful performance of each and every item of his contract. If the people of Roosevelt county really want a test well put down now is the time to get in behind this game and boost work for it until the last acre has subscribed.

New Business House

Charley Ison and Charley Goodloe are putting up a new building adjoining the one now occupied by the Goodloe Paint company. Ham McDonald has bought into the McDonald & Ison grocery and this company will occupy all of building they now occupy. The new home will be pebble dashed.

C. F. Monroe, of Las Cruces, state manager of county agents, was in the city Monday and Tuesday of this week looking over the work of County Agent J. B. Peterson. Mr. Monroe expressed himself as well pleased with the work in Roosevelt county, and stated that we had one of the most energetic and best qualified county agents in the state, and the Journal man did not argue the matter with him.

Burglary at Floyd

Monday night of this week the store belonging to J. R. Shock was burglarized and some three hundred pounds of flour and about fifteen or twenty dollars worth of other goods taken. The burglars are supposed to have driven to the store in a Ford car and to have hauled away their plunder in the same machine. While the sheriff's office is actively at work on the case no definite clew to the robbery has been found.

Baptist Church Announcement

There will be special services at the Baptist church next Sunday. Rev. Leon M. Gambrell will speak at both hours, 11 a. m. and 8 p. m. Special music at both services. Meet with us.

J. F. Gardner, an old timer here, but who a short time ago moved to Clovis, came back Monday of this week. Jim says that he has always made money in Portales and that the old burg still looks good to him. He will open a restaurant at his old stand in the Neer building formerly occupied by himself and a barber shop.

The First National bank directs attention to its ad on the fifth page of this paper, and renews its invitation to the public to take advantage of the opportunities therein presented. They especially urge the farmers who are in need of seed and other necessities to call and get the help they are able and willing to give

Will Fly Here

James A. Hall, chairman for Victory Liberty loan campaign in this county, is making an effort to get one of the U.S. army flying machines to make a couple of flights in this county, one at Portales and one at a place to be determined later. One of the biggest boosts for this flight would be an early and a liberal subscription for bonds. A machine would be much more likely to fly over a county that had, itself "gone over top" in patriotism than it would over one that had failed it in its duty. Following is a telegram received:
Dallas, Texas, 4-22-19.

Pay Price of Peace

Mrs. W. C. MacAdoo, chairman of the National Woman's Liberty Loan Committee, sends the following message.
"The women of the United States' felt a year ago that no money price was too high for the winning of the victorious peace. The government of the United States now asks us to help raise the four and half billion dollars subscription that totals the Victory Liberty Loan. Can we do less than our best to pay the price of peace?"

FOR BETTER ROADS

GREAT ROAD BUILDING YEAR

Thousands of Miles of Improvement Arranged and More Will Surely Follow.

From the passage of the federal aid road act to December 15, 1918, 755 projects were approved by the secretary of agriculture. These projects involve the improvement of 7,867 miles of public roads at a total estimated cost of $57,632,000, of which the federal government has been requested to contribute $21,602,000. There have been actually completed to date twelve projects, involving a total of fifty-one miles of road, costing approximately $617,548, and on which federal aid in the amount of $260,860.19 was paid.

Altogether there are more than 7,500 miles of road, for which most of the steps preliminary to construction have been taken so far as the bureau of public roads is concerned. Numerous other projects not yet reported to the department have been completed or are under construction, so that the sum total of the road work now in progress under federal aid is greater than appears in this summary.

From Florida to Maine, through the North to the Pacific coast and down to Mexico road building work is going on. Every state has accepted its contribution from the government, and while no organized effort has been made along those lines to the present time, the states are working gradually to the system of national highways.

Coupled with plans already outlined for expenditures on the roads is the legislative program now before congress, which provides for $500,000,000 to be expended over a period of seven years by federal aid. It is estimated that in the event of the passage of this bill, which would make available immediately $75,000,000 for use in federal aid, it would be possible for the government and the states to build 34,000 miles of highways this year if labor could be obtained.

VALUE OF POULTRY MANURE

Increased Supply of Fresh Vegetables May Be Obtained By Applying to Garden Soil.

The droppings from fowls, if carefully saved and applied to the garden soil, will increase the supply of fresh vegetables. Poultry manure is rich in nitrogen and is well worth the effort it requires to save and apply. The droppings from an average farm flock will amount to considerable fertility during the year.

AUTO TAXES TO GO TO ROADS

Committee Appointed in Alabama to Request License Fees Be Applied to Highways.

The Birmingham (Ala.) Automobile club has appointed a legislative committee which is to appear before the state legislature with the request that all automobile license fees and taxes be applied on the cost of improved roads in the state. The funds thus diverted would amount to $1,500,000 annually.

Slow in Road Building. With all her development, America has always been slow in the matter of road building.

TOURTURED TEXAS WOMAN WRITES

Standing On Her Feet Torture to This Lady. Had to Ride Everywhere She Went, Until Cardui Brought Relief.

McKinney, Texas.—Mrs. A. B. Stovall, of this place, writes; "Some time ago I was in a critical condition. We only lived two squares from town, yet I wasn't able to walk the two squares.

I had to ride everywhere I went and suffered at that, but not so much as when I tried to walk. Standing on my feet was torture.

My greatest suffering was in my right side. It was so sore and I felt if I stepped down or jarred myself the least bit I could not stand it,—so just walked mostly tiptoe. This kept up until I was just about discouraged and decided I had best try something else.

Someone told me of Cardui, and where it had benefited cases similar to mine. I felt at least it would not hurt to give it a trial.

After my first bottle I felt better—there was less pain and soreness in my side.

After my third bottle of Cardui I was well and have been ever since." Cardui may be just what you need. Try it.—Adv.

Confession of Failure.

Johnnie was practicing diligently with his new slingshot. Suddenly an old lady touched him on the arm.

Johnnie sighed. "Darned if I can, either!" he said sympathetically.

THE PROUD BOOTS.

"Hello, right boot."
 "Hello, hello, hello."
 So the boots squeaked and creaked while Eric slept so soundly in bed. They had been put side by side, quite carefully, at the foot of Eric's bed, on the floor.

"Wasn't that the best compliment you ever received?" asked the first boot.

"It most certainly was," said the second boot. "And wasn't it the best compliment you ever received too?"

"Indeed it was," said the first boot. "We both got exactly the same compliment," said the right boot, which had been the speaker called the second boot, while the left boot had been the speaker called the first boot.

"We did," said the left boot. "Neither of us can be envious or jealous of the other. We were spoken of together."

"In the very same breath," said the right boot.

"In the very same word," said the left boot.

"We didn't have big photographs taken," said the right boot.

"Well, we're not big boots," said the left boot. "We belong to Eric, and Eric is a boy, not a big man. Some day, of course, if all goes well, he will be a big man."

"Why do you say, 'if all goes well'?" asked the right boot.

"It makes my conversation sound so much finer," said the left boot. "I must be very careful where I walk—that is, I must be very careful how I talk. The words rhyme, you know."

"I know now you tell me," said the right boot. "but boots don't as a rule know much about poetry. We're not high up enough for poetry. Poetry is

"We Have Had Our Picture Taken." usually written about clouds and the sky. We are simple boots, quite satisfied to walk our humble way along the earth or the floors."

"We walk where Eric has us walk," said the left boot.

"That's true enough," agreed the right boot.

"How did it all come about?" asked the left boot.

"What are you talking about?" asked the right boot.

"The photographs, of course," said the left boot. "You were listening then better than I was, for I was standing on my toe and trying not to fall over. I wasn't paying much attention to anything else for a minute."

"You mean," said the right boot, "that Eric was standing on one toe, and as you were new you were hoping he wouldn't fall over and get you all dusty?"

"You're right," said the left boot. "So tell me all about it. I like to hear even what I know for it makes me so proud."

"I'm glad to tell it to you," said the right boot, "for it makes me proud too."

"Eric's daddy had just bought him a new pair of boots—ourselves, in fact. Eric was delighted, as any boy should have been. In fact he was so pleased that he wanted to go and have his photograph taken, so he could send it to his Aunt Edie, who was away."

"He said that he wanted to have a photograph taken of his new boots before they all wore out and he was sure his Aunt Edie would be glad to see what they looked like."

"To be sure a photograph was not taken of us at the photographer's shop, but they did take a picture of us with a camera and it's going to Eric's Aunt Edie."

"Yes, we have been paid a great compliment. We have had our picture taken and there is a boy who thinks more of having photographs taken of nice boots than he does of having his eyes and his nose and his mouth and his hair photographed, which is so usual a way to take a photograph! We're honored boots, we are!"

"We are indeed," said the other boot.

Time Coming When Hubby Would Discover That His Bride Was Not Altogether Spiritual.

He watched her daintily nibbling her cress sandwich.

"I know what it is," he cried, suddenly. "I know why you appeal to me more than any other girl I ever met. It's because you're the perfect combination of the spiritual and physical. Your fresh, plump beauty and your birdlike appetite—"

"I never did eat much, even as a child," she murmured, idyllically. "A touch of toast in the morning, a sip of soup at noon, a sprig of celery or a pinch of parsley at supper and I'm satisfied. As mother always says, 'the man that pays my board bill will be in luck.'"

"My ideal!" he cried. Late that night she repaired to the larder, and consumed seven hard-boiled eggs, four cold pork chops, half a pound of potato salad, three tomatoes and three slices of pie.

"It's a fearful strain," she thought, "but I'll land him this week or die in the attempt!"

Worse Than That, and Then Some. Sympathetic Red Cross workers crowded around Sergt. George Siskind of the Thirtieth marines, who lives in Chicago, when he limped off the Manchuria on its arrival at New York.

"When and where were you hit by a shell?" queried a Red Cross worker.

"Hit by shell nothin', I was an M. P. and tried to pinch four doughboys one night. That was 40 days ago, and I've been in the hospital ever since."

Grouchy Man Was Too Eager to Register "Kick" to Take Notice What Time It Was.

A horse hitched to a wagon fell across the car tracks in front of a government building in the national capital.

In about two minutes the driver, assisted by the usual first aids, had unbuckled a lot of harness and the horse was up and on his way. And that was all there was to it except that—

When a car waited for the track to be cleared an elderly man person, who looked as if he considered the world a big mistake, said to a man beside him:

"Cast your eyes at the windows of that office, sir; every one alive with men and women; if the clerks of a department will leave their desks and fritter away the government's time over a trifling sight like this, what sir, I ask, must be the state of our national conscience?"

The man next had cast up an eye per request, and chuckled with the heartiness of one who sleeps well, eats three solid meals a day, and treats his wife like a perfect lady.

"Say, friend, you've got it all balled up. You are so busy looking at the windows that you overlook the clocks. Noon means lunch time."

—And the national conscience was vindicated.

Calomel Loses You a Day's Work! Take Dodson's Liver Tone Instead

Read my guarantee! If bilious, constipated or head-achy you need not take nasty, sickening, dangerous calomel to get straightened up.

Every druggist in town—your druggist and everybody's druggist has noticed a great falling off in the sale of calomel. They all give the same reason. Dodson's Liver Tone is taking its place.

"Calomel is dangerous and people know it, while Dodson's Liver Tone is perfectly safe and gives better results," said a prominent local druggist. Dodson's Liver Tone is personally guaranteed by every druggist who sells it. A large bottle doesn't cost very much, but if it fails to give easy relief in every case of liver sluggishness and constipation, you have only to ask for your money back. Dodson's Liver Tone is a pleasant-tasting, purely vegetable remedy, harmless to both children and adults. Take a spoonful at night and wake up feeling fine; no biliousness, sick headache, acid stomach or constipated bowels. It doesn't gripe or cause inconvenience all the next day like violent calomel. Take a dose of calomel today and tomorrow you will feel weak, sick and nauseated. Don't lose a day's work! Take Dodson's Liver-Tone instead and feel fine, full of vigor and ambition.—Adv.

SMOCK AS A CONVENIENCE

Garment Supplants Old-time Blouse That Is Tucked into the Waist of the Skirt.

Many, many years—centuries, in fact—the peasants in France have worn the loose garment known as a smock and no one challenged their right to a monopoly on that garment. Then, some time in the last century, artists—sculptors and painters—began wearing this type of garment in their ateliers and studios, until that shapeless, comfortable garments came to suggest all that one associates with French studio life. It was not unnatural that artists on this side of the Atlantic took to the smock as a matter of convenience as well as because of association. Next the smock was borrowed for some rather extreme garden frocks. And it was considered really extreme when it first was worn out of the studio. But it became popular and it was featured as a sport garment and then everyone went about in smocks. In fact, it went the way of all things popular, to oblivion.

Then—and the vogue for the smock had nothing to do with the tendency—the blouse that extends below the waistline came into being. It supplanted to a certain extent the old-time blouse that is tucked into the waist of the skirt. And so far from appearing extreme or outlandish, sloppy or graceless, the type of garment known as the smock is the most natural thing we could do for garden wear and sport wear and wear about the house. So the smock is being revived for this spring and summer.

Skirt and Sweater. The pretty plaited braid skirts seem to hold a place in every woman's affections and therefore all sorts of little odd coats, "blazers," sweaters, coatees are brought out to accompany them. One of these new sweater-things which is designed to wear with a plaited skirt of white serge has a back of fine white wool jersey, is sleeveless and has its front crocheted with a flat stitch in heavy white wool.

THE LAST CALL

For the fifth and last time the government has made a demand upon each citizen of the United States to dig down into his or her pocket and for the purpose of buying liberty bonds for the maintenance of those soldiers abroad who turned the defeat of Europe into a glorious victory for the allies. A failure on the part of those who remained at home, undisturbed by the shriek of shell, the whistling of enemy bullets, or the poison gas of the Hun, would be a crime of unmentionable turpitude, an ingratitude impossible to contemplate. Are we, now that the battle is over, going to say to those boys who put the fear of God in the heart of the "Beast of Berlin," the fighting is over, get home the best way you can; our danger is past and we no further use for you? No, you will not say any such thing in words, yet if you lay down on this fifth Liberty loan, you say so in a language more forcible than words. Your acts will speak for themselves and the proper construction will be put upon them. We, at home have endured no hardships nor privation, have dodged no German bullets nor hid in a crater while enemy shells were bursting all around; we have not even denied ourselves our regular number of "cokes," cigars or cigarettes. Good springs and mattresses, feather pillows and white sheets have been our common lot at night, with the certainty that no matter what happens "over there" we, at home are amply provided for. "By their fruits ye shall know them," is an axiom as unalterable as the fiat of fate. The coming liberty loan will separate the sheep from the goats; it will put the mark of distinctive service upon the shoulder of every man, woman and child in the land who does his full duty at this time; and just as certainly it will put the brand of the slacker on the breast of those who fail. Like the scarlet letter, it will be a badge of dishonor so long as there is one left to remember. Roosevelt county has but few of this class. Her citizenship is too intensely patriotic, too loyal to her government and its institutions; has too deep a regard for the sacrifice made by her boys who answered the call, to hesitate. With but few exceptions, they will buy; buy 'till it hurts. Business men with important affairs of their own; ladies with all the multitudinous duties of the home, are giving their time, without pay or hope of reward, to put Roosevelt county over the top, and they are meeting with encouragement, in many instances with enthusiasm, as though a favor was being conferred when asked to buy bonds for the soldier boys. These committees are doing their best to see every citizen of the county, but they may not be able to check up so closely as to not miss some, consequently, it would be a patriotic act, doubly meritorious, if you would volunteer your subscription and not wait to be called on. Also the committees would appreciate it if all who can assist in the sales campaign would call on the chairman of the men's or ladies' committee and get necessary supplies for helping in the drive. James A. Hall is chairman for Roosevelt county, while Mrs. M. H. Campbell is chairman of the ladies committee. Either will be glad to help you and will be glad to give you any help that you may give them. We must not fail in this, the last appeal of our government for money with which to feed our boys in khaki, or for money with which to bring them home. We now have two honor flags to float to the breeze, one for the third and one for the fourth; it would not have the fifth to hang with the others. Pull off your coats, get in the game and let's get the honor flag for the fifth liberty loan.

QUESTIONNAIRE

ANSWERS WHICH WILL SOLVE PERPLEXING PROBLEMS OF THIS RECONSTRUCTION ERA.

Query.—The government has launched an educational campaign to encourage building in order to put more men to work. Would not a similar movement to show how the old structures can be best and most economically repaired and made good as new also help?

Answer.—It is learned that such a plan is in effect and is linked directly with the Washington propaganda.

Industry must be turned back from works of war to the ways of peace. Employment must be found, in the meanwhile, for those whose occupation has been interrupted. There is no real surplus of labor in the United States. Rather there is a shortage, which would be acute if normal conditions were already restored, and one step towards restoring them will come with resumption of repair work.

Government restrictions, imposed by the necessities of the war program, have for many months past retarded or altogether prevented construction, improvement and repairs. These restrictions are now off, and there is scarcely a town, a city, a factory, a dwelling or a farm that does not reveal a crying need for prompt attention. Nothing delays such instant action except the feeling that prices are high for the time being and may be lower.

That is not logical. No matter what it costs to repair, the cost is less than the cost of neglect. No matter what the cost of paint, the wind and the weather will collect a higher bill in deterioration and decay.

Query.—What do you think of paint as an investment, aside from the appearance it lends? Does it really PAY to paint a house regularly, say, every three or four years?

Answer.—Good paint properly applied when needed is the main thing in making a house last long and well. A house worth $2,500 can be painted at a cost of about $125. In 60 years that house will need about 15 paintings, the total cost of which will be $1,875. Left without paint, such a house would fall into complete ruin in 30 years. So taking 60 years as a basis for our figures we find that with paint a home will last that time in good condition and will cost, plus paint, $4,375. Without paint the house would have to be rebuilt at the end of 30 years and would be ready for another complete renovation when the sixtieth year arrived. Cost, without paint, $5,000 for

A HOME RENOVATION TO BE PAID FOR BY REGULAR PAINTING PAY? As the old Dutch adage says: "PAINT PAYS FOR ITSELF."

Query.—I have a quantity of old paint on hand. Can I use it for the first coat in repainting my barn?

Answer.—On no account should old paint which has become fat be used for priming either old or new work. Old paint in that condition is best used on a fence, brickwork or tinwork. If you value your barn sufficiently to paint it, do it the justice of a good job.

U. S. Invents Anti-Rust "Dope."

Incident to the war, the government has faced the problem that has so long proved baffling to commercial concerns of protecting iron and steel from rust. In an attempt to solve this federal specialists have perfected various forms of protective coatings. In this connection it may be pertinent to ask whether commercial uses will not be found also for the so-called "dopes" which the government has invented to be applied to airplane wings and which are possessed of valuable weather-resisting and fireproof qualities.

BARTON AGAIN SEES SALLY DUNKELBERG, BUT THE MEETING IS NOT AN AUSPICIOUS ONE.

Synopsis.—Barton Baynes, an orphan, goes to live with his uncle, Peabody Baynes, and his Aunt Deel on a farm on Rattleroad, in a neighborhood called Lickitysplit, about the year 1826. He meets Sally Dunkelberg, about his own age, but socially of a class above the Bayneses, and is fascinated by her pretty face and fine clothes. Barton also meets Roving Kate, known in the neighborhood as the "Silent Woman." Amos Grimshaw, a young son of the richest man in the township, is a visitor at the Baynes home and Roving Kate tells the boys' fortunes, predicting a bright future for Barton and death on the gallows for Amos. Reproved for an act of boyish mischief, Barton runs away, intending to make his home with the Dunkelbergs. He reached Canton and falls asleep on a porch. There is he found by Silas Wright, Jr., a man prominent in public affairs, who, knowing Peabody Baynes, takes Barton home after buying him new clothes.

CHAPTER II—Continued.

Soon a horse and buggy came for us and I briefly answered Sally's good-bye before the man drove away with me. I remember telling him as we went on over the rough road, between fields of ripened grain, of my watermelon and my dog and my little pet hen.

I shall not try to describe that home coming. We found Aunt Deel in the road five miles from home. She had been calling and traveling from house to house most of the night, and I have never forgotten her joy at seeing me and her tender greeting. She got into the buggy and rode home with us, holding me in her lap. Uncle Peabody and one of our neighbors had been out in the woods all night with pine torches. I recall how, although excited by my return, he took off his hat at the sight of my new friend and said:

"Mr. Wright, I never wished that I lived in a palace until now." He didn't notice me until I held up both feet and called: "Look a' there, Uncle Peabody."

Then he came and took me out of the buggy and I saw the tears in his eyes when he kissed me.

The man told of finding me on his little veranda, and I told of my ride with Dug Draper, after which Uncle Peabody said:

"I'm goin' to put in your hoss and feed him, Comptroller."

"And I'm goin' to cook the best dinner I ever cooked in my life," said Aunt Deel.

When the great man had gone Uncle Peabody took me in his lap and said very gently and with a serious look:

"You didn't think I meant it, did ye?—that you would have to go 'way from here?"

"I don't know," was my answer.

"Course I didn't mean that. I just wanted ye to see that it wa'n't good to do for you to keep on tippin' things over so."

That evening as I was about to go up-stairs to bed, Aunt Deel said to my uncle:

"Do you remember what ol' Kate wrote down about him? This is his first peril an' he has met his first great man an' I can see that Silas Wright is kind o' fond o' him."

I went to sleep that night thinking of the strange, old, ragged, silent woman.

CHAPTER III.

We Go to Meeting and See Mr. Wright Again.

I had a chill that night and in the weeks that followed I was nearly burned up with lung fever. Doctor Clark came from Canton to see me every other day for a time and one evening Mr. Wright came with him and watched all night near my bedside.

In the morning he said that he could come the next Tuesday morning if we needed him and set out right after breakfast, in the dim dawn light, to walk to Canton.

"Peabody Baynes," said my Aunt Deel as she stood looking out of the window at Mr. Wright, "that is one of the grandest, splendidest men that I ever see or heard of. He's an awful smart man, an' a day o' his time is worth more'n a month of our'n, but he comes away off here to set up with a sick young one and walks back. Does beat all—don't it?—aye!"

"If any one needs help Silas Wright is always on hand," said Uncle Peabody.

I was soon out of bed and he came no more, to sit up with me.

When I was well again, Aunt Deel said one day: "Peabody Baynes, I ain't heard no preachin' since Mr. Pangborn died. I guess we better go down to Canton to meetin' some Sunday. If there ain't no minister Silas Wright always reads a sermon, if he's home, and the paper says he don't go 'way for a month yet. I kind o' feel the need of a good sermon—aye!"

"All right. I'll hitch up the hosses and we'll go. We can start at eight o'clock and take a bite with us an' git back here by three."

I had told Aunt Deel what Sally had said of my personal appearance.

"Your coat is good enough for anybody—aye!" said she. "I'll make you a pair o' breeches an' then I guess you won't have to be 'shamed no more."

She had spent several evenings making them out of an old gray flannel petticoat of hers and had put two pockets in them of which I was very proud. They came just to the tops of my shoes, which pleased me, for thereby the glory of my new shoes suffered no encroachment.

The next Sunday after they were finished we had preaching in the schoolhouse and I was eager to go and wear my wonderful trousers. Uncle Peabody said that he didn't know whether his leg would hold out or not "through a whole meetin'." His left leg was lame from a wrench and pained him if he sat long in one position. I greatly enjoyed this first public exhibition of my new trousers. I remember praying in silence, as we sat down, that Uncle Peabody's leg would hold out. Later, when the long sermon had begun to weary me, I prayed that it would not.

It was a beautiful summer morning as we drove down the hills and from the summit of the last high ridge we could see the smoke of a steamer looming over the St. Lawrence and the big buildings of Canton on the distant flats below us. My heart beat fast when I reflected that I should soon see Mr. Wright and the Dunkelbergs. I had lost a little of my interest in Sally. Still I felt sure that when she saw my new breeches she would conclude that I was a person not to be trifled with.

When we got to Canton people were flocking to the big stone Presbyterian church. It was what they called a "deacon's meeting." I remember that Mr. Wright read from the Scriptures, and having explained that there was no minister in the village, read one of Mr. Edwards' sermons, in the course of which I went to sleep on the arm of my aunt. She awoke me when the service had ended, and whispered:

"Come, we're goin' down to speak to Mr. Wright."

I remember Mr. Wright kissed me and said:

"Hello! Here's my boy in a new pair o' trousers!"

"Put yer hand in there," I said proudly, as I took my own hand out of one of my pockets, and pointed the way.

He did not accept the invitation, but laughed heartily and gave me a little hug.

When we went out of the church there stood Mr. and Mrs. Horace Dunkelberg, and Sally and some other children. It was a tragic moment for me when Sally laughed and ran behind her mother. Still worse was it when a couple of boys ran away crying. "Look at the breeches!"

I looked down at my breeches and wondered what was wrong with them. They seemed very splendid to me and yet I saw at once that they were not popular. I went close to my Aunt Deel and partly hid myself in her cloak. I heard Mrs. Dunkelberg say: "Of course you'll come to dinner with us?"

For a second my hopes leaped high. I was hungry and visions of jelly cake and preserves rose before me. Of course there were the trousers, but perhaps Sally would get used to the trousers and ask me to play with her.

"Thank ye, but we've got a good ways to go and we fetched a bite with us—aye!" said Aunt Deel.

Eagerly I awaited an invitation from the great Mrs. Dunkelberg that should be decisively urgent, but she only said:

"I'm very sorry you can't stay." My hopes fell like bricks and vanished like bubbles.

The Dunkelbergs left us with pleasant words. They had asked me to shake hands with Sally, but I had clung to my aunt's cloak and firmly refused to make any advances. Slowly and without a word we walked across the park toward the tavern sheds.

We had started away up the South road when, to my surprise, Aunt Deel mildly attacked the Dunkelbergs.

"These here village folks like to be waited on—aye!—an' they're awful anxious you should come to see 'em when ye can't—aye!—but when ye git to the village they ain't nigh so anxious—no they ain't!"

In the middle of the great cedar swamp near Little River Aunt Deel got out the lunch basket and I sat down on the buggy bottom between their legs and leaning against the dash. So disposed we ate our luncheon of fried cakes and bread and butter and maple sugar and cheese. What an efficient cure for good health were the doughnuts and cheese and sugar, especially if they were mixed with the idleness of a Sunday. I had a headache also and soon fell asleep.

The sun was low when they awoke me in our dooryard. I soon discovered that the Dunkelbergs had fallen from their high estate in our home and that Silas Wright, Jr., had taken their place in the conversation of Aunt Deel.

CHAPTER IV.

In the Light of the Candles.

One day the stage, on its way to Ballybeen, came to our house and left a box and a letter from Mr. Wright, addressed to my uncle, which read:

"Dear Sir—I send herewith a box of books and magazines in the hope that you or Miss Baynes will read them aloud to my little partner and in doing so get some enjoyment and profit for yourselves.

"Yours respectfully,
S. WRIGHT, JR.

"P. S.—When the contents of the box have duly risen into your minds will you kindly see that it does a like service to your neighbors in School District No. 7? S. W. Jr."

"I guess Bart has made a friend o' this great man—sartin ayes!" said Aunt Deel. "I wonder who'll be the next one?"

The work of the day ended, the candles were grouped near the edge of the table and my aunt's armchair was placed beside them. Then I sat on Uncle Peabody's lap by the fire or, as time went on, in my small chair beside him, while Aunt Deel adjusted her spectacles and began to read.

I remember vividly the evening we took out the books and tenderly felt their covers and read their titles. There were "Cruikshanks' Comic Almanac" and "Hood's Comic Annual"; tales by Washington Irving and James K. Paulding and Nathaniel Hawthorne and Miss Mitford and Miss Austin; the poems of John Milton and Felicia Hemans. Of the treasures in the box I have now in my possession: A life of Washington, "The Life and Writings of Doctor Duckworth," "The Stolen Child," by "John Galt, Esq.," "Rosine Laval," by "Mr. Smith"; Sermons and Essays by William Ellery Channing. We found in the box also, thirty numbers of the "United States Magazine and Democratic Review" and sundry copies of the "New York Mirror."

Aunt Deel began with "The Stolen Child." She read slowly and often paused for comment or explanation or laughter or to touch the corner of an eye with a corner of her handkerchief in moments when we were all deeply moved by the misfortunes of our favorite characters, which were acute and numerous.

In those magazines we read of the great West—"the poor man's paradise"—"the stoneless land of plenty"; of its delightful climate, of the ease with which the farmer prospered on its rich soil. Uncle Peabody spoke playfully of going West, after that, but Aunt Deel made no answer and concealed her opinion on that subject for a long time. As for myself, the reading had deepened my interest in the east and west and north and south and in the skies above them. How mysterious and inviting they had become!

One evening a neighbor had brought the Republican from the post-office. I opened it and read aloud these words in large type at the top of the page: "Silas Wright Elected to the U. S. Senate."

"Well I want to know!" Uncle Peabody exclaimed. "That would make me forgit it if I was goin' to be lung. Go on and read what it says."

I read the choosing of our friend for the seat made vacant by the resignation of William L. Marcy, who had been elected governor, and the part which most impressed us were these words from a letter of Mr. Wright to Azariah Flagg of Albany, written when the former was asked to accept the place:

"I am too young and too poor for such an elevation. I have not had the experience in that great theater of politics to qualify me for a place so exalted and responsible. I prefer therefore the humbler position which I now occupy."

"That's his way," said Uncle Peabody. "They had hard work to convince him that he knew enough to be Surrogate."

"Big men have little conceit—aye!" said Aunt Deel with a significant glance at me.

The candles had burned low and I was watching the shroud of one of them when there came a rap at the door. It was unusual for any one to come to our door in the evening and we were a bit startled. Uncle Peabody opened it and old Kate entered without speaking and nodded to my aunt and uncle and sat down by the fire. Vividly I remembered the day of the fortune-telling. The same gentle smile lighted her face as she looked at me. She held up her hand with four fingers spread above it.

"Ayes," said Aunt Deel, "there are four perils."

My aunt rose and went into the buttry while I sat staring at the ragged old woman. Her hair was white now and partly covered by a worn and faded bonnet. Forbidding as she was I did not miss the sweetness in her smile and her blue eyes when she looked at me. Aunt Deel came with a plate of doughnuts and bread and butter and head cheese and said in a voice full of pity:

"Poor ol' Kate—aye! Here's somethin' for ye—aye!"

She turned to my uncle and said:

"Peabody Baynes, what'll we do—I'd like to know—aye! She can't rove all night."

"I'll git some blankets an' make a bed for her, good 'nough for anybody, out in the hired man's room over the shed," said my uncle.

He brought the lantern—a little tower of perforated tin—and put a lighted candle inside of it. Then he beckoned to the stranger, who followed him out of the front door with the plate of food in her hands.

"Well I declare! It's a long time since she went up this road—aye!" said Aunt Deel, yawning as she resumed her chair.

"Who is ol' Kate?" I asked.

"Oh, just a poor ol' crazy woman—wanders all 'round—aye!"

"What made her crazy?"

"Oh, I guess somebody misgued and deceived her when she was young—aye! It's an awful wicked thing to do. Come, Bart—go right up to bed now. It's high time—aye!"

"I want to wait 'til Uncle Peabody comes back," said I.

"Why?"

"I—I'm afraid she'll do somethin' to him."

"Nonsense! Ol' Kate is just as harmless as a kitten. You take your candle and go right up to bed—this minute—aye!"

I went up-stairs with the candle and undressed very slowly and thoughtfully while I listened for the footsteps of my uncle. I did not get into bed until I heard him come in and blow out his lantern and start up the stairway. As he undressed he told me how for many years the strange woman had been roving in the roads "up hill and down dale, thousands an' thousands o' miles," and never reaching the end of her journey.

In a moment we heard a low wail above the sounds of the breeze that shook the leaves of the old "popple" tree above our roof.

"What's that?" I whispered.

"I guess it's ol' Kate ravin'," said Uncle Peabody.

It touched my heart and I lay listening for a time, but heard only the loud whisper of the popple leaves.

Barton becomes aware of the existence of a wonderful and mysterious power known as "Money," and learns some of the things that its possession may accomplish. Don't miss the next installment.

COULD NOT SLEEP

Mr. Schleusner in Misery From Kidney Complaint. Doan's Gave Complete Relief.

"Heavy work brought on my kidney complaint," says Wm. Schleusner, 6408 Suburban Ave., Westlston, Mo. "One morning when shoeing a horse I was taken with a sudden pain in my back and fell flat on the floor. If I had been hit with a trip hammer, I couldn't have suffered more. I stayed in the house for five weeks and the pain was wearing the life out of me. At times, I couldn't get a wink of sleep because of the misery and I had to get up every few moments to pass the secretions that were highly colored, of foul odor, filled with sandy sediment and terribly scalding. My bladder felt as though it were afire. The pain brought stupor and a reeling sensation in my head; the torture of it cannot be described. If I got onto my feet I couldn't walk but felt dizzy and all in a flutter and everything would turn black. My head ached so it seemed as though my eyes were being dragged out. I started using Doan's Kidney Pills and I was soon rid of all the trouble."

YOUR SICK CHILD IS CONSTIPATED! LOOK AT TONGUE

HURRY, MOTHER! REMOVE POISONS FROM LITTLE STOMACH, LIVER, BOWELS.

GIVE "CALIFORNIA SYRUP OF FIGS" IF CROSS, BILIOUS OR FEVERISH.

No matter what ails your child, a gentle, thorough laxative should always be the first treatment given.

If your little one is out of sorts, half-sick, isn't resting, eating and acting naturally—look, Mother! see if tongue is coated. This is a sure sign that the little stomach, liver and bowels are clogged with waste. When cross, irritable, feverish, stomach sour, breath bad or has stomach-ache, diarrhea, sore throat, full of cold, give a teaspoonful of "California Syrup of Figs," and in a few hours all the constipated poison, undigested food and sour bile gently moves out of the little bowels without griping, and you have a well, playful child again.

Mothers can rest easy after giving this harmless "fruit laxative," because it never fails to cleanse the little one's liver and bowels and sweeten the stomach and they dearly love its pleasant taste. Full directions for babies, children of all ages and for grown-ups printed on each bottle.

Beware of counterfeit fig syrups. Ask your druggist for a bottle of "California Syrup of Figs;" then see that it is made by the "California Fig Syrup Company."—Adv.

GOOD THINGS FOR THE HOME TABLE.

The value of wholesome food well prepared and well seasoned, cannot be overestimated.

Veronique Soup.—Add one cupful of stewed and strained tomatoes, to which is added one-eighth teaspoonful of soda, to three cupfuls of veal broth. Thicken with one and one-half tablespoonfuls each of butter and flour cooked together; then add one and one-half teaspoonfuls of salt, a dash of cayenne, one-half cupful of cooked rice, one and one-half pimentoes cut in strips, and one-fourth cupful of heavy cream.

Rhubarb Tapioca Pudding.—Soak two-thirds cupful of pearl tapioca over night in cold water to cover. Drain, put in a double boiler, add one and one-fourth cupfuls of boiling water and two-thirds teaspoonful of salt; cook until the tapioca has absorbed the water. Peel rhubarb and cut in one-fourth inch pieces—there should be three cupfuls; then sprinkle with one-third cupful of sugar. Add to the tapioca and cook until the tapioca is transparent and rhubarb soft. Turn into a serving dish and accompany with sugar and thin cream.

Meat Loaf.—Chop one pound of veal and two pounds of beef. Mix and add one cupful of bread crumbs, one cupful of milk, one teaspoonful of salt, one-eighth teaspoonful of pepper and three eggs slightly beaten. Shape in loaf, put in pan and lay across the top six slices of fat salt pork. Roast one and one-half hours, basting every ten minutes at first with one-half cupful of hot water and the fat in the pan. Remove to a hot platter, pour around a tomato or brown sauce and garnish with parsley.

Stuffed Figs.—Mash cream cheese, moisten with heavy cream and season highly with salt and cayenne; make into balls three-fourths inch in diameter. Wash and dry figs, make an incision in each and stuff with the cheese balls. Arrange in piles on a plate covered with a lace paper dolly.

And the finest fellow of all would be the one who could be glad to have lived because the world was chiefly miserable, and his life had come to help some one who needed it.—George Eliot.

MORE STRAWBERRY DISHES.

A pint of nice berries will furnish plenty of dessert for a family of five or six, if the berries are used wisely. A most dainty dessert is either angel food or sponge cake cut in rounds, heaped with crushed berries mixed with whipped cream or the berries may be covered with the cream.

Cottage Pudding Strawberry Sauce.—Bake a cottage pudding in an angel cake pan, or a simple sponge cake mixture may be used. Remove from the pan to a serving dish, fill the center with sweetened and flavored whipped cream and pour around it a sauce using some crushed berries to make juice, sugar and a few sliced or quartered berries. Keep warm until serving time.

Strawberry Ice Cream.—Wash, hull and mash one quart of berries. Sprinkle with a cup of sugar and let stand for three hours, then mash and squeeze through a double thickness of cheese cloth. Mix one and one-half cupfuls of heavy cream, one and one-half cupfuls of milk, the whites of four eggs beaten stiff and a little salt. Freeze to a mush, then add the strawberry juice and continue freezing. More sugar may be added if the fruit is quite acid.

Steamed Rice-Strawberry Sauce.—Cook one cupful of rice in milk until well done but whole. For the sauce take three tablespoonfuls of softened butter, add one cupful of powdered sugar, mixing it until creamy, then stir in a half cupful of whipped cream and a pint of sliced strawberries, which have been slightly sweetened. Serve at once.

Lenox Strawberries.—Fill sherbet glasses with sliced strawberries that have been well chilled. Pour over the following mixture: Mix the juice of half an orange, four tablespoonfuls of sugar and a tablespoonful of charged water. Garnish with a ring of piped whipped cream around the edge. Allow this quantity for each portion.

COMB SAGE TEA IN HAIR TO DARKEN IT

It's Grandmother's Recipe to keep her Locks Dark, Glossy, Beautiful.

The old-time mixture of Sage Tea and Sulphur for darkening gray, streaked and faded hair is grandmother's recipe, and folks are again using it to keep their hair a good, even color, which is quite sensible, as we are living in an age when a youthful appearance is of the greatest advantage.

Nowadays, though, we don't have the troublesome task of gathering the sage and the mussy mixing at home. All drug stores sell the ready-to-use product, improved by the addition of other ingredients, called "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound." It is very popular because nobody can discover it has been applied. Simply moisten your comb or a soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one small strand at a time; by morning the gray hair disappears, but what delights the ladies with Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound, is that, besides beautifully darkening the hair after a few applications, it also produces that soft lustre and appearance of abundance which is so attractive.—Adv.

TIME TO FEED YOUNG CHICKS

Mashes Mixed With Milk Are of Considerable Value in Giving Youngsters Good Start.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)

Young chicks may be fed any time after they are thirty-six to forty-eight hours old whether they are with a hen or in a brooder. Some good feeds for the first feeding are moistened hard-boiled eggs, johnnycake, stale bread, oatmeal or rolled oats, which may be fed separately or in combination. Mash mixed with milk are of considerable value in giving the chicks a good start. The mixture should be fed in a crumbly mash and not in a sloppy condition. Johnnycake composed of the following ingredients in the proportion named is a very good feed for young chicks: One dozen infertile eggs or one pound of sifted beef scraps to ten pounds of cornmeal; add enough milk to make a pasty mash and one tablespoonful of baking soda and bake until done. Dry bread crumbs may be mixed with hard-boiled eggs, making about one-fourth of the mixture eggs, or rolled oats may be used in place of bread crumbs.

It is a good plan to give these feeds about five times daily for the first week, then gradually substitute for one or two of these feeds a mixture of finely cracked grains of equal parts by weight of cracked wheat and finely cracked corn and pinhead oatmeal or hulled oats, to which about 5 per cent of cracked peas or broken rice and 2 per cent of charcoal or millet or rape seed may be added. A commercial chick feed may be substituted if desired. This ration may be fed until the chicks are two weeks old, when they should be placed on grain and a dry or wet mash mixture.

Young chickens should be fed from three to five times daily, but if care is given not to overfeed chicks will grow faster when fed five times per day. Young chicks should be fed not more than barely enough to satisfy their appetites and to keep them exercising except at the evening or last meal, when they should be given all they will eat. There is danger in overfeeding, particularly if the young chicks are confined and do not have access to free range, as too much feed under such conditions is apt to cause leg weakness.

CHEAPEST FEED FOR FOWLS

Corn is Rapid Fat Former and Too Much of It Can Be Given—Feed Other Grains.

Under ordinary conditions, corn is the cheapest feed for fowls because of its high feeding value. It is a rapid fat former and fowls from which eggs are expected can easily be fed too much of it. Its principal function is to supply heat and energy but it does not contain in proper proportions the nutrients necessary to a profitable egg yield. It should be fed in conjunction with other grains.

POULTRY NOTES

Skim milk is good for the chickens.

Pumpkin is of value in the cold weather poultry ration.

Wheat, oats and corn are good grains to feed the laying hen.

Ducks are among the most profitable of all domesticated fowls.

Parent turkeys should be full grown and mature. If the gobler is related to the hens, get a new one.

The early hatched pullet has a longer growing period in which to mature. It takes doubly long to mature a bird after coming of cold weather.

Catarrhal Deafness Cannot Be Cured by local applications as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure Catarrhal Deafness, and that is by a constitutional remedy. HALL'S CATARRH MEDICINE acts through the Blood on the Mucous Surfaces of the System. Catarrhal Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, Deafness is the result. Unless the inflammation can be removed and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing may be destroyed forever. Many cases of Deafness are caused by Catarrh, which is an inflamed condition of the Mucous Surfaces. Simple Facts

There are two kinds of notes being issued. Both mature in three or four years, as the government chooses later.

The first kind bear 4.3-4 per cent interest yearly, payable every six months. These are free from state and local taxes, except estate and inheritance taxes, and are also free from the normal Federal Income taxes.

The second kind bear 3.3-4 per cent interest and are free from taxation as the others are, but in addition are free from supertaxes and every other form of taxation, except the usual estate and inheritance taxes.

Notes of either kind can be changed for those of the other issue at the wish of the buyer.

The notes of both series will be dated and bear interest from May 20, 1919, and will mature on May 20, 1923. Interest will be payable on December 15, 1919, and after that on June 15 and December 15 and at maturity. The dates upon which payments will be required on the notes are as follows:

Ten per cent with application on or before May 10.

Ten per cent on July 15.

Twenty per cent on August 12.

Twenty per cent on September 9.

Twenty per cent on October 7.

Twenty per cent on November 11, with accrued interest on deferred installments.

Payment in full can be made on May 20, the ten per cent required with application having been duly paid on or before May 10. Payment can also be completed on any installment date with accrued interest.

This accrued interest is the money you refund the government on account of the fact that it pays you interest on the full amount of your bond from May 20, whereas it does not have the full use of your money until you have paid the last instalment. This amounts to very little of
